RESCUE SQUAD TO GET NEW PULSE METERS

by J. Davis

Greenbelt's Rescue Squad now has the finances to obtain two greatly needed pulse meters—monitoring devices to be used in rescue situations. On July 19 at 3 p.m. in front of Greenbriar's Community Building, representatives of the four boards of directors of Greenbriar/Glen Oaks presented four checks to representatives of Greenbelt's Fire Department—Assistant Fire Chief William Dunn; Robert Lauer, President of the Volunteer Fire Department; and John Krob, Secretary of the Volunteer Fire Department. Presenting the checks were Robert Zugby, President of Greenbriar/Glen Oaks Recreation Association; William Ayers, Phase I President; Diane Vreeland, Phase II President; and Luis Rodriguez, Phase III Vice-President. Also in attendance were Mayor Gil Wiedenfeld, representing the Greenbelt City Council; Don Shell, originator of the pulse meter gift idea; Pat Lauer; Sonja Krob; Pat Dunn, chairperson of both the Ambulance Committee and the General Fund Drive; other directors of the four boards and residents from Greenbriar/Glen Oaks.

In the past, rescue personnel had to manually monitor a patient's pulse. This was difficult to do en route in an ambulance—sometimes the pulse was too weak to detect at all. The pulse meters attach to a patient's finger and effectively monitor the pulse rate. Two meters will be purchased ($500 each), one for each of the ambulances presently used by the Rescue Squad.

Master of Ceremonies Zugby declared the July 19 event "a celebration of the community of Greenbriar/Glen Oaks accepting its responsibility as a member of the larger community of Greenbelt." The checks were "not a donation or a gift, but a payment on a very large debt" owed to Greenbelt's Rescue Squad.

Mayor Wiedenfeld thanked both the Greenbelt Fire Department and Greenbriar/Glen Oaks. He remarked that the quality of Greenbelt's Fire Department and Rescue Squad could never be replaced.

Don Shell, a Phase I Director and himself a recipient of the Rescue Squad's skillful services, appealed to all present to support the work of the Rescue Squad, especially through its fund drive.

After the formal ceremonies, a tour of one of the Rescue Squad's ambulances was given by Assistant Chief Dunn.

Zoning Hearing July 30 on Smith-Ewing Property

At 9 a.m. on Wednesday, July 30, in the Zoning Hearing Room of the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro the Zoning Hearing Examiner will hear Zoning Map Amendment A-9361. This proposed amendment would rezone 24½ acres of Smith-Ewing property adjacent to Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High.

The requested rezoning would change the property from R-55 (single-family) to R-T (townhouse). After considerable debate at its July 14 session, the Greenbelt city council voted to recommend that the rezoning request not be approved.

Draft Registration

by Leta Mach

On the afternoon of Monday, July 21, members of the Greenbelt Peace Committee expressed their disapproval of draft registration. The group set up a card table with information in front of the Greenbelt Post Office.

Although actually on post office grounds, "we let them be," said Postmaster Emory Harman. The group, he explained, did not cause a disturbance. Bertrand Donn from the Greenbelt Peace Committee stated that the group would be in the Center again, particularly on Saturday, to distribute leaflets and answer questions. He noted that committee members received a wide range of responses from the young men they talked to on Monday.

Twenty-one young men 20 years old registered on Monday, noted Harman. About twenty to twenty-five 20 year olds registered on Tuesday. Some cards were received with attached stickers that read, "registering under protest," he added. Harman explained that postal employees have been instructed to accept all cards without question in the manner the cards are received.

Harman found one particular event during the early morning interesting. That was the arrival of the National Guard. The representatives of the National Guard rearranged the pamphlets in the post office putting their literature in the front. Harman said he put the material back in its original location when he came to work.

So far postal employees have not found draft registration too great an extra burden as had been feared, postal workers said.

Postal Service Still Pondering Site and Building Considerations

by Leta Mach

"I think what we plan to do is leave the finance station where it is," John Cochran Acting District Manager for the Maryland/D.C. Postal Service, told the News Review in a recent interview about the plans of the Postal Service for a new facility. Cochran continued by saying that the Postal Service is still trying to find a site not in the center of old Greenbelt for the carrier annex.

Such a resolution to the post office question coincides with city council's position favoring a division of post office functions into a full customer service facility, to remain in the center, and a new carrier annex to be located elsewhere. As previously proposed, the finance station would offer a full range of customer services in the center but would probably be less than half the size of the present facility. The new carrier annex would have no customer facilities but would be an industrial facility for handling mail as well as providing employee facilities such as lockers and restrooms. The carrier annex would not be a large "distribution facility" but would handle only one or a portion of one zip code.

Cochran explained that postal real estate officials had not yet had time to examine appropriate sites for the carrier annex, but he felt this would be accomplished soon. In analyzing a site, Cochran said, "I'd be mostly concerned about the center of the delivery area." In addition, he reiterated the post office's need for secure parking for vehicles. He speculated that it might be efficient and economical to use some foot delivery from the present office. Although he was not familiar with the situation in Greenbelt, one of his priority items is "to go out there myself and look around."

Robert Gresham, from the National Capital Planning Commission (NCP), confirmed that no site has been submitted to NCP for its required approval. In November 1978, the Postal Service submitted plans for the development of the Parkway site for a new Greenbelt Main Post Office, which would be both a carrier annex and a finance station. However, NCP later sent the Postal Service several alternatives to be considered. After substantial concern from many areas—citizens, city officials, and Congresswoman Gladys Spellman—was raised about those plans and that site, the Postal Service voluntarily withdrew the plans and instead began to look at other sites. Therefore, NCP has not taken a formal position on the Parkway plans.

When the Postal Service submits new plans, NCP will make a referral to the Council of Governments, the city, and Congresswoman Spellman. The city will be given a thirty day review period. "Whatever conclusion we reach," Gresham said, "there would be a lot of consultation.

We have to leave our minds open," he concluded.

In the meantime, Greenbelt postal workers would probably agree with Cochran's understatement: "I understand there is a need for a new Post Office in Greenbelt." Postmaster Emory Harman noted that parts of the present building had been painted a while ago but he did not expect that the rest would be done. He added that the roof had not been fixed, though leaks had been patched. He said that the Post Office's lease had recently been renewed, but only for a year. New leases will be made on a year-to-year short-term basis, he felt.

City officials have been informed that a new Maryland/D.C. District Manager will be appointed within a month. After that, a meeting will be held with the public and no decision will be made until afterwards. Cochran also gave assurances that the Postal Service will contact city officials and citizens before any decision is reached.

Elizabeth Cameron

Elizabeth Cameron, resident of Green Ridge House, died July 15. She came to the United States from Helensborough, Scotland, in 1928, and was naturalized during the thirties. When the country went to war she came to Greenbelt to join the staff of the Greenbelt Child Care Center in 1943. Before the war was ended Miss Cameron was made Director of the Center and she was in charge until its close in 1947.

She was employed by the USDA in Beltsville after the war and later she worked for many years in the Washington area as homemaker, serving families through periods of stress, illness and crisis. Although the work often took her out of town for long periods, she continued to maintain her home in Greenbelt. In retirement she was among the first residents to move into Green Ridge House.

For nearly forty years Miss Cameron was the friend and strong support of three generations of Greenbelters—a respected and loved asset to the community. Mary Jane Kinzer

A Positive Influence

To the Editors of the News Review and the parents of Greenbelt:

The News Review has printed many letters and articles promoting the Cultural Arts Center and the Utopia Theater as a status symbol for Greenbelt. I would like to tell what the theater means to me.

I was a burnout, three years ago. That's right, one of those grungy-looking types seen gravitating around the Youth Center with a beer bottle in one hand, and a sullen, defiant look that says, "I've got pot on my person and I'm getting away with it."

I was a teenage burnout, but I yanked my head out of the darker reaches and finished high school. I am now a college sophomore. I have participated in three productions at the Utopia Theater, where I have met many kind people who know how to live well without drugs. I have learned a lot from them. (Thanks.)

The plays and productions put on at the Greenbelt Theater could well keep many of your young kids from coming home drunk or calling from the police station for you to pick them up, as I did too many times when I was in my middle teens. David Andersen

A Caring Person

To the Editor

About a month ago, I was walking down to the Center on the inner walkways when I turned my ankle and went sprawling on my side down the hill.

At first I thought I had knocked myself out and was having delusions, for a little girl with long blonde hair, looking for all the world like Alice in Wonderland, came running over and said, "Oh! Oh! Are you hurt? Can I help you or go for help?"

I asked her to wait a minute until I got my wind back, and then she helped me up, helped brush me off, took some leaves out of my hair, picked up my hand bag and the keys which had fallen from it and generally made herself comforting and useful. There was a soreness in my ankle and my right hand, and there were cuts and abrasions several places, but apparently no broken bones (later confirmed in the doctor's office), and I went on my way.

On Saturday, June 28, I saw little Alice in Wonderland again and asked her name. She is Cam Boswell of 35-H Ridge Road. I want to thank Cammie for her kindness to me. It is thoughtful, caring people like her that make Greenbelt such a fantastic place. Janet M. James

Hot Weather Running Tips

The weather in the Washington area is so hot and humid in the summer that the D.C. Road Runners club holds most of its races on weekday evenings. In addition they publish a fact sheet warning of the very real dangers of running in very hot weather. They make it clear to those in charge of races that they must have plenty of drinking water on hand at various points, and even a hose where the runners can get soaked.

This does not help the many joggers and runners who run alone around Greenbelt Lake, the Agricultural Farm or the Regional Park. They particularly must be aware of how their body is doing because no one may be around to help them. There is a water fountain 50 yards from the refreshment stand at the lake, and many stations on the farm (for cooling off only).

Hyperthermia (heat stroke, heat exhaustion, muscle cramps) can be deadly. It doesn't take long for a person to die, and a runner can collapse in less than 5 minutes after the onset of the following symptoms: dizziness; dry skin, no sweating; redness; nausea or cramps; goose bumps on chest and arms; and incoherent speech and thoughts.

A temperature of 60 degrees and high relative humidity can be just as dangerous as 90 degrees and low humidity. An experienced runner avoids the direct sun on very hot days, runs in early morning or late evening, and does not run as far or fast as usual. He also drinks plenty of fluids before a race or workout, as well as during and after the run, and pours water over his head to aid evaporation and cooling off of the body.

A fact sheet on running in hot weather will be posted at the Youth Center.

CRAB Investigates Concerns of Elderly

CRAB would like to hear from a wider segment of the elderly population to ensure that all needs are addressed. A public information meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 29, 7-9 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building. All senior citizens are urged to attend.

Overpurchases of Chemicals, Insulation Studied; But State's Attorney's Office Declines Investigation

by Robert Mongelli

The State's Attorney's office notified Greenbelt Homes, Inc. in May that no further action appeared warranted after reviewing an audit of purchasing problems of fertilizer, insulation and fuel oil additives at GHI.

The audit prepared by Wills and Associates, GHI's regular auditors, in late 1979 found that there were over-purchases of fertilizer in 1978 that amounted to approximately $4,700. The audit also reported that over-purchases of insulation for crawl spaces in the frame homes amounted to $10,773 and over-usage of fuel oil additives purchased in 1977 and 1978 accounted for approximately $10,037. Also under investigation was a reported loss of 19 juniper bushes valued at $152.

The Wills audit found, in regards to the fertilizer purchases, that GHI's purchase order form was usually typed and approved after the invoice from the chemical company was received. Also, that the receipt of materials was never physically verified by GHI warehouse employees. The Wills audit stated, "The facts appear to bear out that there was a complete loss of internal control with regard to purchases of fertilizer."

Besides the internal control problem Wills found that GHI over-purchased fertilizer of approximately 70 acres ($4,700).

With the over-purchase of the insulation for the crawl spaces for the frame homes it was found that purchases to date would cover 376,915 sq. ft. The estimated square footage to complete the job was approximately 86,018 sq. ft. Since the total square footage of 1,000 frame homes is approximately 365,000 sq. ft., the overrun of insulation to complete the job was 97,933 sq. ft.

Records showed that 1,795 gallons of fuel oil additives were purchased in 1977 and 1978. When properly mixed only 836 gallons should have been used. There was an apparent over-usage of 959 gallons ($10,037).

Also under investigation were 36 juniper bushes that had been lost. It was later determined that only 19 bushes were missing (-152).

The audit summarized, that, "The objective of our review was not to fix blame or responsibility on any one person or department but only to define what the records show." The audit concluded by stating that a special committee be formed to make inquiries and clear the air of all noted discrepancies. The board approved this recommendation and GHI's President, Donald Volk, appointed an Ad Hoc committee composed of cooperative members, chaired by Joe Jenkins.

Committee Report

In May of this year the committee report, which was presented to the board, found that there was minimal accountability for supervision at various levels, poor procurement practices, and various irregularities on management's dealing with GHI personnel. The committee concluded by recommending that the State's Attorney's office should further investigate the inconsistencies and contradictions found by the committee.

In a recent interview, general manager Ken Kopstein was asked if GHI had initiated any procedures to prevent future problems relating to over-purchases and property losses. He stated that GHI now has written contract and purchase procedures that they did not have before. More specifically, GHI has instituted a written requisition procedure for purchase that must be signed by the supervisor, department head and comptroller. The comptroller gives budget authority and gives approval for unusual purchases. For purchases of $600 or more, three bid orders are needed. In the past, purchase of $1,500 or more needed the three bid orders.

GHI has also initiated monthly budget reports for each department to see if there are over-expenditures. The monthly reports are compared to prior year to see if there are any major changes.

GHI has also initiated monthly inventory of all their property and assets. In the future this will act as a control.

Kopstein concluded by stating that with any control system problems can still arise, but with tighter controls, the chances of what happened in the past will be greatly reduced.

Joseph Jenkins, chairperson of the committee of inquiry, when asked what he thought of the new GHI procedures, stated that he has not examined them that closely yet. He has been very busy with the Board of Directors election, but plans to look at them more closely when the elections are over. He hopes that the new procedures will tighten the purchasing controls at GHI.

Jenkins went on to say that he had hoped that the State's Attorney's office would have looked at the purchasing records of the chemical company that had made the sales to GHI. His committee had no authority to examine these records, but the State's Attorney's office had that power and he regretted that they chose not to examine the records. Jenkins said that the principal players in this unfortunate matter are gone, but the management of GHI had the ultimate responsibility and that they should have been more responsible.

Greenbelt Energy Fair

by Cathie Meetre

Alternate energy sources and insulation are the name of the game in Greenbelt's Energy Fair to be held in the Greenbelt Center Mall from 1-4 p.m. Saturday, August 2, and sponsored by the Aesthetics and Environment Committee of Greenbelt Homes, Incorporated. Local firms will have demonstration systems, samples, and product information on display and experts will be on hand to answer questions on their products in particular and alternate energy in general.

Effective use of energy requires conservation, regardless of the energy source. Two foam insulation contractors will be represented: Pellfoam, whose process involves blowing foam into the wall cavity, and Dryvit, which applies the foam externally.

Since a major source of heat loss in any building is the glazing (even thermopane windows have an R value of about 1.5), extra window insulation is an important consideration in preventing heat loss. North American Solar Development supplies window quilts which raise the R value of window area to 5.2 and are expected to pay for themselves in about 3 to 4 years.

Active solar energy systems will be represented by Solar Science Industries, which uses flat plate collectors and propylene glycol as a heat exchange medium to heat domestic hot water. Solar Unlimited also uses flat plate collectors, but has silicone oil as a transfer medium, an external heat exchanger, and has the capability to supply both space heating and domestic hot water.

Potomac Energy Group, design specialists, and Sunwood Energy Systems (who also market wood-burning stoves) are concerned with passive solar energy and co-generation. Sunwood produces Thermal 81 rods which use the phase change principle (latent heat) to store and release the sun's energy. Potomac is concerned with passive solar energy design, including greenhouses, Trombe walls and building design and orientation. They are also involved with co-generation, in which a small generator is used to produce electricity, and the heat byproduct of that process is, in turn, used to provide domestic hot water and space heating.

The A. and E. Committee would be glad to hear from anyone who would like to contribute time or ideas for the fair. Please call 474-8141.

Fun Runs

The Greenbelt Running Club Fun Runs will take place this Saturday and includes ¼, 1, and 5 mile races around the Lake Trail. The first run starts promptly at 9 a.m. behind the handstand. There are no entry fees or pre-registration required. For further information, call Larry Noel at 474-9362.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

by Frank H. Hirschel

The torrid heat Greenbelt has been getting lately might be blamed on Greenbelt Little League Baseball. The American League teams are so hot that any one of the four could possibly be the division champ. The Cardinals and Tigers are running neck and neck for the lead. The Lions are right behind, while the Indians are still contending and could take it all with some luck.

After winning the league title two years in a row, the Cardinals must battle it out this season. Boasting one of the most consistent hitters in the division—shortstop-catcher Mat Warner—the team also rides on the backs of Donnie McCord, pitcher, Frank Kellaheer, second base, and John Marques, pitcher and shortstop. Nine year old third baseman Steffan Sonneveldt is a strong contender for rookie of the year.

The Tigers end the year playing Manager Ron Newkirk's Cardinals and must depend on stalwarts John Logsdon, pitcher, Steve Scheifele, shortstop and the team's leading hitter, and Greg Varda, a superior all-around player who catches and also plays infield. Coach Ernie Varda also brags about Anthony Sluder, an eight year old with tremendous form.

Coach Marty Murray's Lions are right behind the two leaders, led by John Hinzman, pitcher, Tim McCleary, centerfielder, David Nascembeni, centerfield-second base and the consistent hitting of both Tommy Rice, shortstop-pitcher, and Michael Murray, catcher-pitcher. Nine year old Lee Santos is also a candidate for rookie of the year.

The Indians, coached by Norm McCarthy could still turn things around with the continued help of power hitter-pitcher Jeff Colvin, catcher-pitcher Danny McCarthy, shortstop John Duke and centerfielder Dan Braatz. The team also boasts Sue Fisanich in the outfield and twins, Erica and Chuck Simpson.

Congratulations to the coaches and all the teams members for good clean baseball this season.

The News Review will review the National League next week. The World Series will be played in early August.

by Barbara Likowski

Alexander and David Barnes, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Barnes, Maplewood Ct., were awarded the Greenbelt American Legion Post 136 award at Center School's Awards Assembly Friday, June 13. The award given for citizenship and service to the school was presented to the brothers by Richard Santos. Receiving the Legion Award from Mrs. Charles Link, representing the Greenbelt Post Ladies' Auxiliary were Kirsten (Kiki) Lowrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Lowrey, Lakeside, and Ann Fitzenreiter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fitzenreiter, Tamarisk Ct.

Watkins awarded the Triple-A Safety Foundation's highest award for distinguished service to Ann Fitzenreiter and Brian Mongelli. Also Watkins presented principal John Van Schoonhoven the Triple-A Award for the school for having one of the best safety patrol programs at an elementary school and a distinguished service citation to 6th grade teacher Jim Parham, for supervision of the patrols. Cheryl Joseph, speech instructor, recognized those 6th graders who had helped with the kindergarten SHIP program: Christina

Clarke, Michelle Whited, Ann Fitzenreiter, Martha Unger, David Barnes, Brian Mongelli, Elisabeth Folts, Kim Stone, Tydren Sullivan, Michael Murray, Kiki Lowrey, Laura Kurburski, Bill Ruiz, Monica Vaughn and Stephen Butler.

A gift pin was given to 5/6 grade teacher Louise Clarke from her present and former students. Presenting it were Jason Brenner, Vicki Gaines, Monica Vaughn, Sherry Lawrence and Barbara Kelleher. Clarke will be leaving Center and moving to Indiana.

Student speakers at the assembly were Nancy Lepara, welcome to parents; Christina Clarke, "What Greenbelt Center Has Meant to Me"; Kiki Lowrey, "Where We Are, Where We Are Going"; Bill Ruiz, appreciation to teachers; and Kimberly Stone, introduction of teachers.

The 6th grade chorus added to the program and refreshments were served by the PTA.

There were other authors.

North End also had two winners in the American Legion Americanism essay contest in April. Catherine Perini won first prize and Kathy Moien won second. The theme of the contest sponsored by the Greenbelt American Legion was "My Dream for America."

Springhill Lake

Winners of the Greenbelt American Legion and Auxiliary award were Laurie Weiner and Ted Whitten. Runners-up were Melissa Wood and Donnie Kingsbury.

Weiner also won the Dorothy B. Marvil (former vice-principal) award for the student with outstanding talent in the performing arts.

Numerous attendance and academic awards were given. Also, those who had missed less than two days during the school year (not counting religious holidays) were recognized.

Bethune Upbeat

by Margaret Williamson

On June 4 after school the Read & Eat Club presented a play entitled A Murder in Room 210. The main characters included Greenbelters Laura Millman, Tim Savage, Rachel Turkiewicz, Mike Gielen, and Anita Moryadas. Sharon Perry, club member, wrote the play with help from other club members. The play takes its characters from the school, teachers and students, and changed their names. One of the characters murders a teacher, Mr. Shame, and its up to detective Sherlock Combs to solve the mystery.

The play was really funny. Great play, Sharon & Co.!!

On May 25, Bethune had its First Annual Spelling Bee. Every English class had individual spelling bees, and the winners went to a school wide competition. The winner received a $15 gift certificate from Variety Records, and second and third place each received $10 gift certificates. All three top winners were from Greenbelt. Top Honors went to Persa Batra, Second Place to Perry Hull, and Third Place to Todd Kliman. Congratulations All!

Greenbriar Summer Camp Hosts International Lunch

On Friday, August 1 from 11:45-12:30 p.m. the children of the Greenbriar Summer Camp program will participate in an International Luncheon. Parents

County Schools Recruiting Pupils for TAG Program

The Prince Georges County Public Schools are currently reviewing all students in the first, second, third and fifth grades for possible selections to the Talented and Gifted (TAG) program. Students in grades four and six who are new to the system this year are also being screened. Students already in the program will continue next year with their TAG studies.

All students will also be evaluated three different ways: by examining existing test data, judging parent and teacher checklists of child characteristics, and scoring additional tests if necessary. Parents of first and second grade children should consider whether their children are eligible for the TAG program. Simple checklists which identify easily recognizable features of the average TAG student are available at all elementary schools. This checklist provides reasonable clues for identifying intellectually gifted children.

Parents whose children might display these characteristics should contact their elementary school principal as soon as possible. For information, call 952-3375.

and interested newcomers are invited.

The camp is located at the Greenbriar Center, 7600 Hanover Parkway. For more information call Deborah Young at 345-8830.

Police Blotter

A 21-year-old navy man, a non-resident, who was arrested by Det./Cpl. Thomas M. Ceccarelli in February for the rape of a 21-year-old resident of Springhill Lake and the attempted rape of her roommate, age 20, pled guilty in Circuit Court on July 9. The defendant was sentenced to two twenty year terms to run concurrently.

A suspect wanted for the rape of a teenage babysitter was arrested by Ceccarelli.

A female resident was abducted from Springhill Lake, taken outside the city and sexually assaulted. A lookout had been issued for the suspect. A short time later Pfc Edward D. Blake apprehended the suspect operating a vehicle in Springhill Lake. He was charged with abduction. County police placed charges on the sexual assault.

Pfc Daniel P. O'Neil charged an adult non-resident with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, fleeing and eluding. The individual fled into a wooded area, and was subsequently located by a county K-9. He was treated for minor dog bites.

Pfc. Edward D. Blake attempted to stop a vehicle which then struck a brick wall. The occupants ran into the woods. One suspect was apprehended by Cpl. Kenneth L. Stair. The other was located by a county K-9. He was treated for minor dog bites. Both were charged with possession of a stolen auto.

Officer Mark A. DiPietro charged a local juvenile with destruction of property after he drove his vehicle through city owned property, causing extensive damage to the grass.

Two non-resident adults were charged with consuming alcoholic beverages at the lake park. They had been advised to refrain from this activity by DiPietro, and refused.

Two non-resident juveniles were charged with theft by O'Neil after they were observed removing merchandise from the A&P store in the Beltway Plaza.

Officer Gregory P. Lynn charged an adult male with storehouse breaking after he forced his way into one of the construction trailers located in the 6300 block of Ivy Lane.

A burglary occurred at a residence located in the 400 block of Ridge Road. Approximately $500 in coins were removed from the residence. Juvenile petitions have been obtained for several suspects.

The Jerry Lake Cleaners located in the Springhill Lake Shopping Center was held up by two black males; no one was injured. Approximately $50 was taken from the cash register.

Officer James D. Love charged an adult and a juvenile male with theft after they obtained gasoline from the Easy Times Arco and failed to pay.

An AMF Roadmaster Moped, orange in color, was reported stolen from the 7900 block of Mandan Road.

As of July 1, Maryland motorists involved in accidents resulting only in property damage - no injury or death - are not required to submit accident reports to the State Motor Vehicle Administration. Previously the law required a driver to file a report with MVA, except when the accident was investigated by police, when property damage was in excess of $100.00 to any one person or someone was killed or injured. Legislation passed by the general Assembly this year restricts reporting accidents that are not investigated by police. Persons involved in accidents of any kind still will be required to identify themselves and their insurers to other drivers. The Greenbelt Police Department will continue to investigate property damage accidents when requested to do so by motorists.
