

Lucky Seven Win Giant Jackpot Through Cooperation and Hard Work

Applying cooperative principles, combined with a good bit of Malarkey, John J. Noone, 4-G Southway, Tuesday night Hit the Jackpot on the CBS radio show of the same name. Sharing with him in the $28,000 "patronage returns" are six other family members of the Jackpot Co-op: his mother-in-law, Mrs. "Ivy" Malarkey, of 15-D Ridge; his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anne Brockway, of the same address; Mrs. Philip Quinn, another sister-in-law, of Washington; a brother-in-law, John Malarkey, of Washington; Eugene Malarkey, another brother-in-law, of Girardville, Pa.; and Noone's co-worker in the Post Office Department, Carl Waller.

"Hit the Jackpot" propounds a "secret saying," with clues given each week in the form of sound effects, ending with a typewriter writing the actual words of the saying. After figuring out one such saying, the lucky seven decided—upon urging by Mrs. Brockway—that their ability to decipher the riddles should be made to pay off.

As Mrs. Brockway put it, they had all had so much bad luck that it was about time for a little good luck to make up for it. Their strategy included a "kitty" to which each family contributed for expenses on trips to the New York studio from which the program is broadcast. Three weeks ago, before they had figured out the jackpot answer, the three sisters—Mrs. Noone, Mrs. Brockway, and Mrs. Quinn—made a trial trip. They succeeded in getting in the studio audience, and Mrs. Quinn was selected to participate in the quiz. She was quickly eliminated, but valuable experience had been gained.

They went back the following week, after deciphering the message—but none of them was chosen to get into the act.

The Philadelphia brother, Eugene Malarkey, was slated to go this past Tuesday, but couldn't make it at the last minute.

Convinced that this was the hour, John Noone used his last 12 hours of annual leave, and left for New York after midnight on Tuesday morning. Arriving at the studio well ahead of time for the broadcast, he selected the most advantageous seat from which participants might be called—and waited.

Waiting, too, were the other local members of the combine, at Mrs. Brockway's home on Ridge Road. They knew he had the right answer to the jackpot question, but would he be able to use it?

They heard a contestant called up—and then John J. Noone was announced as that contestant's challenger. Several questions are put to the Jackpot contestant, whose opponent must either agree with the contestant's answer or challenge it. If he keeps silent when he should have challenged, or challenges when the answer was correct, he is eliminated. On the other hand, if he challenges correctly, he becomes the contestant, and his opponent is eliminated. If the answer is correct and no challenge is made, both move up one "rung" on the "ladder of questions." At the top of the "ladder," of course, is the opportunity to guess at the secret saying.

In this instance the contestant continued to answer questions correctly, and John Noone wisely kept his mouth shut—until the final question before reaching the top. "What is the last day in April on which Easter can fall?" was asked. "April 23" was the reply. John challenged—correctly.

Then came the clues, the typewriter—and the correct answer by John Noone: "All that meat and no potatoes!"

intended to go on to other contests, they answered, "No, we're not greedy."

The Noone house, by the way, as well as its occupants, seems to be lucky: former residents won a Buick some years ago.

No More Pets

Greenbelt's pets must go, says a letter sent to all residents this week by PHA Manager Charles Cormack. Citing the federal lease provision against allowing "dogs, cats, rabbits" and other animals on the premises, the letter warns that further violations will be punished by cancellation of the offender's tenancy, instead of merely requiring letters stating that the animal has been removed. This action has been taken, states Cormack, to protect the "majority of our residents against the actions of a relatively few who insist upon disregarding this regulation."

Oysters, Oysters

Raw oysters, steamed oysters, oyster fritters, oyster stew, clam chowder, pig tails and sauerkraut, hot dogs and rolls, barbecue, potato salad and cold slaw, pickles, celery, beer, soft drinks and coffee are all on the menu of the Second Annual Oyster Roast and Barbecue to be held on the American Legion grounds from 2 to 7 p.m. on Sunday, April 24. The oyster roast is sponsored by the Saint Hugh's Catholic Church and the proceeds from the affair will be added to the Building Fund of Saint Hugh's Parish. For further information call Charles L. Wright, 3431.

SHAMROCKS GATHER AT BRADEN FIELD

The Greenbelt Shamrocks will hold their first practice this Sunday at Braden Field. Practice will start at 2:30 p.m. The newly appointed manager of the Shamrocks, LeRoy Clark, has been playing with the Shamrocks since the start of the team. Manager Clark hopes that all men interested in playing will turn out this Sunday.

Another Chance To Dance

If enough adults are interested in learning to dance, a class will be formed which will meet at the Legion Hall. Arthur Murray's teachers will instruct the class and promise to transform each pupil from a wallflower into a terpsichorean. Call Mrs. Morgan at 5186 or the Recreation Dept. at 6966.

Center School P.T.A. To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Center school P.T.A. will be held in the Arts and Crafts room on Monday, April 11 at 2:30 p.m. There will be a nursery set up for pre-school children.

Whee! The Circus Comes Tomorrow

The P.T.A.'s of both elementary schools this week bring the circus to Greenbelt. Martinez' Society Animal Circus will perform tomorrow at the Center school at 10 a.m. and at the North End school at 1:30 p.m. The circus features dogs, cats, monkeys and a goat! School children will attend with their classes, pre-school children must be accompanied by an adult. Tickets are 25c for children, 50c for adults.

To Sponsor Play

The Center school P.T.A. will sponsor a performance of the play, The Emperor's New Clothes, on Thursday, April 27, at 2:30 p.m. in the Center school auditorium. The dramatic group of the 4th, 5th, and 6th year classes will present the play under the direction of Ellen Linson. Tickets will be available to children and parents at 25c each.

Recreation Department Plans Easter Egg Hunt

Braden Field will ring with the gleeful shouts of hundreds of frolicking youngsters Monday morning, April 18, when the Recreation Dept stage their seventh Annual Easter Egg Hunt.

The hunt will be divided into two parts—9:30 to 12 for the children of kindergarten age through the third grade; 1 to 3:30 for children from the fourth through the sixth grade.

Plans are underfoot to make the forthcoming event the biggest and best since the hunt was first inaugurated. More than 300 hard boiled and dyed eggs will be hidden in the woods bordering Braden field and within the field, early in the morning of the hunt, and many of them will net their finders prizes. There will be prizes for the prettiest basket, finding the most eggs, finding certain kind of eggs, and other prizes. Following the hunt in the afternoon will be the Egg Rolling Contest for all youngsters at the top of Braden field.

Teen-age Dance Class Holds Graduation Party

Because of the many other teenage activities offered last weekend, the Drop-Inn bowling party was pushed up to this coming Saturday night, April 9.

Just as planned before, tournaments for both the Jr. and Sr. high groups will be drawn up and the teams will consist of three girls and three boys each. A prize has been planned for the top team in each age group.

Friday Deadline

Friday afternoon is the deadline to sign up as teams must be completed and transportation arranged before Saturday. Any parent with a car to offer is asked to get in touch with Eileen Labukas at the Recreation Office.

Those going on bowling party are to meet at Drop-Inn Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Party will return around 10 p.m.

Senior High Drop-Inn members are planning an April Fool dance for tomorrow night, April 8, from 8 to 12 p.m.

Wait and See

There will be free refreshments, a ten piece orchestra and Burl Ives in person for entertainment. This being an April Fool dance, how much of the above is real and how much fooling will have to be seen. There will be a small admission charge.

Time Out For Easter Bunny

Easter vacation for the Greenbelt elementary school children will begin on Wednesday, April 13 at 1 p.m. School will resume on Wednesday, April 20, at 9 a.m.

No Trace Of Capital Transit Franchise Can Be Found In Ordinance Books

A surprise letter from Western Union Telegraph Company to the town treasurer brought to light Monday night, at the regular meeting of the Greenbelt town council, the possibility of a change in transit service and increased revenue to the town government.

The letter, read by Town Manager Charles T. McDonald, cited a notice to Western Union by the county assessors that the telegraph company's property in Greenbelt had been assessed, and was therefore liable to town taxation. The letter to the town government asked how much the tax would be, whether there was a "discount" date before which 1948 taxes could be paid with a rebate, and when 1948 taxes would be considered delinquent.

Preliminary Study

McDonald said the letter prompted him to make a preliminary study of the situation, which netted the following information:

Since the Maryland State Legislature, shortly after the war, passed the (Sherbrow?) Act, it has been illegal for municipalities in the state to levy personal property taxes. "Someone," said McDonald, "apparently considered utility holdings as personal property," and therefore exempt from taxation. However, he added, other communities—Hyattsville, for example—do tax utilities and holders of bank stock.

No Transit Franchise?

Capital Transit Company "property" in Greenbelt has an assessed value (set by the county assessors) of $3000, but McDonald was unable to determine the nature of the "property." He thought that a franchise might be so considered, but a search through the ordinance books showed that no franchise has apparently ever been granted the company.

Council members speculated upon possibilities that might arise if it is found that no franchise exists. The Greyhound and other national bus lines were mentioned, as was town operation of a transportation system.

Mayor Pro Tem Frank Lastner, acting in the absence of Mayor Thomas J. Canning, asked McDonald to make a detailed study to determine whether town taxes on local utility holdings would be legal, and whether Capital Transit has a Greenbelt franchise.

Appoint Zoning Watch Dogs

The town manager and David Granahan, council member for planning and zoning, were authorized in a motion by Lastner to represent Greenbelt when the county commissioners again meet to determine county zoning provisions. The two men were to meet with Public Housing Administration officials today to reach agreement on controversial sections of the plan formerly endorsed by the town council.

Mr. McDonald, recounting the history of the zoning plan to date, explained that PHA hired planning expert Hale Walker to form a zoning plan for Greenbelt. The plan was approved by the present council last year, and sent to the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission for study and presentation to the county commissioners.

Without consulting the local government, PHA requested the planning commission to delete provisions for minimum lot sizes and for a 300 foot right-of-way on Southway. Learning of the sneak play, council announced its intention of insisting upon the plan as originally endorsed by them, and McDonald was instructed to do so at the meeting with the county commissioners at the meeting on March 30. However, at that meeting the planning commission presented the plan in its entirety, without the suggested PHA changes, and PHA representatives made no comment, even after McDonald's spoken criticism at the meeting of the attempted by-pass of the local government.

PHA Says 'Never Again'

Since that meeting, PHA requested today's meeting, promising not to go over council's head again. The commissioners, who McDonald said acted as though the zoning decisions were of momentous import, delayed final action, appointing a committee of attorneys to "iron out questions." No questions were raised, he said, concerning Greenbelt.

County Tax Rate To Be Upped

McDonald reported on the county budget hearings of March 31, at which the commissioners claimed that if adopted as proposed, the budget would cause a tax increase of 27c per $100 assessed value. The town manager gave his opinion that the increase would be much less. The rate at present is $1.97 per $100. No provision was made, he said, for the county to take advantage of the state $20,000,000 fund for assistance to counties in borrowing for school construction purposes. (Ed. note: This loan assistance was passed by the State Legislature instead of the urgently requested quadrupled incentive fund.)

Swimming Pool Rate Changes

With one dissenting vote, the council passed an ordinance to eliminate strip tickets for adult swimmers at the local pool; to provide that children's strip tickets not be sold on weekends and holidays; and to charge a registration fee of one dollar for the children's swimming instructions.

Councilman Allen D. Morrison voted against the measure, saying that the instruction fee should be returned to all registrants who satisfactorily complete the course, Mr. McDonald explained that while the fee was partly to encourage students to enroll only if they intend to complete the course, a fee was also needed as an economy measure, since during swimming lessons no one but the instructor and students are allowed in the pool, and since the students pay no entrance fee. Council member Elizabeth Harrington underlined this point by saying that the experiment last year of closing the pool to general admittance, had proved of great advantage to the students, but had also contributed to the season's failure to break even on pool expenses.

When Morrison suggested raising the older children's fees, or the adult rates, instead of charging for swimming lessons for the younger children, Mrs. Harrington pointed out that parents pay for the younger children anyway, whereas the older children in many instances pay their own way out of weekly allowances.

Also eliminated in the ordinance were servicemen's special rates.

Other Business

Other business included the classification of a town music teacher at a pay rate of from $2.50 to $5 per hour, in line with the rate established under the Prince Georges' County Adult Education program.

We're A Big Burg Now

It was brought out that the Greenbelt charter change, designating the community a "city" rather than "town" had passed both houses of the Maryland Legislature on March 29, and was waiting signature by Governor Wm. Preston Lane.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE

To the Editor:

I received the enclosed letter from the Capital Transit Company last Thursday and I know others in Greenbelt would be interested in reading it.

Transit Rider

"We are very sorry to learn from your recent statement addressed to our Mr. Turner of your dissatisfaction with the service offered to Greenbelt residents.

We should appreciate very much if you would advise us as to what particulars of our service are not satisfactory, so that an investigation can be made and necessary adjustments effected.

Very truly yours,
D. B. Wills"

HERE IT IS

To the Editor:

In the last issue of the Cooperator, you graciously extended to the Veteran's Housing Association an invitation to make public pertinent facts about our organization and its plans concerning the eventual disposition of Greenbelt.

Primarily, our first concern, has been to delay the sale of Greenbelt until some of the principles of ownership and conditions of sale, which will meet requirements of veterans who wish to avail themselves of the advantages under existing veteran's legislation, are established. We have met with officers of the Greenbelt Mutual Home Owners (?) Corporation on two different occasions to discuss these same principles. The G.M.H.O.C. plan actually deprives the veteran of his prerogative of participating with the benefits possible under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

It is our definite desire to acquire the town of Greenbelt on the basis of individual ownership for all present residents, non-veterans as well as veterans, who wish to purchase their home unit under this plan. It is our sincere conviction that actual individual ownership is the best insurance of an active civic interest. Membership is not limited to veterans, but is open to any resident of Greenbelt.

A waiting list of non resident veterans who have expressed their desire to purchase P.H.A. homes would be used in instances where present residents do not wish to participate.

Plans are being formulated to ar-

Attention!!

Anyone Interested: The editor has received another letter from "Francis Jasper Lostnow-Long"—and so it is not going to be published. If you want to read it come down to the Cooperator office next Monday night between 9 p.m. and midnight.

Can You Afford Social Security?

At present thousands of people who are eligible for Social Security benefits are not drawing them. Why?

Because the majority of these people need more income to live on than their Social Security benefit provides. And the law says if you earn more than $15 a month in a covered occupation, your Social Security payment stops.

Don't let this happen to you! I can show you how to plan ahead—how to draw your Social Security income and have enough to live on. Just call

Our Neighbors

By Rae Algaze, Greenbelt 7502.
 Now that it is April, most of us are in for busy and exciting days. First there was the Cherry Blossom Festival which some of us saw with or without visitors from out of town. Next we look forward to the religious holidays which for many spell new clothes and extra special cookery and trips out of town, or putting up cots for guests. Then, of course there are the usual birthdays and miscellaneous celebrations, so Greenbelters, let us hear from you along those lines.

New Babies at Leland Memorial

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Nusinov, 21-B Parkway, became the parents of a second son, Norman Stanley on March 31. The baby weighed 6 lbs., 5 oz. Their older son is Marcus, 3.

WHAT? WHEN? WHY? WHERE? WHO?
 Education was once a 'handy thing to have'—but today it is a must!
 "In class, a child who knows raises his hand, but a child who doesn't know can't raise his head!" I realize, Mr. and Mrs. Greenbelt, that we have to be careful how we spend our money these days. Busy mothers are forever planning meals that will be beneficial to the physical needs of their families. But for twenty cents a day you can serve the members of your family with an intellectual food that will influence the rest of their lives.

Why not order the—
 for your family today and make your assurance of an education doubly sure?

ANNOUNCING A Custom Photographic Service

Many people know that I've long been a confirmed "shutterbug." Recently I went overboard and purchased a professional photographic outfit, as if I didn't already have enough to open a store. A flashgun alone costs $50, so you can imagine the size of my bank account. My wife says its time my hobby paid off instead of just keeping the camera shops in business.

Seriously, the knowledge gained through 20 years' study and practice of photography, plus some of the finest equipment, enable me to offer a complete photographic service. For a wedding, a baby, graduation, family group, or a picture of your fast-growing child. I'm at your call.

Instead of destroying that picture of Aunt Minnie, as the April Fool Cooperator suggested, have it improved—don't forget her will.

Want enlargements from your home movies or color slides? . . . What is your hobby? . . . Have your activities photographed properly. Save wear and tear and increase income by showing photos to friends and prospective markets . . . A good tip: Photos of your jewelry and other valuables will more than pay for themselves in case of insurance claims.

Easter and Mother's Day are approaching—a photograph would be the most welcome and lasting gift. SPECIAL RATES THROUGH APRIL.

with Aunt Penny

Ever have a "ring and run" telephone caller? Yesterday afternoon, I was out in the kitchen making up some cookies to send to my nephew Tom (Tom is a corporal now at Camp Lee). Just when I was up to my elbows in cookie dough, the telephone began to ring.

I washed my hands as quick as I could and hurried in to answer it. But whoever it was that called only waited a few rings and then hung up. By the time I got there, there was no one on the line. I do wish people would give a body a minute to answer the telephone!

I suppose things like that work both ways, however. Perhaps I haven't been so patient, either, when calling other folks. From now on, I'm going to wait at least ten rings before I hang up. The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company.
