Unresolved Questions on Traffic Projections Delay Council Action

by Diane Oberg

At its August 8 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council refused to approve site and landscape plans for Commerce Center III until traffic concerns are resolved. They also introduced an ordinance appropriating funds for various capital improvement projects in the city and planned a public hearing on a proposed city arts policy.

Commerce Center III

Council deferred action on site and landscape plans for Commerce Center 111 to be constructed next to the existing Commerce Center I building on Hanover Parkway.

Once again, the issue was traffic. The developer is required to submit a traffic study demonstrating that the traffic generated by the four-building complex on the three Commerce Center lots will not exceed what would have been generated by the plans presented in 1985 at the time of subdivision.

The developer, the Midland Companies, has now presented a traffic study; however, the person who prepared it has been out of the country and unavailable to answer the city staff's questions.

Although the study purports to show an equivalence between the two plans, City Planning and Development Coordinator Celia Wilson said that this equivalence was attained by reducing the traffic generation factor for lot 3.

Attorney Richard Reed, representing the Midland Companies, said that the two buildings on lot 2 have been specifically designed for hi-tech uses. He said that these types of tenants generate fewer trips per day than general office tenants. He noted that the county recognizes lower traffic generation for hi-tech uses in industrial zones and argued that a reduced factor should also be used for hi-tech uses in commercial zones.

Wilson said that the county park and planning technical staff had reviewed the traffic study and agreed that traffic generated by the present plan will be equivalent to that of the 1985 plan if the lower hi-tech factor is accepted. However, accepting the factor is a policy question that must be made by the planning board, not by the technical staff.

However, Councilmember Joseph Isaacs noted that traffic has been the main issue for this project. He said that he was unwilling to "put the cart before the horse" by approving the plans before the city's traffic concerns are resolved. The consultant who prepared the traffic study will not be available to answer questions until the end of August.

When Reed conceded that a deferral to the next council meeting would not be a hardship, the council unanimously voted to defer.

Capital Projects Appropriation

An ordinance appropriating $215,500 for capital projects was introduced for first reading. Final action is scheduled for the September 19 regular council meeting.

The projects to be funded include resurfacing the roof of the Youth Center addition (appropriation: $16,000); installation of heat pumps and resurfacing of the flat roof at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center ($50,000); repair and resurfacing of Braden Field Tennis Courts 1 through 4 ($6,500); design and

City Invites Response To Parking Ordinance

An ordinance is being considered by the Greenbelt City Council that would limit overnight parking to vehicles less than seven feet wide and twenty-one feet long. For example, a small camper may be parked on a city street overnight, but a recreational vehicle longer than twenty-one feet may not be parked unless special permission is obtained from the Chief of Police. Trailers of all kinds are prohibited from overnight parking.

The ordinance to amend Chapter 11 of the City Code regarding "Motor Vehicles and Traffic" was introduced for first reading at the August 8 regular meeting of the Greenbelt City Council. At the next meeting, scheduled for September 19, the ordinance will be considered for second reading and final passage.

According to the proposed ordinance, only vehicles that are less than seven feet in width and twenty-one feet in length, including all protrusions, except side view mirrors, can be parked on any city street between the hours of 7 p.m. and 7 a.m., Monday through Saturday, or any time on Sundays or holidays. Vehicles that fall under the following categories may be parked during these hours: passenger vehicles, for-hire vehicles, motorcycles, and trucks, vanpool, historical and multipurpose vehicles with a one ton or less manufacturer-rated capacity. Trailers of all kinds are prohibited. Anyone who wishes to temporarily park a vehicle on a city street that is not listed in the categories above, must obtain permission from the Chief of Police.

The ordinance also allows for the parking of vehicles making deliveries or loading a vehicle, as long as the process takes no longer than three hours. Public safety or emergency vehicles may also park while on official business or on an emergency.

Persons interested in this proposal may submit their comments in writing to the City Council or in person at the September 19 meeting.

If the ordinance is passed, violations will be considered a misdemeanor and subject to a $10 fine. Anyone who has a complaint about a vehicle, should call the Police Department at 474-7200.

Bruce Bowman, Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen of 1988

by Virginia Beauchamp

"Mr. Cooperator" himself —Bruce Bowman—is this year's winner of the Outstanding Citizen of Greenbelt award. With this recognition he thus automatically became honorary Grand Marshal of the Greenbelt Labor Day parade, joining 14 predecessors for special recognition by his fellow citizens.

Bowman has described, in reminiscences during the 50th anniversary celebration, that he joined the cooperative movement before he came to Greenbelt. That's the major reason, he said, why he moved to Greenbelt. After his arrival here in October 1944, the man and the place became one in basic commitment and philosophy; and that harmony of purpose has in large part forged Greenbelt's special history. This fusing of a personal history with the history of the community is what led the Outstanding Citizen committee of the 1988 Labor Day Festival to choose Bowman for the city's most prestigious award.

In the words of Tom Renahan, committee chair, who announced this year's choice, "This extraordinary citizen has made a career of voluntary service, and he was there when Greenbelt needed him most." Among contributions which Renahan cited was Bowman's central role in the formation of the Greenbelt Veterans' Housing Corporation, the earlier name for GHI. Only through the creation of this cooperative were Greenbelt residents able to buy the town and keep the homes they had come to love, when the federal government decided to sell the community.

Later in 1957, when the local bank and the credit union were unable to provide loans essential to refinance resale of GHI homes, Bowman played a major role in the founding of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association, which permitted GHI to continue as a viable cooperative. He has served on the board of directors for both cooperatives and in 1978 was among the group of celebrants at the mortgage burning ceremony for GHI.

Bowman also served for 10 years on the board for Greenbelt Consumer Services and held leadership positions in other cooperatives. He and his wife, Ruth, were active in the cooperative nursery school and the cooperative kindergarten where Ruth also taught. Bowman later served for about 20 years in the Parent-Teachers Association, at local, county and state levels. He also served on the Greenbelt City Council.

Within both the city and the county, Bowman also took leadership in the fight for fair housing. In addition, he was a founding member of the Maryland Suburban Memorial Society, a cooperative formed to reduce the high cost of funerals. As Renahan noted, "The span and impact of his civic achievements have bridged Greenbelt's generations."

Post Office Extends Hours

Postmaster Franklin Ford this week announced the restoration of Wednesday afternoon window service and a 30 minute extension of service on Saturday mornings at the Greenbelt Post Office. Starting this Saturday, Sept. 10, the hours will be Monday - Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Most area post offices will follow the same schedule.

Prince Georges County Council member Richard Castaldi presents a big check for $190,000 to Greenbelt Mayor Gil Weidenfeld at the opening ceremonies of the Labor Day Festival. The funds, which come from the budget of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and were approved by the county council, will be used toward the renovation of the old North End School building. The North End Center, which needs extensive renovation, is expected to provide recreational opportunities for all ages. —photo by J. Henson

Police Dept. to Begin Drug Enforcement Project

by Pfc David Buerger, Greenbelt Police Department

For years, law enforcement agencies nationwide have been attacking the drug problem by addressing the supply side of the drug world. Although arrests and convictions have increased, the drug problem has reached epidemic levels. There are more drugs in society than ever before.

It is the opinion of the Greenbelt Police Department that an effort must be made to reduce the demand for drugs by educating youth about the harm caused by drugs. Towards that end, Chief James R. Craze is pleased to announce Project D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education). First implemented in Los Angeles, the program has received praise from educators, parents and students across the country. Programs are now in place in 43 of the 50 states.

The City of Greenbelt police department will be the first Maryland police agency in the Washington, D.C., Metropolitan area to implement D.A.R.E. The program will be instructed by Pfc. David Buerger, who received training in Virginia, one of four national training sites. The training was hosted by the Virginia Department of Education and the Virginia State Police.

D.A.R.E. will be taught to Greenbelt elementary school children in the sixth grade, beginning this fall. The 15-week program includes sessions on: personal safety, drug use and misuse, consequences, resisting pressure to use drugs, resistance techniques - ways to say no, building self-esteem, managing stress without taking drugs, assertiveness, media influences on drug use, decision making and risk taking, alternatives to drug abuse, taking a stand, and forming a support system.

An additional benefit of this program, along with its educational content, is that students are exposed to the officer not only as a police officer and a teacher but also as a friend. The D.A.R.E. Program allows the officer to eat lunch with the children, as well as interact with them during their recreational periods.

For further information about this educational program, contact Pfc. David Buerger at 474-7200.

Green Belters Challenge; Montgomery Allstars Win

by Jerry Conway

On Friday, Sept. 2 the Green Belters Senior Citizen Softball Team challenged the undefeated Montgomery County All Stars to a nine inning game as a kick off for the Labor Day weekend. The Green Belters surrendered by a score of 12 to 8, and we observed the All Stars taking advantage of eight walks and two errors committed by our team. We were complimented by their team as the most challenging to them this season.

Burt Kerr, Tony Pisano, Mike Burchick, Bill Grennan, Al Geiger, Tom McArdle, Larry Noel, Manny Silvern, Ed Marr, Tony Durantine, Jim McGann, George Cantwell, Hugh McEvoy and Harvey Geller all played a good game. Ken Knorr and Jerry Conway sat out this game but may play soon.

On Sept. 7 and 8 at Olney, the Green Belters will participate in the Maryland State Championship series. The first game will be played against Parkville Seniors of Baltimore County, and the second game will be played against Catonsville Seniors of Baltimore County. If we win these two games, we will play either the Olney Seniors or Dundalk Seniors for the State Championship. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday the National Senior Slow-Pitch Softball Championship series will be played against Pittsburgh, Pa., and some of our players will join the Montgomery County All Stars in this series.

September 6 was Pam Rivera's lucky day. Pam was the winner of DC101's "Pick the Song" contest. After picking "The Night Song" correctly, Pam's name was registered for the contest and then was picked as the winner. Pam will leave September 23 for 10 days in Paris, Munich, and London. While in London, she will hear Steve Wynwood in concert. Husband, David Keely will be home caring for their children Elise, 3, and Ryan, 6 mos. Congratulations, Pam!

Congratulations are also in order for Ray Skirchak, Springhill Lake's Employee of the Month. According to Ray, "I believe if I am going to do a job, then the only way is to do it right."

As an engineer, Ray is responsible for maintaining the boiler rooms and equipment that supply heat and air conditioning to the many buildings. Obviously he did an excellent job during the hot summer, for his sections didn't go a day without air conditioning.

Ray is described as showing great enthusiasm, accepting additional responsibilities, and willingly giving of his time, especially on weekends.

Congratulations to Greenbelt's swim team members who placed in the August 6 All Stars races in Cheverly. Jenny Drake took a 1st in butterfly, 2nd in backstroke, and 3rd in Individual Medley in the 15-18 age group. Losing Sight of Concept To the Editor:

I feel I must respond to the letter from Richard Striner of the Art Deco Society of Washington. Preservation of a building because its facade has some artistic value is, of course, laudable. However, if preserving the building that currently houses the Center School requires holding classes at the edge of town, the value of the building must be compared to the value of the equally historic concept that gave birth to Greenbelt.

The plan behind our community is a far greater gift to posterity, a far more sacred trust from our predecessors than any buildings which, however cute, must have been quite ordinary in 1937. What was far from ordinary was the importance attached to having the school, library, supermarket, city hall, etc. in the town center, and the ring of forest around the community. We seem to be losing sight of the importance of the whole concept. The buildings by themselves would be farcical in another setting. Any building would do in our town.

Bob Rashkin

Neat, Plausible and Wrong To the Editor:

To quote Henry Mencken: "There is always an easy solution to every human problem - neat, plausible and wrong."

Maryland is in the throes of a garbage crisis. In 1986, 66 million tons of trash were disposed in Maryland, 91% in landfills and 9% through incineration. Both techniques have major problems.

"To Dump It" or "Burn It" only is a solution that is "neat, plausible and wrong" for Maryland.

I believe the question is not whether to landfill or incinerate. Neither is the solution - recycling is.

As Mayor of Bowie, in 1970 I sponsored and helped enact the first mandatory deposit law for bottles and cans. It was immediately challenged in court. Several years later a new Bowie Mayor and Council amended the law to settle the court case and made it effective only if a regional or statewide law was enacted.

Since then, I have travelled many legislative roads in pursuing the growing menace of our "Disposable Society."

In 1988, a major breakthrough was accomplished by the enactment of a statewide recycling law.

The legislation recognizes that the state, together with counties and municipalities must consider recycling of materials as (an) alternative to the landfilling of solid waste. It requires counties to submit a recycling plan by July 1, 1990, and reduce the solid waste stream by 15% to 20%

The time is ripe for all those interested in upgrading our state's environmental quality to pursue a waste management policy that stresses mandatory recycling.

This goal will not be "easy" to achieve. It will require sacrifices and changes in our consumer habits. It will not be "neat" either, but, I believe it will be "plausible" and "right." The bottom line is - I don't believe we have any other responsible choice.

State Senator

THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of Potomac Electric Power Company, I regret the inconveniences many of our customers may have suffered during this summer's violent thunderstorms, and I thank them for their patience and understanding.

On Monday evening, August 15, the Washington metropolitan area was hit with a particularly severe thunderstorm causing widespread destruction and massive damage to PEPCO's electric system. About 75,000 customers were left without power.

Normally, storms of this magnitude strike infrequently. This summer, however, we have suffered two very severe storms within a six-week period.

In the most recent storm, hundreds of trees were uprooted onto houses, roads and power lines. Fifteen substations were knocked out of service, and it was necessary to rebuild a significant portion of our distribution system. To make the situation worse, the extremely hot weather continued during the time of service interruption.

In our efforts to restore service, more than 250 PEPCO and outside crews worked 16-hour shifts, around-the-clock. We handled more than 38,000 customer calls, but even so, many callers could not get through during the first 24 hours.

Through this difficult period, your cooperation and understanding were very encouraging to our people who worked extremely long hours under very strenuous conditions.

firmated as County Councilman Richard Castaldi, in presenting a county resolution honoring Bowman, spoke of his own gratitude for support he had received from the honoree when, as a youngster, Castaldi participated on the Greenbelt swim team.

Fourteen Nominees

At the beginning of Renahan's remarks, he said that more nominations had been received this year than in any previous year since the awards began. Thirty-one nominations were submitted, and 14 different Greenbelt citizens were named as nominees. These represented a wide variety of contributions and types of activities, as well as many different neighborhoods throughout the city.

As in past years, a variety of gifts and commendations were presented to the Outstanding Citizen of 1988—among them a U.S. Savings Bond from the C & P Telephone Company, a Greenbelt Is Great T-shirt from the Greenbelt Nursery School, a cap and a free raffle ticket from the Lions Club and complimentary meals from TGI Friday's and Jasper's. Plaques were also presented to Bowman by representatives of the governor, the state legislature, and the county and the city governments.

Members of this year's committee to choose the Outstanding Citizen included, besides Renahan, Betty Allen, Sara Bomberg, "Jeff" Chapman, Lillie Goldberg,

PLAQUE COMMEMORATES FIRST OCCUPIED HOME

"1G Gardenway - The First Home Occupied - In Greenbelt, September 30, 1937 - Pioneer Family - Julian and Hazel Ashley"

These are the words on a plaque that GHI unveiled on Labor Day at 1G Gardenway. County Councilman Richard Castaldi unveiled the plaque, which commemorates the arrival of the first family. According to Castaldi, the Julian Ashley family moved in at 4 o'clock, September 30, 1937, beating Roy Braden, the new resident manager, who moved in the next day.

Castaldi introduced Dorma Ashley Dealing from Forestville, a member of the first family, and Dorothy Groark, who has lived at 1G Gardenway since 1953. Also present were Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, councilmembers Tom White, Toni Bram and Ed Putens and Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen, Bruce Bowman. Members and GHI board members and staff were also present.

After the unveiling the guests trooped up to the GHI board room for an open house reception. On the board table were two large cakes shaped like the plaque, with the exact wording on each. That wording didn't last long because the cakes, one vanilla and the other chocolate, were soon cut into and enjoyed by those present.

WHEREAS, BRUCE BOWMAN committed himself not only to cooperative efforts but volunteered his hand and expertise whenever and wherever needed, including twenty years of active service in Parent-Teacher Associations as president on the local and county levels, as well as second vice president of the State Board; he served for many years as democratic election judge and as a member of the Greenbelt City Council from 1958 - 1961; and he worked tirelessly to achieve fair housing in the city, county and state, serving as organizer of Prince Georges County Fair Housing and as charter member and first treasurer of Suburban Maryland Fair Housing; and

WHEREAS, These services to the community and volunteer help during the past forty-four years, given without any expectation of recognition or reward, have qualified BRUCE BOWMAN many times over as OUTSTANDING CITIZEN OF GREENBELT; and this year's selection finally recognizes a citizen who exemplifies the belief and dedication of the pioneers of Greenbelt to the spirit of cooperation, and to the vision of the founders of this unique community; and, it is,

Cedar Ridge Church Moves to Roosevelt

by Steve Galanis
Cedar Ridge Community Church, a young Christian congregation, is moving to Eleanor Roosevelt High School after five and a half years in neighboring Riverdale. In essence, Cedar Ridge is composed of people with diverse religious and ethnic backgrounds who share an ardent faith in the basic tenets of Christianity.

There is a variety of ministries at Cedar Ridge directed toward children, teens, young adult singles and young families. Children's programs include Sunday School and a brief children's sermon presented each week with show and tell demonstrations, puppet skits and other creative presentations. A youth group, Parables, meets weekly for fun and fellowship. Open discussion of the needs and problems of teenagers is an important part of the group's activities. Group leaders seek to help teens find ways to handle problems.

Young adult singles and parents also meet in "growth groups" designed to help people understand the Christian message and build friendships.

Three men share the pastoral responsibilities - Brian McLaren, Bill Duncan, and Jose Torres.

The public is invited to the grand opening worship services on October 2 at Roosevelt High.

THE UNITARIAN UNIVERSALISTS ASK: WHAT ABOUT THE RELIGIOUS EDUCATION OF YOUR CHILDREN?

IF YOU AGREE THAT:

- Your children need some kind of religious education;
- They should be encouraged to approach religious ideas with an open mind and a spiritual awareness;
- They should learn to respect others' religious convictions;
- They should be concerned about human rights and justice for all;
- They should be active in helping make this world better for the less privileged, healthier for all humans, and a place of universal peace;

... then you should consider enrolling your children in a Unitarian Universalist Church School.

Council Tidbits

At its August 8 regular meeting the Greenbelt City Council:

- Saw Mayor Gil Weidenfeld present city Director of Finance and Administrative Services Casimir Prybyl the Certificate of Conformance in Financial Reporting. This is the fifth consecutive year that the city has received this award from the Government Finance Officers Association.

- Approved a request from Weidenfeld for reimbursement of expenses for the mayor, Mrs. Weidenfeld, City Manager James K. Giese and Fiftieth Anniversary Chairperson Sandra Barnes to participate in a fiftieth anniversary symposium at Greendale, Wisconsin, another of Franklin Roosevelt's green towns. Greendale will pay some, but not all, of their expenses.

- Authorized $1,818.46 as the city's contribution to the cost of the Prince Georges County Municipal Association's legislative liaison, up from last year's expenditure of $1,470. The cost is based on total city assessments.

- Accepted the resignation of Louise Kramer from the Senior Citizen Task Force.

- Accepted PRAB Report 8-88 recommending steps to improve pedestrian safety on the Youth Center Drive. The report will be discussed at the next council meeting.

- Accepted APB Report 88-18 recommending approval of plans for the entrance from Southway into the east lot of the Roosevelt Center. Council approved this plan at its last meeting subject to APB review.

- Introduced an ordinance prohibiting the overnight parking on city streets of vehicles more than 7 feet wide and 21 feet long, such as campers, trailers and trucks. Final action on this ordinance is scheduled for the September 19 meeting.

- Planned, but did not schedule, a worksession to discuss possible use of land near the North End School for senior citizen housing.

- Scheduled a public hearing on improvements to Greenbelt Lake for September 8. The improvements, based on a recently completed engineering study, are designed to improve the water quality of the lake. Council will decide upon a course of action at its September 19 meeting.

construction of a second addition to the Youth Center ($95,000); and installation of a heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC) system at the Youth Center ($48,000). This HVAC system will replace the oil furnace and hot water boiler as well as provide air conditioning for the previously uncooled gym.

Later in the meeting, council approved a preliminary plan for the Youth Center addition containing a women's locker room and a new exercise room. The current exercise room will be converted into office space. The addition is estimated to cost $67,475, plus $13,000 in architects fees.

In his written comments to council, Giese noted that the Recreation Department had suggested building a larger addition providing additional exercise space, estimated to cost $127,655 plus $19,600 in architects fees. Giese agreed that a larger addition would be "desirable" but recommended against it based on the shortfalls in the city's capital improvements budget. He also noted that the Capital Projects Budget proposes converting the outdoor bathhouse into an exercise facility, so that the larger addition may not be necessary.

Council unanimously approved Giese's recommendation to construct the smaller addition.

Arts Policy

Council planned, but did not schedule, a public hearing on the Arts Policy proposed by a task force of the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB). The policy calls on the city to establish a variety of high-quality arts opportunities, establish and maintain high-quality facilities to house arts programs, establish Greenbelt as a cultural center, help ensure "adequate and increasing funding" for arts organizations and programs, and advance policy goals through effective use of resources.

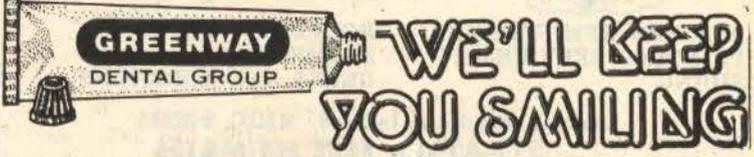

Giese, in an August 4 memo, summarized the comments of the city staff. Although the staff generally supported the recommendations of the task force, Giese said, they felt that "the report fails to adequately deal with the cost of financing the recommendations. If the objectives and strategies proposed are adopted without a commitment for the financial support required to achieve them they will be meaningless."

The most serious shortfall involves the recommendation to provide high-quality facilities for the arts, including a visual arts center at the North End Center, as well as a first-class performing arts facility. Giese said that within the capital fund priorities established by council, funds for these projects are not available.

Giese estimated the cost of establishing a 10,000 square foot visual arts center at $750,000 in capital costs, with an annual cost of $40,000. Financial support of the arts is estimated at $10,000 and staff assistance at $40,000, for a total annual cost of $90,000, plus the cost of establishing and maintaining the performing arts center. The cost of this facility was simply listed as "unknown."

Giese said that the city could probably fund the other recommendations if adopted. He estimated that implementation would require hiring one additional city employee.

"To Your Smile"

by Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

When does teething begin?

A child's deciduous ("baby") teeth usually begin to erupt at about 6 months of age. The first teeth to appear are the two lower front teeth (incisors). All twenty "baby" teeth normally are in place between age 2 and 2½. Although these are average ages, and your child may vary by a few months, you should consult your dentist if there are less than 20 teeth by age three.

Teething may make your child uncomfortable and irritable, but, it has not been shown to cause any illness. If your child shows signs of illness, consult your physician for advice. To make your child more comfortable, have him bite on a cool clean teething ring or rub the gums with your finger. Baby aspirin or other pain reliever may be helpful, but is never to be placed on teeth or gums, only swallowed according to package directions.
