GCS Certificates To Be Distributed To Stockholders

By R. S. SOWELL

All persons having a share certificate, representing stock holdings in Greenbelt Consumer Services coming to them, may obtain their certificate by calling at the cooperative's office, located over the drug store, at any time during business hours, 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., it was announced Monday.

A share certificate cannot be mailed to its owner because of the necessity of obtaining the signature of the person receiving it. Either party of a joint account may sign for and receive their share certificate, it was stated.

However, a man and his wife may have a joint account and, by the purchase of two shares, have two votes, the same number they would have if the shares are held in seperate accounts. The main advantage of having a joint account is legal, it was pointed out.

Either person of the joint account ca nreceive payment or take other action in respect to that account should the other party be absent, either through death or otherwise without delay and

The 5-per cent stock dividend is not paid except on fully-paid shares, including both Series A A and Series B stock.

For these reasons, it was stated, G. C. S. cannot relax its efforts to raise additional capital. The cooperative has the responsibility of providing all the store facilities in Greenbelt, in addition to completing payments on the loan made by Consumer Distribution Corporation when the organization was established, and the board of directors and the management are very conscious of this responsibility.

Business at present is brisk due mainly to the increased number of patrons, and when the enlarged

Greenbelter Injured In Plane Crash

Arthur H. Curtis, of College Heights, Maryland, and Miss Ber-tha Fischer of Greenbelt, suffered cuts and bruises Sunday, May 17. when the plane in which they were flying crashed on a road near Beltsville.

Mr. Curtis who is studying for a commercial pilot's license, was simulating a forced landing when the Alaskan Coupe Trainier he was flying lost flying speed. He was forced to pull up sharp to avoid trees in his path. The plane stalled, slipped on one wing, and then nose-dived to the ground.

Mr. Curtis and Miss Fischer were taken to the Casualty Hospital by the Branchville Rescue Squad.

Home Owners Co-op

The group of 22 prospective builders had been led to believe that only formality and red tape still shocked their efforts. checked their efforts.

Two years of planning and of fighting obstacle after obstacle ap-peared this week to have ended in failure, although Earnest Wolfe, vice president of the organization, was still negotiating for a reconsideration by F. H. A.

The F. H. A. refused to loan the group more than $4300 per house, far less than the $5000 epecter. Plans long ago submitted for criticism were returned with the comment that the houses showed too much Frank Wright influence, and that F. H. A. preferred square houses which set parallel to the street instead of at angles.

In view of increasing shortages and the new freezing of wholesale iumber stocks officers of the homeowners expressed some pessimism as to building possibilities prior to the war's end.

Nat'l Housing Officials Praise Greenbelt

Members of the National Association of Housing Officials praised Town Manager Roy S. Braden last week for the general appearance of Greenbelt as compared to similar projects at a con-ference of the Association held in Baltimore.

The Sports Parade

Next week the Sports Parade and the Cooperator will join forces. Hereafter there will be no separate Sports Parade delivered to your door Thursday nights. But on Friday you will have the same news printed in the Cooperator in place of some of the filler items, less important news stories, and editorials which you probably disliked

Early in 1941 sports news which had filled 20 per cent of the Cooperator's space began to dwindle. The one-man sports staff simply wore out. We appealed for help and received none. Sooo-there were no more sports stories in the paper. This situation was remedied by the Town Recreation Department. With the help of several residents prominent in local athletics Vincent Holochwost was able to have the Sports Parade started. This mimeographed sports paper has been issued regularly to every household for two years and its staff deserves gratitude and admiration for their patient task.

Persuaded that less work could produce better results by publication of sports coverage in the Cooperator backers of the Sports Parade put out their last issue of their publication this week. The Cooperator staff is glad to welcome William L. Moore Jr. to its ranks to handle sports.

We feel that the residents of Greenbelt are benefitting from the combined efforts. The Cooperator will be a better paper.

Greenbelt Wins Tentative Victory Over Capital Transit on Bus Service; 60-Day Adjournment Granted

By SALLY MEREDITH

A tentative victory was won by Greenbelt Wednesday at a Public Utilities Commission hearing held in Baltimore when a 60-day adjournment was granted, and Capital Transit Company instructed to make extensive studies of the traffic problem, with particular reference to the effect of gas rationing on public transportation. It was asked that future hearings consider only changes in the method of transportation, not in the schedule as proposed by Capital Transit.

Dean Locke, traffic engineer for Capital Transit, under cross-examination by Greenbelt's counsel Arthur L. Rysticken, was forced to admit that the Branchville street car already transports 3000 passengers per day in 102 round trips. No estimate was made of the number that gas rationing will force to that line. It was also brought out in cross-examination that in a two-day check made by Capital Transit it was discovered that between 7 a. m. and 7:15 a. m. 148 passengers one day and 174 the other rode the Branchville car to Mt. Rainier; and that between the hours of 6 a. m. and 9:30 a. m., 768 rode it one day and 806 the other. These figures were all taken prior to gas rationing. Capital Transit was instructed to bring their survey up to date by determining the increase caused by both rationing and the doubling population of Greenbelt. Rysticken Represents Greenbelt

GCS 'Howdy' Party Welcomes Newcomers

The feeling that old-time Green-belters are "snobbish" in their attitude toward the residents of the so-called "defense homes" has been climinated, at least as far as those who attended last week's party for newcomers are concerned.

In response to the announcement that Creenbelt Consumer Services was "throwing" a party for the was "throwing" a party for the purpose of introducing the new-comers and the old-timers, to create a spirit of friendship and a feeling of neighborliness, 90 persons attended the social. It was held in the auditorium of the Elementary School building on Thursday, May 14.

Termed the "howdy" party, the affair was well attended by new residents. It was in contrast to previous socials of this nature previous socials of this nature where the older residents were predominantly in the majority.

Clifford A. Moyer, chairman of the G. C. S. membership commit-tee, was master of ceremonies. The guests were entertained by novelty acts, quizzes for which there were numerous prizes, community singing and both social and square dancing.

Allen S. Morrison, Greenbelt's mayor, and Frank J. Lastner, president of G. C. S., addressed the group. The gist of their talks was that the community welcomes and embraces the newcomers and that they are just as much a part of it as anyone else. Several new re residents were that the old-timers did not really feel as had been rumored; that any discrimination shown toward the new people was unintentional and was not the general feeling.

The nursery provided for the children was under the supervision of Mrs. Mary M. Dodson, chairman of the G. C. S. education commit-tee, who had three high school girls as her assistants. There were 15 children cared for, including several infants.

Refreshments were also served under the direction of Mrs. Dodson.

Officials of G. C. S. were elated over the feeling of friendship created at the party, it was stated. In addition to providing enter-tainment, they had hoped to star up a feeling of comradeship which up to now apparently has been nonexistent.

Roses is red; Violets is blue; Grass would be green, If it weren't for you. Get it?

Mr. Rysticken, who was ap-pointed by Council on May 24 to represent Greenbelt at the hearing, led discussion of the public transportation problem at a Citizens' Association meeting on May 4, distributing petitions to volunteers who agreed to canvass the town by districts. Wednesday evening, it was announced that aproximately 1400 signatures had been taken. However, according to Mr. Rysticken, more volunteers are needed in order to secure a nother thousand signatures, which will be necessary to make the petitions effective.

Pictures Show Traffic Problem

Pictures secured by Mr. Rysticken were presented, showing the Berwyn crossing and the Mt. Rainier terminal. Questioned by Mr. Rysticken, Mr. Locke stated that the Mt. Rainier terminal handled 2869 passengers and 349 buses and street cars daily prior to April 24, and that it was estimated that at present 6369 passengers and 349 buses and street cars daily prior to April 24, and that it was estimated that at present 6369 passengers mated that at present 6369 pass-engers—more than double the former figure—and 763 buses and street cars pass through the terminal.

Capital Transit Loses Appeal

The original appeal made by Capital Transit was for a reversion to the old schedule of buses sion to the old schedule of buses once an hour as a base, with half-hourly buses during peak hours. However, on the basis of testimony given at the hearing, that part of the appeal was immediately disallowed and tentatively. diately disallowed, and tentatively changed to a half-hour base with 20-minute buses during the peak.

Greenbelter's Mainly Defense Workers

The transit company's appeal was based on the policy set forth by Joseph B. astman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, particularly the part advising the diversion of bus lines to extract resilvent lines and the part of the control to street railway lines and the use of shuttle buses "where prac-ticable." It was Mr. Rysticken's contention that in this case it is practicable. It was also pointed out that extension of bus lines was not to be discontinued when servicing defense workers, naval and military establishments, and any other location "where failure to provide such additional service will have a definitely unfavorable effect on the war effort." Inasmuch as Greenbelt is composed mainly of defense workers, and inasmuch as curtailing Greenbelt's present transit system would "have a definitely unfavorable effect on the war effort", it was effect on the war effort", it was felt in some quarters that Capital Transit was not living up to the policy in attempting to revert to the old shuttle bus system.

Red Maryland Clay

The name Greenbelt conjures visions of leafy trees and spacious lawns-just as the planners of this town intended. They should see it now with spacious areas of red Maryland clay around half of the houses.

Community officials promise that lawns and shrubbery will be provided shortly, so the long-patient defense workers in the new houses have a ray of hope.

It seems that the $40,500 provided by Federal Works Administration through Farm Security Administration is not high enough to attract bidders so no contract has been signed yet for landscaping. This sum is now being increased in response to the seriousness of the situation. Hundreds of complaints from residents and visitors have been keenly felt by the administration, and some action is definitely promised before summer sets in. The long awaited clothes poles for the new homes have already arrived and will be set up at once, replacing the unsightly makeshifts now in use. Arrival of top soil, sod, trees, and shrubbery will be equally appreciated.

Through every day of delay the youngsters will continue to play in the dirt, dust will blow on drying clothes and into the houses, and each rain will flood the walks and wash new gulleys into the yards.

I onight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the first session and drill of the Minute Men of Maryland in the Auditorium will mark another milestone in local preparation for our war effort. Greenbelt has done a good job in defense preparation against the damage and injury of air raids. The daily vigil of the plane spotters, the first aid classes, practice blackouts, and the purchase of bonds and stamps are building up a sense of participation that no other American generation has ever felt towards any war.

Organization of the Minute Men here will provide a reserve militia of civilians-the sort of home guard that has proven so effective in China and Russia and which strengthens England. Any Greenbelter from 18 to 64 can join for duty only in case of emergency and only in this locality.

Greenbelt Recreation Department

Greenbelt's recreation department began functioning back in September, 1938. Since that far away date a great deal of progress has been made in an effort to meet the demand for the leisure time activities of the community.

There are three full time recreation leaders employed by the town, Vincent C. Holochwost, director; Ben Goldfaden and Mrs. Doris Armstrong, assistant directors. Both Mr. Holochwost and Mr. Goldfaden hold Maste of Arts degrees in physical education and recreation while hold Maste of Arts degrees in physical education and recreation while Mrs. Armstrong has a B. S. degree in the same field.

This staff is supplemented by 12 additional workers in the summer time. Life guards at the pool and attendants at the lake, tennis courts, athletic field and swimming pool make up this group.

The recreation program is dividtd into two seasons. From October to April an indoor program is carried on in the school gym while the outdoor program is conducted from May through September. Activities included in the indoor program are basketball, badminton, volleyball, table tennis, shuffleboard, tumbling, calisthenics, deck tennis, dodge ball and group games. Outdoor activities include baseball, softball, tennis, swimming, boating, fishing, arts and crafts, horseshoes, archery, hiking, playground activities, touch football, soccer, handball and track and field. These activities are offered to the children and adults alike.

Recreational facilities include the gymnasium, swimming pool, lake for boating and fishing, tennis courts, athletic field with two softball diamonds, one baseball diamond and two handball courts, hiking trails, children's playgrounds and picnic areas.

During the school day a physical education program is carried on in the elementay school five times a week fo each classfrom the second to seventh grade.

Playing in Streets

We have been stretching our luck far and thin in having so few traffic accidents against our record here in Greenbelt. There is plenty of play space in this town for children, with yards, play areas, the athletic field, and the great belt of woods available. Playing in the streets should then be unnecessary. And apparently the parents and children agree that it is unnecessary in most of the town. There is just one piece of street-200 feet of Ridge Road-which is a constant worry to motorists and neighbors. Rain or shine, from two to a dozen children of all ages play ball, jump rope, ride tricycles, and throw rocks while autos slow down and the drivers look in wonder.

We hope the parents who watch complacently from porch steps will never see a youngster run a tricycle into a passing auto or a little tot crushed by a car that did not slow up quite enough for this danger section. We hope so earnestly that these parents will read this editorial and see that their children play in the yards, the play areas, the athletic field, or th woods-and not in the street.

Community Church

"Building A Radiant Personal-ity" will be the theme upon which the Reverend Wilmer Pierce Johnston will preach in the community building Sunday morning.

The Church school will meet at 9:30 a. m. Sunday morning. The subject of the international lesson will be "The Lord's Supper."

Sunday afternoon at 5 p. m., the Junior Church will meet in its monthly session. The Junior Choir will sing. The memory work for this meeting is the 23rd Psalm. Mr. Johnston's subject for the ser-mon will be "God's Care".

Greenbelt gets its quota from the Washington Tobacco from the Washington Tobacco Company, the only coke distributor in this vicinity. Recently some friends were at his mother's house, and a neighbor who knew Anthony's musical prowess, was telling the others about it. "Anthony," his mother said, "What would you like Mama to play on the records for you?" to play on the records for you? Anthony stared for a moment, his face lit up, and he said, "I wanta hear Dumbo." After expetcing to hear "Mozart," Beethoven," or "Schubert," it was amusing—and I think a good thing—to find that he is normal as well as gifted.

as well as gifted.

I imagine there are a lot of women in town who don't know that there's a day-time first-aid class at 10 a. m. on Tuesday in the music room of the Elementary School. The clas has already started, but next Tuesday won't be too late to catch up if you apply yourself to it. I haven't been a victim yet—but my time will come, I'm afraid.

will come, I'm afraid.

Thought for the week—The pool opens a week from tomorrow!
Hooray! Let me mend those moth holes in my bathing-suit, and I'll be the first off the high board! (Maybe. If I can get my courage up.)

That's all until next week.

Timely Facts for Consumers

Intelligent Consumption Makes for Better, Happier Living.

No more radio sets are being made for home use, because the radio industry is going all-out for war production. So consumers are advised to take good care of their present sets, which may have to last for the duration.

No one but a trained radio mechanic should poke into the radio's insides, but there are some simple external adjustments that be made in the home to improve reception and to help make the radio last longer.

First, make sure that the radio is not placed with its back flat against the wall. Tubes, trans-formers, and registers heat up, and free circulation of air is required to prevent overheating. Leave an inch or so between the cabinet and wall.

If your radio is raucous, crackles, or produces static or a humming noise, try the following: Check the set's electric cord and plug. The plug should fit firmly into the wall socket, and the wires leading to it should be

Check connections also on nearby electrical appliances and lamps. Loose connections on near-by gadgets cause static. Some-times moving a nearby appliance or lamp farther away will help reception.

If the radio crackles, check the aerial and ground wires to determine whether they are broken in any place or are rubbing against other wires or trees or metals.

If you have not set up a ground connection and your radio is raucous, fix one up by connecting a wire from your radio ground post to a water or steam pipe.

If you have an outside aerial, make sure that it is equipped with "static discharges" — not light-ning—may ruin a set unless they are by-passed by the arrester. Check the set's tubes to see that they fit firmly in their sockets.

Clean the dust out of your set occasionally. A hand vacuum cleaner will help.

If after this home treatment, the performance of your radio is still poor, it's time to call in the repairman. When you do so, observe these points: Call a repairman from a reputable firm—one with which you are acquainted, if possible.

Insist that he fix the set at your home. Most service firms have portable testing and repair equipment for home calls. If he insists on taking the set to his insists on taking the set to his shop, make him give you an inventory of the adjustments he thinks will be necessary, and request the return of old parts he finds necessary to replace.

It's the job of housewives to save everything now, including

To save time with your ironing, keep like pieces together when you hang them on the line and when you dampen them before ironing. Then arrange the clothes so that you first iron all rayon and silk fabrics that need only a warm iron, then the cottons that take a fairly hot iron, and last the linens. That way all fabrics re-quiring the same amount of heat are ironed together. And did you know that to dampen clothes for ironing, it is quicker to use warm water than cold, because it spreads through the fabric faster.

Don't iron things that can go without ironing, like bath towels, dish cloths, even sheets and pillowcases. You can clean faster, too, by following a systematic routine with your vacuum cleaner. Fre-quent cleaning saves time and

Preparedness Day Exhibition To Show ARP Corps in Action

The Defense Council announces a Preparedness Day exhibition of defense activities to be held in the very near future. The Emer-gency Medical Service will establish a temporary casualty station and first-aid post, the firemen will exhibit their technique in extingexhibit their technique in extinguishing incendiary bombs, "casualties" will be treated on the spot, air-raid wardens wil demonstrate the efficiency of their organization, the police will take care of the crowd and traffic, the Motor Corps will exhibit their means of transporting the injured, and a public address system will and a public address system will be set up advising the audience as to each unit's functions. Fur-ther details will be published in the next issue of the Cooperator.

Report All members of the Emergency Medical Service attended to their duties during the last two black-out periods. The Service is, however, still incomplete. A meeting will be held sometime next week to enlist and enroll members officially into the organization. Members will be given identifica-tion armbands, wil be fingerprinted and will be given necessary instructions as to duties. A gas-de-fense training course may be initiated in the near future.

A good supply of blankets, heat-ing pads, and other medical essentials have been received from the County Civilian Defense Corps. Cots are needed for the casualty station and plans are afoot to blackout the Auditorium (casualty station) in times of emergency. Closer cooperation with the ambulance units is needed and Dr. Joseph Silagy requested that the Motor Corps have at least one unit stationed at the casualty hospital during blackouts and air raids.

Motor Corps County officials have notified Thomas Ricker that equipment for the Corps (headlight covers, windshield stickers, stretchers, etc.) will soon be sent to Green-

It appears that due to some Federal regulation no one without a Federal permit may drive a Federal vehicle and no monies can be expended by citizens for the protection of Federal proper-ty. protect our buildings because of this regulation. However, the De-fense Corps answers this writer that some means will be found to eliminate this problem in the immediate future.

Complaint Dept. Some criticism has been spread-ing around town that the Defense Corps is not obtaining the materials needed by some defense units. The Cooperator is interested in facts and wants its readers to know them. Recently some members of the Auxiliary Firemen have been selling tickets to clam bakes, raffles, punch board chances, etc. informing the public that these means were necessary to raise necessary funds for materials as the Defense Corps has refused to donate funds for these purposes. George Panagoulis has no record of any request for funds for the Auxiliary Firemen except one for coveralls and the Corps has granted that. All requests for funds have to be presented to the Corps—if granted, another hitch may occur in obtaining the equip-ment without delay. This may seem difficult to understand but when we consider the rubber shortage it seems plausible that rubber articles may not be easy to procure. The Corps, at no time, has received any request for funds from the Auxiliary Firemen and it is certain that any request from this or any other unit will be given prompt consideration and action.

News A drive will be initiated soon to fingerprint all residents of Greenbelt to serve as identification in case of air raids, etc., whereby a person may be so badly injured as to appear physically unidentifiable. The Salvage Program has been discontinued temporarily because of (1) lack of sufficient personnel on the Salvage Committee, and (2) lack of co-operation on the part of Greenbelt residents. Scrap metal is prac-tically non-existent in Greenbelt and the cost of picking up the few bundles of paper is prohibi-tive. Paper sells for 25 cents per 100 pounds and the Committee has colected about $10 worth since the drive started. Coupling this fact with the fact that people have been giving them to private dealers makes it understandable why the Salvage Committee has discontinued its functions.

Defense Bonds and Stamps A house-to-house canvass has begun to determine approximately the amount of bonds and stamps being purchased by Greenbelt residents irregardless as to where these are being bought.

Dance Band Planned

Trying to fill a lack felt by Greenbelt rug-cutters, the GCA Executive Committee decided Tuesday night to start a community dance orchestra, with Dick Althaus, a new Greenbelter recommended by President Stanley Ost-ler, to head the search for talent. Mr. Althaus moved here in April from Washington, where he and his family had been living several months. Originally from Michigan, he says he likes Greenbelt, but feels there should be more local dances, with local talent furnishing the music.

Those who have beared Diels play.

Those who have heard Dick play the piano vary their comments ac-cording to their reaction. Mr. Ostler, who recommended him, claims his arrangement of "Stardust" is "wonderful." Those who handle the "jive jargon" go from "solid" to "Out of this world." At any rate, an opportunity for the entire town to judge for itself will be presented at the next GCA meeting, when Mr. Althaus will be introduced and asked to 'give with the boogie-woogie."
