Art Deco Devotees Appalled at Proposed Plans for Replacement of Center School

by Germaine Timmermans

As reported in last week's issue of the News Review, Greenbelt Center Elementary School is the top priority for fiscal year 1989-90 in the Prince Georges County Public Schools' proposed Capital Improvements Program (CIP) for the funding years 1985-89.

This news has chagrined local art lovers and preservationists, as the school stands as one of the outstanding examples of Art Deco style, not only in the Washington, D.C. area but in the United States. The award the school received from the Art Deco Society of America as one of the top ten examples in the country of this style of architecture bears witness to its national stature.

Proposed work for Center School involves demolishing the original building and replacing it with a new facility. The addition built in 1968 would be renovated and integrated into the new facility.

But what, might well be asked, is Art Deco and how is Center School exemplary of this style? The term "Art Deco" derives from the title of the great 1925 Paris arts and crafts exhibition, "L'Exposition Internationale des Arts Decoratifs et Industriels Modernes" and is now generally used in connection with the typical artistic productions of the 1920s and 1930s. Theodore Merten in The Art Deco Style (N.Y.: Dover Publications, Inc., 1972) says this style might best be characterized as an attempt to unite arts with industry, embracing the machine age and repudiating the old antithesis of "fine" and "industrial" arts.

Richard Striner, president of the Art Deco Society of Washington (ADSW), says that the streamlined form and the general massing of the building make it a good example of Art Deco. The aerodynamic struts at the front of the school and touches of glass brick used in the back and on the library side are additional features of this style.

The school was designed in 1936 by Douglas Ellington and Reginald D. Wadsworth, who were architects for the entire New Deal town as well.

The friezes on the front of Center School, which depict the Preamble to the Constitution, were carved by Lenore Thomas Straus, who also sculpted the statue in Center Mall.

The school is historically as well as aesthetically significant since it served as a community center in Greenbelt's early years—hence its original name of "Community Building." A brochure published on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the City states:

"Until the Community Building was sold (in 1959 to the Prince Georges Board of Education), it remained the unquestionable focus of community life. In the early years it housed the churches on Sunday and provided recreational facilities during the week. The combination auditorium and gymnasium served as a meeting place for the Citizens' Association and other local organizations and provided a place for entertainments, stage shows, public forums, and debates. The classrooms were not only used for children, but also for adult education and vocational training."

Though Center School is in no immediate danger of destruction, the fragility of the remaining buildings in this style is described in a quotation by Barbara Capitman, leader of the Miami Design Preservation League and founding president of the Art Deco Societies of America, which almost seems to have been made with the present situation in mind: "Art Deco is probably the most vulnerable of the design styles. . . . It keeps getting torn down and covered up because not enough has been written about it to develop an appreciation," (from Janis Johnson's "Good times and bad for Art Deco on Miami Beach strip," Smithsonian Magazine, vol. 13, no. 9, December, 1982).

Some Reactions

A sampling of reactions of local art and architecture experts, art lovers and preservationists on hearing about the proposed demolition of Center School follows:

• James Goode, Curator of the Smithsonian Building, says, "I think it is one of the ten most outstanding examples of Art Deco in the Washington area, particularly because of its sculpted panels." He believes tearing down See CENTER SCHOOL, p4, col. 1

$25,000 Damage Caused By Research Rd. Fire

by Elaine Skolnik

A fire at 9-H Research Road on Saturday, July 23, caused at least $25,000 damage. According to a spokesperson in the Prince Georges County Fire Marshall's office, the one-alarm fire started in an overheated fan motor which caused fire to burn through the insulation in the wire. Sparks ignited nearby drapes.

The occupants were not home. A neighbor called the fire department when she spotted flames shooting out of the second floor windows. The fire was confined to the bedroom and attic.

Fire companies responding were from Greenbelt, Branchville, West Lanham, Berwyn Heights and Beltsville. William Dunn of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad served as fire commander.

Captain Matt Weber of the GVF&RS said the department received the call at 7:18 p.m. When firemen reached the scene, smoke and fire were pouring from the rear of the building. The home was searched for occupants and the fire extinguished. Adjacent homes including attics were also checked. Dry wall partitions separate attics of individual units.

Firemen remained on the scene for two and a half hours. There were no injuries.

Residents are reminded to turn off fans, air conditioners, television sets and other appropriate appliances before they leave the house.

Pedestrian Accident Is Fatal To Greenbelter James Wright

by Katherine Keene

James F. Wright of 35 Court, Ridge Road, well known as a former member of the GHI board, was killed at about 10:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 20 when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed Crescent Road. Shortly before the accident there had been a short heavy rainstorm and the wet street made visibility difficult for both drivers and pedestrians. The accident occurred near 56 Court on Crescent where the street curves sharply. The police have asked the State's Attorney's Office to review the case to determine whether the driver of the car should be charged. (The News Review has been asked to refrain from discussing details of the accident until after review of the case.)

Wright was born in Baltimore in 1930 and attended schools there. He received a degree in engineering from the University of Maryland in 1959, his formal education having been interrupted by service in the Air Force from 1951 to 1955. This included service during the Korean War. Most of the work for his degree was done at night school.

He was employed for several years as a systems analyst for the Raytheon and Westinghouse companies before he joined the National Security Agency as a technical data project officer. He worked for NSA eight years, loving his work, finding it very stimulating and endlessly interesting. From time to time he had a short overseas assignment and had returned from Germany shortly before his death.

First and foremost, he was a family man. His wife, Joan, and he had three children, Karen, Mark, and Leslie, and also had one grandchild. Although he participated in community affairs, he most enjoyed coming home to his family. He was active in Boy Scout activities while his son was a Boy Scout. He was particularly active in GHI, serving on the Nominations and Elections Committee, the Audit Committee, and from 1975 to 1977 on the Board of Directors. He was a member of St. Hugh's church.

During the summers the Wright family stayed at a beach house on the ocean, leaving Jim Wright at home alone during the week. He was an inveterate do-it-yourselfer. He took care of the garden and this summer had set for himself a project to remodel the kitchen while the rest of the family were at the beach. Wednesday was very hot, and after finishing as much as he had intended to do in the kitchen that evening, Wright went down to High's for an ice cream cone. There had been short rainy squalls but little drop in temperature. The intermittent showers stopped as he started back home.

Since he had not taken his wallet when he went to the Center for a cone it was difficult to identify the victim of the accident. Fortunately he had taken his car keys with his housekey, and a positive identification was made on Thursday when police found the car that the keys fit.

A burial mass was held at St. Hugh's on Monday.

Putens, Polansky Win Seats on W. G. Board

On June 29 the Windsor Green Homeowners Association (WG-HOA) held its 6th annual meeting to elect two members to the Board of Directors. Currently, homeowners elect two members to the Board consisting of five seats while the Developer (U.S. Homes) maintains control over three seats.

This year's election sparked increased interest by members seeking election to the Board following the announcement from Dee Allison that she would not seek reelection. Candidates this year included Ed Putens, current Board member seeking reelection to a 6th term, John Corliss, a member of the homeowner's association, Dave Lychenheim, chairman of the Architectural Control Committee and Barry Polansky, past chairman of the Architectural Control Committee and past chairman of the Finance Committee.

Ed Putens was again reelected and will be serving a two year term. He has served on the Board since 1978. Barry Polansky was elected to his first one year term.

Following the election committee reports were received by the Board. Old business was discussed including the progress on the construction of the Windsor Green Pool and Community Center. Putens also announced that the contract with Storer Cable TV would be signed in the next several days (the contract was signed on July 7, 1983). New business was discussed. Before closing the meeting Putens presented Dee Allison with a plaque commemorating her service on the Board from 1980 to 1983.

The Way I See It

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.
 Before the candidates for City Council begin to set forth their respective positions on issues they believe to be important, I should like to suggest that the next Council consider some way to use North End School as a day care center. Many single-parent families now live in Greenbelt; in other instances, both parents must work. For most people, life these past several years has not been easy—with rampant inflation, unemployment and reduced government assistance. For many or most of the people who would benefit from day care, the situation has been even more grim.

We have in Greenbelt programs in recreation and Greenbelt CARES that help these families. These and private programs make this a better-than-average place for them. Thanks to our government investment and this private help, we save on what might otherwise be high juvenile delinquency costs—costs high in dollars but far higher in human tragedy.

The candidates will be expressing their views on how to best utilize the North End School building. They want to hear from the voters, too, on this or any other local public issue.

Letters to the Editor

Threat to Center School

To the Editor:

One of the two most splendid examples of Art Deco design in the Washington area may be threatened in Prince Georges County. The Greenbelt Center School, designed by Douglas Ellington and Reginald D. Wadsworth in 1936, is the architectural gem of Greenbelt, the New Deal model town. Originally designed to serve as both a school and community center — hence its name — its streamlined form is thematically akin to Paul Cret's design for the Folger Shakespeare Library. Like Cret, Ellington and Wadsworth provided for bas-relief sculpture at the base line. This sculpture was executed by Lenore Thomas in panels depicting the Preamble to the Constitution. The sculpture is classically "30's," with overtones of Ben Shahn and the sensibility of John Steinbeck.

But the overall lines of the school are its greatest claim to distinction, for the structure represents one of the finest examples of streamlined Art Deco in the United States. It is one of the two most perfect examples of Art Deco in the Washington area; the other is the Hecht Company warehouse of 1937, which won a prize and was mentioned in Architectural Forum upon its completion.

Greenbelt Center School, as part of the original New Deal town, is listed on the National Register. The planning staff of the Prince Georges County Board of Education have just proposed that the school be demolished and replaced with a larger structure. This is absolutely unthinkable. Preliminary contact with school board officials indicates that the planning staff was unaware of its National Register status. Public hearings on the issue are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on August 15 in Upper Marlboro. Those wishing to testify must register in advance by calling 952-4324.

As President of the Art Deco Society of Washington — and as a resident of College Park — I call upon fellow residents of Prince Georges County to express their opposition to the demolition of Greenbelt Center School. I am confident that when the Board of Education is fully apprised of the school's historic significance, they will come to the only possible conclusion and seek alternative ways of addressing the issues that prompted their staff to an ill-advised proposal. Meanwhile, immediate steps should be taken to organize the residents of Greenbelt, petition the county's Historic Preservation Commission to recommend the building's designation as a county historic site, alert the state preservation officer and members of the federal Advisory Council on Historic Preservation — if federal funds are being used to demolish a National Register structure.

Don't Tear It Down

To the Editor:

Don't tear Greenbelt Center School down!

I was shocked to read that the P.G. County Public Schools Capital Improvement Program has scheduled destruction of Greenbelt Center School, one of the Art Deco masterpieces in this country and an important element in the planning of the original Greenbelt community. This architectural beauty is irreplaceable. If there are problems with the building, let's fix them.

Our City Council has already notified the Superintendent of Schools of its belief that the building should be preserved. I have also written that office and plan to attend the public hearing on this issue to be held August 15, 7:30 p.m. in the Board of Education Meeting Room in Upper Marlboro. I urge all of the Greenbelt community to do the same.

Mary M. Ison

A Definite Threat

To the Editor:

Speaking as a resident of the 37 Court of Ridge Road, I would like to dispute the wording of the recent "Police Blotter" report of a man jumping out of a hedge (wearing a ski mask) and frightening a female resident at 1:30 a.m. the morning of July 17. To say "the suspect made neither verbal nor physical threats" about a man in a ski mask (in 90 degree heat) springing with hands outspread towards a young woman, may not be everyone's idea of a physical threat, but it certainly fits my description. But I heard the screams of the young woman (who also seemed to think that there was a threat present). Many of the residents of the court, including the family of the victim, are now very frightened indeed and since the suspect has not been caught, it could definitely be said that for some people, there is a "physical threat" (i.e. danger) present.

Unspecific Allegations

To the Editor:

In her first letter Bettie G. Denson alleged "many irregularities and "ambiguities" in GHI "bylaws and corporate papers."

In her second letter she charged "thousands of dollars . . . wasted on futile inspections." Also, she referred to a review of GHI documents by FNMA possibly as indicating support for her view.

At no time that Ms. Denson was a member of the Audit Committee did she charge as now she does inadequacy in corporation documents or inspection procedures. Had she done so the matters could then have been investigated. Even now her allegations are unspecific.

As to the review of our bylaws by FNMA, or even by GHI legal counsel, one may assume that such a review would be done without predetermining that they contain "many irregularities and ambiguities."

Yard Sale Signs

To the Editor:

This past Saturday, July 23, we held a yard sale which was advertised in the News Review. We also posted several yard sale notices throughout Greenbelt in order to draw additional customers to this endeavor. These signs were made of bold black lettering on a white background and were easily readable even from a distance.

To our astonishment and dismay we discovered that the holder of another yard sale had posted her sign at the corner of Ridge and Southway so that it covered most of our sign except the words "YARD SALE." The obvious purpose of this action was to use our meticulously constructed sign to call attention to her sign that was made on brown cardboard and readable only from close up. We do not know if her intent was to prevent people from patronizing our yard sale in order to cut down on her competition or if she simply did not care that she was hurting another person's endeavor. Regardless of her motives, her action was self-indulgent and inexcusable.

We tore down her sign, and our impulse was to throw it away so that people would not find out about her yard sale (she did not advertise in the News Review). We decided against this action since we would have been repeating her atrocious behavior. Instead we replaced her sign beneath ours so that both could be seen.

Although we know the address of the offender, we will not identify it because the guilty party certainly will recognize herself if she is reading this letter. Perhaps she also will feel ashamed for her selfishness.

This action was contrary to the conviviality that has allowed yard sales to flourish in this community. We hope that by calling attention to it there will be no more incidents of yard sale notices being covered up or removed by self-seekers who think that their yard sales are more important than anyone else's.

Peace Vigil

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Peace Committee is a co-sponsor of a Vigil at the White House beginning at 6:45 p.m. Friday, August 5. This will be the opening ceremony of the annual Hiroshima-Nagasaki Day Commemoration of the first and only use of the atomic bomb against civilian populations on August 6 and 9, 1945. Additional memorial events will take place Saturday, August 6 in the afternoon and evening. The final events will occur August 7 at the Lincoln Memorial in the evening.

The Hiroshima-Nagasaki Day Commemoration is to remind us that atomic weapons have been used against people. This should activate us to exert whatever effort is necessary to ensure that the thousand times more powerful present bombs are never used.

We are now at a time of an escalating nuclear arms race and a time of intense activity to end reliance on nuclear weapons by nations. The Greenbelt Peace Committee invites everyone to join us in the Friday Vigil and as many of the other events as they can. Swim Team News

by Sue Jones

In what was expected to be a tough event, Greenbelt remained undefeated, beating Forest Pool, 292½-240½. Although several names stand out as high point achievers, the entire team was involved in securing this victory. Winning three first places were Steffan Sonneveldt, Tara Yaney, and Lynda Blue. Deni Weaver, Josh Kepler, Jennifer Drake, and James Fellows scored 13 points, Brian Dies earned 12, Rob Reed and Emily Sonneveldt (11), Aimee Fellows (10), Kathy Barwick, Kim Lofgren, Margaret Williamson, and Weston Van-Wambeke contributed 9 points, and Damian Hodgkinson, Brian Sluder, Shawn Luddy, Scott Luddy, and Jay Gordon brought in 8 points.

This Saturday Greenbelt will attempt to win the division championship at the divisionals at Forest Pool. Swimmers, parents and anyone else who wants to cheer the team on should meet at Greenbelt Pool at 7:15 a.m. Saturday. If Greenbelt places second or better against Surratts, Oxon Hill, Bolling Air Force Base and Forest Pool it will be Greenbelt's first division championship in eleven years.

Sunday, August 7, Greenbelt will host the Novice Meet. Swim team members who have not earned a first, second or third place ribbon in a non-relay event are eligible to swim. Anyone who would like to try out for the swim team is also invited. Practices are from 8 to 9 a.m., Monday-Friday.

the building would destroy the pattern of the planned community and favors keeping the original building while adding another wing.

• Karel Yasko, Counselor for Fine Arts and Historic Preservation at General Services Administration, opposes demolition of the building for historical reasons and states, "It would be a crime to demolish it." He believes a highly imaginative architect should be employed to preserve as much of the structure as possible. In his opinion, keeping the facade would not be an act of preservation.

• Richard Striner, chief historian at the Capitol Historical Society and president of ADSW, sees the possible destruction of the school as "unthinkable." "It would be a big mistake," says Striner, who sees the structure as a "national treasure."

• Lorraine Brown of the Institute on the Federal Theater Project and New Deal Culture at George Mason University, says, "The main thing I'm concerned with is expert testimony on the building. It's hard for people to realize that anything created in the 1930s could have aesthetic significance..."

• Alan Virta, Chairman of the Prince Georges County Preservation Commission, says, "Personally, I think the school is quite important architecturally." He will attend the upcoming hearing on the matter of the CIP, "not speaking on any formal resolution" of the Commission, "but as a preservationist." At its meeting last week in Upper Marlboro, the Commission passed an informal resolution which expressed a desire for the school to be preserved.

• Lenore Thomas Straus, sculptor of the Indiana limestone friezes at the front of the school, had these thoughts when contacted at her home in Maine: "I'd be sorry to see it go," she says of the school. When asked how she would categorize the friezes she replied, "I don't know what style I'd call it." Her interest in doing the bas-reliefs was to remove art from the museum. "At that period there was a great deal of interest in the common man," says Straus. She relates that the ordinary man at that time became heroic because of the suffering he had gone through and New Deal artists were affected by this. She calls the school a "good-looking building" which fits into its environment.

Citizens can express their opinions on the future of Center School at a public hearing on August 15 at 7:30 p.m. to be held in the Board of Education Meeting Room in Upper Marlboro. Those who wish to testify must register in advance by calling 952-4324.

Recycling

Citizens are encouraged to do their part to maintain a litter-free environment. Those residents who do not have a regular newspaper pickup can bring their clean and bundled newspapers to the City Public Works Yard at 555 Crescent Road near Greenbelt Lake. Old aluminum cans can also be brought to the Yard for recycling. Aluminum cans, which can be identified by their light weight, rounded base, indented top, and lack of a seam should preferably be flattened before being brought in. The Yard also accepts used glass, which need not be sorted by color, and used motor oil. The hours of operation are 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday (the gates are open slightly before and after these times).

The curved aerodynamic struts contrast with the rectangular windows and structure of Center School. The friezes echo this contrast.

REHAB LOAN DEFERRAL PROGRAM RAISED TO $70.00 PER MONTH

The Rehab Loan Deferral Program (RLDP) has been amended to allow eligible members to defer $35.00-70.00 per month of their rehab payment. This loan will be assessed 3% accrued interest but does not need to be repaid until the house is sold.

Since RLDP began this spring, many members have taken advantage of this program leaving them with extra money each month for other necessities. These members can check into having their deferral increased by calling the Member Services Coordinator Marc Schwartz (474-6644).

New participants in this program are also welcome. Just call the Member Services Coordinator to find out whether you are eligible. Eligibility is determined by financial status and rehab charges.

It is not too late to take advantage of RLDP. GHI wants to help all its members who can use this assistance.

Police Blotter

Compiled by Mavis Fletcher

A man attempted to rape a girl as she walked through the woods behind the Springhill Lake elementary school at about 3:45 p.m. on July 23. The victim struggled and struck her attacker and was able to get away from him. The man was described as a white male in his late 20's, 5'9" tall and weighing 160 lbs. He had dark hair and brown eyes. He wore a full beard but had no moustache. The Greenbelt police request that anyone having any information which might have a bearing on this case call Det./Sgt. Ernest W. Brumley at 474-7200.

A small boy and girl were the victims of a second-degree sex offense which occurred on July 21 in the Research Rd. area. The offender, another juvenile, was arrested and incarcerated in Boy's Village.

A case of indecent exposure occurred at the tennis courts at Braden Field over the weekend.

Officer Daniel Allwang arrested a male resident for assault with a handgun after the man pointed a gun at a group of swimmers and ordered them to leave. The incident occurred at a Springhill Lake pond on July 24.

Cpl. John A. Lann arrested a male non-resident on July 23 in Boxwood and charged him with carrying a deadly weapon with intent to injure.

An unusually large number of auto and motorcycle thefts occurred during the past week. Autos were stolen from Hillside Rd. and Parkway Rd. on July 21; both were recovered. Cpl. Daniel P. O'Neil and Officer Daniel Allwang arrested an adult and a juvenile for motorcycle theft which occurred in the 400 block of Ridge Rd. on July 22. An attempt was made to steal a van in the same block that night also. A motorcycle stolen on Westway was recovered and the suspect arrested. A motorcycle stolen on Laurel Hill was recovered on Hillside. Cpl. Thomas W. Miskell recovered two motorcycles stolen from the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway.

The following autos were stolen and have not been recovered: 1967 maroon Chevrolet Malibu, Md. registration AVD 842; 1981

Royal blue Pontiac Firebird, FJX 151; 1979 green Ford Pinto, BXR 786; 1982 blue and silver Cadillac, GEZ 143.

The police department suggests that residents be especially cautious about where they park and take care to lock their cars.

A breaking and entering into an unlocked garage occurred on July 20. On July 21 a patio sliding glass door was lifted off the track, allowing access to the victim's apartment. The incident occurred during daylight in the Springhill Lake area.

Officer Juan Turner arrested two non-residents for shoplifting at Marshall's on July 23. Officer Daniel Allwang arrested a male non-resident for shoplifting at the Dart Drug store on July 19 and Pfc. Thomas R. Justin arrested a non-resident woman for trespassing at Dart Drug on July 21. The woman, who had been involved in a previous problem in the store, refused to leave when asked to do so and was therefore trespassing.

FALL SOCCER '83

by Sue Cornelius

Final sign-up for Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club Soccer will be held this Saturday, July 30 at the Greenbelt Youth Center from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Last week's sign-up showed an overwhelming desire for Greenbelt youth to play Fall soccer. Eligible players are all boys and girls born between 1966 and 1977. Many new players joined the club, which shows the soccer program is alive and kicking. Most needed at this point are players in the over 13 age group. There are not yet enough players to form a team of 11 players. All teens are strongly urged to come to the 3rd and final sign up. The Boys and Girls Club would like to field a "teen team" made of Greenbelt boys and girls. Bring a friend and sign up!

Anyone interested in playing Fall Soccer must come to the registration or call 345-4628 or 345-6081 to be put on the roster. Since County requirements require that rosters be submitted early, those registering late will not be able to play at the county level. Registration is not automatic even for those who played Spring soccer.

The first administrative meeting will be held in the Conference Room at the Youth Center Monday, August 1 at 7:30 p.m. All coaches are required to attend, and all parents are encouraged to let their voices be heard. Any questions or suggestions, please call Jorge Bianchi at 345-4628 or Sue Cornelius at 345-6081.

A Tribute to Spellman

Senator Paul Sarbanes called final Congressional passage of his bill honoring former Maryland Congresswoman Gladys Noon Spellman "a fine tribute to one of the most remarkable people ever to hold public office in the State of Maryland." The bill was sponsored by Senator Charles McC. Mathias also.

"Representative Gladys Noon Spellman spent a lifetime dedicated to public service," Senator Sarbanes said on the Senate floor. "Her entire career was marked by an extraordinary understanding of and respect for the democratic process. All of us who have been privileged to work with Gladys admire her record of achievement and her dedicated representation of her constituents." Similar legislation was introduced in the House by Congressman Steny Hoyer and co-sponsored by the entire Maryland delegation in the House.

QUESTIONS MEMBERS ARE ASKING about MASONRY REPAIR and PAINTING

Q. Is structural repair, water blasting and painting part of the Rehab Program?

A. Yes, the cost of this work will be rolled into rehab charges. Please note that the painting program consists of painting the outside walls of homes. Attached garages, porch decks and the apron will not be painted. Trim painting will be done in 1984 under a Maintenance Program. Since most additions are not of masonry construction, they could not be included in this program. However, this will be handled on a case-by-case basis.

Q. What will this work cost?

A. The cost of structural repairs was estimated on the statement of rehabilitation costs which members recently received from the Fiscal Office. If the actual costs are different from these estimated charges, the charges will be readjusted on July 1, 1984. The costs of water blasting and painting will be known after the bidding process is complete and each unit will be assessed actual costs based on the contract. Members will begin paying these charges on July 1, 1984. Presently, the estimate for water blasting and painting together is $500 per unit and for water blasting alone is about $100.00. Please note that this estimate is based on an end unit with 100% participation of masonry members. The more units that participate, the lower the price will be per unit.

Q. Who pays for structural repairs?

A. As approved by the Board of Directors, structural repairs on masonry units are shared by all masonry units.

Q. Who pays for water blasting and painting?

A. Each member will pay for the work done to his/her home.

Q. How will charges for water blasting and painting be calculated?

A. Charges will be based on a section allocation method (as established by the Board of Directors). A section is that area of exterior wall whose length is set by the unit's boundary and whose width is one story tall. Under this formula, charges will be less for a honeymoon unit and more for an end unit.

Q. Can we have just part of our unit done?

A. No, the entire unit must be done.

Q. Do we have to pay for this in our rehab charges?

A. No, you can pay for the work in cash. If you elect to pay for the work through your rehab charges, the cost will be spread over 20 years at an estimated $4.00-$5.00 per month.

Q. How many years will the painting job last?

A. According to the manufacturer, the life of the paint is 7-10 years if the surface is adequately prepared. According to manufacturers, if the work is done properly the first time, a top coat (no water blasting or primer) should be needed at the end of that time.

Q. What is the painting procedure?

A. To prepare the surface adequately, the walls will be water blasted (water will be taken by tanker from the GHI compound) and then inspected to determine whether structural repair is needed before proceeding. After drying time, a primer coat will be applied and allowed to dry. Finally, a top coat will be applied to finish the job. The paint will be applied with a roller and brush.

Q. My home needs structural repair. Does it need to be water blasted?

A. Any major structural repair will necessitate water blasting. If the structural repair is minor, GHI will have to determine whether water blasting is necessary.

Q. Can my unit be left as it is?

A. Brick units which do not need major structural repair can be left as is. Block units can be left as is if they do not have any peeling paint. If a block member chooses this option, GHI will inspect the unit to be sure it meets minimum standards.

Q. How will water blasting affect my home?

A. The GDC apartments which were water blasted and painted served as test units for this work. There should not be any problem with seepage and panes of glass should not be affected. The work will cause paint to flake off several feet away from the house, but the contractor will rake up this paint. Also, drop cloths will be used as necessary.

Q. Will water blasting be done inside a screened porch?

A. Yes, if practical.

Q. Can I do this work myself?

A. Yes. You can do the water blasting and painting or just the painting yourself. Also, if you live in a brick unit, you can do the water blasting yourself and leave the unit unpainted. All paints will be provided by the GHI Warehouse at cost.

Q. Is sealant provided for brick units?

A. There is no sealant in the program.

Q. What is the schedule for this work?

A. Structural and painting work will begin this fall on buildings already identified as needing repairs. Because of weather conditions, most work will stop by the end of October and resume in the Spring. All work must be completed by June, 1984.

Q. Who will do this work for GHIDC?

A. Lyon Associates is doing the engineering and specifications for the structural work. A structural contractor will be secured in the Fall and a painting contractor for water blasting and painting.

Q. How must I prepare my unit for work?

A. Remove all items attached to the exterior walls such as awnings, antennas, shutters, mailboxes, house numbers, lights, ivy, etc. Move privacy screens and solid fences which are less than eight inches from the building and chain link fences which are less than two inches from the building. Move sheds which are less than three feet from the building. Protect plants which are less than three feet from the walls by transplanting covering or pruning.

Q. Can Maintenance do this preparation for me?

A. At the present time, this is not part of the program. However, consideration is being given to Maintenance providing this service for a fee depending upon the availability of temporary help.

Q. How do I select a color?

A. The color you select must be one of the 12 the Board of Directors has approved for the painting program. There are displays of these colors in the GHI office for you to look at from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Please consult with your neighbors while making your choice. If there are obvious color conflicts, GHI will try to resolve them by contacting the affected members.

REMEMBER! THE SURVEY MUST BE RETURNED BY AUGUST 8.

Council Grapples with Variety of Issues At National, County and Local Levels

by Leta Mach

A host of items, some of National or County origin, merited City Council's attention at its regular meeting on July 11. One which raised considerable concern but had no easy answer was U.S. Senate Bill 66 on cable television deregulation.

The bill, representing a compromise between the views of National League of Cities and the National Cable Television Association, has been opposed by the Maryland Association of Counties, the U.S. Conference of Mayors, and numerous cities. New York City is taking the lead in the attempt to modify the compromise agreement.

In a written report, Administrative Assistant Michael McLaughlin found that, "Greenbelt will be minimally impacted by the proposed legislation." Rate regulation and franchise renewal are two areas where Greenbelt will be affected. These areas, he notes, "under S.66 will lean more towards the franchisee."

Councilman Thomas White, who had placed the item on council's agenda, felt that, "McLaughlin has done a fairly good job analyzing what it means to Greenbelt, but I think he understates." The provisions on rate regulation and franchise renewal "would render our charter useless." As White viewed it, the provisions would grant the franchise in perpetuity because "the burden would be on the municipality to show why the franchise wasn't renewed." In conclusion he said, "We entered into the agreement in good faith. This bill renders that agreement nearly moot." He then moved to communicate the city's displeasure, in particular in respect to the rate regulation and franchise renewal provisions, to the city's representatives in the House and the appropriate committees.

In the questions which followed, Mayor Gil Weidenfeld asked the City Solicitor Emmett Nanna how Congress could legislate since the city had already had an agreement with Storer Cable TV. Nanna responded that under a commerce clause, the federal government would be sovereign over local government. He cited a recent case which had gone against the local government. Nanna felt, "half a loaf is better than none."

City Manager James Giese reminded council that the National League of Cities' proposal was a compromise and "as such they did not get everything they wanted. Their assessment of the National situation was to go along with the compromise," he added. Nanna remarked, "I would say these people are closer to the political climate than we are."

Despite the remarks from city staff, council voted unanimously in favor of the protest against Senate Bill 66.

Cable TV

In another cable TV matter, council established a cable television public access and local origination advisory committee. A minor technical error necessitated a change of one word so that council had to suspend the rules before final passage of the resolution. The city will soon advertise for citizens interested in serving in the seven voting positions of the committee. A member of council and a member of the city staff will also serve on the committee, which will make recommendations about local programming.

Another national matter which council considered was national gas regulatory reform and pricing policy. Giese had suggested in his agenda comments that this matter was not of direct concern to the city. White, however, felt it affected those citizens of Greenbelt who use gas to heat their homes. He suggested and council agreed to send notice of the city's support of a Council of Government's resolution to congressional representatives. The resolution asks Congress to "1. maintain wellhead selling prices on old gas; 2. continue the scheduled deregulation of new gas as envisioned by the National Gas Policy Act of 1978; and 3. mandate contractual refinements in producer-pipeline contracts."

North End School

In a county-related matter, council opted not to execute an interim use agreement for North End School. The interim agreement would have allowed the city use of the building in return for maintaining it. The agreement was proposed before Judge Julius Kaufman rendered his decision on the desegregation suit against the Prince Georges County Board of Education. An injunction connected with the suit has held up the transfer of the school to the city.

Giese advised against the interim agreement since Kaufman's recent decision makes transfer of full title to the building "more imminent." He suggested that council would prefer to have full title before spending money on the building. Paradoxically, an interim agreement might "reduce the impetus to get final title."

Accordingly, council passed a motion to pursue with the county a transfer of title instead of an interim use agreement.

Presentations and Petitions

The evening began sweetly as Vivian McCain, Public Relations Specialist for the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC), presented council members and other individuals with boxes of candy. The sweets were ARC's way of saying thanks for support of the annual Ride-a-Bike for the Retarded. "I understand you are professionals in this area," McCain acknowledged to council. Cathy Labukas, the outstanding participant, received an AM-FM radio from the Greenbelt Jaycees and the Hosea D. White Memorial Award Plaque from the Greenbelt Recreation Department.

McCain singled out Eileen Labukas for her help with the Ride-a-Bike. "She loves the city of Greenbelt and loves ARC. Put them together and she is dynamite." Mayor Gil Weidenfeld noted the event was "in the greatest tradition of Greenbelt."

Giese received praise from Paul Sinkovic, President of Greenbrier Phase III. Sinkovic had appeared to petition council on the group's concerns about the nearby proposed Green Holly Woods subdivision and his difficulty in working with the County Planning Board and the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC). However, upon his arrival, he found that Giese had already beat him to it with a letter to the appropriate agency. Sinkovic concluded, "I express my appreciation to Jim Giese for his foresight."

In connection with the matter, J Davis asked about a traffic light at Mandan Road. Greenbrier had been assured that one would be installed before anyone moved in and Davis felt the light should have a pedestrian crossing button. County Councilman Richard Castaldi, who was present at the meeting, was not certain about the restriction on sales before the installation of a light. As far as a pedestrian button was concerned, he said, "my response is to try to get a light and then its features." Davis said she would get the verbal agreement about the light in writing. White advised, "I suggest from here on out, we refer to the pedestrian-controlled light."

Giese also reported on WSSC-proposed work in the Lakecrest subdivision. The work would involve installation of a waterway to make connections of water lines of Pinecrest, Maplewood and Olivewood Courts and Lakeview Circle. This is intended to solve the problem of rusty water in the area. WSSC first proposed to use lake park property and access paths, taking down trees in the process. After a meeting with the city, the right-of-way has been reduced to the access pathway so that trees do not need to be removed. WSSC has agreed to write into the contract that no trees would be removed without the approval of the city. After excavation (cut and cover work) the area would be returned to a condition as good as before the job. Giese felt the biggest disturbance would be to joggers during the construction. Council passed a motion to grant WSSC an easement for the work.

Resolutions

With election day fast approaching, Council passed a resolution which provides for judges and clerks and their compensation during the election.

First reading was given to several resolutions: — One would set service charges for copies of the Greenbelt voter registration list and mailing stickers.

— Another would redefine part-time classified positions in the personnel section of the City code from 40 to 35 hours. The change would provide part-time Greenbelt CARES employees (full-time CARES employees work 71 hours) with city benefits and pro-rated leave benefits.

— A list of goods and services for negotiated purchase by the City was also introduced. These items — computer services, uniform cleaning, legal ads, landfill fees, umpire services, etc. — are negotiated because they are needed irregularly and are often available from only one source.

Council also approved the employment of an Evaluation Consultant for Greenbelt CARES. The Consultant who has worked with CARES for a number of years, would collect, analyze and interpret data; attend staff meetings and family clinics and prepare annual reports.
