GREENBELT, MARYLAND

WAGSTAFF TO FILL CO-OP BOARD VACANCY

To fill the vacancies created by the recent resignation of Sherrod E. East, the board of directors of the Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., last week appointed Donald H. Wagstaff as a member of the board and selected Mrs. Carnie Harper as vice-president of the organization. There were no other nominations for either position. A unanimous vote was cast in each case.

Mr. Wagstaff will fill the office for the unexpired term, or DONALD H.WAGSTAFF until the second annual meeting of the stockholders in January, inasmuch as Mr. East was elected for a one-year term last January.

Residing at 2-C Woodland Way, Mr. Wagstaff has been a resident of Greenbelt since November 1937. He was actively interested in the cooperative here in the early days of the community and was one of the members of the Citizens Association's original advisory committee on cooperatives, out of which finally grew the Cooperative Organizing Committee.

Although Mr. Wagstaff maintained an interest in the work being done, his time was taken up with school work and he did not continue as an active participant in the organization of the local consumers cooperative. Mr. Wagstaff has just completed a 3-year course in accounting and business administration at the Benjamin Franklin University in Washington and will be graduated next month. Mr. Wagstaff was an officer of the Greenbelt Citizens Association from its inception until last November. As its vice-president, he stepped into the presidency when President Frank J. Lastner resigned early last fall, and served out his predecessor's unexpired term of about three months.

The Greenbelt branch of the Latter Day Saints Church was organized in September 1938. Mr. Wagstaff became its first president and has served in that capacity ever since.

Regular semi-monthly meeting dates of the board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services have been changed to the first Saturday after the first Tuesday and the fourth Tuesday of each month. They were previously the first Saturday and third Tuesday.

Article by O. K. Fulmer Proves Super Block Savings

Greenbelt is scheduled to break into print again, this time from the architect's point of view. An article has been prepared for the Architectural Forum, July issue, for the Planners Journal and the A-merican City, by O. K. Fulmer. In it Mr. Fulmer proves, with a series of compar-ative figures and diagrams, that the Greenbelt (or super block) system is less costly for suburban home building than the standard gridiron block. In fact, the article shows that the super block plan is over $200 less expensive per unit than the other plan.

For the 152 homes which make up the super block the saving is $30,687.28 as compared with an equal number of units in the other plan.

Savings affected in walks, driveways, streets, water and sanitary systems and garages make up the difference.

TAX ORDINANCE FOUND TO BE ILLEGAL

By Frank Loftus

The much discussed tax ordinance, which would have exempted automobiles from the personal property tax was "tabled" indefinitely at the last meeting of the Town Council after it was found that the present personal-property tax ordinance is illegal.

A letter from Town Solicitor Charles C. Marbury pointed out that according to Article 81 of the Anontated Maryland Code, cities and towns in the State of Maryland could not set the rate of personal property tax exemption at less than $500. Under the ordinance now in effect in Greenbelt, there is only a $100 exemption allowed.

Realizing the illegality of the present ordinance, the Council organized a special "committee-of-thewhole" to study and draft a new tax ordinance. This committee will try to devise the most equitable and fair tax on personal property. This does not neces-sarily mean, however, that the $100 exemption will be discarded since there is a possibility that the State Senate will be asked to pass a bill changing the charter of the Town of Greenbelt to allow the Council to set a $100 exemption on personal property. On the other hand the committee may find it adwisable to allow some other method of taxation. Most any action the committee takes will probably require some action by the State Legislature.

Under the State law, automobiles are excluded from exemption in the $500 limit. Mayor George A. Warner presented for first reading an ordinance which would set the exemption at $500 and include automobiles with household effects in the exemption. This ordinance, if passed would make the present personal property tax ordinance legal under the State law.

It was pointed out that at present there are towns in Maryland that have a $100 exemption and are "getting away with it".

Mayor Warner was optimistic that the situation will be adjusted, and sounded this note when he stated: "Belated knowledge that our present tax ordinance is invalid is unfortunate, both from the resulting loss of anticipated revenue to the Town, and the fact that our citizens have paid their personal property taxes on a basis of $100 exemption on household effects rather than the $500 exemption required by State law.

"I have confidence that the Council, acting as a committee-of-the-whole, will make every possible at-tempt to provide a workable substitute for the present ordinance."

POOL OPENING DELAYED UNTIL SATURDAY

The swimming pool will not open on Memorial Day as previously announced, due to the paint which will not be thoroughly dry before Saturday.

The paint which was put on the sides and bottom of the pool last season proved to be of an inferior quality and the contractor was going to repaint the pool with a different paint this year sometime before the pool opened on May 30. Damp and cold wea-ther prevented the cement from drying out thoroughly enough for painting, however, and the job was delayed.

The pool will open not later than Saturday.

There will be two life guards on duty at all times.

There will be five classes: beginners, intermediate, advanced, diving, and life saving. Classes will be held in the morning for women and children. Evening classes, from 7 to 8, Monday, Wed-nesday, and Friday will be for adults, particularly those who work during the day. The life saving class will be offered whenever there is sufficient registration, perhaps not more than once or twice during the summer.

ALL GREENBELT UNITES IN PEACE DRIVE

Drawn together by a common desire to keep America out of foreign wars, leaders of approximately 15 different groups in Greenbelt met last Wednesday to formulate plans for action.

A mass meeting under the auspices of the Citizens Association was tentatively scheduled for June 3, if a prominent speaker could be secured by that date, to clarify the relation of the United States to the present war and to answer questions from the floor. Panel discussions of the Chicago Round Table variety were also planned in which Greenbelt citizens should take part.

Committees were appointed to plan the program for the general meeting and to draw up a resolution for its approval, to be sent to the President and Congress. A drive to encourage individual letters to Senators and Representatives was suggested.

Those attending the meeting were Joseph Bargas, George and Claire Warner, Mrs. Charles Fitch, Mary Lloyd Willis, Rev. Robert Kincheloe, Manny and Helen Gerst, Sherrod East, Joe and Claire Still, Charles Grossman, Dorothea Ford, Elizabeth Yuretich, Dr. James McCarl, Dayton and Anne Hull, Don and Evelyn Cooper, Dick and Lucile Cooper, Nat Schein, Betsy Woodman, Ellen Krebs, Leah Chinitz, William Stewart, and Bertha Maryn. Councilman Ed Walther presided, while Dr. Joseph Silagy was appointed secretary of the group.

It is expected that the group will act in the capacity of special sub-committee within the Association's education committee, which Dr. Walther heads.

Different points of view brought out at the meeting were that the group should agree on a main thesis and steer clear of side issues, that unless there was some discussion of the side issues the group would not know enough about each other to work effectively together, that action rather than academic theorizing was important, that the group should af-filiate with other groups working towards the same objective.

ORPHANS MAY VISIT

Another important item of business on the Citi-zens Association calendar concerns proposed arrangements for a vacation-visit to our community of a number of orphans, and/or refugee children to be put under the care of local families or couples for one week sometime during the summer months.

Helen Chasanow, Reverend Kincheloe and others, have been working out possible arrangements.

Also on the Association program are reports of committees, and the next association dance (tentatively scheduled for June 15) will be reported on Ways and Means committee chairman James C. Smith has mentioned his committee's hopes that as much cooperation is obtained in future dances as was provided by Mrs. Herbert Hall, Sr., Anthony Madden, Lee Rice, Paul Lung, Thomas Ricker, Helmuth Bentien, Oscar Zoellner, the Warners, Kinsleys, G. M. Gerst and Lucy Ann Holloway in the ticket sales for the May dance.

The public relations committee of the Citizens Association, having studied the United States Chamber's of Commerce recently printed outline on "Col-lectivism and Class Warfare", in which Greenbelt was referred to, will report the outcome of the study and relate its handling of the problem.

Because of the nature of the highly interesting subjects to be placed before the townspeople at this Monday gathering, President Bargas predicts a large attendance-which is as might be expected in a community of civic-minded and straight-thinking people.

Legion Dance Is Holiday Event

Mrs. Ella Roller introduced the evening's topic "Health and Recreation" and presented the speakers, the first being Dr. Joseph Silagy, speaking on re-creation and its relation to health. The two ideals toward which to work, Dr. Silagy explained are conditioning with a view to improvement in health and prevention of accidents. He advocated a gradual approach to summer to avoid sunburn, increasing exercise slowly, and fortifying the body by sensible (Continued on Page 3)

Paper Control Under Review

A joint meeting of the Journalistic Club and the Cooperator staff meets Wednesday night to consider possible changes in control of the paper.

The report of a special committee will present comparative advantages of (1) continuing the present Journalistic Club control, (2) forming a producer's cooperative limited to staff members, (3) turning over the management to the Town Council, Greenbelt Consumer Services Inc., or the Greenbelt Citizens Association.

The meeting will be held at 8 P.M. in the Cooperator office over the Variety Store.

COLD WEATHER REDUCES MARYLAND CRAB CATCHES

Edwin Warfield, State Conservation Commission chairman, reports that the cold weather has killed many of the large crabs in Maryland waters. Scheduled to come out of hibernation May 1, the hard and soft-shelled crabs have only recently made their appearance.

In nearby Virginia the cold weather of March and April more than halved a contemplated production of 11,000,000 shad in the fish hatchery program of the State Commission of Fisheries.

LABELS ARE JUDGED "MISBRANDED"

The joint program "Medicine Show" recently put on by the education committees of the Health Association and Greenbelt Consumer Services calling attention to the hazards of certain drugs and patent medicines, was several days ahead of the Food and Drug Administration and its notices of judgment on the same subject.

It its May issue of notices of judgment on misbranded drugs and devices, there are included among other things headache remedies, pain relievers, sedatives and reducing preparations, which were seized by the Administration.

In the case of headache remedies and pain killers, the ingredients (most of them containing acetanilid, aspirin and caffeine) were considered dangerous to health if used in the dosages or frequency or duration as prescribed on labels. The labels failed to reveal consequences resulting from their use, and the products were therefore considered misbranded.

The reducing preparations mentioned contained mixtures of thyroid and phenolphthalein and were seized for the same reason as pain killers,

MONTGOMERY COUNTY CRIME IS ON DECREASE

Chief of Police Charles M. Orme reports that crime is on the decrease in Montgomery County, despite increases in neighboring jurisdictions. He stated that the "fairness and cooperation of the upper branch of our judicial government has been an important factor ...with the result that the criminal element from other jurisdictions is not anxious to extend its operations into Montgomery County".

STATE DEMOCRATS TO BACK TYDINGS

Meeting in Baltimore last Wednesday, the Democratic State Convention instructed its delegates to the Chicago National Convention to nominate Senior Senator Millard E. Tydings for President, unless the President accepts third term nomination, in which event the delegates "are free as individuals to vote on the first ballot for whomever they choose."

The resolution pointed out that a majority of delegates to the Democratic national convention from other states were already instructed or pledged to vote for Roosevelt for renomination on the first ballot.

HEALTH DIRECTOR URGES CRISIS GARDENS

Baltimore's Health Department Director, Dr. R. H. Riley has suggested that Maryland citizens plant "crisis gardens" to guard against possible sky-rocketing wartime prices.

An acre of land with four persons working it could produce enough food---four leafy vegetables, three root, two pod, and three or four others---to provide the family with security, said Dr. Riley.

GIRL SCOUTS ARE HOSTESSES TO MOTHERS

Troop 17 of the Greenbelt Girl Scouts will be hostesses at an evening tea of their mothers tonight in the social room. The refreshments are in charge of the patrol working on a hostess badge. The tea will be preceded by a program at which badges will be presented to all girls who have successfully filled the requirements.

COOPERATOR GETS LATEST WEATHER REPORT

Last Monday the Cooperator phoned the United States Weather Bureau to ask the cause of the bad weather that was making everybody so mad, and learned that the culprit was a storm which breezed up from San Juan and Puerto Rico a week ago last Sunday.

The storm stalled around off the Virginia coast, then moved slowly up to New England water, losing much of its force, but remaining a very effective weather dampener, for all that. The cold, wet air emanating from the storm area, plus the fact that no dispelling winds were blowing in from the west, equalled bad weather for everyone between the Appalachians and the Atlantic coast, from Tennessee to Maine. The regions around the Great Lakes were also having disagreeable weather. ----Photo by Mead

SWIMMING

The day was bright and sunny With a balmy summer breeze As the boys went tramping gally, Among the budding trees.

Their hearts were light and happy As they whistled on their way, Thinking not of law or rules On this fateful summer day.

By chance, they came upon the lake, So quiet, so calm and cool, And so decided to take a dip Before they went to school.

Their swim was short and tragic As they heard an ominous sound, For who was standing on the bank But the law, of Greenbelt town.

But now they've learned their lesson And are finishing up in school, While looking forward to happier days In the Greenbelt swimming pool.

HEBREW CONGREGATION NEWS

The First Anniversary Party of the Hebrew Congregation was attended by 65 local residents, and proved to be an even greater success than was expected.

The festivities commenced with various members taking part in an historical sketch which depicted the first year's trials and tribulations of the Congregation. Despite the fact the spotlight failed at a crucial moment and the audition system worked spasmodically, the skit's excellent humor more than offset the stage difficulties.

Mrs. Lillian Schwartz rendered some vocal selections, assisted at the piano by Harry Fleisher.

A major part of the entertainment was the moving pictures of the Purim Party and Sunday School. Theses were followed by refreshments and a square dance.

Regular services of the Greenbelt Hebrew Congregation will be held in the music room tomorrow at 9 P.M. Ben Goodman will conduct the services and H. Kramer, a resident of Greenbelt who has travelled in Palestine, will deliver a sermon.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hebrew Congregation will be held Tuesday, June 4, at the home of Mrs. Sara Axelrod, 29-A Ridge Road, at 8:30 P.M. The election of officers will take place at their meeting.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and the Mayor F. H. Tryouts will be held at Camp Ritchie, Maryland, on July 14, but June 2 and 23 are dates open for practice shooting at Ritchie.

diet. A thorough physical examination is recommended for those who have been ill during the winter. Children with any disorders should be kept out of the pool, and they should be taught to use showers and foot baths, and to avoid staying in the water too long.

Mr. Vincent Holochwost outlined the recreation program for summer. All swimming classes are to be held in the morning except for evening classes for employed persons. The other activities will include softball, boating and fishing, archery for children of seventh grade or over, tennis, volleyball, paddle tennis, badminton, horseshoes, and hiking. Playground supervision will include hand crafts for children at least five years old.

Miss Doris Dungan spoke on recreation from a safety angle, especially, that using playground equipment properly will promote safety. There will be no swimming in the lake at anytime, and no child under five should enter the large pool without an adult, and none over seven should use the small pool.

Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer invitedall mothers to bring questions or suggestions regarding children's playground supervision to her office.

ground supervision to her office. Mrs. Eva Cook of Baltimore developed the topic "Does Wholesome Recreation Lead to Healthful Living?" Mrs. Cook believes that any plan of living should include recreation. She also spoke of the importance of the summer round-up. She suggested tuberculin tests for high school students before entering athletics.

Mr. Herbert Hall, Sr. played several accordian solos including his famous "Laughing Song".

TOWN COUNCIL

Councilman Thomas B. Ricker was also optimistic and said, "I am happy to say that I believe in all probability that after extensive study and discussion, and revealing of facts, the Town Council will be able to adopt a tax ordinance which will prove far more equitable than the present ordinance."

At the same meeting, the Council passed an amend-ment to the new public health ordinance which will allow Town Manager Roy S. Braden to choose members from organizations other than those specified in the ordinance to serve on the "Advisory Public Health Committee", which will advise the town manager on matters pertaining to public health. George Bauer presented a resolution that the Town "furnish all necessary medical attention or hospitalization required by any resident who is injured while participating in any sport on a team which is repre-senting the Town of Greenbelt." The Council decided that probably the fairest and most feasible plan would be for the Town to pay for X-rays of injured players. Town Manager Braden was instructed to look into the matter. A housing committee was appointed to study and to expedite the building of private homes in Greenbelt. This committee will work with and include the housing committee of the Citizens Association, headed by Dayton Hull. The Council committee includes Mayor Warner and Councilmen Gawthrop and Walther.

Memorial Day

To the memory of 126,000 men who died to "make the world safe for democracy" ... we offer our humble apologies, and pledge that it shall not happen again.

War Costs

The American Revolution is the only one of this country's wars which has been paid for in.full. According to "The Cost of War", written by Thomas J. Watson, the costs of the Revolution were finally liquidated in 1906. None of our other six major wars have been paid for, and the costs are still mounting from interest charges and increasing pensions.

Bonuses and pensions alone for the major wars of the United States total as follows:

| Revolution                   | $70,000,000           |
|------------------------------|------------------------|
| War of 1812                  | 46,200,000             |

costly period of warfare while we are still paying for the last six?

$ 30 Damage

In the first two years since the construction of Greenbelt was completed the total fire damage for the entire town has been a little under $30.

This figure released by Wallace Mabee, director of public safety, is unique. At a time when our me-tropolitan neighbor, Washington, is seething with indignation at recent fires which were costly in lives and money there is satisfaction in pointing a way out of this tragedy.

People don't have to live in firetraps...if they will demand safe housing. But the whisper must become a shout-the shout of 12 million families now living in unsanitary and dangerous houses.

Greenbelt fire insurance rates, ranging from eight to 28 cents per $100, are the lowest in the country for two reasons. Few towns of our size have the fire

Pride and Prejudice (Part 1)

By A. Arundel Not all the old buildings still standing in Annapolis recall brave historic deeds. The most beautiful of them were built as homes, and in some of them descendants of the original owners still live and guard the inner beauty of the houses for family eyes alone. One that the public can view today but perhaps for only a few months more will strike a chord in all romantic hearts. The old Hammond-Harwood house at the southwest juncture of Maryland Avenue and King George Street, is the most beautiful Georgian house in our country.

Old homes rouse romantic curiosity in almost every heart and send the mind wandering down delightful paths of speculation about people who have lived within the walls. Who were they? Were their lives gracious and well-ordered? Were their love affairs happily consummated or terminated by tragedy? Fortunately for the romantics the known history of the Hammond-Harwood house begins with a tale of unhappy love and ends with another blighted love affair nearly a 150 years later.

In 1774 Mathias Hammond, a lawyer, commissioned William Buckland, whose story must find a place in this series at a later date, to build him a house to which he could bring his promised wife. Buckland died soon after building operations started. Had he lived, Mr. Hammond might have been content to leave the supervision to the master architect, and he himself could have married and lived happily ever after in true story book tradition. But in 1777 his flan-cee broke their engagement. Ancient gossip blamed the mansion for occupying so much of Mr. Hammond's thought and time that he was remiss in the gallantries of a plighted lover.

The mansion is such a beautiful belle among the famous buildings of that period that it is not surprising that Mr. Hammond lost his heart to her. Legend differs about what happened to the house when it was finally completed in 1782. Some sources claim that Mr. Hammond lived there, used one of the octagonal wings as his law office, filled the empty hours of his bachelorhood in patriotic actions as a leading member of the Sons of Liberty, and willed the property to a nephew, Philip Hammond. Another story relates that he was unable to live alone in the house where he had hoped to find marital felicity, and that he soon sold the property to Jeremiah Townley Chase, the Chief Justice of Maryland. Romantics will prefer the latter story. When the last owner of the house died, two keys were found under a loose brick in the cellar. One was labeled "To the Secret Chamber"; the other, "To the Secret Burying Place". These keys revived the faint gossip that Hammond's fiancee, repenting of her rash jilting, had begged to be buried on the grounds of the home she could not wait for. Exploration of the garden yielded only a few bricks but not the type, or enough of them, that are associated with crypts.

The crude spade of an investigator destroyed this lovely fancied ending to the Hammond romance.

Standing in front of the house it is easy to believe the story that Thomas Jefferson was so impressed when he first saw it that he sat down across the street and sketched the front view. The house follows the general style of the time, a large main section connected by covered passages with two side wings lower than the main building. Oddly enough, the left wing, supposed to be Hammond's office, was never connected with the main house although the passage is there. A friend of Mr. Hammond, Edward Lloyd, was already occupying the three-storied Chase house across the street. Again one must choose between two different stories to decide why the Hammond house is only two stories high. Some authorities state that Mr. Lloyd requested Mr. Hammond not to let his home obstruct the view of the bay from his own upper stories and offered to defray the expense of building the wings to make up for lost space. Others insist that Mr. Hammond decided not to interfere with his neighbor's pleasure without being asked. But this Georgian mansion is none the less graceful and stately with its two floors and scant attic space.

Letters to Editor

A BOY'S EYE VIEW ON THE WAR

To the Editor:

They say a fool is a person that mistakes twice. America made one mistake, entering the first World War. Now there is a second World War. Are we going to make that same mistake again? You may ask, "What has a kid like you got to do about this War?" I will answer by asking you, "What happened to the country years after the last War?" We had a great depression. Don't forget by that time us kids will be older and it will be our problem. Aren't you going to spare us this?

You know the thing that gets me about some of you grown ups is that you want to go over and help solve Europe's problems when you can't even solve your own. You older people are all up in arms after hearing stories and seeing pictures of the poor refugees of invaded countries. But you've forgotten about the poor people of our own slum districts. When you see pictures of children of other lands with ragged clothes and starving faces, you fail to remember that that problem also exists in this country.

I remember seeing a picture of an English Tommy coming home after a battle. It showed him with his arms out, reaching for a small child, his son. It made quite a discussion around our neighborhood and I'll admit it's pretty sad. But it is not as tragic as some of the scenes I've seen in our own Washington, D.C. Lately there has been a discussion about Mr. Roosevelt's defense program. It is estimated that each family in the United States will have to pay approximately $7.50 a piece for the defense program. And I think any American should be glad to pay that much to preserve our freedom and give us protection.

I'll say just one thing, when the drums are pounding and the bands start playing and all those atrocity stories start pouring in, "Stop and think, about us kids".

---- G. Douglas Warner

JOIN THE ARMY To the Editor:

In referring to your article of the "Greenbelt Leaders' Opinion on War", I should like to make a comment on one person's article. In his statement he said if every family would contribute $7.75 toward the cause we wouldn't have to borrow the money. What I would like to know is did that person stop to think of all the families who haven't $7.75 to spend on themselves, much less give to our country? I think as far as we are concerned our President can take care of our defenses in his own way, but in case he needs our help then we shall step forward and help. Until then don't you think it would be better if we let the President handle things in his own way and keep our opinions to ourselves. Also, that person could do more by joining the Army or Marine Reserves than by standing on the sidelines waving the flag and telling our fellow citizens what should be done.

- Mrs. Jos. Macchio

ANOTHER POINT OF VIEW

To the Editor: Perhaps you would care to hear what view a less responsible Greenbelt resident (but one likely sub-ject to a first draft) takes of "war and peace" and

"a world I never made". The realities of modern warfare are hardly more monstrous than peace terms dictated by modern victors---victors by virtue of such gigantic expenditures and exertion. Moreover, a merciful peace, understanding and forgiveness seem equally alien to the Duffs and to the Adolfs. This carnage must be stopped; but it is equally clear that a dictated peace must be precluded.

The problem is, how to realize both these imperatives. Only one realistic and practicable instrument, for realizing these comes to mind-compulsory arbitration. With the United States as sponsor, most of the non-belligerents could be interested into constituting themselves a court of arbitration, and direct the warring nations to submit to them their grievances. The power and prestige of such neutral American states, besides the U.S.A.) could compel submission to their arbitration. The belligerents would certainly submit, for none of their governments, perhaps indeed none of their social systems, could survive a refusal, so fearful are this war and its possible consequences to their peoples. The moral course for the United States seems clear: meet with the other non-belligerents to set up a court of arbitration, while something can yet be salvaged of the wrecking of mankind. This slight aggressive would cost us nothing. Moreover we would be risking nothing thereby. And it might well prove to be the offense destined to eliminate the need for our projected costly defense --- and second crusade to France.

fighting equipment that we have here; even fewer communities are built for the safety and comfort of their inhabitants.

When we stop building for speculation and quick profits, and substitute instead planned communities where families can live in healthful decency and safety we shall cut fire insurance rates elsewhere, and we shall slash the fire losses of other towns to $30, and we shall save ten thousand lives.

A New Editor

A well-ordered organization shows little effect from a change of leadership.

Mrs. Isaac Schwartz takes over the editorship next week as the culmination of 22 years' work on the Cooperator staff. Few leaders in Greenbelt can offer such a record of devotion to a community enterprise.

The Cooperator, however, is not a one-person job. Nearly 50 residents pool their time and effort each week to give you your town news and opinion, delivered free to your door. With summer coming on some of these staff members will be leaving for vacations. Vacancies will have to be filled by you and your neighbors if your paper is to continue and improve.

The office door is open. No previous experience is required. Can we look for you next Saturday or Monday evening?

To the Editor:

I know I can speak for both the board of directors and the management of Greenbelt Consumer Services in heartily agreeing with Mr. Stainback that no one should feel under any moral compulsion to purchase at the local stores. We feel that the local stores can and should stand or fall on the merit of the services rendered.

With the volume of business our food store is now doing, its prices and quality should meet chain store competition. Both the management and the board have made frequent checks on prices, and both believe that our prices and quality are in line with competition-but there is no reason for one who does not share this opinion to patronize the local stores.

Because of the number of items, and the frequency of price changes on items handled in food stores, some items will at some times be out of line. The management and the board's Price Checking Committee will appreciate very much specific information from customers concerning such items.

The Price Checking Committee (under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carnie Harper, Greenbelt 3077) earnestly requests anyone who believes local prices or quality are not satisfactory to contact the Committee and arrange to take part in a price checking trip, suggesting, if a typical shopping list. if desired, stores to visit and a

LUCILLE COOPER WILL GIVE BOOK REVIEW

Mrs. Lucile Cooper will review "How Green Was My Valley" by Richard Llewellyn at the next regular meeting of the Book Club, June 5, at 8 P.M. in room 200 of the Elementary School.

This novel is a portrayal of the lives of coal miners and their families in South Wales in the period of 50 years ago. It should be of particular in-terest to everyone at this time when the future of Great Britain as well as Wales hangs in the balance.

MEMORIAL DAY MOVIE IS "ALL QUIET"

"All Quiet on the Western Front", with references to the present crisis recently inserted in the pic-ture, is being shown for a one-day revival on Memor-ial Day, Thursday, May 30, at the Greenbelt Theater.

It will be an uncut version of the picture, it was stated, and is being shown at the request of persons interested in forming an anti-war group in Greenbelt.

Have you bought your swimming pool pass yet?

Community Health

By Dr. S. R. Berenberg, Director Department of Public Health

Some people find the Greenbelt ordinance requiring the registration of births and deaths with the Town Clerk a nuisance. Such people do not understand the usefulness of such records or they would not grumble about them.

Birth and death records are termed "vital statistics," and the name is very descriptive. Such facts are vital to the community and the nation. Perhaps nowhere else does that phrase mean as much today as in our own town. All of us are prone to generalize, even crack jokes, about the great number of babies in Greenbelt. Most of us accept without question the idea that better housing, access to fresh air, sunlight, and recreation facilities are incentives to families to have children, and that such conditions dominimize illnesses among children and adults. Yet actually without accurate records we would not know if more babies are born here than elsewhere among the same age and income level groups. Nor without a record of the deaths that occur could we estimate the influence of healthful surroundings in reducing the child mortality rate or prolonging the life span of adults.

The vital statistics gathered in our town records for a long enough period of time should furnish ar-guments that will help determine the future of housing in the United States. Side by side with the figures of comparable groups in cities, small towns, mining towns and farm areas the truth of our generalizations will be tested. Such figures plus the reports of communicable diseases to the Department of Public Health will provide important research material. For, armed with accurate knowledge, with unassailable figures, health and housing agencies can proceed with their plans more quickly and surely. Such statistics will help prove whether good housing is good health.

Living in Greenbelt, privileged to be a pioneering member of a well-housed, planned community entails a few responsibilities. Not the least of these is to compile the evidence which will result in thousands of Greenbelts bringing health, secur-ity and happiness to millions of our fellow Americans.

In last week's article about spotted fever there was a slight bit important typographical error. The next to the last paragraph should read .. "If within four to twelve days" ... not hours.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH GRADERS WIN COUNTY CONTEST

The sixth and seventh grade children of Mrs. Keane's room were awarded a five dollar prize in recognition of the fine work they did on their Album on Maryland. The album was submitted in a countywide contest, sponsored by the Marlboro chapter of the Pilgrims of St. Mary's.

The album was composed of a piece of work on colonial Maryland which was contributed to by each child in the room. It will be displayed in the schools throughout the country, then returned to the room and presented to the Greenbelt library. In August the album will be borrowed for exhibition at the Marlboro Fair.

Theo Trewhella and Ray Bochert, as representatives of the room, received the prize money. No decision has been made as to how the money will be used.

VOLUME 4 NUMBER 17

This weekend, for the first time, Greenbelt steps into the larger responsibilities, the larger privileges offered by cooperatives. It is sending Walter Volckhausen as its official delegate to the Eastern Cooperative Wholesale convention.

As the elected leader of the local cooperative Mr. Volckhausen will represent Greenbelt's point of view, cooperatively speaking, and will speak for Greenbelt, in the solving of the problems faced by the wholesale serving the Eastern region. Further-more he will take part in the choice of the region's representative to the national convention and our region's representative will help choose our nation's representative in the international organization.

Thus Greenbelt is now actively a part of a worldwide effort to solve democratically the economic ills of the world.

Thus we not only control our own retail businesses democratically, but we are beginning to do something about facing, and solving by democratic means, the world's economic problems.

We are beginning to set up a world wide common-wealth where individual people, individual regions, individual nations join together their individual resources to provide for the common good.

Which is to say that in cooperatives the individ-ual actually owns his share of the businesses that serve him, and he has an effective say in the running of those businesses. His economic fate is not decided by a small group of corporation big-shots who happen to have cornered up a bundle of proxies and who are interested primarily in drawing from the consumer of as much wealth as possible. His economic fate is decided, rather, by himself and his fellow consumers, who are interested in providing for their own common welfare.

If you're of the opinion that war is fun; If you're eager to learn how to fire a gun; Or-if you'd like to see your blood run, Yell for war!

If you think that your life bears a certain charm; If you think you can't possibly come to harm: Or-if you can spare a leg or arm, Yell for war!

If you think this country has something to gain If it sends troops to battle on foreign terrain; Or-if you want bombs to drive you insane, Yell for war!

If you feel your emotions need release; If you're getting sort of tired of peace; Or-if you want your life to cease, Yell for war!

POPPIES

- The poppies lift their petals red, On Flanders fields where soldier heroes bled.
- It brings to us in sad recall The living, and the glorious dead
- Who fought with courage and of faith Now lie in sleep beneath the sod
- So far from man, so near to God.
- They were comrades pressing onward

Till the battle din was o'er, They refused not strife, or struggle They refused not, though they died. They were soldiers of the Legion; They shall meet him in the skies. So, on Flanders fields where the poppies grow There stands the crosses, row and row. And skies of blue watch over these And clouds of white sail on the breeze; The colors for which men have died Eternally are glorified. - Contributor HAHN SHOES • You can build confidence and poise for your school-age children with these stylish, correctly designed shoes. $1.75 up

Leaders and their groups turned out to select officers and an executive committee for the coming year.

Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, the retiring president, passed on a number of suggestions for the executive committee to consider. Mrs. Freida Bierwagen, past secretary reviewed the year's work of the groups.

The elected executive committee consists of: Mrs. Bernice Brautigam, president; Mrs. Pauline Fitzpatrick, vice-president; Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, secretarytreasurer; and Mrs. Gladys Hughes, Mrs. Ethel Morgenstein, Mrs. Marion Slaugh, and Mrs. Bertha Maryn as members of the executive board.

Tea and refreshments were served at the end of the meeting.

Mother Club To Continue Separate

A motion that the Mother's Club become a committee of the Parent-Teachers Association for the purpose of carrying on its educational work was defeated by a close vote, at the last meeting for this year, held in the social room of the Elementary School, May 23. It will continue as a separate organization.

Mrs. Walter J. Elerwagen was elected president for the coming year; Mrs. Claude Wood, vice-president; Mrs. Fred DeJager, secretary; and Mrs. Perry Asher, treasurer.

A motion was passed to donate two bedside lamps to the Greenbelt Hospital, and it was decided not to hold the annual summer picnic of the Club.

Mrs. Linden S. Dodson discussed the topic "Are You Responsible for Your Child?" The entertainment for the evening was supplied by Mrs. Thomas Freeman who sang two songs, and Mrs. Ruth Morgan who gave two readings.

The Mother's Club then adjourned until next fall.

MEAT COUNTER WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Greenbelt housewives are invited by the Better Buyers to afternoon open house at the meat counter in the Food Store. Next Wednesday, June 5 at 2:00. The Store will reopen its doors to the women wishing to learn more about meat. The butchers and manager Russell Kellams will answer questions and demonstrate cutting and preparation of the different cuts of meat. The refrigeration room will be open for inspection.

MENU FOR A HAPPY DAY

Take a little dish of water cold. A little leaven of prayer. A little bit of sunshine gold. Dissolved in morning air.

Add to your meal some merriment. Add thought for kith and kin. And then, as a prime ingredient. A lot of work thrown in.

But spice it all with the essence of love, And a little dash of play. Let a nice old book and a glance above, Complete the well-spent day.

1. To Give Life. That is more than biological. It carries a tremendous responsibility when we think of all the possibilities of heredity-just on the physical life. Yet if that were all, maybe God could get along without a mother for the child, after a while. But I have a growing feeling that the transmission, or giving of life goes on for a long time after physical birth has taken place. Without doubt there flows continued influence from motherhood to childhood, influence that is spiritual. All her life long a mother shares the radiance of her inner life with her children. Mothers who deliberately neglect their own inner, spiritual life, as surely dwarf their children as would those who neglect their physical health before the birth of their children. So often I think of the babe Jesus. His layette was poorer than that of the poorest modern babe, yet no child ever had richer provision made for him than did the Christ. There was more to the motherhood of Mary than the physical. In her heart dwelt the spirit of the Holy God of her people, and that spirit kept radiating, passing from her to the little one in her arms when she crooned over him, nursed him, held him tightly that night as they fled through the darkness toward Egypt; taught him those long thirty years in Nazareth. All that while, I am thinking, motherhood was creating in Jesus the wonderful things that helped him become the Messiah.

That is the privilege of motherhood through the ages, and how eager and earnest our mothers should be to keep rich forever the inner resources of their lives that they might continually give "life" to those whom they have brought forth.

BETTER BUYER BRIEFS

Nine of the Better Buyers Group No. 13 met at Mrs. Eva Laakso's home last Tuesday afternoon and the refreshments were soup and then more soup. The members tasted five varieties of Co-op and Heinz soups (ready to serve and condensed). Co-op was preferred in the following: Cream of Tomato, Asparagus, Chicken (condensed) and Tomato (condensed); Heinz: Mushroom Soup was judged more appetizing. A few didn't care for canned soups at all.

This was the last business meeting before dismissing for the summer. Studies of the group have included: groceries, deodorants, interior decorating and bread.

Three bottle dolls for record attendance will be given by the chairman: first to Mrs. K. Rogers, perfect attendance; second, Mrs. L. Manning; and third, a tie, to Mrs. R. Kellams or Mrs. J. C. Gale.

For the grand "finale" the group decided to empty the "good time fund", put on their prettiest and off to a show and a luncheon at the Shoreham Hotel.

The Nifty Shoppers Club held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Maxine Melton, 18-F Crescent Road Wednesday, May 22.

Fourteen members and one visitor were present.

Mrs. Katherine Houlton led the group in a discussion on men's shorts. Mrs. Houlton also led in a study on thyroid.

The next meeting will be a picnic on Wednesday, June 5, 6 P.M. at the Greenbelt Lake. The group will then disband for the summer. The funds in their treasury will be donated to the American Red Cross.

All members will be notified of the exact date when meetings will be resumed next September.

THE ETERNAL FEMININE

They talk about a woman's sphere as though it had a limit;

There's not a place on earth or heaven, There's not a task to mankind given, There's not a blessing or a woe, There's not a whispered yes or no, There's not a life or death or birth that has a feather's weight of worth Without a woman in it!

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When having a piece of meat boned and trimmed, take home the bones for soup and the fat to fry out for use in cooking.

Use left-over oatmeal in patties.

Mix crisp bacon (minced) with cold oatmeal. Add salt, and use as a filling on bread for sandwiches.

Molasses syrup and dried peach honey are inexpensive spreads for sandwiches.

Not too late to buy your ticket for the World Tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Bone left today for Chicago to visit their parents. Mr. Bone will attend a convention at the University of Wisconsin in Madison on June 3. They will return June 19.

WITH THE REPS

By John F. Murray

FOR SALE: 15 roundtrip tickets to the "Little World Series of Softball" at Chicago this summer. Am forced to sacrifice at below cost. Recent death of six week old winning streak causes change in plans. For further information see the Reps of Greenbelt.

After a heated discussion with the I.B.M. (International Brotherhood of Maulers), ten last Saturday afternoon the Reps have decided to visit Four Cor-ners or Alexandria instead of Chicago this summer. Still unconvinced by the previous weeks debate which they lost 2-1 the local lads were finally persuaded into seeing things their opponents way. 12 runs thudding across the plate, 8 hits cracking off the I.B.M. bats and the dull splash of at least a half dozen sloppily handled balls finally brought home a few truths to the boys and sent them scurrying back to a softer touch with the Prince Georges County League in which they are still (Praise Allah) undefeated.

Things looked rosy for exactly one half inning as Beale and Taylor scored in the first frame on one hit, two errors and a sacrifice. Two hits, a walk and an error quickly knotted the count again in the last half of the first and they started all over again with the score 2-2. The enemy got two more in the second, the Reps got one in the third and it looked like a ball game 'until that awful fifth when four hits accounted for no less than eight runs. Two walks and three errors helped in this biggest scoring inning ever imposed on our heroes. They tried to come back in the sixth but their two run rally was seven short of a tie and the ball game was on ice. I.B.M. 12 - Reps. 5

Smith did a good job on the mound again and al-though allowing nine hits he registered eight strikeouts. Blanchard in the leaf-off spot for the Reps slapped out two hits and got on base three times out of a possible four. Goldfaden hit a double and single and Ray Taylor was the day's high scorer with two runs to his credit.

ureenbelt's representative tennis team is being readied to take its place among the town's competitive groups. The Recreation Department is providing the team with both coach and manager with Vince Holochwost and Ben Goldfaden sharing the duties of these posts between them. A drawing for game sites and dates in the Town and Country League is to be made this week and last Sunday's tryouts brought out much good material. This summer will find three Greenbelt teams adding to the honor and glory of the community. Baseball under the tutelage of Holochwost, softball under Goldfaden and tennis under both.

The Greenbelt Athletic Club's 1940 Softball League got off to a flying start Tuesday, May 21, 1940, when Mayor Warner pitched a perfect strike to Pop Widger who is one of the oldest club members and famous as a pinch hitter. Chinitz, Greenbelt's newsreel cam-eraman, took pictures of the opening ceremonies and these will be shown at the theater in the near future.

The first game between the American League teams of A and D Block proved to be a thriller and ended in the traditional fashion of block games. The A Block aggregation lost 6 to 7 but deserve lots of credit for their fine showing. Several close decisions that could have been rendered either way proved to be the margin of victory. Umpire Saunders may have called them as he saw them but the majority of spectators would have called another way and figured A Block was robbed. Bauer made a bare hand catch of a ball that was labeled for a home run that would have put DiMaggio to shame. A Block has really shown marked improvement over last year. They have no outstanding stars, just a bunch of hustling play-ers that are in there trying all the time and who never say die.

In the second game Tuesday night the Dodgers of the National League scored a one sided victory over the Giants to the tune of 30-7. Petersen of the Giants kept the spectators amused with his antics and witty repartee.

On Wednesday night the game between the Esquires and Clubs was called on account of rain. In the second game the Giants, recovering from their previous night defeat, beat the Braves 10-7. The Braves, a much stronger team than most National League teams due to the fact that they carry on their roster several players of American League caliber, staged a losing fight and the Giants are to be congratulated on this victory. It appears B Block was crossed up a little in their endeavor to capture both the American and National League honors. Thursday night found the Jokers of the American League defeating the Duces 11-3. The Cubs forfeited the second game to the pirates.

Friday at six the Giants dropped their second game of the week to the Cubs 19-15. At eight the Aces smarting under their loss earlier in the week really went to work on the Esquires and beat them 14-8.

Shamrocks Whip Snug Harbor In Double Header

With three big innings in the first game, and one big inning in the nightcap, the Greenbelt Shamrocks took both games of their double-header last Sunday at Snug Harbor by the decisive scores of 16 to and 11 to 2. Coming through with a total of 16 hits in each game, our boys completely overpowered the home team, to the pleasure and delight of some 75

Greenbelt fans who made the seven-mile trip. Again, as in their first game, the Shamrocks al-lowed the home team to draw first blood, when Snug Harbor scored once in the first and thrice in the se-Harbor scored once in the first and thrice in the so-cond inning to take a 4 to 0 lead. Greenbelt scored their first run in the third when Andrus singled, ad-vanced to second on a single by Boggs, both stole a base, and Andrus scored on a long fly by Holochwost. The home team added 2 more in the fourth to gain a The home team added 2 more in the fourth to gain a 6 to 1 advantage, but our boys battered around in the fifth and scored 4 runs when Holochwost opened with a double, Todd walked, Thompson forced Todd at se-cond, Uhrinak walked, Moore doubled, and McDonald and Therrill singled. Greenbelt evened the count at 6 all in the sixth, and Snug Harbor went into a one run lead again in their half when they scored their last run.

In the eighth and ninth innings the Shamrocks got together, and with some heavy slugging pushed a total of 10 runs across, to assure themselves of their first victory. Thompson, Therrill, Moore, and Mo-Donald each collected 3 hits in this game, while Holochwost got 2 and Andrus and Boggs one each. In this game the Greenbelt team stole a total of ten bases. Did someone say that this was the team of the nine old men?

Greenbelt - 001 041 046 - 16-16-4 Snug Harbor- 130 201 000 - 7-10-3 Batteries: Holochwost and Todd; Shegogue and Lloyd.

The second game, which was limited to seven innings, started out to be a pitchers' battle between Boggs and Rector, but our boys broke it up in the fourth inning when they pushed seven runs across to go into a 7 to 0 lead. Here is how it happened. After Uhrinak was called out on strikes, Therrill and Mullen singled, Jenkins sacrificed, Alder dou-bled, Boggs singled, Holochwost got to first on an error, Thompson and McDonald singled, and Uhrinak, up for the second time, doubled to left field to drive in number 6 and 7. Therrill ended the inning by popping one to the left fielder. Greenbelt added 2 more runs in the sixth and 2 in the seventh for a total of 11.

Boggs, pitching excellent ball for six innings, should have had a shut-out, but a base on balls and two hits in the last frame gave the home team their 2 runs. Mixing a curve with a blazing fast ball, Boggs kept Snug Harbor's eight hits well scattered, while striking out 6 while striking out 6.

Shamrocks To Dedicate Diamond This Sunday

fhe Greenbelt Shamrocks, fresh from their double victory last Sunday, will play their first home game

Next Saturday, barring rain, mumps and kindred mishaps, will be the day. Popcorn, peanuts, colored balloons, lost children, etc. will be the order of the day as the Reps inaugurate their home stadium. Carr Bros. & Boswell, the perennial foe of the locals will be on hand, but their efforts to lick our champs will be the only sour note of the proceedings. Those nice, nice ladies of the "J.B." (there, we got it right this time) Club will be on deck to bestow Prince Georges County Championship pennant, (1939) on the boys and for the first time in Greenbelt history such a flag will be raised aloft by local dignitaries. Roy Braden has promised to provide a person of note to toss out the traditional first ball. Newsreels, and newspapers will be represented and all in all the day should be a gala one.

If you like softball, be there. If you don't like softball, be there to see the festivities. If you don't like festivities, be there; the sunshine will do you good. And if you don't like sunshine, be there, maybe Aaron Chinitz will take your picture with his Greenbelt newsreel setup. Now will you come.

Straw Ride Postponed One Week

Due to unseasonable cold weather the Straw Ride sponsored by the Greenbelt Athletic Club on Saturday May 25, 1940 was postponed for one week.

The committee is hoping for good weather this Saturday night so don't forget to get your old clothes out and let's go. The date-Saturday, June 1; the place-Cipriani Farm on the Glendale Road; admission 50 cents per person, includes ride, modern and square dances, refreshments.

this Sunday afternoon on their new field. Their op-ponents will be the Diamond Construction Company team of Gravelly Point in Washington, D.C. With a record of two victories and one defeat, the boys are out to better that average, and can do it if they play as well as last week. How about making a date right now to be on hand this Sunday at 3 P.M. for the first home game. They need your support and will play that much better if they see that what the majority of the Greenbelt fans want is a first class baseball nine. What do you say? See you Sunday at 3 o'clock.

HIKING CLUBS ORGANIZED

The Recreation Department has organized hiking groups of boys and girls from the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades of the Elementary School.

Each group will hike for three to four hours every two weeks. The hikes will be short and experienced. They will then hike to surrounding points of interest such as the Beltsville Experimental Farm, College Park, Girl Scout Camp, etc. A member of the Recreation Department will accompany each group. Hiking groups for high school students and adults will be organized if sufficient interest is shown.

REPS LEAD COUNTY LEAGUE

Cliff Cockill twirled a 1 hit ball game Saturday night to keep the Reps at the top of the Prince Georges County League. In his first start, with Goldfaden's Golden Boys, Cockill pitched no hit ball for five innings against the Hyattsville Service team only to have the door of the Hall of Fame slammed in his face by a two base hit by Kidwell. Behind him the Reps played airtight ball with Blanchard snagging fly balls time and again with catches bordering on the sensational. Local power at bat amassed 15 hits and 17 runs with Bauer's 3 for 4 leading the parade. Blanchard included a triple in his 3 for 5, Goldfaden a triple and homer in his 2 for 4 and Chapman a double in his 2 for 3. Final score Reps 17, Hyattsville 0.
