Council Defers Greenbrook Subdivision Plan

by Bob Hickman

Greenbelt's city council, in its regular meeting on November 4, deferred action on a preliminary plan of subdivision for the Tidler tract (Greenbrook) in East Greenbelt.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld pointed out to attorneys for the Greenbrook developers that council members had not yet had a chance to discuss the subdivision plan among themselves and would like to do so at a work session. The developers had been hoping for a favorable decision at the council meeting in order to seek approval by the county planning board as soon as possible. When it appeared that council would take a negative position on the plan if the matter was not deferred, attorneys for the developers agreed to an extension.

The Greenbrook subdivision plan, which was initially presented to council at a work session on October 28, includes a six-acre mandatory dedication of land for a lake that would serve both stormwater management and recreational purposes. Approximately one-fourth of the lake would be located on land provided by the developers and three-fourths of the lake's area would be within the boundary of Schrom Hills park, which is to be turned over to the city at a future date by the county.

A possible concept plan was also presented at the work session by a representative of Greenhorne and O'Mara acting on behalf of the developers. The plan showed a tot lot, concession area, picnic areas, tennis and basketball courts, softball fields, and an open play area, bordered by townhouses along one side of the lake. Richard Reed, an attorney for the developers, said at the work session that if the six acres of land is dedicated for the lake, the developer will not be able to provide recreational facilities, and the city or the county would have to provide these amenities.

Councilmember Thomas White pointed out that the lake is not just going to meet stormwater management requirements but that it is also going to help market townhouses for the developer, and said that he didn't see why the developer could not provide some of the facilities needed in the area. "How much do you want Mr. Rose to give?" asked Reed, who said that the developer was already giving 110% more land than required and was willing to spend on a pathway system around the dedicated portion of the lake.

White objected to the use of public land for a stormwater facility for a private developer. Reed replied that the lake would serve "regional" stormwater management needs and would have the additional benefit of being aesthetically pleasing. He said that if the developers went only by WSSC requirements the lake would be a two-to-three-acre stormwater management pond with a fence around it. Reed said that the original intent had

Planning Board Postpones Hearing Until December 5

The Prince Georges County Planning Board on November 7 postponed hearings on the preliminary plan of subdivision for the Tidler and Smith Ewing properties. The matter will be considered on December 5. The Greenbelt city council had requested more time to review conflicting traffic studies, the location of a proposed lake and mandatory dedication of open space.

Slated for the properties located in the southeastern quadrant of the Greenbelt Road and Hanover Parkway intersection are (1) 232 townhouses, 109 single-family homes, and 180,000 square feet of townhouse offices on the 83.4-acre Tidler tract (Greenbrook), and (2) 300,000 square feet of commercial office in low and medium-rise buildings, including the 136-unit low-rise Brock Residence Inn on the 21.8-acre Smith-Ewing tract.

At the preliminary plan of subdivision stage, a general scheme of proposed development is presented — division of property, access, existing topography, utilities, rights of way, proposed layout of roads, parking areas, open space, etc. The Prince Georges County Planning Board's technical staff examines a proposed plan and comes up with findings as to whether the proposed layout is satisfactory from the standpoint of public health, safety, welfare, its effect on the

ATOM S&L DEPOSITORS MARCH ON STATE CAPITOL SATURDAY

Plans have been completed for the state-wide rally of savings & loan depositors this Saturday. Buses and motorcades will converge on Annapolis from Greenbelt, Gaithersburg, Bethesda, Columbia, Northwest Baltimore, Middle River/Essex, Bowie, Crofton, Ocean City and many other areas. Everyone will assemble at the east parking lot of the Navy Stadium. The march will leave the parking lot about 11:30 a.m. and proceed the 8/10 of a mile to the courtyard by the State House. A police escort will block traffic to provide safety for the marchers. Those who are unable to walk may take shuttle buses from the stadium parking lot to the rally location.

Greenbelters will assemble in Roosevelt Center behind the former Community Savings & Loan office at 9:30 a.m. The City Council has donated the use of the Greenbelt Connection bus and other buses will be leased. A nominal fee will be charged for the rented buses. The buses are expected to arrive back at the Greenbelt assembly point about 3:30 p.m. Anyone planning to take the bus is requested to call 474-6433 (4-6 p.m.) or 345-4699 (6-9 p.m.). If there is heavy rain on Saturday, the rally will be held on Sunday on the same schedule.

Purpose

The purpose of the rally is to challenge the governor to meet a deadline set by the depositors' committee. On the final day of the Special Session of the General Assembly, November 5, Speaker of the House Cardin announced that the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund would have 90 million dollars in liquidity on November 10. The depositors' committee has set Friday, November 15, as the deadline for the Governor to announce a plan to distribute this money and other funds to depositors.

The rally the next day, November 16, will celebrate the accomplishment of the goal or protest its failure.

GREENBELT TEAM IN CINCINNATI TELLS TALE OF CITIZEN ACTION

by Sandra Barnes

This weekend, November 14-17, Greenbelt community leaders will travel to Cincinnati, Ohio to represent the city in the All-America Cities competition. The competition will take place in conjunction with the 91st National Conference on Government, sponsored by the Citizens Forum on Self Government/National Municipal League and USA Today.

Twenty cities from around the country are vying for the honor of being designated as an All-America City. They will compete — along with Greenbelt — by making an oral presentation before a jury consisting of leaders from national, state, regional and local organizations with an interest in effective citizen action, as well as prominent government and education leaders. Last year's jury was headed by William F. Quinn, Citizens Forum vice president and former governor of Hawaii.

Greenbelt was selected to compete as one of 20 finalists from among 93 applicants. The distinction of being awarded the All-America City title may go to as many as 10 of the finalists who convince the jury that significant citizen action has occurred in three specific projects achieved during the preceding year. The city-sponsored application cited the Greenbelt News Review Volunteer and Fund Drive, the acquisition and formation of the Co-op Supermarket by a community group and the resident-initiated annexation of Hunting Ridge condominiums into the city as examples of successful projects led by citizen volunteers.

Greenbelt — with its 17,000 population — will be competing with many larger cities, such as Greenville, South Carolina, Kansas City, Missouri and Cleveland, Ohio. However, smaller cities such as Park City, Utah, Knoxville, North Carolina and Neenah, Wisconsin are also among the finalists. Greenbelt is the only city in Maryland competing this year. No city in Prince Georges County has ever won the All-America City title.

Community leaders traveling to Cincinnati include Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, Micki Weidenfeld;

Bob Zugby; Jerry, Kathy and Jimmy Gough; Sandra and Alexander Barnes; Jose Morales; Mark Davis; Joe Timer; Mary Lou Williamson; Tom Renahan; Renee Bryan; Kenny Hall; and City Manager James K. Giese.

Five of the group — Mary Lou Williamson, Jerry Gough, Mayor Weidenfeld, Joe Timer, and Tom Renahan — will deliver the formal ten-minute presentation before the jury. The presentation will focus on citizen involvement in the News Review Drive and the Hunting Ridge and Co-op initiatives. A history of community action in Greenbelt will also be part of the story.

In addition to the formal presentation, the group will staff a booth on Saturday. The booth will display in pictorial form many of the organizations, festivals, and activities which have encompassed the overall theme, "A Tradition of Citizen Action." Some of Greenbelt's unique history also will be portrayed, and copies of the November 7 special issue of the News Review will be distributed. Some members of the group will also attend conference seminars occurring at the same time.

After their presentation, the group expects to travel to Greenhills, Ohio, a nearby suburb of Cincinnati, and Greenbelt's sister city (along with Greendale, Wisconsin). The three towns comprise the "greenbelt towns" built in 1937 by the federal government as an experiment in building planned communities, in employing jobless workers, and in housing people who formerly lived in crowded urban dwellings. A tour of the town, hosted by Greenhills city officials, is expected to cap an eventful weekend filled with Greenbelt experiences.

Police Still to Deliver Council Packets

by Mavis Fletcher

The city council at its November 4 meeting revisited the issue of Greenbelt police serving as daytime bank escorts and as deliverers of information packets to council members. Although council had attempted to settle both issues at their last session, these issues were brought up again by city manager James K. Giese when he found himself faced with contradictory council instructions.

The matter started when Police Chief Frank T. Hutson informed businesses in the city on September 1 that the police would discontinue daytime bank escorts on October 1. According to Hutson, all businesses except one then made other arrangements for their daytime bank visits. However, Jasper's Restaurant in Greenway Shopping Center protested the action and, according to Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, asked that the service be continued until the restaurant management could send a letter to council requesting that the service be continued.

By the October 21 council meeting, no letter from Jasper's had been received. Despite Weidenfeld's request that the matter be deferred, other council members indicated they felt that the business had had enough notice of the impending change. Councilmember Joseph Isaacs then moved to support the chief's position on the issue. Councilmember Thomas X. White tacked on an amendment to make the discontinuance apply also to delivery of information packets prepared by the city and traditionally delivered to the council members' homes by the police. Isaacs accepted the amendment and the motion passed 4-1, with Weidenfeld opposed.

Instead of settling the two issues, it turned out that one of the Standing Rules of the City Council mandates the delivery of the "council packets," as they are called, to the council members' homes. To get a resolution of these conflicting instructions, Giese put the issue on the agenda for the November 4 meeting. In his comments to the council he included a rationale supporting the custom of delivering the packets.

A motion by councilmember Antoinette Bram to reconsider the action taken on October 21 passed 3-2, with White and Isaacs opposed. White moved to amend the original motion to prohibit delivery of the packets only by the police department (thus allowing delivery by some other means). The motion failed for lack of a second. Bram then separated the two issues by moving

New Roosevelt Principal M. Steinbaum Meets PTSA

In its ten years of operation, Eleanor Roosevelt High School has had only one principal, Ray Ogden. But on November 4, Milton Steinbaum became the school's new principal, replacing Ogden, who has assumed an administrative position with the county school system. Steinbaum was formerly principal at Oxon Hill Middle School.

Eleanor Roosevelt High School is known throughout the region for its outstanding academic, athletic and musical achievements. It has one of the pioneering science and technical programs in the area, attracting visitors seeking models for their own programs. Roosevelt's cross country, soccer and softball teams regularly compete at the state level. The orchestra, wind ensemble and chorus have participated in national and international competitions.

With achievements like this, Steinbaum has a solid foundation upon which to build.

On November 19, the PTSA program will provide an opportunity for parents and others to meet and welcome Milton Steinbaum. The program will follow a short business meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Friends of Library Will Meet Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Friends of the Greenbelt Library (FOGL) will hold a short meeting — the last for this year — at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 20.

The group will consider ways to spend some of the funds raised recently by a book and bake sale. The emphasis of the Friends is on support of the library through fund-raising events, publicity, and possible gifts of items the library might need but which are not possible under present budget restrictions.

All who can give one hour to helping the FOGL set its course are encouraged to come to the meeting on the lower level of the library. For more information, call Barbara Simon at 474-2192.

NEW MANAGER JOINS ARTS CENTER STAFF

Mary Jo Ford has joined the Greenbelt Arts Center as its first professional theater manager, announces GAC president Konrad Herling.

Ford has worked in theater management in the Washington area for the past 14 years, most recently at the Kennedy Center. The Arts Center received a grant from the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission in Prince Georges County for programming, audience development, and for professional advice to upgrade the business practices and productions.

A new ticketing system will be introduced. Mail orders and reservations are now being accepted. The new tickets will make it easier for groups to take advantage of the special discount rate. Subscribers should call the information line (441-8770) to obtain their tickets.

New marketing strategies will also be implemented with the grant money. To accomplish these goals, the Center needs to increase the pool of volunteers who now do everything including building sets, acting, concessions, ticket selling and publicity.

The Arts Center will have specific needs defined, so volunteers can better allocate time, energy and talents. Anyone interested in learning about the volunteer program at the theater should call Ford at 441-8770.

Letter Is An Insult

(Ed Note: The following letter was written in response to several form letters received by Greenbelt residents. The residents had written to Judge Kaplan asking for information about their funds in frozen Maryland S&Ls).

Mr. J. Hardin Marion, Esquire
Law Offices of Tydings &
Rosenberg
201 North Charles Street
Baltimore, Maryland 21201

Dear Mr. Marion:

I write to take strong exception to the letter you are sending to Greenbelt citizens who are depositors in Community Savings and Loan and have written to Judge Kaplan to inquire about the status of their savings. Specifically, I strenuously object to the conclusion wherein you quote an editorial from The Baltimore Sun.

You are not the first to brand Community depositors with the label of greed. But if Judge Kaplan is referring letters to you for response, I would hope and expect you to be more cognizant of the facts surrounding the Greenbelt situations. . . .

Permit me to enlighten you on those facts. The great majority of Greenbelt Community depositors did not put their money in Community in a greedy "search for higher interest rates." To the contrary, they kept their money in what began as a local institution. Community's predecessor in Greenbelt was Twin Pines, a cooperatively-owned savings and loan which was local both in origin and in its directors and depositors. When it became necessary to merge, the directors chose Community because it was one of the few financial institutions willing to loan mortgage money on cooperative housing. There is a good deal of cooperative housing in Greenbelt—a reminder of the days when it was President Franklin Roosevelt's first model town. . . .

In short, the Greenbelt Community depositors are overwhelmingly long-time residents who have their life savings in the local savings and loan. I tell you, regretfully, that your letter is an insult to them as well as the State of Maryland, for which it purports to speak. I respectfully suggest that you revise it before sending any more to engender more anger and do further harm.

Senator, 23rd District

Open Letter

(The following resolution was read at the November 4 City Council meeting).

Dear Mayor Weidenfeld and Members of the City Council:

The Executive Board of the Citizens for Greenbelt at its October 29 meeting unanimously passed the following resolution:

"The CFG Executive Board opposes the City of Greenbelt waiving the traffic provisions of its covenant with Coakley and Williams until the Prince Georges County government completes the following specific actions.

1. Completion of the city's requested traffic study along with city review of its findings.
2. Transfer of (portions of) Parcels 1 and 2 to the city.
3. Transfer of Schrom Hills Park to the city.
4. Development of the detailed road plan for the region showing timetables for the construction of the roads and the completion of buildings showing the projected impacts on the condition of the key intersections.
5. Budgeting of construction funds for road improvements which the traffic study indicates are needed to keep the critical intersections at traffic level E or better, using existing definitions.

GHI NOTES

Tuesday, November 19, is one of the most important nights of the year for GHI members. That is the night that the GHI bylaws are proposed for amendment at 8 p.m. in Greenbelt City Council Chambers. The bylaws are one of the most important documents of the corporation. All members are urged to attend the meeting.

Two committees will meet at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 20. The Member and Community Relations Committee will meet in the Lunch Room and the Finance Committee will meet in the Board Room.

The next meeting of the GHI Board of Directors will be Thursday, November 21 at 8 p.m.

With the approach of cold weather, members are again reminded that GHI regulations prohibit the use of unvented, portable kerosene-fired heaters in GHI homes.

With cold weather approaching, members should bleed the outside hose bibs of frame homes in order to prevent pipes freezing. The outside hose bib (outside faucet) can be bled by closing the valve control under the sink which controls the outside hose bib and then opening the spigot on the outside hose bib. Leave the valves like this until warm weather returns. The Maintenance Department does this procedure for members of upstairs frame apartments because their hose bib control is located in the crawl space. Anyone with questions should call the Maintenance Department (474-6011).

Jaycees Sponsor Race To Benefit News Review

The Greenbelt Jaycees have announced plans for a 10-kilometer road race and "fun run" to benefit the Greenbelt News Review.

The Sunday, November 24 "Turkey Trot," the first such event the Jaycees have sponsored in this area, will begin at 9 a.m. at Braden Field. The 1.5 kilometer fun run/walk will begin at 9:05 a.m.

"We're trying to establish this as an annual event," said race director Suzanne Hartley. A runner herself, Hartley said she "knows the ins and outs" of how to promote such an event and hopes that area runners will see the race is highly organized and come back year after year.

Hartley said most of the proceeds will go to the News Review, with the rest to cover race expenses, including prizes and postrace refreshments. She said money will be raised through sponsorships, in which people pledge a certain amount for each kilometer their runner covers.

Prizes will include trophies for the first male and female finishers, as well as the top two finishers in each age category. Every participant in both the race and the fun run will receive a "ripper," a velcro-fastened pocket attachment used to carry keys and identification while running. In addition, an as-yet-undetermined number of turkeys will be raffled off to the runners, Hartley said.

There is a registration fee for the race; applications, which include sponsorship forms, are currently available at Ben Franklin's, Greenbelt Cleaners, High's, the Sub Shop and the Jaycees of-

by Jerry Conway

The Greenbelt Golden Age Softball Team scored a smashing victory over Forest Glen Golden Agers of Montgomery County in six innings at Braden Field on Wednesday morning, October 16. The final score was 27-13.

Two powerful homeruns were hit by Burt Herr and Jerry Conway with bases loaded in each case. Jim McGann, Toni Pisano and Bob Burdick each hit a triple. Other powerful singles and doubles were hit by Tom O'Neill, Mike Burchick, Art Endres, Harvey Geller and Kaz Kincius.

The Greenbelt team played an excellent game of fielding and hitting even though it only had ten players against the opponents' fifteen. Tom O'Neill celebrated his 75th birthday, and the team offered this winning game in his honor.

The field will be closed at 500, Hartley said she is "pretty confident we'll fill the field," and hopes to expand the race next year. Hartley said any local businesses interested in helping to sponsor the race or donating prizes can call her at 596-9493 during the day and 964-3952 evenings.

ing to terminate daytime bank escorts by the police. This motion passed 4-1, with only White opposed. Bram then moved to terminate delivery of council packets, explaining that she did so to defeat it. The motion was defeated 3-2; Weidenfeld, Bram, and councilmember Edward Putens cast the negative votes which, in effect, left the delivery of council packets in the same status as before the October 21 meeting. Packets will still be delivered to the council members' homes (unless individual members arrange to pick them up) and the police will still be used to make the deliveries while on routine patrol.

Hutson Receives Award

A non-controversial item involving the police was presentation of an award to Police Chief Frank Hutson for "Outstanding Achievement in Police Administration." The award was sponsored by the National Association of Police Equipment Distributors. Hutson, who was nominated by Maryland Police Supply, Inc., was one of ten Maryland police chiefs so nominated. Bruce Taylor of Maryland Police Supply, Inc., who presented the award, said that Hutson was selected from 237 police chiefs under consideration. Taylor emphasized that the award was not dependent on "who spent the most money" but was awarded on the basis of three criteria: the quality of the equipment chosen, the priorities given to equipment selected and the impact of these priorities on morale in the department.

Jaycees Club House

Joel Lichvar, president of the local chapter of the Jaycees, appeared before council to request that the city do something about maintaining a water supply to the building leased by the Jaycees as a club house. The building, which according to Giese was built by a recreation organization and has been used by a number of different organizations through the years, is on city property adjacent to St. Hugh's School.

Lichvar enumerated the problems which have resulted from the lack of water to the building. Giese said that the water line is worn out and no longer worth repairing; building a new line to the club house had been estimated in 1982 at $3,470. He said that since the city receives no benefit from the building and, in addition, has been paying water and electrical charges, he did not consider this an equitable arrangement."

Lichvar, however, pointed to a long list of charitable undertakings by the Jaycees. These ranged from support of the Special Olympics to a Thanksgiving running event (the Turkey Trot) for the benefit of the News Review. He called the building a "lifeline" of an organization, which provides an important contribution to the community.

Council made short work of Giese's fiscal concerns by passing a motion by Putens to provide water to the building as provided in the lease. Giese then suggested that the Jaycees might pick up the tab for water and electricity. When Jaycee Treasurer Bill Brune said the Jaycees' budget would have trouble absorbing these costs, council agreed to pay for them at least until the lease comes up for renewal in December 1986.

Tidbits

In further actions, council:

—Adopted the position of the city's Advisory Planning Board favoring approval of the site plan of the proposed 136-unit, low-rise, suite-style hotel (Brock Residence Inn) which is planned for five acres of the Smith-Ewing tract. The council vote was 4-1; White indicated that he opposed approval of the plan because the action was being taken in advance of approval of the preliminary plan of subdivision for the Smith-Ewing tract.

—Voted to send a letter to the county council expressing "strong concern" about the proposed rezoning of a large Glen Dale area tract to permit construction of a shopping center. Giese noted in his comments that the master plans designated this area for large-lot, single-family homes and that there is concern that its redesignation for commercial use could "start a domino effect, with one property after another being rezoned to higher density."

—Passed a resolution increasing group life insurance coverage for employees from $10,000 to $25,000.

—Added two part-time employees to Greenbelt CARES and deleted one full-time position which is now vacant.

—Added a new position of Communications Supervisor to the police department and deleted one position as Communications Specialist. One of the present Communications Specialists will be promoted to the supervisory position.

—Accepted the resignation of George Stover from the Crime Prevention Committee.

TRAFFIC, from page one

Master Plan and whether adequate public facilities (water, sewer, roads) are available. In an October 1985 traffic study, the developers' consultant, Greenehorne and O'Mara, noted that the proposed road improvements were assumed "for the purpose of this study," to have been completed. They found that the proposed development "will not cause any significant traffic problems in the area. The major roadway improvements scheduled and proposed herein (along Greenbelt Road) will adequately contain all proposed development traffic. . . ."

On the basis of an earlier traffic study, the Planning Board's technical staff recommended denial of the preliminary plan of subdivision because of inadequate public facilities. They argued that "only when all the . . . (road) projects have been programmed for construction can the subject development proposal meet the adequate public facility ordinance."

However, construction funds have not been earmarked for improvements to the critical interchange at Greenbelt Road and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway or for reconstruction of the Greenbelt Road bridge over the Parkway. U. S. Congressman Steny Hoyer has introduced legislation to transfer jurisdiction of the Parkway back to the federal government so that funds can be appropriated for parkway improvements.

Volunteers Sought For Meal Delivery

The Department of Services and Programs for the Aging is the sponsor of the food and friendship program and ties the success of this food distribution effort directly to the generosity of recruited volunteers as the drivers. been simply to meet the WSSC requirements, until WSSC became aware that the city would prefer a lake. When White asked who had said the city would prefer a lake, city Administrative Assistant Michael McLaughlin said that two or three years ago the WSSC had done a report relating to the Witt tract and that the city had expressed a preference for natural settings and appearances.

Bill Wilkerson, chairman of the city's Advisory Planning Board, said that the Witt tract would take water from the west side of Hanover Parkway, but also from the Smith-Ewing tract, and that the lower part of the stream which flows through the area, goes under the Capital Beltway and then through Greenbelt Park, administered by the National Park Service.

Council member Antoinette Bram objected to the proposed alignment of the townhouses all on one side of the lake, comparing it to a "boxcar" arrangement. At the regular council meeting, representatives of the developer stated that the alignment was dictated by topography and that the density of the townhouses in that location was based on a marketing decision.

They also stated that a new traffic study had been done for the area which included the projections for the Sunrise Village apartments, and that it would be made available to the city and to the Maryland-National Park and Planning Commission. The council scheduled a work session for November 12 to discuss the site plan and the traffic study.

Robert Manzi Named City Solicitor

by Mavis Fletcher

The Selection of Robert A. Manzi of the law firm Knight, Manzi, Brennan and Ostrom of Upper Marlboro as city solicitor was supported by a 4-1 vote by the city council at its regular meeting on October 21. According to City Manager James K. Giese, Manzi was the unanimous choice of a city staff selection committee from among the 18 attorneys who expressed interest in the position.

The council motion to approve the appointment was passed after some discussion with a "No" vote by Councilman Thomas X. White. White said he had misgivings about appointing a city solicitor from a firm which is known to have business with developers. He said he would be "more comfortable with a lawyer experienced in municipal affairs." Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, however, pointed out that the city needs a solicitor with experience in zoning matters and that attorneys "can't get the experience any other way." Giese assured the council that Manzi indicated the firm was not acting for any developers working in the city and would not do so in the future.

Giese said that under the terms of the appointment Manzi would be paid $85 per hour for his time and $70 per hour when he used one of the firm's associates for city work. White also said he would have preferred "a retainer basis" for the city solicitor.

Manzi replaces long-time city solicitor Emmett H. Nanna Jr., who recently retired.

Parkland Acquisition

The council voted to ask for Program Open Space funds expected for fiscal year 1987 to acquire two small parcels of land adjacent to Schrom Hills Park. The parcels would be incorporated into the park. The city's 1987 allotment of POS funds is expected to be about $48,000. The council voted also to ask for an additional $20,000 to design and build a trail system in the park.

Tidbits

The council also took the following actions at the October 21 meeting:

—Voted to pledge $200 to a conference on AIDS to be sponsored by the Council of Governments. The conference will focus on the role of governmental bodies in the controversies arising about housing, schooling and treating AIDS victims.

—Passed for first reading an ordinance to spend $41,000 of Community Development Block Grant funds to reconstruct Ridge Road from Southway to Westway.

—Reappointed Suzanne Plogman and Gary Kohn to the Advisory Planning Board.

—Appointed James D. Wolfe to the 50th Anniversary Committee.

—Agreed to advertise vacancies on the Advisory Planning Board and the Crime Prevention Committee.

—Redesignated Weidenfeld to represent the city to the Prince Georges County Community Development Advisory Committee.

—Redesignated Weidenfeld (alternate White) to serve on the board of directors of the Council of Governments. Designations to other COG bodies were: Councilman Edward Putens to the Energy Advisory Committee, the Public Safety Committee and the Transportation Planning Board; Council Members Antoinette Bram and Joseph Isaacs to the Land Use Policy Committee and the Human Resources Committee, respectively; White will continue to serve on the Water Resources Planning Board.

Can Decay be removed with chemicals?

The standard technique for removing decay has traditionally employed the use of either dental drills or hand instruments. A new system has been developed which uses a chemical solution to soften and remove decayed tooth structure. The solution is used in conjunction with a spoon like device which is rubbed over the area as the solution is applied. The benefits of this system are more conservative treatment of dental decay along with reduced use but not complete elimination of mechanical means such as drills. Dentists will still have to use drills or other instruments to properly shape the cavity to adequately hold the restorative material.

Development of this technique began in 1972 at Tufts University when the solution was discovered. Since that time the original chemical formula has been tested, evaluated and reformulated. The Food and Drug Administration has given the system final approval and distribution to the dental profession is expected early in 1985.

Although the safety of the system has been demonstrated, it's use is expected to be very limited due, primarily, to the need to have complete accessibility to the decayed area. In all probability, this will confine its use to gumline cavities.

Rally Saturday

Governor Harry Hughes has been invited to address the rally and demonstrate his support for helping the depositors. The letter of invitation stated, "as the holiday season approaches, we are sure that you want to bring some message of hope to the people who are and continue to be the victims of this shameful episode in Maryland history." Petitions with 20,000 signatures will be presented to him.

People attending the rally are also urged to bring copies of any hardship plan forms to be presented to the Governor. ATOM Treasurer Alexander Barnes at the Greenbelt rally on November 2 noted that the depositors are "all hardship cases." Names and addresses will be recorded at the rally for any Old Court or Community depositor who has not received the hardship application forms.

Several speakers will briefly describe the difficulties faced by depositors in their communities. Three persons will speak on behalf of Greenbelters—Dr. Lekh Batra, a founder of "Access To Our Money"; Margaret Hogensen, the President of GHI; and Jack McCollum, a World War I veteran and a resident of Green Ridge House.

Information will be presented at the rally on the current status of the three S&L's which were closed and the actions underway to free the deposits. An article in last week's News Review described some favorable changes in the attitudes of State officials, which the depositors' committee feels may result in future progress. These were assumption of the leadership of the S&L crisis by legislative leaders, the two proposals aimed at helping the depositors directly, and the Governor's agreement to accept a deadline for preparing the depositors' plan. "These changes came after considerable pressure from the depositors' movement," said David Lange, co-chairman of the depositors committee.

"The Saturday rally is expected

GHI Members Will Meet On Bylaws on November 19

Tuesday, November 19 at 8 p.m. Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) will hold a special membership meeting to consider bylaws revision due, respectively, to lack of time and lack of quorum. Years of work by numerous people have been devoted to the issue and changes that can be made at the upcoming meeting in Greenbelt Council Chambers with or without a quorum.

The GHI bylaws establish the powers and purpose of the corporation. They set forth the corporation's principles of operation and means of handling business. Eighteen changes have been proposed to the bylaws. Last month members received a 39-page document detailing these proposed changes.

The first proposed change is editorial updating of the entire document. This change would eliminate sexist language and other grammatically incorrect language.

Another proposal would prohibit non-residents from holding an elective office. Under the current bylaws, a person living in Riverdale and subletting the GHI-unit he or she owned could serve on the GHI Board and establish rules and regulations for members. Under another proposal, members could call for a secret ballot at membership meetings.

to increase that pressure," Lange anticipates. Extensive television, radio, and newspaper coverage is expected. The State legislators and other elected officials have been invited to join in the march from the stadium to the State House. Lange, who spoke at the November 2 Greenbelt meeting, urged Greenbelters to participate in Saturday's rally. "This is the time for Greenbelt to pull together and demonstrate its concern for those who are the victims of greedy S&L officials, inadequate State oversight, and lack of leadership from the Governor," he said. A member of the audience suggested that families bring their children. Lange stated, "Greenbelt needs to demonstrate its civic pride by sending at least 200 people."

In the financial area, one proposal raises a $1,500 limit for expenditures for supplies, materials, equipment, or contractual services to $5,000. Without specific board approval. This proposal is in response to inflation since the limit was established in 1953. Another proposal would allow the Board of Directors to enter into contracts that run for more than one year.

The proposed revisions also include an entirely new article. This provides for indemnification of elected officials and employees. Another proposal would give elected officials the chance to respond to censure or a removal attempt.

Other provisions deal with filling positions on the Audit Committee and Nominations and Elections Committee. Finally, among the remaining proposals is one that would ensure membership rights to amend proposed bylaws amendments at membership meetings.

Learn to Carve a Turkey

A demonstration on "How to Carve a Turkey" and "Best Buys on Meat" by the manager of the Co-op meat department, Howard Berkenbaugh will take place on Wednesday, November 20, at 10:30 a.m. in the Greenbelt Library conference room. The program is sponsored by the consumer education committee of the Greenbelt Consumer Co-op.

The roast turkey used in the demonstration will be served to those in attendance along with dressing and cranberry sauce. "Come join us for an informative and delicious morning" says Ethel Rozenzweig, program coordinator. The public is invited.

"This is the last demonstration for the year" notes Rozenzweig. "More consumer programs will be planned for next spring, depending on interest shown."

Council Tidbits

(From the October 21 City Council Meeting.)

Public Works Director George Smith had requested council approval for beginning construction of curbs and gutters in the Attick Park parking lot. The city now has a contractor for this work and PRAB has approved the parking lot plan, while requesting deferral of the construction of an adjacent sidewalk.

White pointed out that one of the reasons for the previous deferral of this project, besides the lack of a contractor, was citizen concern that the parking lot would be developed without an overall plan for the park. White moved that the curb and gutter construction at Attick Park be deferred until the lake park master plan is adopted, noting that the plan was reasonably close to completion. The motion passed unanimously.

Council heard several administrative reports at the October 21 meeting. White questioned the clearing of the area along Crescent Road by Lakewood, stating that it appeared to be more than just the "removal of noxious weeds," instead "everything but the trees, practically," had been removed. Giese said that this was his interpretation of council's instructions, and that with the exception of routine maintenance, no further actions were planned until PRAB and the citizens of Lakewood develop a plan for re-vegetation of the plot.

Weidenfeld informed Giese of citizen concerns raised during the election, including several road and sidewalk problems and a problem with rust in water on Greenway in Lakewood which WSSC has not responded to.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

- There are three key elements to consider:
- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
 - B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
 - C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Soccer Finals

by Sue Cornelius

The regular season for the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club soccer program has now ended.

The six-year-old Superstars ended their season with an amazing 4-1-3 record after winning their last game 2-1. Brady Smith scored the first goal of his soccer career, and April Collmer added the winning goal to her collection. Robert Fiedler, TJ Lubey, Ryan Putens and Benjamin Skolnik showed a lot of hustle on the field.

The eight-year-old team (Greenbelt II) squeaked out a 1-0 victory over Kettering in the last minute of regulation time with a goal by Jason Harbin. Their final record was an amazing 6-1, their only loss being to the other Greenbelt team. Greenbelt locked up the eight-year-old division.

The thirteen-year-olds suffered a tough loss to Cheverly last week, but Nick Jones managed to score a goal for his team. Greenbelt's sixteen-year-old team lost a very close game to Bowie last week 1-0, but Shawn Douglas, Danny Law and Troy Altomore hustled and played their best. It was tough to lose such a close game where either team could have won. The Greenbelt Grasshoppers exhibited good sportsmanship and class in the face of a rough, often overly aggressive game.

Soccer Update

by Kevin Wheatley

Congratulations are in order for the 8-9 year old Greenbelt I soccer team. With their victory Saturday over College Park on its home turf, they have assured themselves a championship trophy.

The game took on the familiar Greenbelt style of play, absolute dominance, from the start, so much so that the Greenbelt defense set up its playing positions on the College Park side of the field, leaving the goalie all by himself with no one to talk to.

Playing against his friends from school, Tariq Dhmas gave them a lesson in ball control with a textbook shot for the first score. The next came from a fake-out pass. Peter Timer took the ball across the goal, drawing the defense to himself and leaving Miguel Boardman-Pierria unguarded. While the defense was still chasing Peter, he back-passed to Miguel who took the shot for a score. Cory Lee's score was simple. He stole the ball, outran the defense and politely deposited the ball in the net. The final score came on a penalty shot from Adam Wheatley. The goalie did get a hand on it, but the ball had too much velocity behind it, sending both ball and goalie into the net.

The final score was Greenbelt 4, College Park 0.

Greenbelt CARES

Greenbelt CARES conducted a survey of the sophomore class at Eleanor Roosevelt High School with the assistance of the Guidance Department. Students were asked to identify topics of interest for future discussion groups. The returns were as follows:

Looking for jobs, 75; Dealing with school stress, 56; Friends and Relationships, 52; Getting along at home, 42; Substance abuse, 33; Beating the blues, 32.

In October a typical week's counseling activities at CARES involved 52 individuals (15 under age 18) representing 25 families.

City's Cable Channel A-10

Reports Current Activities

The City Council meeting of Monday, November 18 will be cablecast live.

Channel A-10, the city's cable access channel, reports that events videotaped and aired during October included the A.T.O.M. (Access To Our Money) public hearing at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, taped October 1 and aired on Channel A-10 on October 8 and 9.

Taped on October 13 and aired on October 23 was the groundbreaking and Adopt-A-Tree ceremony. Also taped on October 13 and aired on October 30 was the exciting and colorful Bavarian-Austrian Dance Company.

The City Council meetings of October 15 and October 21 were cablecast live. A problem with the color on one of the cameras caused some of the council members to appear to be "Smurf Blue" at the meeting of the 21.

A camera crew is scheduled to go to the All-America City Awards competition in Cincinnati November 15-18 to videotape events there for airing later on Channel A-10.

The WMATA metroraill public hearing which was held and taped on November 6, was aired November 13.

Plays Announced, Audition Scheduled to Fill Roles

Auditions for the third and fourth plays of the Greenbelt Arts Center's current theater season are set for November 16, 17, 18 and 24, according to Greenbelt Players spokeswoman Marie Tousignant.

Auditions for Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" will be held on Sunday, November 24, at 7 p.m. in the theater. This production requires two men and two women. Auditioners should bring a prepared reading. Directed by Laurie Wagner, the play will open March 14.

Fire & Rescue Review

by B. Rowland, Jr.

Once again, the cold weather season approaches. As temperatures drop down, the chance of fire goes up when people start to heat their homes.

Wood Burning Safety Tips

(1) Have flue pipes and chimneys professionally cleaned and inspected for cracks and holes.

(2) Avoid burning wood with high sap or pitch content such as pine and fir. A build up can ignite, causing the pipes to burn through into the house.

(3) Avoid burning scrap marine lumber, outside furniture, and leftover pieces from siding and decks. These woods are usually treated with preservatives that produce toxic fumes when burned.

(4) Instruct all family members in the safe use of wood burning devices which includes the use of safety screens.

Kerosene Heater Safety

Although these heaters are not recommended, we offer the following tips:

(1) Label fuel cans indicating VANPOOL (new) Greenbelt to Farragut Sq. area D.C. In town 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. $68 per month. Call 490-6423 or 345-4225.

ing correct contents. (Each year in the U.S., people are seriously injured when kerosene heaters are filled with gasoline.)

(2) Store fuel in a safe place . . . away from children and away from any source of ignition such as stoves, pilot lights, etc.

(3) When fueling, make sure heater is not hot. Again, do so away from sources of ignition.

(4) Operate well away from combustible materials such as curtains, furniture, paper products, etc.

(5) Instruct all family members, as well as babysitters, in the safe use of these type heaters.

(6) As with any open flame heating, provide proper ventilation.

Whether you use wood, kerosene, or electric space heaters, the safe way is never to leave them unattended. In the event something does go wrong, it would be wisest to have a fire extinguisher close by.
