What You Need to Know to Run for Council

by Norman Scherstrom

It is now open-season for persons to register to vote or to run for office in the Greenbelt City Council election to be held Monday, September 30.

All residents are eligible to vote if they are United States citizens of sound mind who are domiciled in the City of Greenbelt and are 18 years of age by election day. The city charter defines domicile as the dwelling place which the voter intends to be his permanent home.

Citizens may register to vote at the city offices, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. until the last day of registration, August 26. Registration will also take place at the Greenbelt Homes office on Hamilton Place, Green Ridge House at 22 Ridge Rd., Greenbriar Community Center, Hunting Ridge Club House, and Windsor Green Community House.

Previously registered citizens need not re-register unless they have moved from Greenbelt and then moved back or have failed to vote in the last two general elections. A copy of the voter registration list is posted in the city offices and at all registration centers.

Registration for state, county and national elections does not qualify people to vote in city elections.

Voters may also request a registration form by calling 474-8000 or 474-3870, or by writing the City Clerk, 25 Crescent Rd.

All eligible voters may run for the City Council. Council aspirants must also do the following:

- * Present a nomination petition, obtainable from the City Clerk, signed by at least 50 qualified voters. Married women who sign the petition should use their first names so that the city clerk may verify the name.

- * Prepare a notarized financial statement form, also from the City Clerk, disclosing financial interests for the period January 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985. The financial interests include business and real estate holdings of the applicant and his family and the sources of income and debts as specified by the city.

- * Submit a written acceptance of the nomination together with the nomination petition and financial statement by Monday, August 12, at 5 p.m.

- * File with the clerk by noon of September 23, a notarized report showing all campaign contributions in excess of $25 and the names of the contributors. An updated final report is due on October 7.

The term of office is two years for each of the five seats on the council. Council members will receive a salary of $4,000 per year. Traditionally the highest vote-getter has automatically become mayor. This position pays an additional $400. Current council salaries are $2,900 and $3,400 respectively; however, council has approved money in the budget for the new salaries pending a vote July 15 on a charter amendment resolution to inaugurate the change.

Council Functions

The City Council has responsibility for adopting the budget and appropriating city funds, as well as for making policy through the adoption of city ordinances and resolutions. In this way, the council is like the Congress of the United States. Unlike the Congress, the council also has responsibility for naming the chief executive of the municipality, the city manager. Council also must approve the appointment of the city solicitor.

Members of the council also represent the city at various organizations such as the Prince Georges and Maryland municipal associations, the Council of Governments and the National League of Cities. Members may also appear before the county council, the Park and Planning Commission or the state legislature.

Council members are expected to attend regular meetings as specified by the city charter and such other meetings as are deemed necessary. In 1984, council had 20 regular meetings, five special meetings, 31 committees of the whole and eight public hearings.

The council does not hire or fire city employees, which is the province of the City Manager. The City Manager may be removed from office by a simple majority of the City Council.

If fewer than five candidates receive at least 40 percent of the votes cast, a run-off election will be held Monday, October 7. The run-off will be for those unsuccessful candidates who received the most votes. The number of positions on this ballot is limited to twice the number of available seats.

There were 2,973 registered voters as of June 30, compared to $3,194 in 1983. The North End precinct leads the way with 1,015 voters, followed by Center School with 1,001, Greenbelt East with 722, and Springhill Lake with 235.

The election this year will be held on a Monday instead of the traditional Tuesday so as not to conflict with the Jewish holidays of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Drive Passes Halfway Point, Many Volunteers Start Work

by Mark Davis

Friends of the News Review

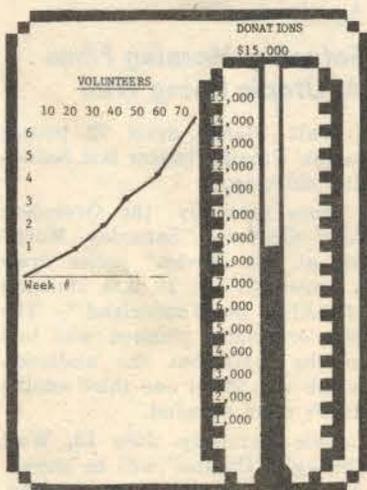

Careful readers of the News Review will have noticed several new by-lines appearing on articles as new volunteers are being put to work. Behind the scenes, other individuals are helping with the many tasks required to publish a weekly paper, including proof-reading, layout, business activities and circulation. The strength of the volunteer response, together with the press of other business, has meant that not all those who have offered assistance have been contacted yet. Follow-up calls will be made to all of the 74 new volunteers who have expressed interest.

The paper still has a need for circulation monitors to advise managers of delivery problems which different areas of the city may be experiencing. Also important are more individuals who would be willing to solicit advertising from area businesses. The placement of a new ad can result in the payment of a percentage commission to the successful solicitor.

Nearly $2,000 in new donations were received this week, bringing the grand total to $8,687 — 58 percent of our goal. This goal was chosen because it represents approximately one dollar for each resident of Greenbelt. We still hope to see that thermometer in the graphic go over the top!

As has been the case for the entire drive, support is overwhelmingly coming from individual citizens, with business response disappointing. The Friends of the News Review wish to acknowledge the following businesses and organizations who have thus far responded to our appeal: American Legion Post 136; Dr. Till Bergemann and See DRIVE, page 6, col. 1

Toni Bram Announces Candidacy For Second City Council Term

The second person, and the first incumbent, to announce as a candidate in the upcoming city council elections to be held on September 30, is Antoinette ("Toni") Bram. She is now completing a two-year term. Joe Isaacs, of Boxwood Village, announced his candidacy earlier this summer.

Toni Bram, a 25-year resident of Greenbelt, was successful in her first campaign for a city council seat in 1983. Prior to that, Bram was active in many local civic and volunteer organizations in Greenbelt since first moving to Plateau Place in 1960. She currently lives at 104 Tamarisk Ct., where she and her husband, Ralph, have raised four children, Regina, Tim, Simone, and Jennifer. The Brams now have an extended family that includes a son-in-law, Allen, and two grandsons, William and Zachary.

Bram's interest in youth activities resulted in her appointment to Greenbelt's Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, where she served for four years as vice chairman. Subsequently, she served for two years on the Greenbelt Advisory Planning Board. Bram is a past president of the Greenbelt Homemakers Club and has been a Campfire Girls leader, board member of St. Hugh's C.Y.O., coach for Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club and C.Y.O., and board member and meet official of the Greenbelt Aquatic Boosters Club.

Bram is a 1980 honors graduate (Summa Cum Laude) of the University of Maryland, where she majored in urban studies. She is currently completing a Master's degree program at the University of Maryland in history and criminology.

Bram represents the Greenbelt City Council as a member of the Small Cities Advisory Committee of the National League of Cities. She was also appointed to the Internal Affairs Committee of the Maryland Municipal League. In addition, she has been a member of other committees: Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments, Prince Georges County Citizens Advisory Committee, Prince Georges Municipal Association, and liaison to Greenbelt's 50th Anniversary Committee. Bram was elected first President of the Prince Georges County Elected Municipal Women, which she co-founded in 1983.

In 1981, Bram was a consultant to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Currently she works as assistant registrar, University College, University of Maryland. She is vice president of Alpha Sigma Lambda Honor Society and chairs the scholarship committee.

Toni Bram is a native of Washington, D.C. and a 1953 graduate of Notre Dame Academy.

Rebecca Soule

Rebecca F. Soule (Becky), 80, a retired Marriage Chapel director, died suddenly on June 19 of a heart failure.

As a very active community minded and caring lady she placed her efforts and energy in many clubs, her church and organizations. Her main interests were with the senior citizen Golden Age Club of Greenbelt, Prince Georges County Seasoned Players, Holy Cross Lutheran Church Bible class, Prince Georges College Senior Citizen Fitness and Recreation Program, Polka Dancers of Good Luck Road Recreation Center, Weight Watchers (life time membership), and the Clowns of America Club. As a regular visitor to many nursing homes she helped with the patients' needs and comfort and had founded her personal prayer list of over a hundred names for those seeking help through prayers.

For the last three years Becky had entered the Maryland Senior Olympics and each year won gold and silver medals for speed walking and basketball foul throws. She was one of the first senior citizens to be honored with an award at the Prince Georges County Breakfast of Champions.

She is survived by her husband, Harold Soule, a research scientist. The couple lived in Springhill Lake on Edmonston Road. Her daughter Suzanne and an adopted son, Dan, and sister, Mary, all of California also survive.

Under the direction of Jo-Anne Jones, the Paynes will star in a situation comedy guaranteed to bring laughter and delight to showgoers, comments Beth Snider, publicity chairperson for the Adelphians.

New Middle-High School Pupils to Register Early

The Prince Georges County Public Schools will sponsor a series of special registration days for all new middle and high school students on July 17, August 7, 14, and 19, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at each of the system's 28 middle schools and 20 high schools.

Students registering in the school system for the first time should bring their birth certificate, proof of residency in Prince Georges County (settlement papers, deed, lease or rental agreement), their immunization records, and if applicable, an unofficial transcript, their last report card and test scores.

Students who register at these sessions will be assigned to their classes before school begins on Wednesday, August 28.

Guidance counselors will be available at all middle schools and high schools to assist new students in planning their schedules. Students who did not complete the last term are also invited to register for the new year.

For more information about school assignments and registration, contact the Office of Pupil Accounting and School Boundaries at 952-4390.

MEASLES IMMUNIZATION URGED WITH OUTBREAK

In the first six months of this year there have been 64 cases of measles in Maryland; however, 55 of these cases have occurred in Prince Georges County alone. Since March the county has experienced two major outbreaks, one at the University of Maryland, College Park campus and the other at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. State Health Department officials conclude that from the number of cases reported, it must be assumed that the disease has spread throughout the county.

Three of the 12 cases reported in June were in toddlers less than 15 months old, a segment of the population extremely susceptible to the disease.

Measles can be transmitted four days before symptoms appear, making it extremely difficult to trace the origins of the illness. The symptoms normally include fever, rash, cough, and sensitive red eyes. Complications can include ear infections, pneumonia, brain damage, and even death.

The State Health Department recommends that persons born after 1956 who have not already received a measles immunization should be vaccinated unless they have already had the disease. Babies may be immunized at 15 months. Those due for immunization should get it immediately.

How the News Review Does (Or Doesn't) Get Delivered

by Diane Oberg

What constitutes good or bad News Review delivery is not a clear-cut matter. The service on one route was rated anywhere from good to very poor according to responses to the recent circulation survey. Of those who reported that they received the paper every week, all but two usually received the paper on Friday, one person sometimes got it on Thursday evening and one said service was not predictable.

Only 31 (out of a total circulation of 9,800) of the questionnaires have been received so no general conclusions about the reliability of News Review delivery can be made.

The responses have been useful in several ways, however. Copies of the completed survey have been given to the circulation manager so the specific carriers involved may be praised or encouraged to improve. In addition, the comments have identified some problems and some areas where a clarification of how the News Review works may be useful.

One comment found on several responses was that events scheduled for Thursday or Friday may be over before the paper is received. This situation is one which the News Review staff has long been aware of and attempted to solve by putting announcements of these events in one week before the event occurs if notice of the event is received by 10 p.m. the preceding Tuesday.

One respondent commented that the paper was thrown over the fence rather than being delivered to the door. Although it may not apply to this respondent's case, readers are reminded that the News Review does attempt to provide door-to-door service but delivery may be prevented by the presence of a dog in the yard.

The vast majority of those responding said they did not know whom to call to report a delivery problem. In Springhill Lake the circulation manager is Barbara Clawson (474-4541); the circulation manager for the rest of Greenbelt is Ellie Hopper (474-4463). All circulation problems should be reported to the circulation managers in order that they may be corrected. These are also the people to call to volunteer to be a carrier or substitute. However, to keep the workload manageable, carriers must deliver an entire route rather than a specific court or street.

There is apparently some confusion about how the News Review is delivered. In Springhill Lake, four papers are left near the mailboxes in each building. This approach, rather than full delivery, was developed as a compromise with the apartment management to meet their complaints of too many papers being left in the hallways for the staff to clean up. In central Greenbelt, between Kenilworth Avenue and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, all homes and apartments should receive door-to-door delivery. In East Greenbelt delivery is arranged by the residents' associations.

The circulation survey is reprinted on this page. It is still not too late to help the News Review measure and improve its service.

Summer Noon Concerts At Capital Office Park

Community Realty Company and Capital Office Park are sponsoring a special 1985 summer series of "Arts in the Workplace" noontime performances. "Arts in the Workplace," a Prince Georges Arts Council program, enables county businesses to co-sponsor noontime concerts, visual art displays and special events for their employees.

County artists who have performed at two concerts at Capital Office Park are the Dixie Cats Jazz Band, who entertained for a Memorial Day concert and the M Street Brass Quintet, which helped celebrate the 4th of July. A third county group will perform around Labor Day.

Capital Office Park is located on Ivy Lane, off the Beltway and Kenilworth Avenue.

Festival Notes

Greenbelters can start making plans to participate in the annual Labor Day Festival. From the Salute to Workers and the Art Show to carnival booths, there is a place for everyone in the Labor Day Festival.

Gudi Mills Receives City Manager Award

Gudi Mills, city clerk, was the recipient of a City Manager's Award recently for her efforts in organizing and publishing an employees' newsletter. Mills, tired of people talking about having a newsletter and not doing something about it, put together a committee of employees to assist in obtaining information from each department. She then proceeded to put together the newsletter, becoming editor, doing the layout and art work, and printing it.

Assisting with the newsletter and copy have been Betty Lehman, Dorothy Lauber, Cliff Northam, Thelma Morin, J. Paul Williams, Cindy Murray and Carol Leventhal.

Applicants Can Learn Television Production

Prince Georgians on Camera (PGOC), the public access cable corporation of Prince Georges County, is seeking applicants for a pilot project in public access cable production.

The project's purpose is to increase usage of facilities of the county's two cable franchises. Both companies, Prime and MetroVision, offer free training in television production, free use of television equipment and studios and free air time for the production of non-commercial programming called public access programming.

Groups of individuals and organizations will be matched with television production specialists, who will assist them with training in television production, developing program concepts, script writing, recording and editing. The finished programs will be televised on the public access channel (6A) of both Prime and MetroVision.

To apply, those interested should contact Nancy Caliman, Executive Director of PGOC at 773-0900. No experience in television production is necessary; however, groups should have some idea of the type of program that they want to produce.

Support for Drive Widens

The Greenbriar Crier, newsletter for the Greenbriar condominium development, took note of the News Review fund drive. Besides reprinting the May 30 front-page article that announced the kick-off for the campaign, the newsletter editorialized. "Support both financially and physically to insure that we will be able to continue receiving our weekly copy of this informative and entertaining publication."

"Through this publication," the editorial continues, "we have been informed and kept current in the happenings in our community, and kept abreast of the events as they occur."

Among group donations received this week was one from the residents of 23 Court Ridge, who gave in the memory of their neighbor Mrs. Louise Daffron, who died recently. In behalf of Citizens for Greenbelt, Inc., the organization's president, Eunice Coxon, sent a check to further the campaign.

Long-time supporters Al and Frances Herling sent a contribution in memory of two former staff members — Charles F. Schwan, Jr. and Alfred M. Skolnik. With Schwan, Al Herling co-chaired the Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee, which provided both moral and financial support to the News Review in the libel suit in the 1960s that resulted in a unanimous Supreme Court decision in favor of the newspaper. Skolnik was President of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association at that time and co-defendant with the News Review through the lengthy legal process. Herling's note recalls how "Alfred Skolnik . . . with Elaine, had to withstand the attack so personally."

"I urge you to extend the campaign until the goal is reached," his letter continues. "The News Review is too important a community resource and vital to maintaining a sense of community in Greenbelt. Moreover, it gives substance to the meaning of cooperative democracy and is a rare, and perhaps unique example of a truly grass-roots newspaper for almost 50 years! And what can one say about that extraordinary corps of volunteers who display such an extraordinary sense of loyalty, dedication and commitment."

Center School Children Shine in Talent Show

"The Stars Are Out Tonight" proclaimed signs at Center School. These stars were students who performed in Center's annual talent show. Having passed the first hurdles and become eligible to participate in the show, these students went on to shine through three performances of varied acts.

Instrumental musicians were excellent. Sae Mi Hong, sixth grader, again performed expertly on the piano as did second grader Benjamin Yu. Flutist Gabe Cahalan also performed well for his second year.

Gymnasts first grader April Collmer and third graders Amy Mach and Jennifer Drake held the audience spellbound.

Several singers entertained including "Meadow Girls" Kelly Hoza and Juanita Wildoner; "Baby Bumblebees," Casie Davis and Rachel Wilkinson; "Cool It Now Girls", Melissa and Theresa Harvey.

A Chinese Golden Ring dance was performed by the Lung sisters, Catherine and Virginia. This traditional dance involved twirling large golden rings while dancing.

Another kind of dancers were Disco Dancers Shannon Morman, Lynne Tucker and Julie Neumaier. Other dance groups were: Candy Kane Girls, Chikel Coleman, Crystal Simpkins, Tiffany Goodwin and Natasha Coleman; "Lace", Dannyelle Allen, Lolita Hall, Krystal Jennifer and Tameaka White; and "Precision", Fini Penn, Laurel Berg, Michelle was the ever popular "Total Groove" band which played at Center School for the last time. Members are: Andrew Linton, Leon Barnett, Dennis Jackson, William Dixon, Dion Welch, John Lewis, DeShawn Reynolds, Jason Manning and Dennis Littleton.

Lee and Deni Weaver.

Break dancing was demonstrated by "Pop-a-zoids" Terrence Smith, Antwann Duckett and Larry Ross and "Fresh Rockers" Brian Ayres and Danny Bodner.

Information on Radiation Therapy Now Available

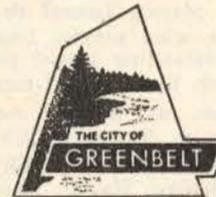

Half of all people with cancer are treated with radiation therapy—either alone, to destroy cancer cells and prevent their reappearance, or with surgery or anti-cancer drugs. A new booklet, "Radiation Therapy and You: A Guide to Self-Help During Treatment," is available free from the Cancer Information Service (CIS). It describes what to expect during the course of treatment and how to manage side effects and follow-up care. The CIS, a program of the Johns Hopkins Oncology Center and the National Cancer Institute, responds to questions from cancer patients and their families on all forms of cancer treatment. Anyone having questions or wanting a free copy of the booklet on radiation therapy may call the CIS toll-free at 1-800-4-CANCER Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

What causes receding gums?

Improper or overzealous toothbrushing is the most common cause of gum recession. Hard bristle toothbrushes, although once thought to be the most effective way to clean the teeth, actually cause the gums to recede more rapidly. The most recent studies have shown that the best way to brush is with a soft nylon toothbrush. Soft bristles clean thoroughly without harming the gums.

Other factors which can cause the gums to recede are early or advanced periodontal (gum) disease, undesirable habits such as placing pencils or other objects in the mouth, uncorrected tooth or gum irregularities, and poor oral hygiene especially during orthodontic treatment.

Gum recession is not reversible. Therefore, early recognition of the problem along with proper determination of the cause is absolutely essential.

Scholastic Awards Given To Center School Students

by Barbara Likowski

"The main business of Center School," said principal John Van Schoonhoven at the school's 48th sixth grade awards assembly, "is education." He then awarded outstanding academic awards to all those sixth graders who had been on the honor roll for four marking periods. They are: Mrs. Sutton's class - Brian Ayres, Sharon Blunt, Nicole Cooper, Jay Hilbert, Charice Hill, Venise Jackson, Angela LaMar, Hans Lewter, Sharonne Lovett, Brian McIntosh, Brian Rudy, Tasha White and Christie Whited.

Ms. Marino's class - Dannyelle Allen, Pamela Davis, Heather Fendley, James Johnston, Michelle Lee, Hazel Pak, Willy Philyaw, Jonathan Schachter, and Lewis Van Wambeke.

Mrs. Sturgill's class - Yashmina Al-fatah, Dwayne Ayres, Leon Barnett, Laurel Berg, Danny Bodner, Contina Brown, Chikel Coleman, Atticus Cosgrove, John Donaldson, Kim Garland, Becky Geiger, Krystal Jenifer, Greg Klem, Matthew Knoll, Virginia Lung, Ryan Mach, Fini Penn, Ardith Porosky and Tameeka White.

Van Schoonhoven told those present that these sixth graders were "very special people to us." They had a good foundation, he said and now it is up to them to go forward to Middle School. He urged the students to believe in themselves and not be tempted to be less than the best they could be. The first step is the hardest, Van Schoonhoven warned, but if pupils say, "I can," and take one step at a time they will do well.

Other Awards Given

Other awards were given at this assembly. The American Legion awards for citizenship were presented by Anna Link for the American Legion Post 136 auxiliary and Noel Tucker, for the American Legion. Winners were Rebecca Geiger and Greg Klem. Honorable mention was earned by Laurel Berg, Katherine King and Daniel Bodner. Fifth grader Seth Hamlin was cited for being named a winner in the American Legion essay contest.

Corporal Pat Grogan from the Prince Georges County Police gave outstanding safety patrol awards to Greg Klem, Becky Geiger, John Lewis, Kim Garland, Sharon Blunt and Danny Bodner. Each of these students had had an opportunity to act as sergeant, lieutenant and captain of the patrols. Center school received an award because there had been no accidents involving students going to and from school for three years. "Safety is everybody's business," Grogan said. He also presented an award to Van Schoonhoven for acting as advisor to the patrols.

Physical Education teacher Stape Shields presented the presidential physical fitness awards to Michelle Lee, Laurel Berg, Lolita Hall, Heather Fendley, Edward Levan, John Lewis, John Donaldson and Tim Grady. Edward Levan and John Lewis exceeded the all time school record for the shuttle run which was set in 1979 and Lewis exceeded the school record set in 1960 for the high jump.

Vocal music awards were earned by Heather Fendley, Pam Davis and Kim Garland. Instrumental music awards were: most improved, Brian McIntosh and Rebecca Geiger; outstanding first year wind player, Laurel Berg; second year wind player, Danny Bodner; outstanding second year string player, Yashmina Al-fatah. Certificates as library aides were given to Tameeka White and Chikel Coleman. Chickel Coleman, Bridget Harris, James Johnston, Brian McIntosh, Jonathan Schachter, Tasha White and Tameeka White achieved perfect attendance for the year.

Those sixth graders who most improved their work were: Bridget Harris, Jesse Hughes and La-Shawn Nixon. Outstanding citizenship awards went to: James Johnston, Dannyelle Allen, Hazel Pak, Willy Philyaw, Jonathan Schachter, Franklin Don Bullion, Nicole Cooper, Angela LaMar, Sandy Nowlin Tasha White, Dwayne Ayres, Kim Garland, Krystal Jenifer, Virginia Lung and Ryan Mach.

One hundred nineteen student tutors received certificates for tutoring 125 pupils during the year.

Awards Presented At Middle School

Greenbelt Middle School held its annual Awards Program on May 30. Many students were honored for their scholarship, service and research projects. Richard Castaldi, member of the County Council, was the main speaker. Joseph Miller brought greetings from the Greenbelt chapter of the American Legion and Eileen Labukas presented the Eshbaugh Memorial Award.

Robert McKean, principal, presented several awards including the Knapp Memorial Award. Parkdale High Reunion To Be Held August 19

Parkdale High School's first graduating class, the class of 1970, will be celebrating its 15-year reunion Friday, August 9 at La Fontaine Bleu in Lanham starting at 8 p.m.

Bob Duckman, a Northwestern High graduate and local radio station DJ, will MC the buffet dinner-dance. For ticket information and reservations call 937-2139. The class of '70 invites friends from '71 and '72 to attend.

GOODBYES AREN'T EASY

If it's difficult to say goodbye to students moving on to another school, it's even more difficult to say goodbye to a member of the school staff. Faculty and students alike did just that to Center School secretary Mary Heflebower with many good wishes and a few tears, too. She retired at the end of this school year after 7½ years at Center.

Heflebower related to students as mother, counselor, nurse, confidant. She's one of the ladies who is able to fix things like getting a zipper unzipped so coats can be taken off, who put ice on bumps when the school nurse wasn't there and any of a dozen other things above and beyond the call of duty. To show their caring and gratitude each class presented her with a book of drawings, letters, and stories.

Faculty members had a farewell party for Heflebower and gave her gifts and mementos, also a few jokes, to sweeten a sad occasion. A gift also came from the PTA with many thanks from parents.

Coming from Margaret Brent Elementary School, Heflebower joined the Center School faculty as a part time worker and later became a full time employee when the load became too heavy for Center School secretary Carla Kappas. Together they kept things running smoothly for principal, faculty and students.

"Au Revoir, Mary," Good luck and enjoy retirement.

Dieu Nguyen Is Winner In Suburban Art Contest

Greenbelter Dieu Nguyen, a senior from Regina High School, has been named a winner of a $1000 scholarship awarded by Suburban Bank for superior art work. Entitled "Lotus Pond," Dieu's winning watercolor, done in the Chinese tradition, shows goldfish in a pond with lotus flowers.

The sixth annual contest was open to 12th graders in both public and private schools in eight Maryland counties and Baltimore. The winning entries will be featured on Suburban's 1986 calendar which will be distributed to the bank's customers in December. The winning pieces will also be displayed at various Suburban Banks.

WSSC Lauds Pitkin Role In Ban on Phosphate

Commissioner Johanna S. Norris, on behalf of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, has sent a letter to newspapers praising Delegate Joan Pitkin for her role in the passage of legislation to ban the sale of phosphate detergents in Maryland supermarkets.

On May 28, when Governor Harry R. Hughes signed the legislation, Maryland became the seventh state to impose such a phosphate ban. The ban was approved by the Maryland General Assembly to enhance the Chesapeake Bay restoration program. According to Norris' letter, Pit-kin, a delegate from the 23rd district which includes Greenbelt "displayed an unfaltering conviction for the ban and its importance in the Bay restoration effort."

Health Department Warns Of Tick Bite Diseases

Although the Maryland State Department of Health finds that fewer than one percent of ticks are disease carriers, it recommends that persons bitten by ticks should mark a calendar and report that date to their doctor if any symptoms appear, since ticks may carry two serious illnesses.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever begins three to 14 days after a tick bite with a sudden onset of headache, high fever and chills. A pale, pink-spotted skin rash generally begins on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet from the third day of illness, although in some cases the rash may not occur. Physicians generally require laboratory blood tests to confirm the diagnosis. If not treated promptly the illness can be serious and even fatal.

Another tick-borne illness, Lyme Disease, begins as a lesion at the point of the tick bite. The sore is usually accompanied by a general ill feeling, fatigue, chill, fever, headache, and stiff neck or backache. Sometimes there is spreading muscular pain and vomiting and sore throat. Usually recovery is complete in three to four weeks, but sometimes the victim can be struck years later with acute or chronic arthritis and various nervous or coronary disorders. Antibiotic treatment may prevent or lessen the severity of after-effects and shorten the duration.

 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)

 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.
