Only Tempest at GEAC Candidates' Night Raged Outside Building

by James Giese

If your idea of a candidates' night is a public debate by candidates for office at which they express divergent viewpoints, attack each other's credibility and fill the air with acrimony, don't expect to find one in Greenbelt this election year. The Greenbelt East Advisory Coalition (GEAC) Candidates' Night on October 5 had to rely on Mother Nature to create a storm. The few people inside, sheltered from the heavy rains that beat against the roof, heard only quiet, polite, generally informed comments. There was very little difference in opinion expressed—not enough to separate one council candidate from another. Even the one challenger to the five incumbents, Valerie Siegel, seemed to act more like an incumbent than a challenger.

Save the Library

Candy Culhane of Green Spring asked the question that evoked the most significant response from the candidates. She noted the threat last year to close the Greenbelt Branch Library, which was prevented by a one time state grant, and noted that there was going to be another budget shortfall this year that could result in the library closing. "What steps will you take to prevent that from happening?" she asked.

The unanimous response from the six candidates present was: the library will not close—period! Mayor Antoinette Bram led off the responses. "I will do anything in my power to see that the library stays open, even if it has to become a private foundation. It will stay open." Siegel proposed that the city go to court if necessary to keep the library open, noting that there are other cost savings tactics that can be done, such as reducing hours at all libraries. It [closing the library] is unconstitutional, illegal and it cannot be done."

"To have selected closing is unconstitutional," Edward Putens said, backing up Siegel, noting that the council had been prepared to fight the closing and go to court last winter when the closing was proposed. Rodney Roberts felt that County Executive Wayne Curry was using the threat of closing as a card to play in getting relief from the county tax limitations imposed by TRIM. Thomas White pointed out that the library was an important deterrent to crime. "It's never going to go dark as far as I'm concerned," Judith Davis told Culhane.

Crime

Crime, which is the number one concern throughout the country, led the list of three questions posed by GEAC through its president, Margaret Powell of Greenbrook Village, who served as moderator. Are current police efforts successful deterrents? What other steps would you take?

Roberts was first to respond to this question. "Crime is all around us. It is not something we can instantly solve." He took special note of the bicycle patrol program that he first proposed four years ago when first elected to the council. It is now implemented and, he claims, is working. He noted that seven arrests relating to auto thefts had been made by the bicycle patrol officer in just one day in Greenbelt East. His goal is to have two bicycle patrol officers 24 hours a day in each of the city's three sectors.

Bram pointed out that one-third of the city budget goes toward public safety, and most of that money is for the police. "Every initiative that they [the police] can come up with to make the city safer is implemented." Putens noted the Beltway Plaza substation and the noise ordinance as new tools that the council had provided to the police. He advocated a city-county partnership to provide another school resource officer to serve the Eleanor Roosevelt High School cluster of schools.

Although Davis felt that citizens perceive crime to be higher than it really is, she felt that police officers needed to do a little more of getting out of their cars and off their bikes and talking to people. She also felt that more citizens needed to be crime watchers. Siegel felt that there was a need to strengthen crime deterrence efforts, which she considers a secondary function for the police who are first responsible for law enforcement. One thought for GEAC was to possibly restrict access to parking lots with gates during certain hours as a means of deterring car thefts.

Fifty Years Ago

Council Election Brouhaha

by James Giese

September, 1945—Fifteen candidates sought election to the Greenbelt Town Council. There were two slates of five and five independent candidates. The slate sponsored by the "Committee of American Voters" won. It consisted of three incumbents, George F. Bauer, Allen D. Morrison and Paul Dunbar and newcomers Joseph L. Rogers and John A. Cain. All but Cain received more than 50% of the votes cast and were immediately elected. Cain fell short and had to win a run-off election the following week against Sherrod East, a member of the "Reform" slate and a member of the first town council back in 1937. (After a runoff election between Richard Pilski, who won, and Clifford Simonson was held in 1965, the city charter was amended to require winning candidates to achieve 40% of the vote, instead of 50%, in order not to be forced to face a run-off election, and there have been no run-off elections since then.)

Two issues created turmoil that exploded into fisticuffs at a candidate's night meeting sponsored by the Citizen's Association. The first was a charge that elected officials had been consulted more than a year before about the prospects of Greenbelt being sold to its tenants and had said nothing about it to the tenants until it came out during the election campaign. The other was that one of the "reform" candidates, Walter Volckhausen, who had served on the second council, was a conscientious objector who had refused to accept a Navy Commission to teach math.

The candidate's night meeting began to get out of order when James Flynn took the floor and asked Volckhausen if he would take the oath of allegiance if he were inducted, according to the

by James Giese

A resolution submitted by five members of the Prince Georges County Board of Education was to be given a first reading at the Board's Oct. 12 meeting. According to School Boardmember Suzanne Plogman, the resolution is to initiate action to bring about the end of involuntary school busing. It is scheduled for second reading on October 26.

Previously, the Board had indicated it would not seek to end involuntary busing until funding was assured to provide the needed school facilities to house the neighborhood children. However, both Governor Parris Glendening and County Executive Wayne Curry, facing ongoing fiscal crises, have indicated that they cannot commit the funds sought. In light of this, Plogman says that she and other boardmembers believe it to be their responsibility to take the next step.

The resolution would modify the current desegregation plan for the county so that all students could be assigned to their neighborhood schools once space becomes available, subject to court approval. About 12,000 to 13,000 students are currently subjected to involuntary busing, according to Plogman. Involuntary busing is that provided to achieve racial balance in classrooms and not the busing provided to enable children to go to voluntarily chosen magnet schools.

An Invitation to Our Readers

We invite our readers to submit pictures for possible publication in the News Review. Pictures should be of general public interest, and should be of relatively high contrast (so that they reproduce well in black and white). Please include the name of the person who took the picture, along with adequate information for a photo caption (names of anyone pictured, the location or event involved, etc.) Please also include an evening phone number, in case we have any questions.

We are pleased to be able to invite more of our readers to participate in the News Review in this manner.

Letters to the Editor

Reminder

Readers are reminded of News Review policy with respect to printing of campaign and election material. In its last edition preceding an election the newspaper will not publish letters to the editor and similar materials that inject for the first time, controversial issues and charges. Last minute introduction of such material without an opportunity for refutation is considered an unfair campaign practice.

The News Review will not print letters of endorsement.

Letters to the editor and other copy on election issues must be submitted by 9 p.m. Tuesday evening, so as to give the editorial board sufficient time to review content.

Thanks

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department would like to thank residents, friends, and neighbors for a very, very successful bull and crab feast held at the firehouse on September 23. The SELLOUT was due to a lot of cooperation, hard work, and YOU — Greenbelt. A very big thank you.

Join a park ranger in Greenbelt Park for a morning fitness hike every Monday and Wednesday in October. Meet at the campground entrance at 9 a.m.

County Recruiting Firefighters, EMTs

Men and women interested in training as Emergency Medical Technicians and Fire Fighters should call Walter Woo at 699-JOIN. These volunteer opportunities are available at fire stations around Prince Georges County and a schedule can be arranged to fit a volunteer's needs.

Hazardous Waste Collection Day Set

The P.G. County Office of Recycling is sponsoring a Household Hazardous Collection Day on Sunday, October 22 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School from 8 am-3 p.m.

The following materials are accepted: oil-based paint, fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides, paint solvents and thinners, photographic chemicals, pool chemicals, car batteries and other corrosive, poisonous or toxic chemicals. Bring substances in the original containers. Discarding hazardous items in the regular trash is dangerous and bad for the environment.

Materials not accepted include latex paint and commercial chemicals. Latex paint is not hazardous and can be placed with the regular trash. For a complete list, or more information about hazardous waste, contact Prince Georges County at 883-5045.

Breathless

Hi - just a little note from a fellow Greenbelter who lives in East Greenbelt.

Traveling on Southway from Greenbelt Road to Historical Greenbelt takes my breath away. The reason. The flower beds. They are unbelievable. Who plants and organizes this spectacular array of plant variety and color? Many thanks to the person(s), group or agency in charge of this. Please bring these flower beds to the attention of our citizens once again before the cold weather gets here.

Beautification Awards Won by Greenbelters

The Prince Georges County Beautification Committee handed out its annual awards on September 27. Greenbelt winners included three homes, a condominium association, an office park and a shopping center. Allie and Adele Lee of Empire Place received an award for the third year for superior sustained maintenance of their yard. Second year winners for superior sustained maintenance were Imogene Byerly of Ridge Road and the Greenbriar Condominium Association. First year winners were David and Ruth Reuben of Ridge Road. The Beltway Plaza received a Judge's Recognition Award for its shopping center. This year there were 107 entries and 66 winners.

Principal of the Year Award to Boarman

More kudos have come the way of Dr. Gerald Boarman, principal of Eleanor Roosevelt High School, who received a $25,000 National Educator Award from the Milken Family Foundation on Sept. 6. Boarman has just been named Maryland Principal of the Year by the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals (MASSP).

The award was based on Boarman's "willingness to take risks to help students, ability to anticipate and solve problems, and success in improving the schools's learning environment."

Said Sue Ann Tabler, executive director of MASSP, "Gerald Boarman is a creative instruction leader who works hard every day for every student who comes to Eleanor Roosevelt High School. He has been recognized by many organizations as an outstanding principal who makes students his number one priority."

Boarman stated that "the greatest challenge facing education is meeting the social and intellectual needs of students who have diverse backgrounds. In order to accomplish this, communities must become partners in the process. Passive concern about education must give way to vocal support and action that will benefit all of our children."

Bird Walk on Sunday

The Wild Bird Center holds a birdwalk the third Sunday of every month. Meet at the Glenn Dale Wild Bird Center at 7 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 15, and return to the store by 11:30 a.m. Although the walks are free, reservations are needed. Call (301) 805-4858.

The Citizens for Greenbelt Inc. and the Greenbelt Greens are jointly sponsoring a Meet the Candidates forum at the City Council chambers on Tuesday, October 17th at 8:00 PM.

Historian To Speak About Greenbelt

The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum (FOGM) is sponsoring a program, "Is Greenbelt Really Great? An Historian's View," on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 7:30 p.m., at the Greenbelt Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Rd.

The speaker is Dr. Cathy Knepper, an historian who has written a number of papers on Greenbelt and the New Deal. Dr. Knepper will speak on the original goals and ideals that went into the formation of Greenbelt, focusing on how they have changed over the past 50 years. FOGM is pleased to sponsor this event on the occasion of Greenbelt's 58th anniversary.

Cathy Knepper received her Ph.D. from the University of Maryland's Department of American Studies. Her dissertation is entitled "The Gospel According to Greenbelt: Community Life in Greenbelt, Maryland, 1935-1990." She is the recipient of the Carl Bode Dissertation Award for the Best Dissertation in American Studies, 1992-1993, and also is past recipient of the Beek-Levy Research Fellowship, at the Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt Institute, Hyde Park, N.Y.

The program is free. For additional information, contact Sandra Lange at 577-3686 or the Greenbelt Museum at 474-1936.

Poet's Talk

Daniel Mark Epstein, a Maryland poet with national renown, will read some of his work as guest at the "Poetry Plus" discussion this Saturday, October 14, 10:30 a.m. at the Greenbelt branch library, 11 Crescent Road. The program is co-sponsored by the Prince Georges County Memorial Library System and the Friends of Greenbelt Library.

An assistant professor at Johns Hopkins University and a leader of the Baltimore Theatre Project and the Baltimore Poet's Theatre, Epstein has received numerous literary awards and a Woodrow Wilson fellowship. The latest of his many publications is "The Boy in the Well and Other Poems" (Overlook Press, 1995).

For more information, contact Lucy Duff or Tom Simon at 345-5800.

Lakeside Picnic

The Lakeside Citizens' Association will hold its annual meeting and pot-luck picnic from 1-4 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 15, in Maplewood Circle. The business meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m., and will include the election of officers and a discussion of issues which are of interest to the neighborhood. For further information, call Joanne Tucker at 474-7212.

Golden Age Club

by Dolores Capotosto

Those members who were present at the business meeting of October 4 could readily see what a busy group we will be this Fall. Renee Baldi, from the University of Maryland, will be the guest speaker on October 18. She is doing research in memory in the older adult. Since the October B-days will be celebrated along with Halloween, there was a Show-and-Tell at the meeting of October 11.

How nice it is that Florence Holly continues to lead our meeting openings with such inspiring words, poems and prayers. Thanks Florence.

It's early, but we encourage members to be thinking about our Great Oaks Christmas Project. Perhaps we can adopt a cottage and give Christmas things for those patients in that cottage.

Shep Odem and Irv Siegel will work together to draft a letter to be presented to our elected officials, denoting our concern about Medicare.

Jim Maher reports that he is preparing our future trips and they sound wonderful. Don't overdo it, Jim. Sign-up sheets are available for our trip to Luray Caverns on October 25; and for the November trip to Easton and Oxford, on the Eastern Shore. See you at the meetings.

At the Library

On Wednesday, Oct. 18, P.J. Storytime for ages 4 to 6 beginning at 7 p.m. Also on Wednesday, Adult Book Discussion, at 2 p.m. featuring Betty Friedan's "The Fountain of Age."

Drop-In Storytime for ages 3 to 5 on Thursday, Oct. 19, beginning at 10:15 a.m. Also, Tickly Toddle Storytime for age 2 & parent beginning at 11:15 a.m. Space is limited and registration is required.

For more information, contact the library at 345-5800.

GIVES

An orientation for GIVES participants and other interested persons will be held at the Youth Center on Thursday, October 19 at 11 a.m. or Saturday, October 21 at 10 a.m. at the Aquatic Center.

Greenbelt Intergenerational Volunteer Exchange Service is a cooperative means to enable the disabled to remain independent as long as possible. To respond or for further information, call Janet Parker at 474-6668.

Early Riser Walk

On Sunday, Oct. 15, there will be an early morning walk through Greenbelt Park starting at 8 a.m. Meet at the Dogwood trail parking lot.

Community Events

Gray Panthers Meet

The Greenbelt Gray Panthers will hold an open meeting on Saturday, October 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the conference room of the Greenbelt Police Station. Kurt Walter, an area resident, will survey an aspect of the book, "Rethinking America" by Hedrick Smith.

Walter will compare business goals of American corporations with those in Japan and how they are achieved. A discussion of other aspects of "Rethinking America" will follow.

The public is invited to attend, participate and to learn, also, about the Gray Panthers, an intergenerational organization.

Refreshments will be served. In the spirit of ecology the Gray Panthers ask that attendees bring their own cups. For rides or further information call 474-6890 or 474-6668.

Citizens for Greenbelt Candidates Forum

The Citizens for Greenbelt, Inc. and the Greenbelt Greens are jointly sponsoring a Meet the Candidates forum at the City Council chambers on Tuesday, October 17 at 8 p.m. All Candidates for the City Council will answer three questions sent to them dealing with development around Beltsville Agricultural Research Center and transportation issues, effects of tax revenue loss on city projects and their position on development projects in Greenbelt East. Questions will be taken from the floor and refreshments will be served.

Fun at Goddard

There will be a star watch on Saturday, October 14 from 7-9 p.m. Come view the autumn sky. Bring binoculars or telescope and telescopes are available. Rain date is Saturday, October 21.

Also on Saturday will be two videos in honor of the 113 years since the birth of Dr. Robert Goddard. Videos start at 1 p.m. and last about 30 minutes.

On Sunday October 15 at 1 p.m. there will be a model rocket launch. Bring a rocket or come out and watch others. All launches are monitored for safety and are held weather permitting. For information call 286-8981.

Recreation Review

The first Greenbelt Recreation Department G.L.A.D. (Greenbelt Recreation and Activity Days) took place October 4. Those who missed it, missed out on an action packed supervised day on a scheduled school holiday. The fun continues, for kids 6-12, Friday, October 27. They will be taking a tour of Oriole Park at Camden Yards and enjoying an afternoon at a farm in Howard County. The farm features a hay-ride and a visit to the pumpkin patch. It's not too late to get in on the action and be GLAD you're out of school for the day! For additional information contact the Recreation Business Office at 397-2200.

Chess Club

The Greenbelt Recreation Department is interested in starting a chess club. All ages and all ability levels are welcome. Sound like fun? . . . A new challenge? . . . A good workout for your brain? Call the Recreation Business Department for additional information - 397-2200.

Transportation Vision At Democratic Club

The Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club will meet on Friday, October 20 at 8 p.m. at Greenbriar. Karen Smith, of the Council of Governments, will be the featured speaker. She will describe the "Getting There Project: a Long Range Transportation Vision Plan for the Washington/Metropolitan area."

The public is invited. Light refreshments in keeping with the season will be served. For information call 474-6668 or 474-1052.

Greenbelt Snakes

Join a park ranger for a demonstration and discussion on snakes found in Greenbelt Park. Meet at park headquarters on Sunday, October 15 at 4 p.m.

Exploring Ghostly Tales And Legends

On Friday, Oct. 20, "Explorations Unlimited" will once again be introducing Dr. Bill Fry from Prince Georges Community College's English Department. In preparation for Halloween, Dr. Fry will be taking the participants on an "exploration" of ghostly tales and legends of the Washington, D.C. and Prince Georges areas. He will be sharing some important ghostly tales relating to the White House and Octagon as well as local tales generating from Prince Georges County. Participants are encouraged to bring their own stories and share them with the group.

"Explorations Unlimited" is a speaker series held every Friday from 1-3 p.m. at the Youth Center. Everyone is welcome to attend and questions are always encouraged. For more information call 397-2200.

Donation Drop-Off

The monthly "Donation Drop-Off" will take place on Saturday, Oct. 14 from 9 a.m. - noon behind the Municipal Building. Residents may bring used clothing for all ages (clean and preferably seasonal) and small household items (curtains, pictures, toaster ovens, and utensils) to the American Rescue Workers truck. Receipts will be issued upon request. Donations are tax-deductible. For more information or to arrange for pick-up of large items (furniture, mattresses), call ARW 336-6200 or the Recycling Coordinator at 474-8308.

Americorps Seeks Adult Volunteers

Volunteer Maryland!, an Americorps National Service Program, is looking for hardworking, motivated adults of any age who want to commit a year to service. The service year includes extensive training, a stipend and a post-service benefit for education.

AmeriCorps members are matched with not-for-profit organizations throughout Maryland that deal with issues in education, human welfare, public safety and the environment. AmeriCorps members work to build strong volunteer programs, enabling more Marylanders to serve their communities.

They receive training in management, leadership development, community organization and team building.

For more information and to RSVP for an Information session, call Volunteer Maryland! at (410) 514-7270.

Tour Gardens

Join a National Arboretum volunteer guide for a leisurely walking tour of the gardens and collections surrounding the Administration Building. Stroll through the Friendship Garden, National Herb Garden and the National Bonsai & Penjing Museum and learn the interesting landscape plants that would provide fall interest in a home garden. The tour will take place on Sunday, October 15 at 1:30 p.m. Meet in front of Arbor House. Reservations are not required and it will be canceled if raining. For questions phone (202) 245-2726.

The National Arboretum is located in Northeast Washington and is open daily, except December 25, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The main visitor's entrance is located on New York Avenue, Northeast. Enter from the service lane. Another entrance is located at the end of R Street, Northeast, off of Bladensburg Road. Telephone (202) 245-2726.

Rotary Hosts DARE Fun Walk/10k Run

The combined Rotary Clubs of Prince Georges County will host a 10K race and a 1-mile "Fun Run/Walk" at the University of Maryland at College Park on Saturday, Nov. 4, at 8:30 a.m., with part of the proceeds benefiting the school system's D.A.R.E. program. The Club will be working in conjunction with the county school system and the county police department.

Part of the proceeds from this year's 10K race and the 1-mile "Fun Run/Walk" will benefit the highly successful Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program in the county school system, a program linking elementary school students with county police officers to learn the dangers of drug use and ways to effectively "say no" to drugs and violence.

The event, which will include cash awards for top finishers, free T-shirts for all participants, and random prizes and gifts, represents the combined efforts of the Greenbelt, Southern Prince Georges County, Langley Park, Bladensburg, and College Park Rotary Clubs.

For more information on how to enter, contact John Rogers of the Greenbelt Rotary Club at (301) 262-5046 or Bernard Rouse of the Prince Georges County Running Club (301) 935-4928. There is a fee. Entries postmarked by Oct. 21 will be discounted.

Chrysanthemum Show

The Potomac Chrysanthemum Society will hold its annual show at the National Arboretum on Saturday and Sunday, October 21 and 22, from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. This is a standard flower show with large disbudded blooms and smaller blooms from garden cultivars. There will also be a design section "Mums in Arts and Crafts." The show will be held in the Administration Building auditorium.

Math Hotline Returns

Count on Us, the popular mathematics homework hotline, has returned to Cable Channel 12 for the 1995-96 school year.

Students may call in math questions and, on a live broadcast, both see and hear mathematics teachers assist them with their problems on television.

Each program includes a mathematics mini-lesson as a "commercial" break. There are also warm-up problems and prizes.

Count on Us, which will air live over Cable Channel 12 every Wednesday afternoon from October through May during the school year, is designed to help students experience success in mathematics as well as to help them to enjoy and appreciate the subject matter.

The program is produced by the Board of Education's Office of Television Resources. For more information, contact (301) 386-1619.

College Night '95

College Night '95 will be held Monday, October 23, and Tuesday, October 24, 7-9 p.m., at the Oxon Hill Library, 6200 Oxon Hill Rd., Oxon Hill. Representatives from over 65 colleges, universities, and trade schools, plus branches of the armed forces, will be on hand to talk about academic requirements, financial assistance, scholastic tests, and more. For information on College Night '95, call the Oxon Hill Library at 301-839-2400.

Aquatic Escapade

Discover the connection between the health of local aquatic ecosystems and human activities at a program at the Patuxent Research Refuge - North Tract on Wednesday, Oct. 18, from 7 - 8 p.m. This program is for ages 8 and older. Part I will be a 30-minute slide presentation. Part II will be on Sunday, Oct. 22, from 1-4 p.m., when knowledge of watersheds and ecology is put to work cleaning up the Little Patuxent. Wear work clothes.

Advanced registration is required for all programs. For more information, or to register, call 410-674-3304. Programs are held at the North Tract Visitor Contact Station, Bald Eagle Drive, Laurel (off Rt. 198 between BW Parkway and Rt. 32).

Know the Clouds

Come to Greenbelt Park and learn to identify different types of clouds and what these clouds reveal about the weather. This is an evening slide presentation on Saturday, Oct. 14. Meet at the campfire circle at 7 p.m.

Tour Follows John Wilkes Booth Flight

The Flight of John Wilkes Booth: Southern Maryland at the War's End," is the title of the tour sponsored by the Humanities Resource Center of Prince Georges Community College as part of a continuing series, "Blue Upon Gray: Maryland and the Civil War."

The tour will be given on Saturday, Oct. 28. It departs from the college at 7:30 a.m. and returns at 7 p.m. A fee includes bus transportation, lunch and admission to several exhibits.

The tour follows Booth's escape route from Ford's Theatre. It includes stops at the Mary Surratt House and the residence of Dr. Samuel Mudd, who treated Booth's broken leg.

Leading the tour will be Joseph Citro, associate director of the Humanities Resource Center, and Michael W. Kauffman, an authority on Booth and the assassination.

For reservations or more information, call (301) 322-0600.

Our Neighbors

by Linda Savaryn
474-5285

Linda Curtis of Mandan Road is again hosting a foreign exchange student for the year. Her name is Aude (pronounced "ode") Havert and she hails from St. Sulpice, a French province in Switzerland. A junior at ERHS, Aude is an accomplished cellist, having played with a symphony in Switzerland. She has only been here four weeks, but has already caught the community spirit. She volunteers in several Greenbriar Activities. At the Labor Day Festival she was helping at the Cultural Arts Center food booth. She entered three photos in the photography contest, one of which won first place in the landscape category. Aude is eager to hear from other teens, so give her a buzz at 474-5905.

Jonathan Maffay and wife Isabel recently moved to Morgantown, W.V. where Jonathan is teaching at the University of West Virginia. They encourage friends to visit.

Ben R. Lambert, a senior at Montgomery Blair High School, is a National Merit Semifinalist. He is one of 1500 nationwide so designated because of their PSAT scores and academic grades. Ben is the oldest grandson of Helen and Harvey Geller, long time residents on Northway. He is the son of Barbara and Ronald Lambert of Takoma Park. Barbara and Ronald, who grew up in Greenbelt and Berwyn heights respectively, are graduates of High Point High School and Valpariso University.

Navy Seaman Recruit Quincy S. Berry, son of Vivea M. Berry of Breezewood Court recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

Quincy is a 1995 graduate of Tall Oaks High School of Bowie.

Barbara and Larry Wildoner announce the birth of their daughter, Jodi Leigh Wildoner, on September 23. Jodi joins sisters Nicole and Amanda. Her grandparents are Pat and Bill Hand and Marge and Al Wildoner, all of Greenbelt.

Civic activist Eunice Coxon was surprised last week when she opened her door and found former postmaster Emory Harman on her doorstep holding a proclamation. The resolution, which saluted Coxon for receiving the Prince Georges Civic Federation award as a tribute to her tireless efforts, was signed by Senators Mike Miller and Leo Green. Harman read the document aloud and then extended his personal congratulations.

University Chorale Plans Fall Concert

On Friday evening, October 20 at 8 p.m., the Department of Music at the University of Maryland College Park is pleased to present the University Chorale Fall Concert in the Ulrich Recital Hall of the Tawes Fine Arts Building. Traditional choral music featuring the Zigeunerlieder of Brahms; motets by Rene' Clausen, Haydn, and Palestrina as well as traditional spirituals will be performed. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend. For information call (301) 405-1150.

Piano Recital

The Department of Music at the University of Maryland at College Park will present internationally renowned pianist and professor of music from the Conservatorio S. Cecilia in Rome, Giuseppe Scotese, in recital on Tuesday, October 17 at 8 p.m., in the Ulrich Recital Hall of the Tawes Fine Arts Building. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend. For information call (301) 405-1150.

Free Ice Skating

The public is invited to start the season with a free skate during the seventh annual open house of the Herbert Wells Ice Rink on Saturday, Oct. 21. The facility is located at 5211 Paint Branch Parkway (formerly Calvert Road). Free skating will be offered from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The open house will include a hockey equipment sale and swap meet from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; skating demonstrations from 12:45 to 1:15 p.m.; and information on lessons and programs throughout the day.

For further information or to reserve a table for the swap meet, call (301) 277-3717; TTY (301) 249-4252.

Volunteers Needed For Used Book Sale

Davis Memorial Goodwill Industries is recruiting volunteers to restock tables, rearrange books and serve as cashiers at its 25th Annual Used Book Sale Nov. 16-21 at the Washington Convention Center. Over 100,000 books, CDs, stamps and pieces of artwork will be sold during the sale. Proceeds benefit Goodwill's job training and placement programs for people with disabilities and other special needs. Flexible schedules are available. Call 202/636-4225, ext. 1255 to volunteer or for more information.

A Cappella Concert

There will be an a cappella concert on Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the University of Maryland in the Memorial Chapel. Several student a cappella choruses will be featured. Call 314-9866 for updated information.

Depriest Completes Walk for Diabetes

On October 1, Mary Depriest and Beau (Centre Video's canine mascot) walked 12K in the Walktoberfest for Diabetes. Centre video's patrons pledged $200 and the store's management matched the largest donation of $50 given by SHW Contractors. All of the funds were presented to the American Diabetes Association.

Over 300 walkers participated. Mary reported that Beau walked almost the entire distance, except for when he was carried a few blocks. Centre Video's Beau also served as the mascot for the entire walk.

Centre Video thanks their customers and friends for their generous donations. Those who have not yet met their pledge should bring it to the store before October 25. Checks should be tendered to Centre Video. The store has donated the pledged money to the American Diabetes Association.

Volunteers Needed

A wide variety of volunteer opportunities are available for people interested in working for the American Cancer Society. They are seeking special projects volunteers, speakers, people to assist with fundraisers, and individuals interested in driving patients to doctor appointments. Job opportunities are located all around the Prince Georges County area. Call at 699-2800.

City Notes

The city has obtained a hydraulic hose-making machine free of charge from its manufacturer. This machine will save a tremendous amount of time and money, while reducing equipment down time. The hose assembling machine will enable replacement hoses to be immediately assembled after hoses fail on snow removal equipment.

City refuse collection at the Green Spring II community commenced on October 2.

Reunion Planned

DuVal High School classes of 1965 and 1966 are planning to hold their 30th year reunion during the weekend of October 27-29. Anyone who has not been notified, and would like to attend, please call Charlie or Wally Weaver at 301-855-7282. Anyone who is unable to attend and would like to be included in the class directory, please call for fact sheet to be mailed.

Girls and Boys Club Fall Activities

By Kathy Sciannella

It has been an exciting September for the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club (GBGC) with soccer and football beginning their seasons. The football teams after many weeks of hard practices, started league play on September 16. The soccer teams began their season on September 9. Games for both football and soccer are taking place each Saturday at Schrom Hills Park and it's exciting to watch the players develop their skills and play their hearts out. Our cheerleading squad has also begun practicing as they prepare for a competition to take place at Adventure World this month.

GBGC will begin registration for basketball and winter cheerleading at the end of October. Dates will be announced. We are currently recruiting basketball coaches for the 1995-1996 season. If you are interested in coaching, please contact Ava Ramey at 220-0942. Our basketball program is for both boys and girls, ages 6 through 16. We offer both county and intramural leagues.

For up-to-the-minute information on Club activities, call our Voice Mail anytime at 202-310-1066.

School Board

There are some big "ifs" to the resolution that may make it as infeasible as the unfunded desegregation plan. Any school returning to neighborhood school status would have to be funded at the level designated in the board's desegregation plan and have space available for the children-space that Plogman says is not available until new schools and more classrooms are built. In other words, the money that is not presently forthcoming is still needed before students could be assigned to neighborhood schools.

The resolution also requires the superintendent of schools, the Chairman of the Desegregation Committee, appropriate staff and board counsel to consult with the plaintiffs in the desegregation litigation concerning the proposed modification. Plogman advises that this will enable the superintendent to meet with the plaintiffs and establish a dialogue. Plogman believes that it all boils down

Community Colleges Receive NSF Grant

Prince Georges Community College is the lead institution in a coalition of 12 community colleges that has received an award of $695,000 from the National Science Foundation.

The grant will provide faculty enhancement workshops in three advanced technologies: image processing, remote sensing, and geographic information systems. The technologies will enable faculty and students to do such things as collect data from satellites and analyze the data using sophisticated computer software.

The consortium of colleges is Community Colleges for Innovative Technology Transfer, Inc. or CCITT. Each school is affiliated with a local center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

to the plaintiffs and judge agreeing to the plan to end bus-ing. "It won't do any good to get in an acrimonious situation with this and fight them," she said.

"This grant builds on a history of prior collaboration among CCITT colleges," said Project Director Patricia Cunniff, head of the Science and Technology Resource Center at PGCC. Through the grant, PGCC will offer courses in geographic information systems starting in the spring 1996 semester.

NASA has agreed to support the project through faculty development workshops at Goddard Space Flight Center. In addition, NASA's Ames Research center in California will help with the development of a center for image processing on the Foothill College campus.

"NASA headquarters and the local centers view this award as an opportunity to share NASA expertise and resources to strengthen community colleges across the country," said Frank Owens, director of the Education Division at NASA headquarters in Washington, D.C.

For more information, call Dr. Patricia Cunniff, (301) 322-0432.

OFFICIAL NOTICE ABSENTEE VOTING

Municipal Election - November 7, 1995

Any qualified elector who would be prevented from voting in the municipal election by reason of religious beliefs, physical condition, or absence from the city on the day of election is entitled to vote by absentee ballot.

- (1) Letters of application for absentee ballots may be written to the City Clerk, stating why an absentee ballot is needed: if more than one ballot is needed, the letter must be signed by all persons wanting a ballot; or
- (2) Application forms may be obtained in the City Clerk's office in the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road.

Applications to vote by absentee ballot will be accepted from Wednesday, October 18th, until noon Monday, November 6, 1995. The completed absentee ballot must be returned to the City Clerk no later than 6:00 p.m. the day of the regular election, Tuesday, November 7th.

Electors may complete their absentee ballot at the City Clerk's office at the time they present their written applications, if they wish.

For information, please call 474-8000 or 474-3870.

IF YOUR JOB SUDDENLY BECOMES A PAIN IN THE CHEST, SEE US IMMEDIATELY.

It could be a vise-like pressure on your ribs. A prolonged burning sensation in your chest. Shooting pains in your arms. Blurred vision.

The warning signs of a possible heart attack could appear at work.

While you sleep. At dinner. Anytime.

That's when you should make haste to the Chest Pain Evaluation Center at Doctors Community Hospital, located nearby, at 8118 Good Luck Road in Lanham.

The Chest Pain Evaluation Center offers a quiet, soothing setting where we combine the immediate response of our Emergency Room with the expertise of top-notch cardiology professionals to bring quick diagnosis and treatment in the crucial first hour of a possible heart attack. And in most cases, you'll be able to go home the same day.

Yet if it is serious, you can rest assured that the Chest Pain

Evaluation Center is just a part of Doctors Community Hospital's comprehensive Cardiac Care

Program - a program so successful that more patients rely on it than any other in our area.

Your neighbors rely on us.

And you should, too.

Especially if you're experiencing something that feels like more than just a pain in the neck.

Fifty Years Ago War Souvenirs

by James Giese

June, 1945—Jonnie Cohen of 73-C Ridge was the envy of the neighborhood boys each time he got a package from his dad. Major Reuben Cohen, stationed with a hospital unit in Barle-Duc, France has sent his son a wide variety of war souvenirs which are displayed to the gang and for which numerous trade offers are received.

Largest and most spectacular of the treasures is the khaki nylon German parachute. Only one small section was damaged by the bullet that brought it down. A piece of bright red nylon, a small part of a larger supply parachute, was also received and has been earmarked for the family sewing machine.

Other souvenirs include a French Officer's cap, a heavy black German paratrooper's helmet, a collection of empty shells in a German ammunition box, all sorts of arm bands including a red one bearing the swastika, a variety of European coins and a German pocket knife. Both Jonnie and his mother received real wooden shoes, and Jonnie received clever French coloring books.

Mrs. Marjorie Cohen also received many souvenirs. Some of her most prized are a black Wedgewood vase, handmade Belgian laces, Guerlain toiletries, kid gloves from Paris, tiny antique salt spoons and an old gold locket. For Mother's Day she received pressed flowers from Bar-le-Duc which she made into a flower print for the living room wall. She has also added four majolica plates to her collection.

Major Cohen, a lawyer before entering service, had been overseas for 18 months. Two prize family snapshots show the Major taking tea with the Dowager Queen Mary and members of an English hospital staff at her palace.

Election

Greenbelt Cooperator. The candidate replied that his stand as a conscientious objector would have prevented him from taking orders from anyone which went against the dictates of his conscience. Flynn, pursued the line of questioning, asking Volckhausen if he admitted to being a communist, to which he replied that he had been investigated by the FBI and cleared of any suspicion of being connected with the communist movement.

Flynn went on with his questioning despite repeated requests that he yield the floor. Finally, Irving Rothschild hurled the accusation of "Fascist" at Flynn, according to the news account, at which point Flynn struck at Rothschild, splintering his glasses against his face. After the two were separated, C.P.O. Frank Desmond continued the interrogation, accusing Volckhausen of opposition to the constitution, to which the candidate attempted to respond that his views were protected by the constitution. According to the paper, the meeting was taken over by Volckhausen's hecklers. The chair being unable to restore order, the majority of the audience got up and walked out.

In a letter to the editor, Rothschild declared that the meeting had "undersmells that bear a strong resemblance to certain political concepts against which we have been at war for the past four years." Nathan Shine decried that, "Fourteen men and women who sought the confidence of their fellow citizens sat abashed, and did not raise a single voice when a fundamental human right was under attack." Donald H. Cooper and Anne Hull also wrote letters criticizing the attack on Volckhausen and the paper published a letter previously written by Reverend Robert L. Kincheloe, formerly Pastor of the Greenbelt Community Church, which had been written to the Selective Service Commission and attested to Volckhausen's sincerity in his convictions.

In a front page editorial, the Cooperator declared that once more the town was "in the public eye 'in trouble again.'" It went on to say that, "the most striking aspect of the event was the utter absence of any spirit of fair play or any desire to abide by the rules, and the most effective protest the audience could have made to the exhibition...was the one it used of walking out."

After the election, the paper defended its actions in another editorial: "The newspaper has been accused of partisan politics during the election. As individuals, the editor and staff claim a right to their own opinions. We wish to state for the record, however, that we refused no advertisement or letter to the editor from any candidate. Our news articles have been accurate and unbiased ... It is an editor's privilege to color editorials with his or her own convictions, however. It constitutes a right that any newspaper worthy of the name will fight for."

(Although Volckhausen was not elected to the City Council, he was elected to the Greenbelt Consumer Services Board of Directors shortly thereafter.)

Officers Elected for Museum Group

by Sandra Lange

The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum elected five incumbents and one new person to the Board of Directors at its annual meeting on September 21. Re-elected were Barbara Havekost, Sandra Lange, Anne Meglis, Judi Nichols and Linda Warner. The new member is Ginger Crocket, a former museum intern. She is currently obtaining her masters' degree in museum studies from George Washington University.

Following the meeting, the board elected its officers for the coming year: Sandra Lange, president; Mary Linstrom, vice president; Lee Shields, secretary; Dorothy White, treasurer.

Former president Lee Shields noted that more children are visiting the Museum than had been anticipated. He stated that FOGM needed to work on more ways to interest children and interpret Greenbelt's history with them.

Shields commented on the accomplishments of FOGM over the year. These include expanding the audience learning about the museum over the world wide web, working with three interns, and "learning what a professional curator can do for us and with us."

The museum curator, Ann Denkler, works eight hours per week. With the help of a fellowship and other grants, she will be expanding her work with FOGM to three days per week.

Other major accomplishments over the year include:

- Painting the first floor and the exterior of the Museum;
- Inventorying, preserving, interpreting the collection;
- Mounting two special exhibits, one on dolls and one on women's hats;
- Fundraising through participation in Greenbelt's Rotary Club "Roast" and two flea markets;
- Receiving a grant of $5,023 by the Maryland Humanities Council to develop an exhibit and lecture series on "Images and Voices of Greenbelt";
- Receiving a grant of $5,000 by the Gilbert and Jaylee Mead Family Foundation to commission a play about Greenbelt to be performed by the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center;
- Being awarded a Smithsonian Institution fellowship in museum practices for Ann Denkler to design and test a major exhibit on domestic technology for the Community Center;
- Being awarded $1,975 by the American Association of Museums to assess Museum programs with the aid of an outside consultant.

800 Visitors

Over 800 visitors toured the Greenbelt Museum in the past year. While most were from Greenbelt, others came from 23 states and six foreign countries including a group of 26 people from Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan. Volunteers donated over 1,600 hours of time working as tour guides and on other museum business such as writing grants. FOGM has 156 paid members representing 219 persons.

In the coming year FOGM will be expanding into the Community Center. A new office will be established in the Community Center and space will be available for storage and preservation of archival materials. A new exhibit space is planned for the first floor Visitors' Center. The interns will be finishing the accessioning of the objects on the second floor of the Museum and two new exhibits are being planned. Linking the Community Center with the Museum is another major project to begin soon.

Country Dance Class Canceled

Due to the lack of attendance, the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department country dance classes have been discontinued.

To those who participated, a huge thank you. It was a fun, learning experience thanks to Instructor Faith Hines.

City Notes

The Public works crews continued preparing for winter - snow plows were installed on four more trucks, salt spreaders were installed on two more trucks and snow equipment repair parts ordered December 1994 were received.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources stocked the lake at Buddy Attick Park with about 700 rainbow trout. The fish are all about twelve inches - legal size to catch.

Crews inspected the condition of the posted campaign signs and removed unauthorized yard sale signs from city rights-of-way.

They also worked at the police gun range, including hooking up phone lines.

RE-ELECT ED PUTENS

"WORKING TODAY TO PROTECT GREENBELT'S FUTURE"

Dear Neighbors and Friends:

I have been honored to serve you on the City Council for 14 years. Greenbelt has made enormous progress in that time and I am proud to have been a part of that progress. We still have serious problems, however, and I believe I can continue to make a difference. Therefore, I again ask for your support.

In the last election you made me the second highest vote-getter. I have felt rewarded to be Mayor Pro-Tem because this Council has worked well together. We have focused increasingly on the future--through our community policing facilities, our long-range financial planning, the recycling policy, new recreation facilities, and other initiatives. The next Council must continue looking ahead because the challenges for Greenbelt are growing.

Public and Council attention have recently focused largely on crime and so will-I. Our problem does not approach that of other County locations, but we do have a crime problem. We have made changes, but there is more to do and we need daring innovative changes.

My mind is on serious decisions we need to make as a community. In this campaign I intend to address a few of the most important problems through my News Review advertising and to encourage a community dialogue on our future direction.

I will be door-knocking again throughout the City and hope you will share with me your ideas about our future direction. If my arthritic hip and I don't get to your home personally, as I have in the past, you are encouraged, as always, to call me at any time with your ideas and concerns.

CANDIDATES

to deter crime successful. However, there is a cultural deficiency in our society that affects crime. "Unless the cultural aspects change, we're in for a long haul," he told the group. Code enforcement is one way to change the culture. It identifies Greenbelt as a law-abiding city. "We enforce the laws here."

Development

The candidates were asked what kind, if any, development they would favor—particularly in Greenbelt East. Putens advocated low density, quality development. "This council has worked diligently to reduce, reduce, reduce."

"We met them in their Gucci shoes and stood up to them," Bram stated, referring to the representatives of Pepsico's Taco Bell who had proposed a three fast food complex serving alcoholic beverages. "We got Chevy's instead." "Reduced density is the key," White said. "Time is on our side. We wear them down. We absolutely wear them down."

Roberts advocated open space. "If years ago we had made a commitment to buy as much property for parkland [instead of building luxuries such as swimming pools and recreation centers which could have been done later] we would have been a lot better off." Siegel congratulated the council for what they have done. If any more "tower" buildings are to be built, she felt that they should be a mix of commercial, office and residential use to minimize the need for parking. "This side of the city is one huge parking lot and I want that to stop," she said.

Davis cited her role as a member and chair of the Advisory Planning Board. "We did not take the first offer given," she said. The APB wanted developers to provide a good supply of housing stock with amenities and landscaping and top quality commercial buildings. Adequate roads are another essential consideration.

Highways

GEAC's third question dealt broadly with traffic related issues. It was later supplemented by a question posed by Charlene McAdams of Greenwood Village concerning the placing of high occupancy vehicle (HOV) lanes on the Beltway.

Siegel advocated traffic studies. She would oppose anything that dumps more traffic into Greenbelt. She took note of her observations of the result of speed bumps installed at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC). Speed bumps discourage a lot of traffic on roads where they are placed, she felt. Putens referred to the Inter-county Connector as a continuing problem for the city. "We can't seem to kill the thing. It keeps coming back again and again." He also felt that proposed developments at BARC would put a "strangle-hold" on the city.

Roberts pointed out his active roll in fighting traffic generators by noting that he had gone down to testify against the proposed Redskin football stadium to be located in Landover. He was way down on the speaker list and had to wait a long time to "give them a piece of my mind." "Sometimes you have to do something for safety reasons even if people get mad at you for doing it." He felt that people should work toward reducing the volume of traffic rather than considering adding more lanes to the Beltway.

White felt the council should focus in the next term on installing street lights along Hanover Parkway. He called the "HOV thing" a major investment study, a way to spend a lot of money. He questioned the wisdom of such lanes on a circular road and wondered how traffic could be taken from the HOV lanes to the Beltway exits. Davis and Bram supported developing bike lanes. Davis is concerned about a long term transportation vision plan being developed by the Council of Governments (COG) that would minimize the input of cities. Bram said that she had personally asked Congressman Steny Hoyer to speak to the Secretary of Agriculture about the city's objections to the BARC project.

Building a Wall?

Charles Hendricks of Windsor Green expressed concern as to the council's attitude toward the "people around us." "I feel at times that you are building walls," citing the city's opposition to the BARC projects. He noted that both the city and the county were changing and felt that the city ought to be working more with the county executive.

Roberts responded that the members of the council had to first watch out for the citizens of Greenbelt. He said he was interested in the county and noted that he had testified against the stadium. Bram denied building walls. Rather the council is trying to preserve what the city already has. There are too many city issues before the council for it to get involved in the county's problems. She noted that she would like to deal with the county executive, but that it was difficult to do so after he pushed through legislation to freeze the tax differential.

"We're not God," Putens responded. "I can't solve the crisis of this nation, state or county. What I can do is protect our citizens." He noted council's role in joining in a coalition with its three neighboring cities. Davis felt that a wall implied being restrictive. She called Greenbelt open to everyone and cited the Labor Day parade as an example of seeking diversity in participation. She also cited the council's work with the Maryland Municipal league, the Prince Georges Municipal Association, COG and the Four Cities Coalition as examples of the council's interest beyond city boundaries.

Siegel said the issue was not that of isolating Greenbelt. "This city has been managed extraordinarily well and is being managed extraordinarily well. Why should the city be penalized because the county can't manage itself, the state can't manage itself well? We're not isolating ourselves, we're taking care of ourselves so that we will be good neighbors to our neighbors."

On this subject, White had the last words. "I don't adhere to a Fortress Greenbelt," he said. "Greenbelt means community. I'm fairly optimistic about the relative health of Greenbelt community spirit." He believes that the county executive needs help because he is taking the wrong approaches, especially toward municipalities. "We need to help him understand that Prince Georges County needs its communities."

Greenbelt Scientists Receive NASA Awards

Three Greenbelt scientists employed at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center received awards recently for distinguished achievement in Science.

Elihu Boldt

Dr. Elihu Boldt has been awarded a Goddard Award of Merit for initiating and leading Goddard's successful thirty-year program in X-ray astronomy. He has published more than 100 articles in professional journals and has been principal scientist on several NASA missions.

Boldt lives on Lakeside Drive with his wife and their three children.

Robert Steven Nerem

Dr. Robert Steven Nerem has been awarded NASA's Exceptional Scientific Achievement Medal for his outstanding research efforts in the area of Earth Sciences, particularly the gravity field of the earth.

Nerem joined the NASA Goddard team in 1990 and serves as a geophysicist in the Space Geodesy Branch, part of the Laboratory for Terrestrial Physics in the Earth Science Directorate. His primary research interests are in earth and planetary gravity field determination and in the measurement of sea level change using measurements from the TOPEX/POSEIDON mission.

Pamela C. Sullivan

Pamela C. Sullivan has been awarded NASA's Exceptional Achievement Medal for leading the successful test, integration, and delivery, and check-out-on-orbit of the Geostationary Operational Environmental Satellite (GOES) meteorological satellite's imager instrument.

Sullivan currently serves as the Image Navigation and Registration Manager for the GOES spacecraft. Prior to that she served as instrument manager for the GOES project. She joined the Goddard Center in 1991.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Two men were reported chasing people with a shotgun on Wednesday, Oct. 4, at the Shell Food Mart in the 6000 block of Breezewood Drive. Two victims were sitting in their mini van on Breezewood Drive, when the suspects approached the van. One suspect pulled a sawed-off shotgun from his waistband. The suspects did not say anything to the occupants of the van as they approached. The victims left the van and went to the Food Mart to contact the Police. The suspects are described as: 1) black male in his 20's, 5'10", 170 lbs., thick black hair, wearing a white tee-shirt, gray sweat pants, and a large gold watch, armed with a shotgun; 2) a black male in his 20's, 5'10", 145 lbs., black close cropped hair, wearing a white tee-shirt and dark gray sweatpants.

A woman entering an apartment building in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane on Thursday, Oct. 5, was the victim of an assault and battery. The woman attempted to let a man pass in the hallway, then the man grabbed the woman and put his hand over her mouth. The woman held onto the door frame as the man tried to pull the woman out of the building. The man finally let go and fled the area in an unknown direction. An attempt to track the suspect proved unsuccessful. The suspect is described as a black man, about 25 years old, 5'8", 175 lbs., black short hair, brown eyes, wearing a purple tee-shirt, dark colored pants, and a towel over his face.

A vehicle was stopped near I-95 and Kenilworth Ave. on Wednesday, Oct. 4 for a traffic violation. A loaded .380 caliber semi-automatic handgun was found in the vehicle, for which the driver did not have a permit. The 24 year-old non-resident man was arrested, charged with transporting a handgun in a vehicle, and released on personal recognizance pending trial.

A 34-year-old non-resident man was arrested on Monday, Oct. 2, as a result of officers responding to a fight in the 8100 block of Lakecrest Drive. After being separated, one of the combatants, who had been drinking, continued to act in a disorderly manner despite being asked to remain calm by the officers. The man was charged with disorderly intoxication and released on citation pending trial.

A man was approached by two men in the 6000 block of Greenbelt Rd. on Sunday, Oct. 1 who were asking for money to make a phone call. The victim refused to give them money, offering to make the call instead. One of the suspects struck the victim in the face with his fist. The two suspects fled the area in a vehicle. The vehicle was stopped a short time later, and both suspects arrested. One suspect was released without being charged, and the second suspect, a 20-year-old non-resident man was charged with battery and released on personal recognizance pending trial.

The School Resource Officer discovered a dice game in progress outside the gym doors at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on Tuesday, Oct. 3. The participants, all juveniles, were in possession of dice, a deck of cards, currency and one was in possession of a tobacco product. A 17-year-old non-resident male youth was arrested and charged with one count of gambling. A 15-year-old resident male youth was arrested and charged with two counts of gambling, and one count of possession of a tobacco product by a minor. A 15-year-old non-resident male youth was arrested and charged with two counts of gambling. All three juveniles were released pending action by Juvenile Services.

Thefts

A counterfeit traveler's check was presented to the Marriott Courtyard, 6300 block of Golden Triangle Dr., as payment for a room. The suspect stayed two nights at the hotel a couple of weeks ago, and paid with the bogus check. The hotel discovered the check was counterfeit when it was returned by the bank. The suspect, who gave an address in Washington, DC, is described as a black male, 22 to 25 years old, about 5'8", 150 lbs., black hair and brown eyes.

An arrest warrant has been obtained for a 41-year-old resident man, as a result of the investigation into the theft of a VCR from the Greenbriar Community Center. The theft occurred sometime during May or June of this year and the VCR was sold to a pawn shop. The warrant was turned over to the Prince Georges County Sheriff's Office for service.

The Greenbelt Police Department is offering a reward of up to $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person(s) responsible for any of the unsolved crimes reported in the Greenbelt Police Blotter. Contact Criminal Investigations at 507-6530. All information is confidential.

Other thefts reported include: a residence in the 200 block of Lastner Lane, on Friday, Sept. 29, with a .22 revolver reported stolen; a purse from the 7400 block of Greenway Center Drive; and fire extinguishers from six buildings in the 7800 block of Hanover Parkway on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Auto Thefts

A 1989 Pontiac Grand Am reported stolen from the 8000 block of Mandan Rd. in September was recovered by Montgomery County Police in Bethesda, on Oct. 3. The vehicle was recovered in driveable condition, though the steering column was cracked. No arrests were made in connection with the recovery.

A vehicle was stopped on Kenilworth Ave. near Pontiac St. for a traffic violation on Friday, Oct. 6. A computer check on the vehicle tag uncovered the tag had been reported stolen to Maryland State Police on Sept. 25. The driver, an 18-year-old non-resident man, was arrested, charged with theft under $300, and released on citation pending trial.

Vandalism to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of vehicles were reported in the following areas: 6100 block of Breezewood Ct., 6100 block of Breezewood Dr., 9000 block of Breezewood Terrace, 6000 and 7400 blocks of Greenbelt Rd., 7500 block of Greenway Center Dr., 7600 block of Hanover Parkway, 8000 block of Mandan Rd., and 9100 block of Springhill Lane (two incidents).

Fifty Years Ago

North End Opens

by James Giese

Summer, 1945—Prince Georges County took possession of the new North End School upon the installation of furniture. It was announced that the first principal would be Rowena Whittaker who had been principal of the Beltsville Elementary School. Whittaker had previously taught at Greenbelt Center School.

Unlike the North End School, the county did not acquire the ownership of the Center School from the government. The Board of Education had to eventually buy it from the city. This was because the school was considered a multi-purpose building that was as much a community center as a school.

Women in Civil War

The role of area women during the Civil War will be examined in "Sisters on the Plain: Maryland Women and the War," Thursday, Oct. 19 at noon in the Montpelier Cultural Arts Center, Laurel.

The program is part of the series "Blue Upon Gray: Maryland and the Civil War," presented by the Humanities Resource Center of Prince Georges Community College.

Leading the lecture/discussion will be Jean H. Baker, history professor at Goucher College.

Juanita Leisch, an authority on women's clothing of that period, will display and demonstrate Civil War-era garments.

The program is free, but tickets are required. Call (301) 953-1993 for more information.
