GCS To Buy Walk-In Produce Box; Bruce Bowman Resigns From Board

Fresher fruits and vegetables will be available at the food store soon as a result of board authorization to purchase a large "walk-in" produce box.

The box will be moved to the new super-market when erected, but in the meantime it is expected to fill a real need in the old store, according to Basset Ferguson, assistant general manager.

In addition a new contact has been made for the purchase of larger quantities of ice to keep the produce on the display stands in better condition.

Trash on Sidewalks

As a comparative newcomer to Greenbelt, Mr. Ferguson deplored the scattering of candy and gum wrappers outside the tobacco store. He asked the board for ideas to combat the practice which he said, was not limited only to the children in Greenbelt. It was pointed out that there is a trash can inside the store and one directly outside.

While no solution was reached, it was agreed that an educational program should be undertaken in an effort to keep the center less cluttered.

Bowman Resigns

The resignation of Bruce Bowman from the board of directors was announced at the meeting. Mr. Bowman is now assistant to Jack Coleman, fountain manager. Mr. Bowman is working without pay, stated general manager Sam Ashelman, until approval of his appointment is given by GCS members in accordance with by-law provision which prohibits the employment of directors or their families by the cooperative for a year after their term of office expires, unless special permission is voted by the membership. Mr. Bowman served on the Board from October 1946 and has held the post of education committee chairman.

Gobbel Announces Loss Of Solicitor

John White, former Greenbelt Town Solicitor, has not been on the payroll since June 30, Town Manager James T. Gobbel informed the Cooperator Tuesday. The reason given was that Mr. White had been unable to give the position time and effort demanded by its responsibilities.

Still open, the job will go to a lawyer of Maryland, appointed by the Town Manager and approved by the Town Council.

Flying Saucers?

The source of flying discs seen all over the world may have been discovered right here in Greenbelt. Listed among the stolen articles in the June police report were "wheel discs." Chief George Panagoulis, however, merely looked mysterious when asked if they were airobatic.

Twin reports—one for June, the other for the first six months of 1947—were given the Town Council at Monday's meeting.

What the local force lacks in dramatic chase-em, nab-em crime fighting must be fully compensated for by the laughs in such cases as the "horse in garden" affair, listed under "Pets, Animals (dispose of)." "Stripped at airport," which in more vicious communities might come under the heading of "disorderly conduct," in Greenbelt is found under "Planes."

Altogether, our town had 53 arrests, 287 warnings, and collected $646.60 in Town and State fines and costs from January 1 to June 30.

250 Hear Panel On Housing Bill

Over 250 Greenbelters responded to the flyer "your home is at stake" by attending the annual meeting of the Greenbelt Mutual Housing Association, Wednesday, July 16 in the auditorium of the center school. Twelve interested citizens who had not previously joined the Association paid their dollar for registration cards.

Wells Harrington gave a preliminary report of the recent housing survey sent to all residents, and said the response "was splendid." 473 replies had been received and tabulated, and more are coming in. 41% of these replies were from non-members of the Association, which was encouraging to the Board as an evidence of the interest on the part of citizens who had not joined.

Another encouraging fact was that 68% of those who replied said they would be interested in buying the unit they are presently occupying. 49% of the replies were from veterans, and it was pointed out in the discussion later on that if the organization was made up of at least 50% veterans of World War II, the association could act as an agent of a veterans' group under the legislation now before Congress.

109 ballots were cast in the election of new board members and the following were elected: Abraham Chasanow, Wesley C. Darling, Sherrod East, Wells Harrington, Waldo H. Mott, Cyrella O'Connor, Thomas B. Ritchie, Max H. Salzman and Walter R. Volckhausen.

Sherrod East, Abraham Chasanow, Wells Harrington and Max Salzman conducted a round table discussion of present legislation on the disposition of permanent war housing projects. It was pointed out that the chief difference between these bills and the FPHA plan for disposing of these projects were (1) first priority to veterans and veterans groups, rather than present occupants; (2) they must be sold by December 31, 1948, whereas under FPHA no definite date was set; (3) priority groups get a time limit of from 30 to 180 days under the new bills, but under FPHA plans there was no time limit for priority groups; (4) cash return to the government, rather than long term payments as FPHA provided.

Members of the panel were queried as to the possibility of getting the necessary loans to buy the projects for cash. Sherrod East said that it was hopeful, and he felt that GMHA would have no difficulty negotiating a loan. The opinion was also expressed that the FPHA appraisal would be a fair price and within the means of the Association, although no definite data was had.

A number of members of the board also felt that it would be unwise to urge citizens to write to their congressmen opposing these bills, or to present the views of the Association before a Congressional committee.

Birthday Festival Planned For Aug. 2

A big event in the history of Greenbelt will be the tenth anniversary festival on August 2, sponsored jointly by the Town of Greenbelt and Greenbelt Consumer Services.

The festival to commemorate the town's tenth birthday and to celebrate the groundbreaking for GCS' new supermarket will be filled with fun for everyone and will feature talks by nationally prominent persons, according to Lucile Ponda, festival chairman.

The day's events are planned to start off with a parade and end with dancing in the streets. Among the highlights of the day's many activities will be a water pageant, baseball game, WINX broadcast, vaudeville show, movies, and pony rides for children.

Council Passes Anti-Dog Edict

An ordinance, controlling the appearance of dogs on public places, was passed at Monday's Town Council meeting.

Greenbelt citizens—including residents of Parkbelt—who possess dogs may now be fined if their pets are not muzzled or accompanied by a responsible person when at large.

Winston Confident Of Town's Future

"One of my chief regrets in leaving my present position will be the giving up of my connections and personal relations with Greenbelt," commented Mr. Oliver Winston, former director of the general field office of FPHA.

In announcing to a "Cooperator" reporter his resignation from his present position to become executive director of the Baltimore Housing Authority, Mr. Winston stated that most of the planning for Greenbelt's development had been done, and that he felt assured that Greenbelt "would be in good hands." While he added that building costs are at present too high, Mr. Winston emphasized his confidence that Greenbelt would be developed "when the right time comes."

"I shall always retain my deep personal interest in the Greenbelt towns," Mr. Winston further declared, "and it is possible that I may be of more help on the outside than on the inside."

Mr. Winston's new position, which he will assume on August 1, is with a city agency set up under state law, and in operation since 1937. There are at present some 10,000 housing units under control of the agency and a large expansion program is planned.

The resignation of Mr. Winston occurs in his 14th year with FPHA.

Two Under Bond In Assault Case

An assault and battery and disorderly conduct case involving three Greenbelters was settled in Hyattsville court July 10 with the issuance of a peace bond against Leo Mullen, 58-B Crescent Road and A. L. Foster, 18-W Ridge Road, on the complaint of Lou Gerstel, 16-A Ridge Road.

The controversy started over Mr. Gerstel's interest in a young member of the Legion Juniors baseball team, whose ability he had praised to his acquaintances in the sports world. When Lou Atcheson, sports columnist for the Washington Evening Star, agreed to do a story on the boy, Mr. Gerstel and Ben Goldfaden, recreation director for the town of Greenbelt, took him in for an interview. When the story appeared, the columnist in referring to the boy's skill stated that he had had no coaching.

Some time later, while Mr. Gerstel was in the Center, he was approached by Messrs. Mullen and Foster, coach and assistant coach of the Legion Jrs. team, who objected to the statement that the boy had had no coaching. Mr. Gerstel, who has only recently recovered from a major operation, attempted to leave, but was forcibly detained by the two men, whereupon he announced his intention of obtaining a warrant against them.

An attempt at intervention was later made by the then commander of the Legion Post, L. B. MacEwen, and Mr. Gerstel agreed to drop the matter if an apology were made. None was forthcoming, and the case went to trial before a judge at Hyattsville who was handling assault and battery cases.

As most of the defendants in these cases were receiving fines and jail sentences, the attorney for the defendants finally agreed to settlement by means of a peace bond, which lasts till the October term of court.

Success At Last! GCS Hits Water

The new GCS well has finally struck water. After drilling through what must have seemed to be miles of Greenbelt's famous red clay, the drillers pierced through into a splendid strata of gravel and sand at the 276-foot level. Washington Pump and Well Company's Mr. Parlete believes that this strata will more than meet the water supply needs of the new building.

The blessed event took place last Friday. Monday the drillers continued another 25 feet to make sure the strata was sufficiently thick. Luck held, and on Tuesday this past week preparations began for a full-fledged pump test.

Probably the hitting of water will be a severe disappointment to the youngsters who have been taking great delight in poking into the mud reservoir at the edge of the playground. Some compensation may be had, though, when the test pump starts going next week. While this will empty into the nearby storm sewer, its operation gives promise of being just as interesting as the thud of the drilling has been these last few weeks. Line up for a drink, everybody. It's "on the house."

4th Proves Safe, Sane, And Cheap

The Greenbelt's Fourth of July celebration cost the town less than $19, according to Town Manager James T. Gobbel.

Total expenses of $419 were almost covered by profit shared with the town by the participating organizations. Still to be accounted for is the AVC figures.

The $400.30 collected by the Town shows is only half of the revenue from the various concessions, the other half going to the sponsoring organizations, with the exception of GCS, which contributed its entire profit toward the celebration's expenses.

Deadline July 25 On Paper Pick-Up

Friday, July 25, will be the last paper pick up for the boat ride which will take place on July 26. There were 12,000 pounds of paper collected last Saturday. A total of 36,470 pounds of paper have been collected to date.

The boat ride, which is being sponsored by the Community Church, will take place on July 26. The boat will leave the wharf at 10 a. m. and return at 5:30 p. m. Tickets are now on sale for those not participating in the paper drive. The admission price for children 5-12 will be 40 cents for the round trip. 70 cents will be the charge for all adults. The children under 5 will be permitted to go free. Call Greenbelt 5381 to secure the name of a salesman in your vicinity who will be available for the purchase of tickets.

On July 21, tickets will be distributed to members of the Greenbelt Band, who are to be guests on the trip. George Sheaffer will give tickets to those who have collected paper. The amount due each child above the price of his round trip ticket will be paid in cash on the boat.

A total of over 500 children and 750 adults are expected to participate, according to Allen D. Morrison, chairman of the drive.

AVC To Meet

A meeting of the American Veterans Committee will be held in the home economics room of the Center School, Wednesday evening, July 23, at 8:30 p. m.

Samuel J. Ringel, chairman, will present his report as delegate to the AVC national convention held in Milwaukee on June 19-22. Members of the AVC Women's Auxiliary as well as all veterans are invited to attend.

To The Editor: Another Query

To the Editor:

When is Greenbelt Consumers Services Auditing committee member not a member?

When his election was illegal, of course.

And when is Greenbelt Consumers Services election illegal?

When it is held in violation of its By-laws.

How can you tell?

You get a legal interpretation of that section of the By-laws which directs the handling of GCS auditing committee elections.

Sec. 19, Art. X—Nominating and election of the (Auditing) committee shall be in accordance with the provisions set forth in Sec. 8 of this article for the election of directors.

Section 8 states as follows:

"Nominations for the directors to be elected at a given meeting shall not be closed until four days after the notice of the meeting has been sent out."

As indicated by the above, nominations for the auditing committee should have been closed four days after the notice of the meeting was mailed. The chairman did not have the authority to add any candidates to the ballot the night of the membership meeting, in the absence of a properly adopted amendment to the By-laws.

Accordingly, 4 GCS members were properly certified as eligible at the June 9th quarterly meeting.
None of the four eligibles withdrew their nominations, and only their names appeared on the ballot. The result of the election, see Cooperator of June 13th.—
None of the four were elected, instead, three others, not properly nominated, were not on the ballot but were declared elected for the coming year.

Under what extraordinary power or exception was this accomplished???

ALLAN A. BRYAN

Both Viewpoints

To the Editor:

Since Mr. Bryan has very kindly given me an advance copy of his letter to the Cooperator concerning the G. C. S. Auditing Committee election, the letter has been referred to our Legislative Committee. That Committee has prepared a report sustaining the validity of the election, and you may wish to print this report which is enclosed, with Mr. Bryan's letter so that both points of view will be before the public.

The G. C. S. Board of Directors will consider Mr. Bryan's letter and the Legislative Committee report at its meeting this Friday, and presumably at that time will decide whether in its opinion there is any basis for invalidating the election.

Sincerely yours,

DAVID GRANAHAH

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew D. Morrison of Green City, Mo., are visiting their son, Allen D. Morrison and family of 58-H Crescent Road.
This is their first time to see their grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are only 85 and 90 years of age and they made the trip alone, stopping in St. Louis and Newcastle, Indiana, for a visit with other sons.

A recent postcard from the Halley-Shaeffer touring party said that they would be in Yellowstone Park on July 9. The two families left in the Halley's new Plymouth the 21st of June, traveling west via the southern route, through El Paso to San Francisco. They report a fine trip and expect to be back in Greenbelt this Sunday.

Mrs. William B. Perry of Oneida,
New York, is visiting her son and family, the Arthur Perrys of 6-G

20 YEARS AGO -

The "Ohio revolution" in the auto insurance business occurred. A group of farmers, tired of their requests for special low rates for rural areas (where accident risks are lower) being refused by regular insurance companies, banded together and formed their own company—the Ohio Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Co.

Their first published rates were 40% below the regular rates in existence at that time. From that day to this, the same spirit guides all Farm Bureau insurance operations. Farm Bureau was organized and financed by economy minded farmers, not for profit, but to provide necessary insurance services at the most economical rates possible.

This spirit, plus the fact that the great bulk of Farm Bureau policyholders are in the comparatively accident safe rural areas, accounts in large measure for the economical insurance rates paid by the policyholders, and is one of the main reasons for Farm Bureau's strong financial position today.

Co-op Camp On Bay Opens August 19

The 1947 season of the annual cooperative camp on Chesapeake Bay will open at the YMCA's Camp Letts, 219 acres on the Rhode River a mile from the Bay, at 3 p. m. the afternoon of Tuesday, August 19, and will run till 3 p. m. on Sunday, August 31.

The Potomac Camp Co-op, which has made arrangements for the camping session, grew out of earlier committees of the Potomac Cooperative Federation. The present board of directors, all campers from last year, are drawing up plans for a cooperatively owned all-year-round camp and outdoor recreation site in the Potomac area for the future. Camp Letts, where this year's group will vacation, has been used before for the yearly cooperative camp.

Rates have been kept low, only $5 a day per person ($3.75 for children 2-12 years) for 7 to 12 day periods ($5.50 and $4 for shorter stays). No charge is made for children under two years of age.

Co-op educational programs will cover Management Problems, Employee-Public Relations (2 days), WCFM, the area's new radio station, Co-op Housing Progress, Credit Unions and Consumer Problems. Speakers and discussion leaders have been asked to relate recent developments in the cooperative movement to the broader problems of consumers and citizens. This general policy will ensure the newcomer to the cooperative movement of an opportunity to learn a great deal about cooperatives while enjoying a memorable vacation. Smaller meetings are being planned to serve the needs of co-op officers and employees for the discussion of more specific and technical problems.

Those who are allergic to meetings while on vacation will find themselves free to sail, swim, or just loaf. Camp Letts has canoes, rowboats and sailboats to give everyone a chance at sunning on the water. Courts are available for tennis and volleyball. The more energetic go in for baseball, while the less ambitious try their skill at badminton or horseshoe pitching. There'll be plenty of folk dancing, singing, and movies for evening fun.

The Potomac Area Campers hope that a considerable number of co-operators from other parts of ECI's territory will venture South to share experiences with them. Last year's camp was blessed with sunny days and cool nights and no rain! The Camp Administration is hoping for a repeat performance.

Reservations should be sent to John Brown, Camp Director, or to Potomac Camp Cooperative, c/o Potomac Cooperative Federation, 1246 20th St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

Shamrocks Whip Morningside 4-1

Behind the three-hit pitching of Harry Crouthamel, the Shamrocks defeated the Morningside Laundry nine by the score of 4-1 last Sunday afternoon. The locals banged out eight hits of which three went for extra bases.

Leading sluggers for the home team were Bill Eckhardt with his triple to deep center in the fifth and Harry Crouthamel by slamming two doubles. Herb Mitchell was outstanding for the losers by collecting two of the three hits given up by Crouthamel.

The Shamrocks are in for a busy weekend this Saturday and Sunday. At 3 p. m. on Saturday they engage the strong Government Employee Insurance team, who, if you remember, beat the Shamrocks 5-4 in a ten inning ball game some weeks back.

Sunday the Shamrocks have an open date in league play and will engage a strong nine from the district, time 3 p. m.

B'nai B'rith Women Honor Former President

The B'nai B'rith Women of Greenbelt, at a lawn party held Wednesday, July 9, at the home of Mrs. Louis Gerstel, presented former president Mrs. Samuel Stutz with a marquisite Menorah pin. The Menorah pin is given to an outgoing president of a B'nai B'rith lodge as a token of esteem and in appreciation of good work performed. Mrs. Stutz served as president of the local lodge for the term 1946-1947.

The Shamrocks lost the opportunity of a lifetime by not grabbing Bobo Newsom when the Nats let him go. Even without the colorful Newsom, the Shamrocks draw more than the St. Louis Browns.

Joe Louis is planning very definitely to retire in 1948 due to the lack of a worthwhile opponent. Hasn't he heard of "Swisher" Swisher, the local athlete?

In that July Fourth track meet held at the lake, Steve Comings gave ample notice to the Olympic Committee that their search for sprint material is over.

The Greenbelt Band lost one of its charming majorettes, for a while, as the young lady cut her foot on a broken bottle that some kind and thoughtful person dropped and left in the shower room at the swimming pool.

We should pause and salute those unsung heroes of the Athletic Club Block League, who play softball like mad and get in that needed exercise with much gusto and vigor. It sure is fine to see so many interested and able participants in this little noticed but greatly utilized game.

Misunderstanding On Beetle Story

The beetle bounty still exists, according to Town Manager James T. Gobel. The unhappy experience detailed in a letter to the editor in last week's Cooperator was laid to a misunderstanding.

Training Program For New Drivers

Adult Driver Training Classes started July 14 in Prince Georges County, according to G. Gardner Shugart, superintendent of the County Board of Education.

Persons 16 years of age and over may receive driving instruction in AAA dual control cars under trained instructors. Eight hours of individual training behind the wheel will be given each person. A fee of six dollars is charged to cover car expenses for the eight-hour course.

Two instructors have been employed by the County Board of Education for this adult education experiment. One instructor is assigned to the metropolitan area and the other is assigned to the lower area of the county.

Register by phone with J. Paul Kemmer, head instructor, Phone WAfield 0830. Convenient hours for driving will be arranged with instructors.

GREENBELT'S NEW RESTAURANT

1948 will bring Greenbelt a prize package in the form of a new restaurant, a truly modern, up to date establishment. To give the best possible service, we will need a team of "up to the minute" employees.

To do this job we are planning a training program using the modern school run by the Restaurant Association of Greater Washington. Are you interested in getting on the team? Are you interested in working in a restaurant with a dignified, home-like atmosphere, but with a continental touch here and there? If so, we want to train you now so that we will be ready.

Ideal working conditions under experienced supervision.

Greenbelt Welcomes Fr. Dowgiallo At Town-Wide Reception On Sunday

A capacity audience of 500 friends and residents attended the reception in honor of Rev. Victor J. Dowgiallo, newly appointed Administrator of St. Hugh's Catholic Church in Greenbelt. The event was held in the auditorium of the center school, Sunday evening at 8 p. m., July 13.

The presentation of the clergy was preceded by music. The St. Hugh's Choir sang "Panis Angelicus," "Ye Sons and Daughters of the Lord," "Veni Jesu, Amor Mi," and the "Agnus Dei." Miss Jacqueline Keenan presented "Lovely Lady Dressed in Blue" and "Oh, the Days of the Kerry Dancers," while Mrs. Thomas R. Freeman sang "Ave Maria." Miss Honor M. Keane, Washington organist, presented organ selections and also played the accompaniment for the entire program.

The clergy were introduced by Rev. Edw. H. Roach. Monsignor John J. Russell was the first to be introduced. Monsignor Russell stated "The clergy feel that Father Dowgiallo is the right man for this particular place. . . . I've known your administrator for a long time and you are going to be delighted with him."

Reverend Eric T. Braund, pastor of the Community Church of Greenbelt stated: "It is indeed a pleasure on behalf of the Community Church and Protestants of Greenbelt to welcome Father Dowgiallo to Greenbelt. Nothing makes a Protestant happier than to see a Catholic happy also. . . . Serious problems confront the people and society in these days, problems which no one church can solve alone. If these problems are to have a solution the churches must work together. . . . I pledge my assistance and cooperation to Father Dowgiallo and the people of the St. Hugh's parish."

Rabbi Morris Sandhaus greeted the audience in behalf of the Jewish Community Center of Greenbelt. Rabbi Sandhaus stated, "You will have a very happy time in this community. . . . I extend to you our welcome and say as in the Latin "Pax Vobiscum," or as in the Hebrew, "Peace to the one who comes."

Mayor Bauer spoke on behalf of all the people of Greenbelt, extending a most cordial welcome to

Fr. Dowgiallo.

The various clergy who were present included: Rev. Herbert Moher from the Catholic University; Colonel Wm. J. Walsh of the Chaplain Corps; Rev. Edw. H. Roach, pastor of St. Jerome's Church, Hyattsville; Rev. Herbert Cahill, assistant at St. Jerome's in Hyattsville; Lt. Col. Herbert Wood, from the Office of the Chief of Chaplains; Rev. Herbert Lisinski, uncle of Fr. Dowgiallo and pastor of St. John's Church, Clinton, Md.; Monsignor Herbert Manns, St. Catherine's Church, Baltimore; Rev. Morris King, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Bowie, Md.; Rev. James Caulfield, Holy Name Church in Washington, assistant director of Catholic Charities in Washington. Rev. Leo J. Fealy, former pastor for Greenbelt, of Holy Redeemer Church, Berwyn, Md., was unable to be present, due to the death of his cousin on Sunday.

Fr. Dowgiallo, responding to Mayor Bauer's welcome, stressed his desire to meet and know every resident of Greenbelt, regardless of profession or faith. He stated the spirit of the people here in Greenbelt has been splendid.

The program was closed with a prayer lead by Monsignor Manns, after which the various clergy formed a reception line to meet the audience as they left the auditorium.

North End Site For Registration

Mayor George F. Bauer, at Monday's Town Council meeting, requested that a North End resident volunteer his home for the use of Town Clerk Winfield McCamy for registration purposes in the coming election.

Upon securing the use of a home in the vicinity of the North End store or school, certain days will be set aside for North End registration.

The WILL, the SKILL and the TOOLS THEY REQUIRE

Lights have been burning late in the offices where telephone engineers work . . . construction crews string miles of wire along busy highways. Finally, after months of intricate work, a new, or enlarged, telephone central office is ready to serve you and your community.

More service—with all possible speed—is the first order of this business. Design and build the facilities needed to serve those families whose orders have been delayed! Add thousands of new telephones without delay!

Day in—day out, telephone people are busy at these tasks. And they have the spirit and the skill with which to do their jobs well. As more and more equipment becomes available, they will continue to play an important part in bringing you finer, faster, telephone service.
