Co-op Members, Employees Meet to Explore Possible Responses to GCI Board Directive

by Virginia Beauchamp

Angry charges concerning the violation of cooperative principles by the Board of Directors and top management of Greenbelt Cooperative, Inc. (GCI) were aired on January 2 at an ad hoc meeting of 18 long-time GCI members and employees in the Greenbelt city council chamber. Called together by Al Herling to explore ways of responding to the recent board decision to close down both the supermarket and gas station divisions of the corporation, participants spoke out sharply concerning the secrecy of the decision-making process, exclusion of the membership from knowledge of the seriousness of the chain's financial problems, and the board's failure to comply with the directive passed by 57% of the members of the GCI Congress to study other alternatives in order to maintain these vital services.

GCI Board member and long-time Greenbelt resident Bruce Bowman, however, the only representative present to speak for the GCI administration, claimed that the decision was not "precipitous"—that in fact the board "might have been criticized for delaying as long as it did. . . . The decision was inevitable," he said. These money-losing operations, he contended, had for a long time been subsidized by the SCAN furniture stores division. Now SCAN faced strong competition by the entry into the Washington market area of Scandinavian Design, which purchases from the same European manufacturers.

The decision, said Konrad Herling, "seems to be a save SCAN operation."

A cooperative consisting only of SCAN stores "would be worthless," claimed John Ward.

"How much profit could be made by selling SCAN and maintaining services to members?" asked Tony McCarthy. "This looks like a decision that the organization sought to perpetuate itself rather than serve its members," he said.

Reading from the annotated code of the state of Maryland concerning the governance of cooperatives, McCarthy, an attorney, claimed that GCI had acted illegally. Although the GCI Congress had two years earlier authorized divestiture of losing operations, the term had referred to individual stores—a business decision—not to reorganization of the whole cooperative, he said. A decision as major as divestiture of two whole divisions would require membership vote at a general meeting, he claimed.

Noting that any individual member, with 25 signers, can bring charges of incompetence against any individual director, McCarthy said, "I do not believe we are impotent to respond to this action."

Falls Church member Art Danforth concurred. "I think action to overturn the decision should be explored with competent coun-

Area Council Meeting

About 70 concerned citizens attended the meeting of the Greenbelt Cooperative, Inc. (GCI) Area Council in the library on Tuesday evening, January 3. They showed resentment at the failure of the GCI board to consult its members or to listen to local councils and questioned whether the action of the board was consistent with what was supposed to be the democratic procedures of a cooperative, or if they were even legal. John Gauci, one of the GCI management staff, attempted to answer some questions, but not to the satisfaction of the audience. Bruce Bowman, Greenbelt resident and member of the board of directors, said that the directors are "ready and willing to entertain any suggestion" and agreed that the most crucial immediate problem is the March 1 deadline.

Meeting directly after the public session, the Area Council passed a resolution that a consensus of those present at the meeting and the council concurred that the board should reconsider its resolution on divestiture or postpone implementation for 6 months or a year.

The Area Council requested that persons wishing to be involved in the effort contact them. The chairman is Charles Sanrahan, 927-4525, and Greenbelt members are John Webb, James Parker, Joe Comproni, Eli Crupain, Kenneth Buker and Winston Williams.

The matter will be on the agenda of the next City Council meeting.

Sparks Fly in All Directions At Hot Council Meeting

by Sandra Barnes

Citizens rose to alternately praise and criticize the Greenbelt Police Department, members of city council sparred with the city manager over hiring of the new police chief and over timing of an animal control ordinance, and the council members themselves testily split 3-2 on appointments to advisory boards. Such was the backdrop for the December 19 regular city council meeting.

Even before arriving at "Old Business" on the agenda, council set the tone of the evening by failing to approve one set of executive meeting minutes. Both councilmen Thomas White and Richard Pilski maintained that the executive session (which they had voted against, and they had deliberately not attended) was inappropriately called, and they therefore refused to approve the minutes. Another set of minutes, for the regular meeting of December 5, was tabled as council sought clarification from city staff on whether citizens had called for "an investigation" or "a study" of the Police Department.

The Citizens Speak

The heart of the evening fell under the "Petitions" part of the agenda, as citizen after citizen rose to speak their piece on the Greenbelt police. Some were drawn to the meeting by an article in the December 8 issue of the News Review which reported that a small group of residents had asked council for an independent evaluation of Police Department effectiveness and integrity. Others—including about half of the 34-member police force—came as a result of an item on the agenda dealing with the possible hiring of a police consultant either to "study" or to "investigate" the Department, as well as to lend support to a statement to be delivered by Officer Doug Sappington.

Allen Berger, who owns the Springhill Lake Pharmacy, said he was proud of the professionalism of the Police Department and was bothered by those who wanted to "investigate the integrity and effectiveness of the Police Department." Anyone who attacks the Police Department "is on a witch hunt. . . . That's the last thing I want," he emphatically stated.

Former Greenbelt police officer Charles "Chuck" Watkins, now a military intelligence officer, presented Greenbelt police officer Gregory Lynn with a plaque praising his and other Greenbelt officers' volunteerism with the armed forces. Watkins also used the occasion to speak as a citizen of the community. "When you say 'integrity,' you're talking about the Greenbelt police," he affirmed.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld maintained that the city did not want to "investigate" the department, but rather it wanted to "make a good department better."

White reflected on the history of the study, saying that candidates for council in the last election had been asked if they would support an evaluation of the department and each had said "yes." (The exception was councilmember Antoinette Bram, who proclaimed that she had not said "yes," because she had not been asked the question.)

Pilski proclaimed that "This is no witch hunt. . . . Let's not be frightened. . . . No one on council questions the integrity of the police."

Then it was the citizens' turn again. Eunice Coxon advised Berger to read the newspaper. Didn't he know that there had been incidents, she asked.

Margaret Hogensen reflected on her concerns about the future needs of the department in terms of traffic and crime. "Many of us would pay higher taxes to have more protection. . . . A study would be an excellent way to approach the problem." Albert Herling echoed these thoughts, noting that "an evaluation would bring an objective viewpoint."

GHI Board Looks at Legislative Proposals For Consumer Co-ops; Member Requests

by Mavis Fletcher

An item-by-item scrutiny of consumer cooperative legislation being drafted by a legislative strategy committee took up a major part of the meeting of the GHI board of directors on Nov. 17. The committee consisted of representatives of various cooperative organizations, including Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Pat Clancy, GHI legal counsel, had prepared a first draft of the proposed legislation.

According to his remarks, much of the legislation, as drafted, would not apply to currently existing cooperative housing corporations. Such corporations would be exempt except for certain across-the-board provisions. New cooperatives, however, would have to conform to all provisions.

The proposed legislation would codify certain provisions and still allow flexibility on some issues which would be governed by contractual agreement between the corporation and the members. Under the draft presented by Clancy, all cooperatives would be Maryland corporations and the members' interest would be considered to be in real property. GHI General Manager Shekar Narasimhan pointed out that this provision could be expected to make GHI homes more attractive to lenders, who are now unwilling to enter the co-op loan market because the members' interest is considered to be in personal property, not real property.

The trade-off under such legislation would be that the transfer of GHI units would be subject to transfer tax. However, Narasimhan maintained that the benefits from interest rates on loans on GHI property would far outweigh the costs of the transfer tax.

Clancy pointed out that the inroduction of this kind of broad-scope legislation—covering producer and consumer cooperatives as well as housing cooperatives—entails certain risks. One risk is that the legislation could be rewritten in the legislative process so that existing cooperatives would have to conform to all provisions. He noted that an alternative would be to attempt to obtain passage of a short bill addressing only GHI concerns. In the end, the board adopted a wait-and-see attitude pending further refinement by the committee.

The board meeting opened with an announcement by Narasimhan that the last loan made with funds from the Prince Georges County Housing Authority bonds had been closed. GHI benefited from the placement of loans in the amount of $3,595,350 from these funds. Narasimhan also

Letters to the Editor

Sadness and Anger

To the Editor:
 Sadness and anger are the emotions which describe my reaction to the closing of the Co-op Grocery and Service Stations. Sadness because I feel Greenbelt is losing its best friend. The Co-op epitomizes the philosophies which helped to create Greenbelt. The Co-op Grocery and Service Station provide an important service to the community. I live in Greenbelt because the services vital to everyday life are within walking distance to my home. I shop at the Co-op because I prefer the friendliness and convenience the store offers me over the impersonal atmosphere and anonymity of the larger chain grocery stores. Closing the Co-op is like cutting the heart out of Greenbelt.

My anger is directed in two areas. First, at the Co-op Board of Directors for placing profits over service. The definition of "Cooperative Store" (from the Random House College Dictionary, 1982) is "a retail store owned and managed by consumer-customers who supply the capital and share in the profits." The key word is share. The Co-op Grocery and Service Stations have shared profits with the SCAN furniture stores for a number of years. Why is the Board suddenly abandoning this vital service for more profits?

Second, my anger is directed at the citizens of Greenbelt, especially old Greenbelt, who have allowed this to happen by patronizing the larger grocery stores which have entered our area over the last few years. Every time you purchased groceries from another store you brought the Co-op closer to its death. You can't have the convenience of the Co-op for small "forgotten" purchases without making the Co-op your main store for weekly shopping.

I am sending a copy of this letter to the Co-op Board of Directors and hope other concerned citizens of Greenbelt will do the same. Maybe it's not too late to save the heart of Greenbelt.

Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt will meet at the library on Monday, January 9, at 1 p.m. in the meeting room. Betty Allen will speak on the history of Greenbelt. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Another Loss

To the Editor:
 Along with the loss of both our convenient service station and grocery store, I'd like to put in a word for the loss of the unfailingly cheerful, courteous, and helpful CO-OP employees. I'm sure that other CO-OP customers join me in thanking them for making our grocery shopping and car maintenance chores a little more pleasant, and wish them the very best of luck in the New Year.

THANKS

To the Editor:
 My heartfelt thanks to the Good Samaritans who called the ambulance for me on Friday, Dec. 23 at about 7:30 a.m. I was riding my bicycle down Hillside Road. I made a right turn on Crescent towards St. Hugh's and the next thing I knew I was being helped into the ambulance. I didn't have the presence of mind to get their names so I could thank them later. Thanks to them I'm fine now. I had 12 stitches in my scalp and have three cracked ribs. I'm well but have some sore spots. My wife picked up my bike. Thanks to all who helped me.

New Program Helps Elderly Pay for Fuel

For the elderly, there is often a difficult choice each winter—paying fuel bills or buying food. This year a new program will make sure deserving local individuals don't have to make that difficult choice. The Washington Area Fuel Fund, or WAFF, will supplement government energy assistance. This fuel fund is administered by The Salvation Army without charge. Tax deductible contributions can be sent to WAFF at Box 1999, Washington, D.C. 20013.

KIDS' SAFETY SEAT LAW TOOK EFFECT JANUARY 1

A new Maryland law requires that children two and younger be restrained in car safety seats and that children age three and four be restrained in safety seats or seat belts while riding in passenger or multi-purpose vehicles. Beginning January 1 police ticketed drivers of motor vehicles who do not have children properly restrained. The penalty is a $25 fine which may be waived if the violator can prove to the court that a car safety seat has been obtained.

Greenbag Appointments

The Prince Georges County Democratic Central Committee will hold a public hearing in addition to the regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Thursday, January 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the New Carrollton City Hall Chambers, 8511 Legation Road in New Carrollton.

Testimony will be received from those individuals interested in being considered for the Governor's Greenbag Appointments. The public is invited to attend.

Roosevelt Swim Club

Greenbelters aided Roosevelt's Swim Club in its narrow victory over Thomas Johnson High School at recent meeting held in Frederick. Both Craig Dies and Dan Sutherland were triple winners for Roosevelt. Other Greenbelters contributing points were Linda Blue, Candy Weisicke, Brian Dies, Scott Eddy, Oren Stern and Robby Reed. In all, 30 Roosevelt swimmers competed in the meet.

Ice Skating Guidelines For Greenbelt Lake

Greenbelt Lake is open for ice skating when weather conditions are favorable. In order to provide a wholesome, safe activity, the city has developed certain guidelines that should be followed. During cold weather, persons interested in ascertaining the conditions of the ice at the Lake should call the Greenbelt Police Department, 474-7200. It is impossible to continually test ice thickness over all areas of the Lake, so skating will always be at the risk of the participant. Recommended areas of skating are the short lines and the bay around the peninsula. A green flag will be displayed on the bandstand flagpole to indicate SKATING AT YOUR OWN RISK. The Lake area around the dam and spillway should be avoided, as open water is usually found in these areas. Parents should accompany young children. Skaters should also avoid gathering in groups on the ice. The city's guide to ice conditions is as follows—

Young or Black Ice: 2½ inches uniform; safe if cautious and no congregating. Four inches will support the weight of skaters. SKATE AT YOUR OWN RISK.

Layered or White Ice: One foot of this kind will support the weight of skaters. SKATE AT OWN RISK.

Old or Rotten Ice: Thickness is under the above conditions. ABSOLUTELY NO SKATING.

The Recreation Department will attempt to provide assistance at the Lake during week days from 4 p.m. until dark and on holidays, Saturdays and Sundays from 9 a.m. to dark. No skating will be allowed on the Lake after dark. No fires will be allowed at the Lake except those provided by the city due to the scarcity of firewood and danger from brush fires.

All skaters and parents should keep in mind the dangers involved in ice sports. A person who falls through the ice is in danger of drowning and freezing if he is not cared for immediately. Alertness to emergency and readiness to help other participants is stressed in such situations. A public tele-

Fire & Rescue Review

by April Walker
Weekly Calls

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department has been at its busiest, running 57 calls for the week that ended December 31, 1983. On December 25 alone we ran 16 emergency calls, lasting a total of 11 hours. Fire calls included: 9 structural fires, 8 broken water pipes, 7 alarm bells, 4 gas leaks, 2 transfers to other companies, and 6 miscellaneous calls. Rescue calls included: 9 sick people, 4 injured people, 3 vehicle accidents, 2 heart attacks, a possible drowning, trouble breathing, and a routine transport.

Safety Tip

Because a significant number of all fire deaths are children, it is important for families to review fire safety on a regular basis. Do your children know the stop-drop-and roll procedure important in case of clothing fires? Practicing this can be fun and easy and could save your child's life. Matches and lighters should be kept out of reach of children. Experimenting with these things can be very tempting. Don't forget to review the family plan for exiting the house in case of fire. Include instructions for staying low, feeling doors for heat before opening them, meeting in a pre-arranged place, and the importance of not re-entering the home for any reason.

Emergencies

Many of the emergencies responded to recently can be attributed to below freezing temperatures. On the morning of Friday, December 23 a call was received at the corner of Hillside and Crescent. A bicyclist had ridden over an ice patch, lost control and crashed into the middle of the street. The rider hit his head on the pavement and received extensive head injuries.

During cold weather extra caution should be used by everyone to avoid hitting an ice patch unexpectedly. Even the first step out of the house can result in a fall.

phone is located at the entrance to the Lake Park. For assistance, call 474-7200 for police; 911 for ambulance.

Recreation Review

Co-recreational volleyball, both competitive and recreational, is played at Greenbelt Center School Gym. Competitive games are played on Monday evenings with recreational on Wednesday evenings. Both are from 8:30-10:30 p.m. A nominal fee will be charged. Everyone, 16 years and over, is welcome. Programs will be cancelled when the county schools are closed.

Turkey Shoot Winners

The Greenbelt Recreation Department wishes to extend congratulations to the individual winners of the Annual Basketball Foul Shooting Contest. Each winner received a gift certificate from CO-OP. The winners are as follows: 8-10 years — Damon Ashe; 11-13 years — Allyn Lane, Greg Early, Charles Lorenzetti and Grafton Plater; 14-16 years — Chris Downs; 17 years and over—Tim Bouknight and The-ron Todd.

Winter Leisure Activities Registration

Plan now to register for the Recreation Department's 1984 Winter Classes. Registration will be held on Monday, Jan. 9, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and 7-8 p.m. at the Youth Center. Tuesday, Jan. 10, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Youth Center and 7-8 p.m. at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center. Wednesday, Jan. 11, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Youth Center. Late registration will be held Thursday and Friday at the Youth Center.

Council Tidbits

During its regular meeting on December 5, Greenbelt's city council dealt with the following matters:

1) Council gave its approval to the site plan for a new town-house development in the eastern part of the city. The project, tentatively called "Green Holy Woods," is to consist of 194 town-houses on a 24.4 acre parcel in the northwest quadrant of Greenbelt Road and Mandan Road. The proposal includes mandatory dedication to the city of almost three acres of parkland, part along Greenbelt Road and part adjacent to the Greenbriar Park.

Council approval incorporates several conditions recommended by the city's Advisory Planning Board. One would be that the developer include a walkway along Greenbelt Road, to run in part through the land dedicated to the city, if necessary to prevent significant loss of trees. Another would require approval of storm water management plans by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. A third condition would be the provision of handicap ramps where interior pathways and roadways intersect. The final APB condition would limit the size and location of a sign for the development. In addition, council wants city staff to be permitted to take part in marking off tree areas to be dedicated to the city; and councilmember Edward Putens asked for the developer's help in the continuing effort to get the state to install a traffic light at the intersection of Greenbelt and Mandan Roads. (According to Putens, there have now been 49 accidents at that location.)

2) Council approved a bid award for purchase of a traffic light to be installed in front of Green Ridge House on Ridge Road. This equipment will replace the present flashing yellow warning crosswalk light with a pushbutton-operated stop light. Each of the lenses (green, amber, red) will be 12 inches in diameter. The system approved for purchase will include provisions for adding an audible signal as an aid to visually impaired pedestrians, but will not include such a signal at this time. Bidders pointed out to the city that audible signals of this type can become a neighborhood nuisance.

3) The City has received another special grant of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds under the Federal Jobs Program, this time $70,000 for the reconstruction of Ridge Road between Westway and Southway. Council began several steps necessary to get ready for this project, including appropriation of city funds and the hiring of an engineering firm.

4) Council took note of the resignation of JoAnn Volk from the city's Park and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB) because of conflicts in her work schedule and personal commitments. Volk had been a member of PRAB since 1976. PRAB has recommended to council that in filling the vacancy, high priority be given to applicants from the Springhill Lake community.

The Way I See It

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

As Greenbelters go about meeting the latest community crisis—the continuation of near-vital services now provided by Co-op (Greenbelt Cooperative, Inc.)—they need to keep in mind the priorities of the situation. In my estimation, service to the residents of the city is the first priority, not the form or forms in which it is offered, i.e. local or other cooperative management, employee ownership, private ownership or some combination of these. The second priority is to make the best possible use of the time available. That means that the various possible ways of providing the services should be explored simultaneously, not in series. It means that we insist that Co-op provide enough time to enable the community to have a realistic chance to succeed, during which time Co-op would maintain existing services. It means, too, that time would not be wasted in recrimination no matter how justified it might seem to be.

Resolution of the crisis will not be easy. Community gratitude is owed to those who have already leaped into the breach. They cannot do the job alone, however. There is room for—there is need for as a matter of fact—an enlarged leadership. We need full support of the city government. We shall be successful only if we use all our resources—volunteers, employees, city government and Greenbelters generally. Even then success will not be assumed but we shall have an excellent chance. The only assurance we have is that we shall fail if we do not try.

Council Meeting: Testy Forum

the meeting was the issue of city police corporal E. Daniel Blake. Blake was required last summer to testify about a previous incident involving fellow police officer Fred E. Murray, during a court trial on civil charges brought against Murray by a Greenbelt resident. Within days after he testified, Blake was ordered by Greenbelt Police Chief William T. Lane to undergo medical examination, was subsequently referred to a psychiatrist, and then requested medical disability retirement on the advice of physicians. Blake has been on administrative leave pending a state decision on the retirement. Blake had been the city's choice for 1983's outstanding employee and the American Legion Post's Policeman of the Year.

On December 5, residents voiced public concern to council that some kind of retaliation might have been taken against Blake. During the December 19 meeting, residents Herbert Jones and Robert Zugby both told council of long discussions with Blake concerning his status on the force. Council and the city manager were, as in the past, obviously uncomfortable about discussing this personnel matter in public.

But Officer Sappington, speaking as President of the Greenbelt Lodge, Fraternal Order of Police, stated that Blake was under "emotional distress" and pointed out Blake's request for retirement. As to citizen questions on December 19 about Murray's continued presence on the police force, Sappington commented that Murray has been on trial and has been investigated by the department, and that he should not be subjected to further scrutiny—or what Sappington termed "quadruple jeopardy."

If anyone has a complaint against the department, Sappington suggested that the person file an official complaint. He said an officer was waiting outside council chambers with papers should anyone wish to file a complaint that night. If the complaint is found to be groundless, the person is subject to a lawsuit, he warned. Sappington pointedly referred to residents Eunice Coxon and Herbert Jones for their comments at a prior council meeting. Sappington further chided Coxon for her failure to attend past crime prevention meetings, which, he alleged, indicated her lack of interest in the issue.

Coxon termed his allegations "outrageous." And both White and Pilski objected strongly to Sappington's "attack" on a citizen bringing a perceived problem to council.

Resident Margaret McKinney asked, "If police can be attacked by name, why can't the police mention names?"

By 10:10 p.m., council finally came to "Old Business" on the agenda. Since many of the issues tied to the police study had already been discussed, council decided that it would hold a work session on January 16 to define the parameters of such a study.

Police Chief Position

James Giese in his written "Agenda Comments" had noted some of the remarks of candidates for the position of Deputy Chief/Chief of Police. Several candidates had suggestions of possible ways to conduct the study of the department. These included a process which would lead to accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, a study by the International Association of Police Chiefs, an in-house study, and others.

Pilski and White termed the comments "worthless" because council had not been given the context in which the candidates' comments were uttered. Pilski then angrily declared that he wanted to see the resumes of those applying for the position. Giese demurred, saying this information was confidential. When Weidenfeld asked Pilski if he wanted to put his request into a motion, Pilski complied, but failed to win a second.

Animal Control Revisited

Resident Stephen Polaschik asked council when it was ever coming up with its new animal control ordinance. Giese said he hoped to have the regulations ready by the end of January, but he could not promise because of other more pressing matters, such as the selection of a new police chief. White accused Giese of "hedging." And Pilski suggested that Giese should give this subject "top priority. . . . I don't appreciate your pooh-poohing the matter," he scolded Giese. "When can you expect to have an ordinance ready?" Giese again stated his hope to have the regulations by the end of January.

Water problems on the road surface at the intersection of Orange Court and Greenway Place with Greenhill Road brought Lakewood resident James Wolfe before council to ask for relief. He complained of constant water flow from underground springs, which causes icing in winter and slick conditions at other times. Giese stated that a catch basin is necessary, and he was not sure whether the city or Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission should take care of the problem. Council asked Giese to pursue the matter further and make recommendations as to what should be done. Giese estimated the work as costing between $10,000 and $25,000.

Appointments

For the first time that most council watchers could remember, council split 3-2 on some appointments to city advisory boards. Joseph Isaacs was appointed to the Advisory Planning Board, Barbara Hoelk to the Park and Recreation Advisory Board and John O'Reilly to the Employee Relations Board. Pilski and White voted "no" on all three appointments.

There was a unanimous vote for appointment of Keith Chernikoff to the Advisory Planning Board.

Members were appointed to two new committees. To the Cable Television Committee: Holly Carter, Deborah Cox, Gary Kohn, Anthony McCarthy, John O'Boyle, Judith Ott, and Robert Zugby.

To the Greenbelt Fiftieth Anniversary Committee: Sandra Barnes, Michael Burchick, J. Davis, Austin Green, Albert Herling, David Moran, Christina O'Boyle, Joseph Polanin, Stephen Polaschik, Alan Virta, Donald Volk, and Wayne Williams.

Council expressed its approval of the proposal by Lowell K. Bridwell, Secretary of the Maryland Department of Transportation, to step up construction of the Metrorail green line to Greenbelt with a "Y" connection between the existing Brookland station on the red line and the proposed Chillum station on the green line. Such action would let the route to Greenbelt be built and operated without need to wait for court resolution of issues blocking construction of the green line within the District of Columbia and southern Prince Georges County. Giese was asked sel," he said. Danforth, an expert on the history of the cooperative movement, is the author of Consumer Cooperation: The Heritage and the Dream, as well as of numerous other publications, including model cooperative bylaws and procedures for divestiture. He is a former treasurer of the Cooperative League.

"Why the rush (by the GCI Board) to beat the annual meeting?" asked Al Herling.

Near Deadline

Much discussion centered on the very near deadline the board had set—March 1—for member groups or "an existing cooperative" to submit "a credit-worthy proposal as accepted by a financial institution. . . ." GCI officials gave themselves till August 1 to complete plans, Katherine Keene charged, while a new group that might form to try to continue the supermarket operations has only 60 days.

This is not a "do or die deadline," Bowman assured the group. He was sure that any serious proposal that had the appearance of viability would be allowed the time necessary to reach fruition.

But many were concerned about the possibility of getting complete and accurate financial information. Al Herling particularly questioned the accuracy and completeness of the report of the consultants hired to examine the financial status of the corporation. Bowman assured the group that specific financial data would be made available to a potential purchaser.

Herling questioned the consultants' assumption concerning a rise in the costs of employee compensation, since the employees' union had not met nor had any proposal been made to them concerning deferral of future scheduled raises. The report, others noted, also did not take into account the possibility of large membership withdrawal if the closings went into effect.

Greenbelt Stores

Greenbelt's Mayor Weidenfeld raised the question of whether the group wanted to pursue a goal of keeping open only the Greenbelt food store and gas station or "the harder decision—to keep everything open. . . . We might influence the board by showing strong support in Greenbelt," he said.

He affirmed his intention to place the issue on the agenda for the next city council meeting.

to write to state and county elected officials to notify them of the city's intense interest on this issue.

New Resident

reported that GHI had recovered the funds it had committed to covering the 'points' required to obtain the money. He warned that lower interest loans for GHI properties are a thing of the past unless the Federal National Mortgage Association begins to buy such loans or unless the county housing authority sells more bonds.

Member Requests

The board then dealt with several member requests. It unanimously approved the installation of a skylight in a frame home in the 44 Court of Ridge Rd. with the proviso that the mutual ownership contract be amended to insure that any damage caused by the skylight would be the responsibility of present and future owners of the unit.

After much discussion, the board approved a privacy screen for the residents of 35-J Ridge Rd. despite a recommendation by the Aesthetics and Environment Committee that the request be denied. The committee recommended that "... the proposed privacy screen is inconsistent with the original design concept of the town and negatively impacts on the adjoining court as well as on the visual continuity of the surroundings." Since, however, the neighbors in the 35 and 37 Courts had been surveyed and only one had voiced objection to the screen, the board granted the request by a 4-1 margin. Director Wayne Williams opposed. (Director Joe Jenkins was absent; Director Mark Dombrowski came in after this vote; Vice-President Frank Gervasi presided in the absence of President Margaret Hogensen.)

On the other hand, the board unanimously rejected a request for a fence around three sides of a proposed shed by a member in the 4 Court of Laurel Hill. The A&E committee had also recommended against the privacy screen, suggesting that the shed be screened with shrubbery.

Garage Lease

As a community service, a garage adjacent to boiler room 24 on Research Rd. will be leased to the Cultural Arts Center at a nominal yearly rental. The Arts Center, which will use the space for storage, will be required to sign a standard lease and maintain liability insurance with GHI as the co-insured. On a motion by Director Debbie Hartwick, the board agreed unanimously to lease the garage.

The board also heard an explanation by Narasimhan on the subject of the 1979 rehab fund distribution. According to Narasimhan, members have noted that the 1979 rehab credit in the sample charges for 1984 was less than the actual monthly collection that was made in 1979. In that year $130,600 was collected ($40,543 from masonry and $90,057 from frame homes). Management estimates that accrued interest will have increased this amount to $219,583 by June 30, 1984.

It is also estimated that GHI will incur $113,000 in interest and principal costs for additional borrowing from NCCB by June 30. Narasimhan noted that, in computing 1984 rehab charges, management assumed that this $113,000 would be paid directly to NCCB from the 1979 rehab collection and the remaining $106,000 would be used in direct reduction of charges to members. The reduction is considerably less for the masonry than the frame units since the bulk of the rehab costs to be incurred in the first six months of 1984 ($113,000) will be due to work on the masonry homes and those units will, therefore, benefit most

CITY NOTES

On Dec. 26 Gene Diest assisted the Police Department and the Fire Department when an ice skater fell through the ice at the Lake. The Lake was posted "No Skating".

On the same day a frozen water line at the Public Works Office Building broke in two places creating a flood. Sgt. Craze, Pfc. Justin, and Pfc. Rich from the Police Department, Gene Diest and George Smith from the Public Works Department, and various members of the Greenbelt Fire Department all responded to this emergency. The water to the building was immediately turned off and the water was cleared from the building. On Dec. 27 the breaks in the line were repaired and water service was restored. Only minor damage was done to various supplies in the building.

The general crew installed "No Parking" signs by a fire hydrant in the 6200 block of Ivy Lane and by the entrance road to the cemetery off Ivy Lane. Leaves and debris were removed from drainage structures in various areas of the city.

from the $113,000 expenditure.

Narasimhan emphasized that the proposed prepayment of principal would greatly enhance the impact of the 1979 collection. According to his figures, prepayment of this amount would result in a savings in amortization payments to GHI of over $305,000 or over $1,300 per month for each month until the year 2003.

Police Blotter

Compiled from information furnished by the Greenbelt Police Department

A male resident was arrested for making a false fire alarm in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Terrace on Dec. 28. He was taken to Prince Georges General Hospital for emergency commitment.

An accidental shooting occurred on Dec. 29 in the 6000 block of Springhill Dr. The victim in whose home the shooting occurred was shot in the leg by a friend who was handling the victim's 12-gauge, double-barreled shotgun. The police department wishes to remind all residents to keep all guns in their possession locked up.

A breaking and entering occurred between Dec. 18-27 in the 52 Court of Ridge Road. Entry was gained by unknown means. A safe was stolen.

A burglary took place in the 40 Court of Crescent during the night of Dec. 29-30. Jewelry and currency were stolen.

Two cases of theft from auto took place about 9 p.m. on Dec. 1 in the rear parking lot of Beltway Plaza. Clothing and a hunting knife were stolen. At about the same time, the rear windows of a car in the same area were shot out with a BB gun.

Cpl. Michael D. Craddock arrested two non-resident males for shoplifting at Marshall's in Beltway Plaza on Dec. 30. He also arrested two female non-residents for shoplifting at Gentlemen's Wear House in Greenway Shopping Center.

Keys were stolen from a car in the parking lot near El Torito's in Greenway Shopping Center on Dec. 1.

Tires were slashed on a car in the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy. during the night of Dec. 31-Jan. 1.

Officer Craig A. Rich and Officer Timothy F. Hahn have been selected as the recipients of awards made by the Sheriff's and Municipal Lodge No. 9 of the Fraternal Order of Police. Both awards were based on life-saving actions taken by the officers during an attack on a woman in a local department store last August. The awards will be presented by County Councilman Richard Castaldi on January 3 in Upper Marlboro. Greenbelt Police Chief William T. Lane will also present a department award to the officers for their outstanding performance in the line of duty.

A party for the school patrol, an annual event, was hosted by Det./Cpl. M. D. Sappington and Officer Juan Turner at the AMC Theatres in Beltway Plaza on Dec. 21. The students were each given a gift and refreshments and attended a movie. Chief Lane thanked all the School Patrol members for their fine work during the year.

Det./Cpl. Sappington received a commendation from the chief of the Montgomery County Police Department for valuable assistance in apprehension of suspects wanted by that department.

F. JOHNSON OF IN-HOME TV SERVICE

Hal Silvers Receives Special Commendation

R. Hal Silvers, of Pinecrest Court, was honored twice recently for his work as Director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness for Prince Georges County.

The first citation, from the Secretary of the Maryland Department of Human Resources, reads in part: "In recognition of outstanding service rendered in behalf of the State of Maryland . . . with the gratitude of this Department."

The second distinguished service award came from the Greater Washington Board of Trade.

It cited Silvers for "outstanding support in the coordination of the . . . Board of Trade, 'Execu-tour, 1983'."

A 30-year employee of Prince Georges County, Silvers plans to retire in January, 1984. He and his wife, Dial, are long-time residents of Greenbelt. Dial currently serves on Greenbelt's Planning and Recreation Advisory Board, as well as on the Prince Georges County Mental Health Advisory Commission. The Silvers have a son, Lawrence, and two daughters, Constance and Helen Moorman.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
- 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.
