By a Close Vote, Council Opts For Even-year Future Elections

by Thomas X. White

The regular meeting of the Greenbelt City Council on May 26 was long and lively. The council chamber was already pretty full when the meeting started, just about on time, with additional visitors continuing to arrive.

It was soon apparent that what brought most out was the agenda item listed as "Other Business" – city council report on voting system issues. This would be the first time that councilmembers would be publicly taking positions on a range of proposed changes to how and when the city conducts its elections for city council.

The tension surrounding this issue had been building for over a year, following a February 2008 letter from the American Civil Liberties Union of Maryland (ACLU) and the Prince George's County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) alleging that the existing at-large system of electing the five-member Greenbelt City Council was unfair to minority candidates and suggesting that if the system were not changed, the ACLU and the NAACP may challenge it in court.

Since receiving that letter, city staff and council have spent a great deal of time and money dealing with the challenge to the Greenbelt electoral system used here for nearly 72 years. Many earlier discussions by council on the subject have taken place behind closed doors on the advice of legal counsel, due to the threat of litigation.

Subsequently, however, council began a series of nine public meetings on the matter and during the course of the year issued two public statements, one on January 26, the other on April 13. These statements identified items meriting consideration and further discussion. In the April 13 statement council announced they would be discussing the voting system issue publicly at this meeting. Mayor Judith Davis introduced the topic by noting that citizens would be hearing councilmembers' individual opinions for the first time and that there was no unanimity on several issues identified for discussion.

Three Categories

Agenda comments for the May 26 meeting outlined three categories of suggested changes in the electoral process on which council would be offering opinions. Following the council statements or opinions on the particular item, those attending the meeting would be recognized to address council.

The three categories of changes were listed in the Agenda Comments as:

1. Council agrees that more voter outreach and education efforts would be valuable and could increase participation in council elections. These could include, but not be limited to, a new resident welcome package, increased publicity in local newspapers including non-English papers and homeowner/civic association newsletters, banners in all sections of town, more candidate forums, increasing group-sponsored voter registration drives and additional notifications, such as a brochure on voting sent to each household.

2. Council also agrees with taking steps to allow for early voting as a means of increasing citizen participation in city elections, including a possible charter amendment to allow early voting by machine and to expand absentee voting procedures.

3. Two proposals – moving the election date to coincide with the federal and state elections and expanding the size of council from five to seven were not supported by all members of council and were dealt with separately at the meeting.

Outreach

Councilmember Rodney Roberts, first to speak on outreach to voters, noted that changes being considered by council were based on public testimony of only about 100 citizens who had spoken at the nine public meetings. He called for more citizen input, including non-binding ballots on the several issues in the November 2009 election.

Councilmember Leta Mach said that more public outreach is a key issue and favored all items listed that would increase voter participation. Concurring, Councilmember Konrad Herling

Legal Procedures for Charter Amendment Are Explained

by James Giese

Under Maryland law residents of a municipality generally have little direct voice in the governing of the city other than in electing the city's governing body. However, Section 12 and subsequent sections of Article 23A of the Uniform Code of Maryland permit municipal citizens either to initiate a municipal charter amendment or to petition a council-initiated charter amendment to referendum if a petition is duly signed by 20 percent of the registered voters within the municipality.

In addition, the Greenbelt City Charter requires all ordinances authorizing the issuance of bonds to be first approved by voters at referendum. At its discretion, the city council may place a matter before the voters at referendum.

Passage of a charter amendment initially follows the procedure set forth for the adoption of ordinances and resolutions. Normally this requires the introduction and first reading of an amendment at one regular council meeting and consideration and passage at the next regular meeting. The vote of a majority of the members of council is required for adoption, which, in Greenbelt, is a favorable vote by three of the five councilmembers.

However, while normal ordinances and resolutions become law after 10 days or as otherwise provided, more is required of charter amendments. First, a complete and exact copy of the text of the approved charter amendment must be posted in the town hall (municipal building) for a period of 40 days following adoption. Second, a fair summary of the proposed amendment must be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipal corporation not less than four times, at weekly intervals, within a period of at least 40 days starting immediately after the date of adoption of the resolution. On the 50th day following passage, the amendment becomes effective unless petitioned to referendum.

Petition

Such a petition must be submitted on or before the 40th day after passage of the charter amendment by either presenting it to the city council or by mailing

Memorial Day Ceremony Draws a Larger Crowd

by Carol Griffith

A few things were different this year from previous Greenbelt Memorial Day celebrations held at the Veterans' Memorial between the Roosevelt Center and Crescent Road.

The stage from which the speeches were given was strategically placed to be visible to more attendees. With many thanks to Girl Scout Troops 5004 and 1734, the Veterans' Memorial and surrounding area had been cleaned up, replanted and landscaped. The Public Works Department assisted the scouts with their service project by refinishing the concrete platform and adding stone steps leading in from the righthand side.

But, more importantly, the added participation of the Girl Scout troops and Boy Scout Troop 746 and their families added a welcome intergenerational feel to a ceremony attended in other years mainly by older veterans and their families.

Kathleen Linkenhoker, commander of Greenbelt American Legion Post 136, greeted the nearly 200 people who had gathered on the morning of Monday, May 25 to honor and remember the nation's deceased servicemen and servicewomen. Post 136 sponsored and hosted the Memorial Day ceremony, which began

Memorial Day Is Celebrated In Style by Legion Post #136

by Rick Ransom

The Greenbelt American Legion celebrated the Memorial Day weekend with three events. On Sunday morning members served breakfast at the Post home on Greenbelt Road to nearly 400 motorcyclists as they prepared to ride to the Mall in Washington, D.C., in support of "Rolling Thunder," an annual parade of several thousand motorcycles from all over the country whose destination was war memorials in Washington, D.C., to honor and pay respects to those who have given their lives for the country.

The original purpose of "Rolling Thunder" was to memorialize those who served in Vietnam, as the parade itself ends at the Vietnam Memorial. Now it has expanded to honor all who have served or are serving today. All types of motorcycles could be seen in the parking area of the Legion, although most were Harley Davidsons. Some had flags from small to very large waving from the back. One displayed four large flags: one for those Missing-in-Action or Prisoners of War (MIA/POW), two flags commemorating service in Vietnam and the American flag. Some bikers were dressed in full regalia with vests or jackets that contained various patches and pins. For many participants, it was a return visit to celebrate this yearly event.

At 8:30 a.m., following the breakfast, the vehicles filed onto Greenbelt Road in pairs to ride behind a Park Police escort. After a U-turn on Greenbelt Road, the motorcyclists paraded up to the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. At one point, the line of motorcycles stretched from the Riverdale exit on the Parkway back to the Greenbelt entry ramp and onto Greenbelt Road.

Cookout

After the parade many of the participants returned to the Legion for the yearly cookout on the lawn with DJ Rockin' Ronnie providing music.

Memorial Service

On Monday morning the American Legion hosted a formal service at the Greenbelt Veterans' Memorial in Roosevelt Center. (See the separate article describing the ceremony above.)

After the ceremony a luncheon for all participants was served in the American Legion Hall.

Special Olympics Is Janus Tribute

The Prince George's County Special Olympics were held on May 7. After several days of rain and canceling the event on May 6, it was decided to go for it at the Sports & Learning Complex in Landover on May 7. The athletes, parents, teachers, buddies and volunteers were excited to be there even though it meant enduring some rain to watch these athletes compete. And, as the program emphasizes, everyone is a winner!

Long time Greenbelt resident Bob Janus, educator, coach, mentor and definitely friend of the Prince George's Special Olympics who recently retired from the program, was honored as the Honorary Head Coach and the games were called the "Bob Janus Spring Games" and will be from here on. He has been involved since 1968 as a motor development supervisor who organized and accompanied a team of athletes from Prince George's County to Soldiers Field in Chicago for the first Special Olympics Summer Games. This was the birth of Special Olympics in Maryland and Prince George's County.

These games continue to this day and plan to go on for a long time. Janus is a Special Olympics pioneer and was recognized at these games for all his outstanding work over the years. He inspires greatness to all the athletes and volunteers and leaves each with a most precious gift: Faith in the unlimited possibilities of the human spirit. He knows that everyone is a winner; and we would add, especially Janus. All of us want to thank Bob Janus for always being a part of the Prince George's Special Olympics team.

Uncertain Situation

Thank you for your recent comprehensive coverage of the uncertain New Deal Café situation.

As a long-time Greenbelt resident who, over the years, has enjoyed visiting the Café in its several incarnations – first in the Community Center, then in its front-room operation in Roosevelt Center and most recently in its financially-troubled expanded version – I am disturbed by recent events concerning its abrupt closure.

I do not pretend to understand the financial or contractual decisions that brought the Café to its current limbo status. But Chef Karim, to all appearances, breathed a welcome degree of efficiency and organization into a troubled establishment and I am shocked by his sudden dismissal from the restaurant he helped solidify. He took on a decidedly iffy business venture and, to all appearances, made it work.

What happens next is unclear. It's hard to have a sense of New Deal optimism about the Café's future at this point but I hope that Chef Karim can be brought back. I feel he is a necessary ingredient to its success.

Susan Gervasi

$8,000/Month Is Not "Reasonable"

There is only one real reason for the current financial situation of the New Deal Café. The Café Board of Directors came up with an unreasonable monthly sum that Chef Karim had to pay each month, not a "reasonable" sum, as their letter posted on the New Deal doors states. Do not think for a moment that if Generous Joes or Beijing had to pay $8,000 each month on top of their operating expenses that they would still be in business. The owners of Beijing pay only half of that amount each month in rent.

The board claims that the additional amount Karim pays is the cooperative fee, not paying down debt, yet in their same letter they state that the monthly sum was determined based on the debt of the cooperative. In last week's News Review, Bill Wilkerson says that it's "not right" to say that Karim is paying down debt but then he goes on to say that the co-op has been using the fee to pay down debt! Am I the only one seeing a contradiction here? When we as members of GHI pay our monthly unit co-op fee, we get a lot in return, such as getting our plumbing and electric fixed for free. What does Karim get for his co-op fee? Does his landlord do anything for him? If there were no debt, would he still be having to pay a $4,000 fee each month if it meant that the restaurant would have to close?

Wilkerson goes on to say that Karim came in to a "good situation, not just an empty space" and the board letter makes mention of the many privileges the New Deal Café has to offer. Now I love Greenbelt just as much as the next person but as a business owner it is a different story. Karim invested his life savings into a 60-year old space that needed major upgrades to even operate as a full-scale restaurant in a small neighborhood which, although wonderful, is still a market where many people who don't have much extra money live. Now a new chef can come in and simply take over. It doesn't seem right.

The root of the economic problems of the Café came from a poor business decision to double the space without a market analysis to determine if that expense could be sustained by the current market. Does this sound familiar? Everyone likes to refer to the Café as the community living room, but think about this, when was the last time you spent any money in anyone's living room? A full-scale restaurant needs much more to survive than a small volunteer-run Café. And a bar needs full-time paid staff.

At the heart of the whole economic issue with Roosevelt Center is the unfortunate reality that 90 percent of the space is owned by a private individual, not the city, who has no interest in the community, only making money – whether it's a dollar store or a restaurant doesn't matter. Look at all the empty space for lease in Roosevelt Center. The owner of Pleasant Touch Spa had to invest thousands of her own dollars to simply have a decent HVAC system. The city financed the movie theater to insure its survival. Why not buy out the whole center? Then "reasonable" sums could be negotiated, the property would be maintained and renters would have support for their businesses. It's really the long-term economic health of Roosevelt Center at stake, not just the New Deal Café.

Toothbrush Campaign Brings Big Smiles

When I planned my toothbrush collection campaign, "Send a Smile to El Salvador," my hope was that Greenbelters would contribute about 100 toothbrushes for the health cooperative in San Salvador that I visited in March. At the end of the day when I sat outside the Co-op Supermarket, I counted the toothbrushes that people put on my table. The total was 366! That was more than 3-1/2 times what I expected!

Clearly, Greenbelters' generosity is amazingly abundant.

Special thanks goes to Bob Davis, general manager of the Co-op, and his supportive staff. Not only did they give me permission to set up my table for

Rising from the Ruins

Nia Vandalos, who won plaudits with "My Big Fat Greek Wedding," stars as a troubled tourist guide in – where else? – Greece, in "My Life in Ruins." The film opens Friday at the Old Greenbelt Theatre. Leading a mixed batch of visitors through historic sites, Nia (as Georgia) almost loses sight of the good-looking tour bus driver (Alexis Georgeoulis) before the film shifts gears. Richard Dreyfuss and Rachel Dratch also are in the cast.

Director Donald Petrie's credits include "Mystic Pizza," "Welcome to Mooseport" and "Grumpy Old Men."

The film is rated PG-13 for sexual content; runtime is 98 minutes.

Guest speaker Carter McCamy of Environmental Quality Resources, LLC will present his "Indian Creek Study within the Beltsville Industrial Park" outlining an analysis of the Indian Creek drainage area between Muirkirk and Powder Mill Roads. Sources of pollution, ways to counteract their effects, possible stream valley restoration alternatives and their cost will be discussed. Restoration efforts along Indian Creek in Beltsville will affect areas downstream including Greenbelt.

The CCRIC membership meeting will begin after the presentation. CCRIC officers will present their annual reports and new officers will be elected.

Golden Age Club

by Bunny Fitzgerald

The Golden Age Club has been active this past month. The trip to Toby's in Columbia to hear Frank Sinatra songs was wonderful. One person was heard to say, "I could understand all the words they sang." The picnic at Greenbelt Lake was lots of fun with hot dogs and hamburgers and several people went kayaking. No one fell in or tipped over. Even the weather cooperated! There's a kayaking trip planned for fall.

Delegate Justin Ross will speak on June 10 and there's a rumor about a movie for seniors. Come hear what he has to say.

The birthday lunch is on June 17. Bring something for the potluck.

We were all saddened by Jim Williamson's death. Many of us remember him as that kind, caring driver who enjoyed taking us on trips and was always interested in learning new facts. He will be missed by many.

We seniors should keep active to add days to our life and life to our days.

We always welcome guests and new members at the Golden Age Club meetings.

U-Liners Play At New Deal Café

On Friday, June 5 from 8 to 11 p.m. the U-Liners will present roots-rock music and songs with deep roots in social change. On-Tap Magazine says about their new CD, The U-Liners, "Long-time area roots-rocker Joe Uehlein practices in the best folk tradition: social consciousness that never loses sight of musical enjoyment and vice-versa."

The U-Liners (www.uliners.com) feature D.C. musicians including Wammie-winning multi-instrumentalist Avril Smith on guitar and mandolin, drummer/percussionist Larry Ferguson, Mindy McWilliams on violin and vocals, Barry Warsaw on bass and Joe Uehlein on guitar and vocals.

Greenbriar Boards Meet Tues., June 9

Greenbriar Phase I and II boards will meet Tuesday, June 9 at 7:30 p.m. Phase III board will meet the same day at 6 p.m. All meetings will be held in the Community building. Owners and residents are encouraged to attend.

CARES Offers Summer Tutoring

Greenbelt CARES will offer a summer tutoring program for Greenbelt students completing grades 2-6. The program will be held in the Municipal Building Council Room Wednesday mornings beginning July 8 from 9 a.m. to noon.

Space is limited; students participating in the program are required to register in advance. Greenbelt residents have first priority. There is a $15 charge for the program to cover the cost of tutoring materials.

There will be four sessions, on July 8, 15, 22 and 29. The schedule for instruction is: 9 to 10 a.m., English grammar skills and composition/spelling/writing; 10 to 11 a.m., English literature; and 11 to noon, math.

Parents or students should call CARES (301-345-6660, ext. 2016) to register for this program. Students must complete a registration form, signed by the parent/guardian and return it to Greenbelt CARES (25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, MD 20770).

For questions or additional information call Greenbelt CARES, 301-345-6660, ext. 2016.

June Activities For Photo Club

On Sunday, June 7 the Greenbelt Photo Club will participate in this month's Artful Afternoon at the Community Center with a photo competition. Members of the photo club are invited to enter. Competition categories will be: portraits, architecture, macro photography and motion. Registration and drop off of entries is from 11 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. There will be a public reception from 1 to 3 p.m. and the photographs will be on display until 5 p.m. Sunday.

There will also be a club show in the Community Center June 22 to August 7, with this Sunday as the only day to submit photographs for possible inclusion.

The next meeting of the photo club will be Tuesday, June 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center in Room 112. The meeting will be a last-minute workshop for those who need help preparing for the Community Center gallery show. Club meetings are on the second Tuesday of each month from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Community Center.

Rotary Club Still Collecting Food

The Rotary Club of Greenbelt has a staffed table at the Farmers Market in Roosevelt Center every other weekend to collect donations or food goods for the Capital Area Food Bank. June 14 is the next collection date. While food donations are always welcome, a $5 donation allows the Food Bank to buy $20 worth of food.

The following businesses owned by Rotary members continue collecting food and donations over the next few months: S.K. Rotary

The Rotary Club of Greenbelt is an organization of professional men and women most of whom either live or work in the Greenbelt area. It was founded in 1988; members come from many professions. Weekly meetings are held on Tuesday morning at 7:45 a.m. at the Greenbelt Marriott with a guest speaker, who may talk on a wide variety of topics. The club is currently accepting new members. Those interested are invited to join members for breakfast, enjoy the fellowship and meet interesting people.

Greenbelt's Rotary Club is one of 32,000 Rotary Clubs with over 1.2 million members in 200 nations that provide scholarships and support local and international causes with a variety of projects to improve their community and the world. For further information call Rotary President Helen Svensen at 301-474-1300, President Elect Charles (Wick) Caldwell at 301-390-9129 or Membership Chair Joel Lang at 301-386-5459.

Free Jazz Concert At Center June 13

On Saturday, June 13 from 5 to 8 p.m. there will be a free outdoor concert in Roosevelt Center featuring the Michael Grasso Jazz Trio. The trio plays a mixture of standards, blues and modern jazz in the spirit of Chet Baker, Chris Botti, Miles Davis and Freddie Hubbard. The band members include Michael Grasso (trumpet, flugelhorn, keyboard), Bill Freed (guitar, vocals) and Tomas Dragon (bass).

The concert is produced by the New Deal Café and is the first in a new series of summer jazz concerts – all free and outdoors in the Center. The series is being sponsored by the Friends of New Deal Café Arts, with supporting funds from the City of Greenbelt and Prince George's County.

Condolences to Milton Greenbaum and his siblings on the death of their mother, longtime Greenbelter Lillian E. Greenbaum, who died May 30, 2009, at the age of 90. Family and friends attended graveside services at Mount Lebanon cemetery in Adelphi on May 31.

Congratulations to:

– The Greenbelt law firm of Joseph, Greenwald & Laake, which received one of three 2009 Beacon of Justice Awards conferred by the National Legal Aid & Defender Association for pro bono assistance to low-income people facing foreclosure. In July 2008 the firm announced its Thousand Hours Project which was to serve Maryland homeowners facing foreclosure. Since then the law firm has provided hundreds of pro bono hours for clients and has participated in workshops around the state that provide advice and direction to homeowners dealing with foreclosure.

PUBLIC INVITED TO ATTEND JUNE DEPARTMENTAL INFORMATION SESSION

A team of assessors from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) Inc. will arrive June 13, 2009 to examine all aspects of the Greenbelt Police Department's policy and procedures, management, operations and support services.

Verification by the team that the Greenbelt Police Department meets the Commission's state-of-the art standards is part of a voluntary process to gain accreditation - a highly prized recognition of law enforcement professional excellence.

As part of the on-site assessment, agency employees and members of the community are invited to offer comments at a public information session, June 15, 2009 at 6 p.m. The session will be conducted in the City of Greenbelt Council Chambers located at 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland.

If for some reason an individual cannot speak at the public information session but would still like to provide comments to the assessment team, he or she may do so by telephone. The public may call 240-542-2102 on June 15, 2006 between the hours of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Telephone comments as well as appearances at the public information session are limited to 10 minutes and must address the agency's ability to comply with CALEA's standards. A copy of the standards is available at the Greenbelt Police Department, 550 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, MD 20770. Please contact Lieutenant Carl Schinner, 301-474-7200.

The Greenbelt Police Department must comply with all applicable standards to gain accredited status.

The accreditation team is composed of law enforcement practitioners from similar but out-of-state agencies. The assessors will review written materials, interview individuals and visit offices and other places where compliance can be witnessed. The assessors are team leader Mr. Ray Johnson, Chief of Police, Chesterfield Police Department, Chesterfield, Missouri, and the team member Mr. Steven Sanders, Lieutenant, Garden Grove Police Department, Garden Grove, California. Once the Commission's assessors complete their review of the agency, they report back to the full Commission, which will then decide if the agency is to be granted accredited status.

Accreditation is for three years, during which the agency must submit annual reports, attesting continued compliance with those standards under which it was initially accredited.

For more information regarding the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. please write the Commission at 10306 Eaton Place, Suite 320, Fairfax, Virginia, 20030-2201; or call (800) 368-3757 or (703) 352-4225.

stressed the immense need to get the word out, especially where low turnout has been experienced.

Herling recommended a welcome package and information distributed through homeowners associations and property management companies and Councilmember Edward Putens agreed.

Davis closed the round by noting that this item is one of the easiest to do. She thanked citizens for their comments and saw the main goal as increasing voter participation and the number of candidates. "Although the city has undertaken programs to increase outreach, we can do more," she said.

During citizen participation on this topic, Ruth Kastner commended council for what it has already done in this area. She suggested that it be called "support" rather than "education" and used the opportunity to express the continued frustration of Emperian Village residents in Greenbelt West with the new management there and suggested council set up a satellite city office there to support residents in getting their issues addressed.

Kelly Ivey supported a public ballot on the issues council is considering. Bill Orleans suggested that council consider providing opportunities for non-citizens to vote in city elections as is done in a few other municipal jurisdictions. Council then approved unanimously a motion to support the outreach efforts.

Early Voting

When discussion started on the second topic, Roberts balked at the mayor's suggestion that he start again, saying he believed the order should change for each round. While he and the mayor were talking, Mach offered to start the second round. She said she favors both early voting and expanding the opportunity to vote by mail.

Herling agreed with her and Putens raised the issue of possible confusion with retaining the term "Absentee Ballot." He suggested "Vote by Mail."

Davis agreed that such changes would help to eliminate reasons for a citizen not to vote. But she said she would oppose adoption of same-day registration.

Speaking last, Roberts said that he was not strong on this proposition one way or the other. He cautioned, however, that early voting could impact first-time candidates by taking away some valuable time for campaigning.

Audience member Alan Turnbull told council he was happy to hear early voting was being considered but expressed concern with the role of the Postal Service in making vote by mail work.

Orleans said he was not opposed to the principle but was himself happy to go to the polls. This discussion was followed by a motion to direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment to allow early voting by voting machine. It was approved unanimously.

There was a second motion to modify the existing ordinance allowing absentee ballots to provide for expanded mail-in voting. It was approved by a vote of four to one, with Roberts opposed.

Increase Size

Council then turned to the issue of whether its membership should be increased by two. Roberts led off, stressing that a question so important to Greenbelt governance should be put before the voters rather than decided by council. He suggested that increasing the size of council from five to seven would likely result in meetings ending at 1 a.m. rather than at 11 p.m. This comment was met with a great deal of laughter in the chamber. Mach felt that increasing council size could help to increase diversity and would provide more chances for residents to serve.

Herling agreed with Mach. He added that additional members could help ease the burden somewhat with more to serve on related boards and committees, a point shared by Putens. One person in the audience responded to this issue by announcing that he looks forward to running for city council. He noted that to do so a candidate needs to focus on all parts of Greenbelt.

Another attendee felt that size was irrelevant. He said that one should not run for council only when one had a chance to be elected. He felt that running is an essential way to participate in the process.

Several participants commented on this proposal by asking if members on an expanded council would represent districts. They argued that all parts of the city would then be represented. One person questioned why council did not consider any alternative voting proposals as part of their discussions, such as those put forward in the public meeting by FairVote.

Councilmembers nearly uniformly spoke against the creation of districts, calling them divisive. They cited experiences among neighboring municipalities with either a district system or a hybrid that their voter turnouts are extremely low.

Herling pointed out that FairVote was not fair. When he had asked the FairVote representative if under a FairVote vote system a candidate for council who secured the fifth highest vote count could end up losing, the answer was yes. Herling called that basically unfair.

Mach added that any voting system that cannot be easily explained cannot be expected to increase participation.

Roberts asserted that the issue was not about turnout. "We are here because there is not a black person on council," he said.

To this comment Davis responded, "When numbers of voters go down in Greenbelt, that is a problem."

Others in the audience continued to press council that if they were going to increase the size of council, they should consider some hybrid form where districts could be created, even a system where some members of the larger council could represent districts but all would have to run at large.

Davis said such proposals were not looked at as options but could be considered in the future. Roberts closed out discussion by noting that an issue such as this explains why he believes that more citizen involvement is needed in this discussion.

A motion was made to direct the city staff to prepare a charter amendment to increase the size of the city council from five to seven members. The motion was approved by a vote of 4 to 1 with Roberts opposed.

Even-year Elections

Roberts again led off discussion of the final issue to be considered, changing the election dates from odd to even years. He felt this solution took the city from a bad situation to one that was worse. He said he would hate to see the election of the Greenbelt City Council having to compete with the presidential election and creating partisan, versus non-partisan, issues. He considers it a shortsighted, knee-jerk reaction and hopes that it never happens.

Mach noted that she favored the change and would ask that the city's Board of Elections assure that the partisanship issues are addressed.

Herling also favored the proposal, which he generally saw as another way to increase voter participation, with protections against partisanship, outside funding and other issues.

Putens was clear that he wants no part of this proposal; he sees it having disastrous consequences. It would likely increase the cost of running for challengers and he would be concerned about the Greenbelt election being overshadowed by state and federal issues.

Davis also supported changing the election date, which she feels would increase voter participation. She believed that protections can be built in to assure that the Greenbelt election is kept non-partisan.

Memoranda prepared by staff and legal counsel made the case that the city could do little to protect against slating, party affiliations and campaign funding. According to the cover memo from City Solicitor Robert Manzi, a fair body of case law protects these activities under the U. S. Constitution.

The short answer in the larger memorandum states: "The City of Greenbelt can, to a certain extent, limit the amount of campaign contributions that candidates can receive from outside sources. It may also be able to limit the time (when) campaign contributions may be made. The city cannot prohibit slating or prohibit candidates from associating with a certain political party or soliciting campaign contributions from same."

Audience response to the proposal that clearly appeared to have enough votes to succeed was firm, but mixed. Two people who had not spoken earlier expressed strong support for the change to even years and could not understand why there would be objections from citizens.

Others were taken aback by the possibility that the measure would pass. They urged council to rethink the approach, labeling it as "a huge mistake," "a nakedly foolish idea" and "incredibly naïve."

Among questioners of the proposal, many actively inquired about the actual mechanics of challenging an action by council to change the election year.

In response the city attorney and staff noted that to create the required charter amendment, the proposal would have to be written in appropriate language, considered at two regular meetings of council. Once approved by council, the proposal would go into force approximately 50 days later. This process would apply if the charter amendment is not successfully challenged by citizens who submit a requisite number of voter signatures on a petition to referendum. If the petition is successful, the question would be placed on a ballot and would need approval by a majority of Greenbelt voters to succeed.

Following additional discussion among councilmembers and with no members altering their positions, a motion was made by Mach, seconded by Herling and approved by a 3 to 2 vote, with Roberts and Putens opposed, to change the election date to even years.

My Sister Eileen Is Free Monthly Movie

The free monthly movie to be held at the Greenbelt Senior Lounge on Monday, June 8 from 1 to 3 p.m. will be "My Sister Eileen." Eileen and Ruth (Janet Leigh and Betty Garrett) are two small-town Ohio sisters who move to Manhattan, seeking excitement. They live in a basement apartment in Greenwich Village with an assortment of oddball tenants as they pursue success and romance. "My Sister Eileen" was choreographed by Bob Fosse, who also appears as one sister's suitor; the other's suitor is played by Jack Lemmon. For more information call 301-397-2208.

toothbrush collection but Davis put toothbrushes on sale that day to help the cause.

Another big "thank you" goes to the News Review staff for giving such great coverage of the announcement of the campaign. While most people contributed because they were going on their regular shopping errand, many others made a special trip to the Co-op that day simply to drop off toothbrushes they had already bought, mentioning that they had read about the campaign in the News Review.

Finally, many thanks to all those who dropped off toothbrushes. Your generosity will go a long way to give the children of the Centro Hogar clinic healthier teeth, brighter futures and even more beautiful smiles. Folks can still contribute until June 15 by calling me at 240-432-2489.

THANKS!

The Rotary Club of Greenbelt wants to thank everyone who has participated in our "March Against Hunger" project.

We want to remind you that our club will have a manned table at the Farmers Market in the Roosevelt Center where we will be collecting donations or food goods for the Capital Area Food Bank every other weekend. June 14 will be our next collection. Although food goods are welcome, a $5 donation allows the Food Bank to purchase $20 worth of food.

In addition to the Farmers Market, the following businesses owned by Rotary members will also be collecting food and donations for the next few months: S.K. Motors, 10805 Lanham Severn Road, Lanham (301-464-0400); Century 21 Trademark Realty, Inc., 6401 Golden Triangle Drive (301-441-1100); and Greenbelt Travel Services, 5510 Cherrywood Lane (301-474-1300) in Greenbelt. Call for additional information about times for drop offs.

Helen Svensen,
President

THANKS!

I have been slowly recovering from an assault on December 24 in a church parking lot and even more slowly sending out notes of gratitude. Since the time of my injury, individuals and people from many different groups in our diverse and inclusive community have expressed their concern to me and to my family and have been even kinder than usual (if that is possible).

You have expressed your generosity through cards, prayers, transportation service, meals and many other good works.

Thank you so very much for this tremendous outpouring of caring and love. The experience is both humbling and overwhelming. It is impossible to express properly my appreciation. All that I seem to be able to say is a heartfelt "Thank you" and to ask that you continue this support to my family and me as I continue my recovery.

The "Litter" League

Looks like it's that time of year again! The Greenbelt "Litter" League is back in full swing at McDonald Field. Since the season started, I have unfortunately noticed a dramatic increase in the amount of trash on and around the ball field. Foil from the burgers and hotdogs, plastic water/sport drink bottles, sunflower seed packets, freezer pop wrappers and soda cans can be found around the ball field and the adjoining open field and playground. Many of those attending the games, be they players or fans, walk to and from the games and simply drop their trash along the walkways or in neighborhood yards.

My neighbor and I stopped a young boy on Southway one evening after he threw a full soda can into a yard. We pointed out a trash can not 50 feet away and asked that he go in the yard and retrieve his trash, which he did. Explaining that "we don't do that, especially not in Greenbelt," we sent him on his way.

It's unfortunate that I must write this letter every year at this time. This is Greenbelt! There are many trash cans at McDonald field, even one marked for recyclables. Yet the problem continues.

I am sending out a plea to the parents, coaches, players and fans to police the area and themselves. Use the trash cans that are provided or take your trash with you. We don't want it in our back yards!

As a side note, it would also be appreciated if you would enter and exit the parking area in a slow and safe manner.

A Major Step

Congratulations to the members of our city council for their patience during nine hearings on electoral reform and their decisiveness at the meeting on May 25.

We hope the combination of the five approved initiatives may finally result in greater diversity on our council.

Mayor Judith Davis and Councilmembers Konrad Herling and Leta Mach had the courage, despite strong opposition, to seize the opportunity to possibly increase the voter turnout by at least 30 percent. That truly would be a major step for democracy in our community.

Just as so many sang in the 1960s, we must "keep our eyes on the prize."

it by certified mail, return receipt requested, bearing a postmark from the U.S. Postal Service. The petition must comply with requirements set forth in the state code.

It must be signed by 20 percent or more of the persons qualified to vote in the city general elections and must request that the proposed amendment or amendments be submitted on referendum to the voters of the municipal corporation. Each person signing the petition shall indicate thereon his or her name and residence address.

Upon receiving the petition, the city council is directed to verify that any person who signed it is qualified to vote in its city election and shall consider the petition of no effect if it is signed by fewer than 20 percent of qualified voters.

If the petition is found to comply with state requirements, the city council shall specify the day and the hours for the election at which the question is put before the voters. The council could either schedule it for the next regular city election or call for a special election.

If a special election, it must be held between 40 and 60 days following the call set forth by council. The resolution calling for the election must also set forth the exact wording to be placed on the ballots or voting machines.

The exact number of signatures required to bring a council-initiated charter amendment to referendum will have to be determined by the city or others. At the last city election in November 2007 there were 10,668 registered city voters, according to City Clerk Cindy Murray. Based on that figure, a petition would require the valid signatures of more than 20 percent or about 2,200 registered voters. A current count of registered voters is not available at this time.

Murray also advised that the three proposed charter amendments to change the date of city elections, to increase the size of city council and to provide for early voting are scheduled for introduction and first reading at the June 8 regular meeting and for second reading and final passage at the June 23 meeting.

Byrd Singers Seek New Members

Greenbelt's a cappella group The Byrd Singers is starting up again for the summer. Those who can read music and sing fairly independently are invited to join the group as it prepares a program of works by English Renaissance composer William Byrd. Court composer for Queen Elizabeth I, Byrd wrote many types of music, including sacred music for both Anglican and Catholic services. All voices are welcome.

The first rehearsal of the season will be on Sunday, June 7 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Greenbelt Baptist Church, lower level, 101 Greenhill Road (corner of Crescent and Greenhill).

For more information call Director Ruth Kastner at 301-474-5605 or email rkastner@verizon.net.

Greenbelt Elementary School added seven more names of volunteers to its recognition plaques at the annual Volunteer Appreciation Breakfast on May 22. The honorees have supported the school on a frequent basis over several years. Special recognition was given to Barbara Simon for 22 years of service. Those pictured (left to right) are: Laura O'Neil, Melissa Sites, Eva Choper, Kimberly Seidel (Principal), Anne Vore and Jordan Choper. The other honorees are Carol Bailey Brown and Kirsten Dabelko.

Boxwood Village Scholarship Offer

The Boxwood Village Civic Association is offering its annual scholarship to a resident of Boxwood Village. The scholarship is available to this year's high school graduates and to full time (12 credit hours per semester) undergraduate students.

The application form is available from Jean Cook (301-345-2597) or Judy Ott (301-474-0222) and must be returned by June 30. The scholarship committee reviews the applications and awards the scholarship.

The scholarship has been funded through a portion of the proceeds from the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Zoo Dip Booth, Boxwood Civic Association funds and private donations.

Green the Garbage

Americans generate around 250 million tons of trash annually. More than 25 percent of prepared food ends up in the trash. When it comes to portion size, Americans tend to overdo it. When food decomposes in landfills under anaerobic conditions, it contributes to global warming by producing methane. Order smaller portions at restaurants or split one entrée between two people. Take home leftovers in a reusable container.

Woods Walk Part 2 Sunday Morning

The Beaverdam Creek Watershed Watch Group (BCWWG) will hold a second Woods Walk with Joe Murray on Sunday, June 7 at 10 a.m. Murray is a naturalist whose training was at the University of Maryland, with indigenous elders of many North American tribes and with naturalist Tom Brown, Jr., one of the world's leading trackers and author of 19 books. Join Murray on Woods Walk Part II to learn more about the behavior of animals in the forest, caretaking of the forest, survival techniques and other woods information. Murray uses stories from the native way of teaching to help participants experience the woods in a new way.

Bring water; a notebook is also suggested. Dress for the woods and potential ticks. Meet at Northway extended near the ball fields.

For more information call Susan Barnett at 301-474-7465.

Host Homes Sought For Exchange Teens

World Heritage Student Exchange program is seeking local host families for high school boys and girls from France, Germany, Thailand, Japan, China, South Korea, Russia, Denmark and Italy for the 2009-2010 academic school year. Host families provide room, board and guidance. Couples, single parents and families with or without children in the home are all encouraged to apply. For details call Jo Butler at 1-800-888-9040 or visit www.world-heritage.org.

Climate Action Network On Keeping Cool

The Greenbelt Climate Action Network will present a program entitled "Keeping Cool at Home this Summer and Conserving Energy at the Same Time" on Wednesday, June 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center. A representative from Pepco will be present to suggest ways to reduce energy costs and stay cool by taking a few simple actions. Greenbelt residents Chris Logan and John Lippert will discuss issues concerning air conditioning efficiency and the use of fans and other energy saving and cooling technologies.

Co-sponsor Simplicity Matters Earth Institute will distribute its checklist of "Suggested Lifestyle Changes to Reduce Your Carbon Footprint." The group will then brainstorm and share ideas for additional ways to increase energy efficiency, help the planet and stay cool this summer.

For more information email srkane@gmail.com.

Eleanor's Visit Featured Sunday

A one-woman show of Eleanor Roosevelt will be performed by Suzan King at the Greenbelt Community Center on Sunday, June 7 at 2 p.m. The program lasts one hour, is free, and is a part of the Greenbelt Day celebration and the 2009 Maryland Humanities Council Chautauqua series entitled Rights and Reformers. At 3 p.m. the Greenbelt Concert Band will perform in the Community Center Gym. A program sponsored by the Greenbelt Museum offers visitors to make a rag rug trivet, a craft popular in the 1930s and 1940s.

Café Members Meeting Sunday

Members of the New Deal Café cooperative are reminded that there is a special membership meeting to discuss the temporary closure of the Café on Sunday, June 7 at 7 p.m. at the Café. Members are urged to arrive early, at 6:30 p.m. to sign in.

A group of members has petitioned to place a motion on the agenda. The lengthy details of the petition have been circulated on the Greenbelt Listserv.

Upcoming Music At the New Deal

The New Deal Café will be open again this Thursday and Friday, June 4 and 5 from 5 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, June 6 from 3 to 11 p.m.; and Sunday, June 7 from 4 to 8 p.m. Joe P of "I Like You" will host the popular Thursday Open Microphone session at 7 p.m. John Guernsey will play the piano from 6:30 to 8 p.m. both Friday and Saturday. The U-Liners play popular bluegrass Friday from 8 to 11 p.m. The Scrub Pines play acoustic Americana folk Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m.

Next Week

Next week Maureen Andary is scheduled to play/sing nostalgic indie/folk/showtunes on Tuesday, June 9 at 8 p.m. Brena Belly Dance will perform on Wednesday, June 10 at 7 p.m. The Zekiah Swamp Cats will play a local version of bluegrass on Friday, June 12 at 8 p.m.

Not for Seniors Only

Saturday, June 6 from 1 to 3 p.m. there will be a program in the senior classroom, Room 114, in the Community Center about pedestrian safety.

A Greenbelt police officer will speak on the topic. Also Chris Danielson from the National Federation of the Blind will inform attendees about bills before the House and Senate on automobile safety features. Included will be an effort to make "green" cars safer for pedestrians.

Get Active pedometers will be distributed. People are invited to walk around the community.

This program is sponsored by the Senior Citizens Advisory Committee. For more information call 240-542-2054.

Youngster Hosts Sought in Summer

Join thousands of volunteer host families throughout northeastern states and Canada to host New York City children from underprivileged communities through The Fresh Air Fund's Volunteer Host Family program. This year the Fund celebrates its 133rd summer of helping city youngsters enjoy new experiences like skipping rocks across a lake surface and running barefoot through the grass while making new friends. Fresh Air children on first-time visits to host families are 6 to 12 years old and stay for one to two weeks.

For more information contact Lisa Oakley at 202-244-8994 or The Fresh Air Fund at 800-367-0003. Learn more about the Volunteer Host Family program by visiting www.freshair.org.

Military Flyer Exhibit At Aviation Museum

From June 1 through November 30 the College Park Aviation Museum will display the exhibit, "Amid Cheers of Thousands" – The Wright Military Flyer at Fort Myer and College Park, 1909-2009.

This exhibit shows large-scale, richly detailed photographs of the Wright brothers' record-breaking flight trials at Fort Myer, Va., and pilot training at College Park, Md., 100 years ago. These successes resulted in the development of the world's first military airplane and the establishment of College Park as an airfield.

Drawn from several collections, the details of the images reveal the many facets of this milestone: the innovative flyer itself; the Wright brothers and their family; the Signal Corps officers flying for the first time; the President of the United States, his cabinet and leaders of Congress; and thousands of citizens from the Washington, D.C. area who came to witness history. The exhibition is organized by the College Park Aviation Museum and Paul Glenshaw; there is no extra charge with regular museum admission fee.

Museum Offers Film Series on Sundays

The College Park Aviation Museum's series of "Hollywood Flyers" movies will continue on Sunday, June 7 at 1 p.m. with the showing of "Explorers." In this film three young boys go on a fantastic interplanetary adventure. The movie is free with museum admission; lemonade and popcorn are also included.

Public May Comment To CALEA on Police

A team of assessors from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc. (CALEA) will arrive June 13 to examine all aspects of the Greenbelt Police Department's policy and procedures, management, operations and support services.

Verification by the team that the Greenbelt Police Department meets the commission's state-of-the-art standards is part of a voluntary process to gain accreditation – a highly prized recognition of law enforcement professional excellence. As part of the on-site assessment, agency employees and members of the community are invited to offer comments at a public information session on Monday, June 15 at 6 p.m. in the city council chambers at the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road.

If an individual who cannot speak at the public information session would like to provide comments to the assessment team, he or she may call 240-542-2102 on June 15 between 1 and 3 p.m. Telephone comments as well as appearances at the public information session are limited to 10 minutes and must address the agency's ability to comply with CALEA's standards.

Brendan Cusack Is 2009 Craig Memorial Scholar

by Doug Mangum

The David Craig Memorial Scholarship Fund has selected Brendan Michael Cusack as its 2009 scholarship award recipient. Cusack was selected after a lengthy review and discussion of the applicants. As in past selection nights, the excellence of the pool of candidates made it a difficult decision.

All this year's applicants are wonderful and worthy, demonstrating just how great the student body of ERHS is.

As for this year's winner of the David Craig Scholarship, Brendan Cusack is an amazing young man who left quite an impression on the selection committee due to his traits of perseverance, commitment to others, courage and intelligence. These traits were demonstrated prior to his high school experience when young Cusack endured an autoimmune disease. It was first discovered from a knee injury which halted his participation in several sports for two years. At that time he was very active in the College Park Boys and Girls Club soccer, baseball and bowling programs. Unable to perform on the field, he took to the sidelines and helped coach soccer for the club. The disease/disorder (CRMO) did not keep him from becoming a multi-talented, self-driven, family and community-oriented student athlete.

Other Activities

Brendan not only plays on the varsity baseball team, he is a musician, playing trumpet both for the school and the Lions Club Honors Band. Cusack is also an integral part of his faith community, lending leadership to the youth group on mission trips and for fundraising. Additionally, he works part time at a local restaurant, swims with the Knights of Columbus swim team, maintains a 4.0 GPA and serves as a role model all while being part of a loving and supportive family.

The night I presented his

scholarship award at the Senior Awards, Cusack displayed a quiet and comfortable demeanor when introducing me to his parents and older sister and his personality shone through his smile like that first burst of light at sunrise. Brendan's family beamed with pride sharing in the moment yet allowing the moment to be Brendan's, with his mom, dad and sister truly happy to see him rewarded for all his efforts.

Future Plans

Cusack plans to attend the University of Maryland in the fall in pursuit of a medical degree. His bout with adversity through the surgeries and therapy and medications impressed the scholarship committee because of his response to that adversity – a response of strength and courage; a response of hope and determination; a response by an individual as a member of the larger communal body. One of his traits was revealed in a reference letter that said, "I truly believe Brendan is the kind of guy that you would like your boys to grow up to be like."

Reunion

The David Craig committee will gather on Saturday, June 6 at 5 p.m. for its first recipient's reunion, at which Cusack's selection as the 24th recipient will also be celebrated.

Donations

The committee asks for continued support from the community. The goal is to grow the award to meet the needs of increasing college tuition costs. To inquire or contribute to the fund call 301-474-7874 or contact the David Craig Committee at P.O. Box 761, Greenbelt, MD 20768. All donations are tax deductible; the David Craig Memorial Scholarship Fund is recognized by the United Way Program #14153.

Doug Mangum is the president of the David Craig Memorial Scholarship Fund.

 COMMUNITY MEDIATION BOARD

with presentation of the colors by members of the Eleanor Roosevelt Junior ROTC, singing of the national anthem and the Pledge of Allegiance.

Attendees Welcomed

Linkenhoker welcomed attendees and introduced Mayor Judith Davis and Councilmembers Edward Putens, Konrad Herling and Rodney Roberts, as well as officials of the American Legion. Councilmember Leta Mach, who was unable to attend due to other commitments, sent her regards. Representing Ingrid Turner and the entire County Council was Thomas Dernoga of District 1.

In her opening remarks Linkenhoker recognized the work of the Girl Scouts and the Public Works Department for their refurbishing of the Veterans' Memorial area. She spoke of patriotism and how "deeply indebted" the country remains to the efforts of America's members of the armed forces, who were "ordinary Americans making extraordinary sacrifices."

Mayor Speaks

Davis began her remarks with some statistics she attributed to the Washington Post. In 1947, 65 percent of people in America reported that they or a family member had served in America's armed forces; in 2008, the number had dropped to 14 percent of those surveyed. In recognizing the efforts of the Girl and Boy Scouts, she remarked that they represent the generation who will honor future Memorial Days and reminded them that a soldier's greatest fear is that their sacrifices be forgotten.

Dernoga extended to Greenbelt the sentiments of Ingrid Turner, pointing out that she holds Memorial Day in special regard as she herself is a Navy veteran.

Thomas Dyson, representing the Greenbelt George H. Seal Memorial Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, read a poem entitled "Lest We Forget" and prodded the audience to assist returning veterans of the Iraq and Afghanistan wars - "the longest wars in our history."

Davis read a city proclamation honoring Memorial Day of 2009. Members of the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, Sons of the American Legion, Disabled Veterans and the Boy Scouts, assisted by Herling and Roberts, then placed wreaths at the Memorial.

Some People Don't Smile in Pictures . . .

Ask yourself if any of these areas may be affecting the beauty of your smile:

- The color or shape of your teeth
- Spaces or missing teeth
- Noticeable cavities or old dental work
- Uneven or unhealthy gums

If so, come into the offices of the McCarl Dental Group for a complete and comprehensive evaluation.

Nicole Burgess of Severna Park had severely discolored teeth from a very early age. Throughout her life, Nicole had been self-conscious of her smile. In just three short weeks, the McCarl Dental Group gave Nicole a beautiful smile and a new start in life! Call the McCarl Dental Group to see if a smile makeover could change your life.

It's never too late to give yourself a beautiful smile. For over three generations the McCarl family has provided a full range of dental services to Greenbelt and the surrounding communities. In the past, cosmetic dentistry was only for the wealthy. Today, however, cosmetic dentistry is affordable and available to everyone. Give someone you love the gift of a smile!

ACLU Annual Meeting To Be on June 16

On Tuesday, June 16 the Prince George's and Montgomery County chapters of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) will hold their annual meeting at 8 p.m. with a program titled "Don't Spy on Me: Speaking Up for the First Amendment and Saying No to Police Spying." The speaker is David Rocah, lead attorney for the ACLU in Maryland's political spying case against the Maryland State Police and one of the "Influential Marylanders for 2009" selected by the editorial staff of The Daily Record, a Maryland legal and business newspaper.

The event will be held at Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church, 3215 Powder Mill Road in Adelphi. There is a dinner and reception before the 8 p.m. meeting, for which there is a fee.

For more information or to make reservations (not needed for the program only) contact Allison Sachs at sachs@aclu-md.org.

Area Hosts Sought For High Schoolers

AFS-USA, a 501(c)3 nonprofit international high school student exchange for more than 60 years, is seeking families in this area to host high school students for an academic year or six months. Students arrive in August.

Families eligible to host include two-parent households with young children or teenagers, single-parent families, families with adopted children, foster parents and couples and single people who do not have children or who have grown children.

AFS students come from more than 40 countries and represent many different cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. Local AFS volunteers enroll students in high school and help students and their families to gain the most from their experience.

AFS also needs volunteer liaisons to work locally with families and their hosted students.

Anyone interested in learning more should visit www.afsusa.org/hostfamily or call 1-800-876-2377.

Saturday Activities In Old Town Bowie

Saturday, June 6 from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. is Antique Bicycle Day at the A&M Cycle display of 100 years of bicycling (1887 to 1987) in Old Town Bowie.

See an 1887 Columbia High Wheeler, late '70s Schwinn Stingrays and Fastbacks and over 60 antique bikes from the '30s, '40s and '50s. A&M Cycle is at 13002 Ninth Street.

The Railroad Museum offers tours of a 1992 caboose from noon to 4 p.m. Visitors can also see passing trains from the observation station.

Old Town Bowie Welcome Center Heritage and Children's Museum is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For more information call Michael DeNardo at 301-262-4343.

Historical Film Marks Airport Centennial

For the rest of this year a movie, "College Park Airport: The Early Years," will be shown every Friday at 1 p.m. in the College Park Aviation Museum. The movie is free with museum admission.

P.I.E. Students Need Host Homes

The Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) is seeking host homes for foreign high school students coming to the U.S. for academic semester and year homestay programs. The students are between 15 and 18, English-speaking, have their own spending money, accident and health insurance and are eager to share cultural experiences with American host families. Stays range from one semester to a full academic year. The students will attend local public and private high schools.

P.I.E. representatives match students to host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective families can review student applications to select a good match. Host families include single parent homes, childless couples, retired couples or large families. P.I.E. host families are eligible to claim a monthly charitable contribution deduction on itemized tax returns for each month hosting a sponsored student.

P.I.E. students come from Germany, the former Soviet Union, Venezuela, Argentina, Brazil, Hungary, Korea, Mexico, Australia, China and other countries, as well as two special government-funded programs bringing scholarship students from the newly independent states of the former Soviet Union and also from predominantly Islamic countries such as Yemen, Syria, Jordan, Morocco, Kuwait, Iraq and Qatar.

Those interested in being hosts are asked to contact P.I.E. by calling 1-866-546-1402.

Botanic Garden Holds Chocolate Demo

On Wednesday, June 10 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. the U.S. Botanic Garden will hold a Cooking Demonstration, "Chocolate, Chocolate and More Chocolate!" with Tania Mercer, chef, instructor and nutrition advisor.

Mercer will demonstrate how to make grilled shrimp in mole sauce, really raw cacao and coconut chocolate kisses and the ultimate chocolate frozen coffee. After the demonstration take the time to explore the exhibit "The New Age of Chocolate."

This event is free but pre-registration is required. Call 202-225-1116.

American Legion Sponsors Boys State

The American Legion will sponsor a free week-long summer leadership program called Boys State. This year's program will be held at McDaniel College in Westminster, Md. from June 21 to 27. High school juniors interested in a leadership opportunity should see their school guidance counselor for more information.

Cooperative Effort to Find Many Greenbelt Voices

by Dirk R'kingsley

Calling all Greenbelters, past and present, from all areas of Greenbelt – Transitions Theater, in association with Transitions Narrative Coaching Institute (TNCI), is seeking personal stories and anecdotes from all Greenbelters. These stories will share how their lives changed when they transitioned to life in our town or how Greenbelters rally during times of celebration or sadness.

Transitions Theater's mission statement is dedicated "to simultaneously engage, empower and educate performers and audience members on life transitions through theatrical presentation." How do the two organizations operate in concert? Founder Melissa "Misha" R'kingsley explains, "Transitions Narrative Coaching Institute (TNCI) helps people who are engaged with a life transition. Rooted in the belief that how a person perceives the event, its story, decides whether the individual emerges emotionally stronger or depleted as a result. TNCI works to find the hope, optimism and resiliency within the story. Transitions Theater later collaborates with TNCI by turning these narratives into monologues (changing individual identifiers) and stages them in a performance centered on a specific theme (i.e.: Life in Greenbelt)."

Cooperating sister organizations Transitions Theater and TNCI are the brainchild of R'kingsley, an actor, director, educator and social worker specializing in drama and play therapies. R'kingsley's passion from working with living stage and the Art and Drama Therapy Institute was re-ignited during her recent collaboration with Amethyst Dwyer on Dwyer's acclaimed production of the "Vagina Monologues" at the Greenbelt Arts Center. Seeking to create a collaborative environment, R'kingsley and Dwyer joined forces with Julie Vianello, Brandon Wagner, Dorian Winterfeld and Dirk R'kingsley.

Those wishing to volunteer their stories in Greenbelt Voices should contact Transitions Theater and TNCI at 240-485-4025 or email transitionstheater@gmail.com. Neither TNCI nor Transitions Theater will receive any monetary compensation for sessions to compose stories with interested individuals for this premiere performance. Greenbelt Voices is slated for public performance in February 2010 at the Greenbelt Arts Center. After production costs, 50 percent of the ticket sales will benefit the Greenbelt Arts Center, 25 percent will benefit Transitions Theater, Inc., and 25 percent will be donated to a local social services charity. Charities wishing to inquire about receiving donations are asked to contact Transitions using the above contact information.

Dirk R'kingsley is a writer and a member of the Board of Directors for Transitions Theater.

Choir Concert Will Benefit Its Historic Piano Upkeep

by Jeri Holloway

On Sunday afternoon, June 14 at 4 p.m., the Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church choir will present a concert featuring traditional liturgical repertoire, art songs, spirituals and Broadway tunes. The concert benefits the Piano Restoration Fund for repairs and maintenance on the beautiful 1904 Mason & Hamlin 9-foot grand piano that resides in the Meeting House of the church. The piano has provided wonderful music for the church and many area musicians who use it for recital purposes. Because of its age, it is in need of some tender loving care.

Piano Legend

This fine instrument has a legend of its own and has connections to the Greenbelt Community. The piano is dedicated to the late Robert J. Holloway, who was the music director at Paint Branch Church for 26 years and was a resident of Greenbelt. It was played by the late Albert Herling, an early and prominent Greenbelt citizen at the dedication of the new church building in 1991.

Greenbelt piano technician Michael Travis was on the piano search committee along with Al Herling, Bob Holloway and Jim Weston. That committee helped the church make the decision to purchase this piano for a mere $10,000 in 1991. Mason & Hamlin pianos were very famous during the early part of the 20th century and are still an American piano company. They were known to be the favorite piano of Rachmaninoff, Russian composer/pianist and the French composer Maurice Ravel.

During the late 1980s when the "new" Meeting House of Paint Branch Church was under construction, it was Holloway's dream to have a fine grand piano for the new building. The choir established a fund to purchase a piano for the building honoring Bob at his 20th anniversary as music director in 1988. After that, the choir joined forces to hold dinners with musical entertainment to continue to earn money for the purchase of a piano. The tradition of the choir has always been musical excellence as well as finding ways to support the piano. By the time the building was ready for occupancy, enough funds were available and Holloway was proud that the tradition of the dream of a fine music program in a beautiful space would continue on with a wonderful instrument. The current music director, David Chapman, leads a terrific music program and the arts committee provides a full range of recitals throughout the year.

Plan to attend and hear wonderful choral music in an inspiring setting. A reception will follow the concert. A freewill offering will be accepted at the door. Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church is located at 3215 Powder Mill Road in Adelphi. The phone number is 301-937-3666.

City Notes

Animal Control responded to a wildlife call for a mother duck hit by a car. Her ducklings were transported to a specialist.

Planning researched pedestrian-activated signal devices for potential use at St. Hugh's crosswalk, met with a GHI resident who is concerned about city right-of-way that goes through his house and also met with an engineering consultant to discuss potential survey work associated with the GHI right-of-way issue.

Public Works Special Details crew assisted with the water line at Buddy Attick Park for the new restroom facility.

Recreation staff reports that due to wet weather and poor field conditions, the start of the 2009 Coed Adult Kickball League was delayed a week. Games will begin on Thursday, June 4 with seven teams registered for the league. Registrations for the 2009 Men's Summer Basketball League are coming in and it appears that the league will have enough teams to run. This is encouraging after the 2009 Winter League was cancelled due to low registration.

Springhill Lake Recreation Center reports that after several meetings with M-NCPPC, Campfire USA and Empirian Village staff to review summer programs, a calendar of events has been created. There will be programs for six weeks this summer for ages 3 to 17 at minimal-to-no-cost to Empirian Village residents.
