Police Officer Murray and Others, Chief and City Sued by Motorcyclist

by Mary Lou Williamson

As a result of incidents arising out of the high speed chase of a motorcycle by Greenbelt police last August 14, Peter Ladnier, the motorcyclist, has charged the officers involved with wrongful actions which deprived him of his civil rights. He further charges the City of Greenbelt and Police Chief William T. Lane with responsibility for the actions of its police officers.

Ladnier had been charged with eight counts of traffic violations stemming from the chase. At a trial on April 6, 1982, Ladnier was convicted of five of those charges: failure to wear eye protection or obey traffic devices, fleeing a police officer, operating a vehicle with head lights off when lights are required, and excessive speed. Ladnier was later fined $555 plus costs.

Demanding trial by jury in federal court, Ladnier is asking from each defendant: $75,000 in compensatory damages and $150,000 as exemplary and punitive damalso costs and attorney's ages, Ladnier is represented by fees. David H. Martin of Washington, D.C. and Arthur G. House of Bethesda.

Because official actions of city employees are covered by insurance, the police accident report following this incident was filed with the Atlanta International Insurance Company, which holds the city's professional police liability policy Ladnier had been changed . . . They have hired the Baltimore law firm of Huber, Lutche and Wilson to handle the case for them. The general city liability is held by Home Insurance Company, who will be represented by Ford and O'Neill of Rockville.

City Manager James K. Giese received notice by certified mail of the civil action from the U.S District Court for the District of Maryland in Baltimore on June 6, but no other defendant received a similar letter.

According to the written complaint, Ladnier, riding his motorcycle on Ridge Road about 4:30 a.m. on August 14 was struck by Murray's police car ". . without any negligence on Ladnier's part, causing him to be thrown off of his motorcycle and causing him to sustain severe and painful injuries, and causing (him) to expend and to continue to expend large sums of money for hospitalization (and other medical expenses) in the treatment of his injuries. . . While (Ladnier) lay on the side of the road, unable to move and in need of medical attention, . . . Murray unnecessarily . . , and repeatedly kicked, beat and stomped . . . (Ladnier). Thereafter, . . . (Ladnier) was handcuffed with the use of excessive force." The complaint further charges that (1) other police officers and that (2) the city did nothing to restrain Murray in contravention of their duty as police officers and that (2) the city and the chief of police were negligent in the "selection, training, supervision and retention of defendants Murray (and others) as members of the police department. . .

Specific Charges

More specifically the complaint charges "the acts of defendants deprived (Ladnier) of his (1) right to be secure in his person against unreasonable searches and seizures . . . (4th and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution). (2) his right not to be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law

(5th and 14th Amendments). (3) his right not to be subject to cruel and unusual punishment . . . (8th and 14th Amendments), and (4) his right to be accorded equal protection of the law . . . (14th Amendment). The "supervisory and policy-making" officials of the city are charged with failure and refusal to "remove the defendants from their positions or take any other disciplinary action against said officers.'

The News Review coverage of this incident appeared in an article in the August 27, 1981 issue. In general, the charges Ladnier is making appear to correspond to reports which eyewitnesses gave to News Review reporters. Additional information was received from Lane and Acting City Manager Dennis Piendak (Giese was out of town at the time), which had come from the accident reports of police offiers on the scene. According to those reports, the pursuit of the motorcycle began around Ridge Road and Southway. The speeding motorcycle's lights were not Other police on duty were on. notified by radio. During the chase speeds of more than 90 mph were clocked and no brake lights were observed on the motorcycle. Police reports, the News Review was told, stated both lights and siren that were used by the police in an effort to stop the motorcyclist. Near the Research Road intersection, Ladnier apparently applied his brakes hard, and the motorcycle went on its side but then righted itself. Ladnier stayed on the motorcycle for another 40 to 45 feet along Ridge Road until the motorcycle again fell on its side and began to slide. The collision took place when the motorcycle fell for the second time and was hit by the lead police car.

Further points at issue are (1) whether Ladnier landed on his feet and attempted to flee, as the police report stated, (2) whether excessive force was used in

by Leta Mach

At its regular meeting of July 19, City Council discussed and disposed of a wide variety of agenda items. High on the list was a proposal for the adaptive re-use of surplus public schools.

Earlier this spring, the Prince Georges County Executive office had drafted legislation that would set up a special exception procedure to aid the disposal of surplus schools. Although it is probably too late for such legislation to appear before the present county council, strong reaction to the proposal has been registered. Greenbelt's Advisory Planning Board (APB) for example, strongly opposes the draft legislation, which would permit what are now restricted uses for residential and commercial zones, based only on receipt of a special exception instead of the current requirement of rezoning.

On July 19, city council had the item on its agenda to consider an alternative proposal from the Bowie City Council. Bowie had contacted Greenbelt, among others, "to coordinate our efforts to develop a response to the county's special exception process for surplus schools," as Bowie's Planning Director explained in a letter to City Manager James Giese.

Giese reported on an earlier information meeting with the County Chief Administrative Officer, Kenneth Duncan, and officials of local municipalities. At the meeting, Duncan explained the county's problem with surplus schools - that both city and county uses for these buildings have been nearly depleted. The county draft bill and alternative strategies - possibly a list of unacceptable uses-were discussed. Another meeting with county officials has been scheduled.

In the meantime, Giese has expressed support of the Bowie proposal with some additions. The Bowie proposal separates surplus schools according to the character of the neighborhood in which they are located and provides a finite list of uses for the schools. Proposals for uses would receive two major reviews. Bowie feels the proposal "provides a balance of a shortened process and adequate review and protection for surrounding residents."

Giese suggested three additional uses - recreational facilities, educational facilities and conference centers. In addition, he feels that affected cities should review concept plans with super-majorfty vote procedures being followed and that proposed private uses should not have a more detri-mental impact than using the property as a school. Further, he suggested the same procedures should be used for other abandoned buildings such as parochial schools, churches, historic homes and public buildings.

Council agreed that Greenbelt should have some input on these proposals. Thus, the recommendations of Giese and Bowie were sent to APB for review.

Action Tennis

In another matter, council directed that the city staff work with Action Tennis representatives to set up Action Tennis courts, possibly at the rebound wall. This was the recommendation of the Park and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB). PRAB felt an Action Tennis proposal to convert a Braden Field tennis court into dual uses as a regular tennis court and four action tennis courts was not practical.

Register to Vote

With both county and state electoral boundaries changed by recent redistricting, voter participation in Greenbelt is especially important this fall. In the county, we are part of a new district - Fourth with no particular elected incumbent. (The present office holder was appointed by his fellow County Council members.) One candidate running for this slot in the Democratic primary is Greenbelt's own mayor, Richard Castaldi, who is opposed by three candidates from Bowie. A strong vote from this city could make possible for the first time on this body a representative from Greenbelt.

Greenbelt Democrats have two opportunities to vote for their fellow citizens in the September 14 primary election. These are Thomas X. White, city councilman, and Jeanette Gordy, both running for places on the party's Central Committee. (No Republicans from Greenbelt are listed on the primary ballot.)

Party candidates for other important contests will also be decided in the primary — the county executive, members of the state legislative delegation, the Representative to the U. S. Congress, and U.S. Senator. For Greenbelters, who will surely hope for as much influence as possible in the selection of these candidates, a large voter turn-out is important.

August 16 is the last date to register for the primary election on September 14. The process is easy. Merely phone 627-2814 in order to receive a mail registration form. Or you can pick up a registration application at the Greenbelt Library or in the Finance Office at the Municipal Building. You can also register in person with the Board of Supervisors of Elections, 14744 Main St., Upper Marlboro (across the street from the County Courthouse), on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 9 p.m.

GHI is planning several events for the Labor Day Festival. Greenbelt Calendar

GHI will sell a 1983 calendar at its Festival booth. The "Life in Greenbelt" calendar features photos of Greenbelt submitted to the recent GHI-sponsored photo contest. The calendar will be sold for $3.00.

Parade

The theme of GHI's float for the Labor Day Parade is "GHI honors its employees." GHI would like to have as many GHI youngsters as possible march with the float.

Hidden Treasure

Donations are needed for the hidden treasure game at GHI's Festival booth. "Real and wacky" prizes donated so far include — a day at the drop zone from Ray Mc-Cawley, a loaf of salt-free but tasteful bread from Katherine Keene, homemade brownies from Dennis Lewis, a pot of basil and mediation of a brief dispute from Becky Williams, clarinet serenades for two lucky winners by Steve Polaschik, another original doodle by Charlie Schwan, and a birthday party with cake, snack, decorations and games for any Greenbelt child from Sandy Smith.

CALL DENNIS LEWIS at 474-5566 TO DONATE YOUR PRIZE OR FOR INFORMATION ABOUT PARTICIPATING IN THE PARADE OR AT THE FESTIVAL BOOTH. TODAY!

My differences with Frank Gervasi, and possibly other members of the GHI Board, are two:

1. Certainly the Board may, indeed should, use discretion in the enforcement of regulations. What is deemed permissible, however. must bear a reasonable relationship to the standard. I submit that an exception that authorizes a structure 100% larger than the regulation allows is not a reasonable exercise of discretion. The Board, like it or not, has made impossible enforcement of the shed regulation.

That I agree with Mr. Gervasi or not is unimportant. I believe, however, that the Board should seek the advice of legal counsel on whether or not recent actions of the Board have weakened the Board's authority to enforce regulations.

2. The Board appears to be acting as if it were a court. Mr. Gervasi wrote of its acting on a "case-by-case" basis, for example. Again I invite him and his colleagues to study the Mutual Ownership Contract and the Bylaws. The Board is elected to determine policy. Not one word in either document suggests a case-by-case approach. No regulation can be perfect, but there is a correlation between the number of exceptions granted and the quality of the regulations. The Board should go to the source of trouble, the regulations, rather than dealing with a large number of requests for exceptions.

CITY ANNIVERSARY DATE

For most of its existence the City has not had a copy of the original Town Charter. That is because the Charter was enacted by the State Legislature as a Public Local Law. These laws were codified and new codification replaced the old.

Recently City Clerk, Gudrun Mills, obtained from the Maryland Department of Legislative Reference a copy of the original Charter (Chapter 532 of the 1937 Acts of Maryland). The Town Charter was approved by the Governor on May 28, 1937. The act took effect on June 1, 1937. However, most of the provisions of the Charter did not take effect until November 23, 1937. Greenbelt was declared incorporated, its boundaries were defined and provisions were made for the first election to be held November 23, 1937. The remainder of the Charter became effective the day of the election.

The first Council took office on November 29, 1937, and appointed Roy Braden Town Manager.

Thus, it can be argued that Greenbelt's anniversary date is June 1, the effective date of the City's incorporation, or November 23, the effective date of the City Charter and date of the first election, or November 29, the date the town government actually began to function.

Gray Panthers Organized; Big Kids' Soccer

To Meet Again in August

A group of Greenbelt citizens interested in forming a local chapter of the Gray Panthers, a national organization dedicated to working against age discrimination, met informally on Sunday, July 25 at a picnic social gathering.

The organization was founded in 1970 by former editor and social activist Maggie Kuhn to bring about change in government, the media, the workplace and communities. Open to members of any age, the Gray Panthers carry out research and lobby for changes in such areas as those policies concerning forced retirement, pension systems, the operation of nursing homes, and the health care system.

An August meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, the 24th, at the Greenbelt Library, at which Greenbelter Frances Humphrey will lead a workshop and discussion on the social security system. Humphrey wrote a graduate thesis on the topic.

At the same meeting Montgomery County co-convenor Irving Riskin will lead discussion concerning the Gray Panthers organization.

Whoever would have thought there were so many Big Kids in Greenbelt who want to play soccer this Fall? Response has been overwhelming since last week. The plans are to organize several co-ed teams, for all soccer fanatics 19 and over, regardless of in-dividual skill. Husbands and wives are encouraged to play, as are singles and single parents. Other co-ed teams are needed, so if anyone can offer some help in this area, please call Sue (345-6081) or Jorge (937-0388 evenings, 937-4370 daytime).

It will be fun, and hopefully a learning experience for both seasoned and novice players. An introductory meeting will be announced soon to get better acquainted, determine the best time for practice, and further cement the fast developing program for

Big Kids Soccer in Greenbelt. -XKC

GHIDC Terminates Vinyl Siding Contract

In a brief meeting on August 3, the GHI Development Corporation (GHIDC) Board terminated the vinyl siding contract with Beltway Aluminum Company and directed the General Manager to obtain the services of another subcontractor who could complete the vinyl siding work as quickly and inexpensively as possible. The 45-minute session was broken mid-way with an executive ses-sion as the Board discussed the issue.

At the beginning of the meeting, the stockholders of GHIDC-Mark Dombrowski, Wayne Williams, Frank Gervasi, Joe Jenkins, John Lewis, James Smith, Margaret Hogensen, Janet Cantwell, and Don Volk-were nominated and accepted. Next on the agenda was the election of GHIDC officers: President-James Smith, Vice Presdent-Margaret Hogen-Treasurer - Frank Gervasi, sen. and Secretary-Janet Cantwell.

The new GHIDC Board then moved to ratify the previous actions taken on its behalf by the GHI Board of Directors and General Manager. Many previous actions of the GHI Board, for instance awarding contracts, have concerned GHIDC. GHIDC is general contractor of GHI's rehab program.

The final item was a motion, passed unanimously, that "The Board of Directors of GHIDC ratifies previous actions taken by the Board of GHI and the General Manager's actions on its behalf and specifically those of July 30 and August 2 and 3, 1982 with respect to the GHIDC/Beltway contract. GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW of Greenbelt families waiting under the spotlights in the rear parking lot at St. Hugh's Church. Out of the darkness, the running lights and headlights of the huge airconditioned Greyhound could be discerned as the vehicle turned into the driveway. And then the legend above the windshield became visible - destination "America."

So arrived the 24 passengersforeign visitors ranging in age from 15 to 23-who will be living with host families in Greenbelt for the month of August. It was going on midnight when they stopped off the bus on Sunday night, August 1, after a wearying flight from Paris to New York and a surface trip to Maryland. They will leave on the 29th.

In between will be crowded days-classes in English three mornings a week in Grenoble Hall below St. Hugh's, half-day excursions in the afternoon, and an all-day bus excursion on Tuesdays. On Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays they will belong to their host families.

Those families-assorted mothers, fathers, and children of various ages-were scanning the faces of the weary travelers as they stumbled down from the bus, temporarily bewildered by the blazing lights. Some had apparently been asleep. The host families. who had earlier received application forms with the students' pictures, were one by one picking out their charges, calling out names, and helping to load baggage into the trunks of cars. The experiment in this international cultural exchange had begun.

Most of the group, sponsored by Interstudy, are natives of France, but one young lady hails from Bologna, Italy and three students are from the African country of Benin (formerly Dahomey). Their stay here is under the supervision of Greenbelter Nadine George, who was responsible for arranging the placements with willing Greenbelt families. Their teacher for the English classes is Stacy Zlotnick, a doctoral student in psychology at Purdue and a Greenbelt resident.

HOMES NEEDED

Two of the foreign visitors, Armand and Roland, who come from Benin, are hoping to find Greenbelt families with whom they may stay. They prefer to be placed separately. As a temporary arrangement they have been staying with a family in New Carrollton.

Three other male students will need other placements two for the last two weeks of August, when their Greenbelt "family" will be away, one for the last week of the month.

Families willing to act as hosts for these international guests are asked to call Stacy Zlotnick, 345-7015, or Nadine George, 441-1642.

Recreational and social activities started Monday with a picnic and cookout at the Lake Park. But a swim party that evening at the pool had to be canceled because of the threat of a storm. On Tuesday the group had their first sight of the national capital, the looked-for experience that had brought them all to the United States-and to Greenbelt.

VISITORS

As part of their in-service training program, staff members of the Peace Corps visited Greenbelt recently. They toured the recreational facilities, and an orientation was given on recreation services on the community level, with an emphasis on elderly pro-

On July 15 Wendy Wexler and Jim Holmes attended an all-day workshop entitled "Family Therapy and Alcoholism," sponsored by the Bowie Alcohol and Drug Group Effort.

On July 13 Jim and Wendy began another 6-week Parent Discussion Group for parents of young children.

The preview opening of El Torito Mexican restaurant on July 14 was attended by a large contingent of Greenbelters, officials and citizens, along with county and state officials. For a week prior to the opening, the El Torito staff were learning and practicing their new skills. There were several dress rehearsals including one where the waiters and waitresses served dinner to each other and another where they served their parents.

The new restaurant and cantina is located at 7607 Greenbelt Road just east of the Greenway Shopping Center. The 9,000 square foot restaurant has a seating capacity of 240 and will be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. The Tequila Power Hour, a daily event, offers a complimentary Botana (hot and cold hors d'oeuvres) from 3 to 7 p.m.

Small hacienda-like dining rooms, imported tile, arched, etched glass doors and windows, hanging baskets, frescos and fireplace create a Mexican atmosphere.

Lt. Krob Indicted On Firearms Sale

Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has announced that the Grand Jury in Prince Georges County on July 28 indicted John C. Krob of the Greenbelt Police Department for selling eight firearms which had been confiscated by the police, and converting proceeds from the sales to his personal use.

The indictment charges that Krob sold the confiscated guns on two occasions, November 13, 1981 and March 17, 1982. On the first date Krob allegedly sold six firearms to Maryland Police Supply, Inc. in Baltimore; on the second date he is said to have sold two weapons to Schelin Guns in College Park. The value of the guns exceeds $300, the dividing line between misdemeanor and felony theft charges.

Firearms described in the indictment include handguns, rifles and shotguns. The weapons had been impounded by the Greenbelt City Police Department during the course of regular law enforcement activities.

Lt. Krob, age 42, a 17-year veteran of the force, ranks second in the department only to Police Chief William T. Lane. Twentysix administrative charges were filed by the Police Department against Krob on June 11, 1982. He has been suspended without pay pending the outcome of administrative charges. State law requires the consideration of charges by a hearing board composed of law enforcement officers.

The indictment was sought by Assistant Attorney General Gary P. Jordan, Chief of the Attorney General's Criminal Investigation Division, who will prosecute the case. The investigation of Lt. Krob's activities was conducted by the Maryland State Police at the request of Chief Lane. The indictment includes two charges of theft, two charges of misconduct in office and two charges of fraudulent misappropriation by a fiduciary.

GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW

by Barbara Likowski How far is it from Greenbelt to Kitty Hawk, North Carolina? Whether figured by the number of miles a car would have to travel or by the way a crow flies, it is still a long way for a balloon to travel. However, a balloon sent aloft by Center school student, Anthony Leeks, did just that.

The balloon landed about five miles north of the Wright Brothers' National Monument about 600 yards south of the city of Kitty Hawk. It was found stuck in a tree in the backyard of 68 year old retired coastguardsman, Clovis W. Baum. Writing to Leeks, Baum informed him that the balloon had been found only a short distance from the bay and about ¾ of a mile from the ocean. Baum said he had been surprised to find the balloon had gone so far and showed it to his neighbors.

Leeks, a third grader in Mrs. Sylvia Garven's class, had participated in Center School's recent balloon launch. Balloons, purchased for a nominal fee, had cards attached to them with names and addresses of the senders and notes asking finders to return the cards to Center School. Because Leeks' balloon traveled the farthest he received a deluxe Uno game as a prize.

Other balloons from Center landed in different spots along the Eastern Shore. Second place winner, Laurel Berg's balloon came down in Kilmarnock, Virginia and third place winner Brian Baionne's was found in Heatsville, Virginia. Both received Center School bookbags as prizes, Laurel was in Mrs. Pappas's 3rd grade and Brian, Mrs. Manning's p.m. kindergarten.

Leeks intends to write a note to Baum to thank him.

Voter Registration

(The following is excerpted from an editorial in the current issue of the Greenbriar Crier.)

This is an election year. The candidates are already getting their campaigns underway for the primary elections on September 14. At stake are several important offices, but we are compelled to single out the Prince Georges County Council election as having the most immediate effect on our lives as residents and homeowners. Prince Georges County claims the lion's share of our property taxes as well as onethird of our state and local income taxes. In return, the county provides our public school system, backs up our police and fire protection, provides for our water and sewer service, and maintains many of our roads. The county is also responsible for major decisions in zoning and planning. . .

Because of a change mandated by referendum, the County Council to be elected this year will consist of members elected from individual districts. instead of the wholly at-large Council currently in office. This "reform" threatens to backfire on Greenbelt, which finds itself in the same district (the Fourth) as the much more populous City of Bowie. If the percentage of eligible voters who go to the polls is the same in Greenbelt as in Bowie, it is obvious which community wll be favored and which more likely to be overlooked by the Fourth District Council member.

There is something we can do to bring ourselves out of Bowie's shadow: we can vote. . . . Nonvoters have no influence whatever on politicians' behavior. Therefore, if all of Greenbelt should turn out to vote en-masse on election day, we shall find ourselves in no community's shadow - including Bowie's - and our message to all candidates will be clear: ignore this community only at your peril.

Please note: in order to vote. you must be registered. In order to vote in the September 14 Democratic or Republican primary, you must be registered to vote no later than August 16. . . .

restraining Ladnier, as eye witnesses allege and (3) whether city officials took proper steps to investigate eyewitness charges with possible administrative action to follow if warranted.

Interrogatories Two lists of questions, interrogatories by Ladnicr's attorneys asking for information, were addressed to Lane and Murray. The questions center around who was at the scene, what information is available through written investigative reports, what are the training procedures used by the city police department and whether any officers have been involved in similar situations during the past five years.

Written responses to these questions must be filed within 30 days of the official notification. However, attorney for Ladhier, Arthur House, told the News Review Tuesday morning, July 27, that he was uncertain whether all of the officers had been properly served. (Later in the day, Giese told the News Review that he, Lane, and Murray had been personally served with a new amended complaint during the afternoon). House explained that the information received would be used to prepare their case. The next step would involve the taking of depositions or oral testimony from potential witnesses; then, some months down the road, the Compiled by Mavis Fletcher As a result of a suspicious per-son call, Cpl. Edward D. Blake arrested a subject and found a large amount of drugs and a concealed handgun. As a result of the same call, Pfc. Thomas R. Justin closed a fraud case when he arrested a male subject who had opened an account at a Greenbelt bank with a bad check and was drawing out funds.

Police Blotter

A breaking and entering occurred in the 6100 block of Breezewood Drive during nighttime hours. Entry was made through the patio doors and currency was taken.

Shoplifting arrests were made at Marshall's and at Best's in the Beltway Plaza and at Linens and Things in the Greenway Shopping Center.

A failure-to-pay arrest was made in Springhill Lake when a woman resident attempted to run away from a cab that had transported her from Washington, D.C. A video playback unit was stolen from Best's in Beltway Plaza. The theft occurred during business hours. A disorderly conduct arrest was made in the Greenway Shopping Center.

Due to increase in activities in the Center Mall area at this time of year, the Greenbelt Police Department will make more frequent patrol on weekends. These patrols are aimed at curtailing recently reported instances of disorderly conduct, drinking in public and car racing.

Parkdale '77 Reunion

The Class of 1977 of Parkdale Senior High School will hold a dinner-dance at the Sheraton Lanham Motor Inn, New Carrollton, to celebrate its fifth reunion year. The event is scheduled for August 28 at 8 p.m. Alumni who have not yet been contacted by the planning committee are encouraged to call Lucy Otero at 441-8279 or Timothy Moore, 474-5421, for information. Over 600 persons graduated.

court would set a trial date. Early Investigation

Giese told the News Review last fall that a police department detective had been assigned to investigate the formal complaint of an eyewitness against Murray for excessive use of force. At that time Ladnier was advised of the investigation, but did not come forward either to make a complaint himself or to be interviewed by the detective. Attorney for the city, Emmett Nanna, had advised Giese that the available information would not make a strong enough case to proceed against Murray. However, Giese had kept the investigation open in case Ladnier did come forward.
