

GCS Marks Beginning Of New Store With Dinner Meeting, Area Guests

With the building permit expected to be issued today, the new cooperative supermarket planned by Greenbelt Consumer Services for the New Hampshire Avenue shopping center has taken its first step toward completion. A sign advertising the purpose of the building has been put up at the site, and will be a point of interest for Greenbelt carpools bound for Washington from now until the end of the year, when construction should be finished. "Ground-breaking" ceremonies were scheduled for this afternoon, if weather permitted, to mark the store's inception.

The board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services will entertain as its guests at dinner tonight in the community building a representative group of citizens from the Takoma Park and surrounding area, from which the patrons and new co-op members will be drawn. The guest list includes, besides the mayor and several councilmen from Takoma Park, ministers, and citizens association presidents of the area communities, three former presidents of GCS and the director of the Cooperative League of the USA, Wallace J. Campbell.

Inspection Tour

The visitors will have a chance to see the business center, where GCS has developed its various enterprises over the last twelve years, and inspect the co-op supermarket which many of them already patronize from a distance. Carolyn Miller is in charge of the arrangements, which include a dinner to be served by the KanDu Club of the Community Church. Speakers during the evening will include Walter J. Bierwagen, president of GCS; general manager Sam Ashelman; Walter Volckhausen, the first president of the organization; Rev. Eric T. Braund; and Mr. Campbell.

Cooperator Carries On At 14 Parkway Office

The Greenbelt Cooperator took up residence in its new quarters in the basement of 14 Parkway, the Child Care Center building, this week. Most notable feature of the move was the cooperation extended to the Publishing Association by the Jewish Community Center, whose members surrounded the new office space with a handsome wooden partition in addition to doing the actual job moving for the staff. The Cooperator's reimbursement for these fine services will go into the building fund of the JCC.

Still operating under the handicap of equipment scarcity, the paper will continue to appear on Thursday nights, and will continue to appeal to the community for assistance both in the need for additional chairs and additional typewriters, and additional people to use them. Office hours start at 8:30 Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings, and the telephone number is still 3131.

Local Youths Fined For Misdemeanor

Two local youths were fined $20 and costs in Hyattsville police court Monday night on charges of tampering with a motor vehicle belonging to a Greenbelt resident. On the complaint of Glenn C. Perkins, 37-A Ridge, warrants were issued against Frank Bauer, 1-J Gardenway, and Richard L. Lewis, Jr. 2203 Metzertott rd., a former resident of Greenbelt.

According to Perkins, the youths were taking gasoline from the tank when he went to his car late Sunday night. He called to his wife to summon the police, who took the youths before Magistrate Allen D. Morrison. Judge Bowie heard the case the following evening. The misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of not over $200, or imprisonment from 30 days to two years.

Local Voters Have Primaries Monday

Voters in Prince Georges County will go to the polls in the fall party primaries next Monday, September 18, to select candidates for this year's state, county, and national elections. Voters in the city of Greenbelt must have declared a party affiliation at the time of registering to be able to take part in the party primaries.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Greenbelt's polling place will again be in the firehouse at the center. This year for the first time, voters will use the new voting machines purchased by the county, which are "practically foolproof," according to Supervisor of Elections Alexander Buscher.

In the 1948 primary election, only 22.7 of the qualified voters cast ballots in Prince Georges County. The importance of the primary election was pointed out this week by the League of Women Voters of Prince Georges County, whose members urged their friends and neighbors to exercise their franchise next Monday. Among the offices on the ballot, for instance, are the delegates to the state party conventions, which in turn name the state's presidential electors.

GCS Board Hears Reports, Plans

Construction has started on the bowling alleys in the GCS supermarket basement, reported Assistant General Manager Bassett Ferguson to the board of directors at its meeting Friday night. The management report included the announcement of the expected beginning of construction at the New Hampshire Avenue site of the co-op supermarket planned for that area, and led to a discussion by the board of the working of the sign to be placed at the site.

Other committee reports included the program for the annual employee party given by the board, which is scheduled for Sunday night, September 24, at the Legion home. Feature of the evening will be a talk by Hans Thunell, young Swedish cooperator who is touring the United States under the sponsorship of the Cooperative League of the USA. Thunell will be in Greenbelt during the week of September 24 to 30, and plans are being made for him to speak to groups both in Greenbelt and in the Washington area. Henry Walter is in charge of plans for the employee party, which include dinner, entertainment, and dancing.

Board members have been invited to attend next week the regular Monday luncheon sponsored by the Potomac Cooperative Federation, to report on the plans for GCS expansion into the suburban Washington area.

Community Chorus Meets Next Monday

The next meeting of the Greenbelt Community Chorus will be held Monday, September 18, and every Monday thereafter, at 8:30 p.m. in the Center school.

There will be an hour and a half of choral singing under the direction of Gordon Finlay, and the remainder of the time will be devoted to trios, quartets and specialty singing.

The Chorus is a community organization, and many interesting community programs are planned for the coming season. Anyone liking to sing is invited to attend the next meeting. Newcomers to Greenbelt are especially invited to become members.

City Council Gets Report From Defense Group, Chief

Greenbelt took further strides towards determining the city's role in national and local civilian defense programs, when the council received reports from Chief of Public Safety George Panagoulis and the civilian defense advisory committee. Meeting in an informal session last Friday, the council and advisory committee read and discussed a 27-page civil defense report prepared by Panagoulis.

What City Needs

Suggestions and recommendations in the report included: appointment of a local director of civil defense; arrangements for training in first aid through the Red Cross; a survey of available space for use as emergency hospitals, first-aid stations, and emergency housing centers; and surveys to determine the amount and kinds of foods and medicines which are normally available in Greenbelt. Also suggested was an inventory of trucks and other useful vehicles, emergency power generators, manpower, radio equipment and medically-trained personnel.

Mac For Director

Panagoulis concluded his report with a detailed inventory of existing community facilities, and a plan for a civil defense organization. A list of eight licensed amateur radio operators residing locally was included. He proposed City Manager Charles T. McDonald for the position of chief of civilian defense. (Although Panagoulis was appointed "chief of civilian defense" by the council at the last meeting, the action was irregular, since the Maryland Civil Defense Act of 1949 provides that the local director of civil defense shall be appointed by the Governor upon recommendation of the local governing body.)

Committee Report

At the council meeting last Monday, the advisory committee report was presented by Major Lyman Woodman. The report's principal findings could be summarized as 1) Greenbelt can offer substantial assistance to evacuees from nearby disaster areas because of our unusual array of facilities and services; and 2) Greenbelt can use the Beltsville Research Center as a relief center in case Greenbelt itself suffers heavy damage. The committee called the organizational plan and preliminary work accomplished by Panagoulis "very good".

The council decided to delay any further action on the defense set-up until the council has had time to study the advisory committee report. The council will meet again next Monday.

St. Hugh's Parents Select Officers

Officers were chosen for the coming year at the first regular meeting of St. Hugh's Parents Guild Tuesday night. Joseph Fitzmaurice was elected president; Mike Burchick, first vice-president and ways and means committee chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Iseli, second vice-president and membership chairman; Katherine Yelmgren, secretary; Arnold Prada, treasurer.

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. Joseph Loftus, retiring president, gave the annual report. New bookcases, phonic charts, maps, and dictionaries have been purchased during the year with funds raised by Guild activities.

Sisters Marie Daniel, Marie Michelle and Annela, new members of the faculty, were introduced by Sister Elizabeth Clare, principal of the school.

The Guild voted to take over from the Sodality the annual book sale.

Schools Start Year With Full Classes

The Center elementary school opened its 1950-1951 school year with an enrollment of 429. Mrs. Elizabeth Fugitt, principal, reports that in her eight years as principal of the Center school, this is the first year in which the school has had no shortage of teachers at its opening. Since it has come to her attention that some mother are in doubt as to when first-graders will be released, she wishes to inform them that these children will be released at 12 o'clock until further notice.

The Center school cafeteria will open on October 2 with Mrs. Richard Bowman as manager and Mrs. Ann Martone as assistant. Mrs. Donald Kerns is employed as the new clerk in the Center school office.

Students will be placed in groups according to their respective abilities, and parents will receive an invitation to visit the school at a later date to discuss the groupings of their children.

The North End elementary school reported an enrollment of 328 students, somewhat lower than last year. There is no shortage of teachers at the school and Miss Thelma Smith, principal, reports the addition of three new teachers.

The Greenbelt High school reported a record enrollment of 937 students.

What Goes On

Fri., Sept. 15 - Sodality of St. Hugh's holds bake sale. Greenbelt Theatre.

Sat., Sept. 16 - Woman's Club bake sale, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Greenbelt Theatre.

7:30 p.m., Double-header softball game. Greenbelt vs. Laurel League.

Sun., Sept. 17 - Registration for JCC Sunday School. 10 a.m. and 12 noon at Center School.

Mon., Sept. 18 - 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Vote in primaries, at Firehouse. 8:30 p.m. Greenbelt Community Chorus meets at Center school.

Fri., Sept. 22 - 8 p.m. GCS Board of Directors meeting. Over drug-store.

JCC Takes Names For Sunday School

The Sunday School of the Jewish Community Center will accept registration on Sunday, September 17 between 10 and 12 a. m. The new administrator is Morris H. Neustadt. Teachers will include Mrs. Evelyn Barnett, Mrs. Ann Citron and Mrs. Jeanette Zubkoff.

In addition, a class is now being formed for the teaching of Hebrew for children who are at least ten years of age. This will offer two sessions per week. All parents who are interested in registering their children for this class should come to the Center school the same time as for the regular class registration announced above.

GHS NEEDS SUBS

A Frightening Thought

The parents of the youngster who came so close to drowning in the Greenbelt Lake last week, (see story page 1) can thank the presence of mind of two nine-year olds for the fact that their child is still alive. And this is a frightening thought! Seldom do nine-year olds have sufficient presence of mind to take constructive action in emergencies. It is not something upon which we can depend. Nor can we contemplate comfortably the possible consequences of future similar escapades, when presence of mind may be lacking in any witnessing children.

Oh what, then, can we depend? On Parental discipline? Since time began, children have been running off to the "old swimming hole" or "duck pond", parental discipline and orders notwithstanding. On frequent police patrols? This would probably help somewhat if it could be accomplished, but dozens of children could drown in the intervals between even the most frequent police patrols. On full-time adult supervision at the Lake? But who would foot the bill and who would be responsible?

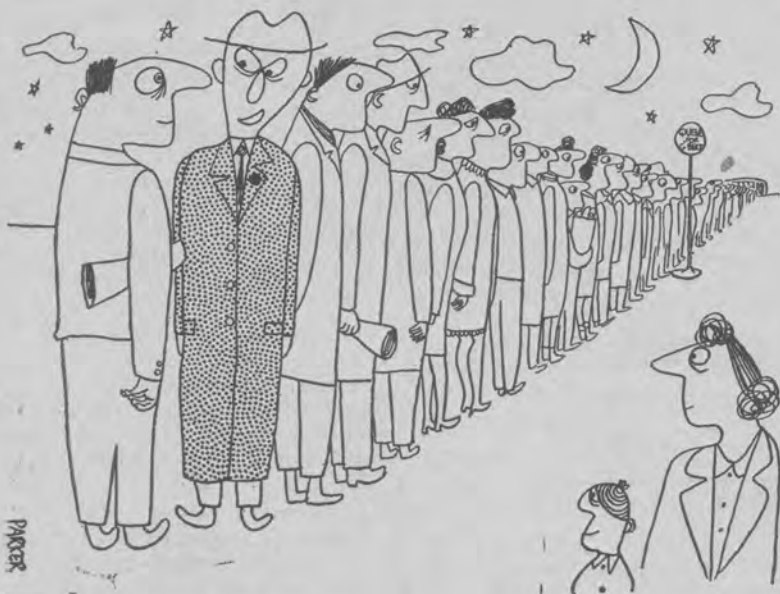

A difficult problem indeed, but one to which all parents should devote some serious thought. The next such story may have a different ending!

Why Not Vote?

Did you know that your vote this year could conceivably decide the outcome of the next presidential election? Every year about this time people are urged to take advantage of their vote, and every year they are bombarded with all types of propaganda and literature intended to influence their choice of candidates. Nevertheless, last year only one-fifth of the qualified voters in Prince George's County voted in the primaries. What about the other four-fifths? Don't they care who gets elected? Aren't they interested in good government? Or are they completely apathetic and indifferent?

Politicians (and those who are interested in good government) would give a lot to know the answers to these questions. Because whether they vote or not—people are vitally interested in their local and national government. The question remains—how to get them to vote.

My guess is that they must be convinced of the importance of each and every vote, they must be convinced that their votes count, that their votes decide the elections. The problem has made this truth obvious. And the answer is to tell it to them at every opportunity.

"What bus? They're all waiting to use those new voting machines at the firehouse!"

Personal Touch

Doris Asbell Mednick, 3518

Greenbelt! The world should make a path to your door for lighting the way to friendship and peace . . . this past week. Although the Jewish community has a site for a future home of worship, the building itself is still in the dream stage. When the Jewish New Year, beginning this week with Rosh Hashonah and ending next Thursday with Yom Kippur, was approaching the problem of where to gather loomed large. What more fitting tribute to friendship could there be than the hospitable invitation from Rev. Eric Braund, extending the use of the Community Church in which to hold the Jewish holiday services. Differences do not make for distrust where there's understanding and friendship.

Let's take a look at the doings of Greenbelt's citizenry during the current week. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Griffin, 40-E Crescent, spent four days in Atlantic City and were especially thrilled with the Beauty Pageant. Mrs. Griffin said she's "never seen a more beautiful parade." . . . Mrs. Martha Treiman, 8-C Parkway, also spent a week in Atlantic City.

Miss Mary Burns 44-N Ridge, accompanied by her parents and brother Hugh just returned from a two-week vacation in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Mrs. Leon Benefiel, 60-B Crescent, was visited by her two brothers: John and Will LeGrant from Detroit. Today the Benefiels left for Ashtabula, Ohio to visit her sister who is convalescing after surgery.

Mrs. Annie Wilson Downs and her mother, Mrs. Gaithwright, former Greenbelters, have moved to Meriden, Mississippi.

Sonny Creighton, who spent the summer in Gainesville, Florida, is back to attend University of Maryland. His mother, Mrs. Paul Hawk, left recently with her husband, to make her home in Paris.

The bride of the week was Mary Jo Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Carney, formerly of 45-M Ridge. (They recently moved to the District.) She was married 5 p.m. Sunday, September 10 in the Community Church to Robert R. Winning of Rockville, Md. Sister Chlalia was maid of honor. The couple will make their home in Washington.

Coming home from a weekend at the beach in the downpour of last Sunday, the John Littletons' car was traveling on the Bowie Road (which resembles 'no-man's land' when it's not raining) and swerved off the road into a ditch. Everyone was badly shaken up, but Mrs. Littleton required medical care and has been resting at home all week.

The Ben Rosenzweigs, 4-E Crescent, will celebrate their 21st wedding anniversary tomorrow. Congratulations, Ben and Ethel!

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davenport, 3-F Crescent, announce the birth of a daughter on September 13 weighing 7½ lbs. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cozar 15-C Ridge, have a baby girl at their house, Patricia Lee. She was born Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Novick who recently moved to 45-S Ridge Rd. have a new phone number: 5371.

Keep Kids Off Roads While Asphalt Is Wet

City Manager Charles T. McDonald announces that work will begin on sealing the roads in the North End sometime next week. He urges parents to keep their children off the roads while the work is going on.

The sealing process entails the application of a coat of asphalt, which would be a most disagreeable substance to remove from children's clothing.

Robert Pressler

The Korean war has reached into one Greenbelt family, with the recent death of Sergeant Robert H. Pressler, son of Mrs. Rose Pressler, 1-B Crescent.

According to a letter from his captain to his mother, Sergeant Pressler was killed by rifle fire from ambush about 2 miles west of Chingu, in Korea. He had been a soldier since 1941, seeing action in Normandy, the Rhine, and Central Europe during the second World War. A recipient of the Purple Heart medal, he served two and a half years in Japan after the war, and had been stationed at Edgewood Arsenal for a year and a half prior to his return to Japan in February of this year. Born in Washington, Pennsylvania, he had attended school and worked in a glass factory there before entering service.

Besides his mother, Sgt. Pressler leaves a sister, Mrs. Sara Cookson, also of Greenbelt, and a brother, A. W. Pressler, of Grafton, West Virginia.

THANKS

I cannot express in words how much I appreciate the many prayers in which I was remembered during my recent illness, and the many cards I received from my friends. I can only say that I was made very happy by them and hope that I can thank everyone personally very soon.

Sincerest thanks,
Ellen Gussio Domchick

FOR A CANDIDATE

Next Monday is primary Election Day when Maryland voters will have the inherited right to select their party nominees for public office. It goes without saying that all good citizens should vote. Even more important they should vote for good, honest and capable candidates. It is not always easy for all voters to know the real record and qualifications of all those seeking public office.

We have in Maryland, as candidate for renomination, one of the outstanding United States Senators -- Millard E. Tydings.

When you cast your vote you might well remember that:

1. He is one of the Senate's most respected, capable, hard-working and influential members, -- out-ranked in continuous service by only two other members which makes him that much more important and valuable to Maryland.

2. He served in World War I with great distinction and has consistently displayed moral courage and intellectual honesty in the U.S. Senate.

3. He was one of the first to come to a spirited and eloquent defense of Cardinal Mindzenty, that great prelate and victim of Communist outrages.

4. Despite his life-long contempt and disgust of Communists he refused to be panicked by rabble-rousing and political expedience into surrendering the hard-won rights which the Constitution gives all citizens.

5. In short, he is the kind of sensible, sound and statesman-like Senator which the country sorely needs in these perilous times.

Patricia Mary Long

CHORDS & DISCORDS

By Bill Mirabella

Frequently, parents of children who study music make worried inquiries about their child's musical progress. They say — Johnny made such rapid strides when he first began to study — why doesn't he advance as quickly now?

Mirabella is more readily apparent. The notes seem to become blacker and are more numerous. Simple pieces gradually become more complex. Thus, the musical development of the child is easily perceived.

But there comes a time when parents can no longer measure progress by this means. It may appear, especially to the over-anxious parent, that the child is standing still or even moving backwards.

Now we come to the bugaboo which causes so much confusion and possible misunderstanding. The child, having acquired a smattering of technique, begins to develop inwardly — with more and more emphasis on musicianship, while at the same time he still works to master the fundamental technical problems presented by his instrument. This process goes on slowly and subtly and it never ceases.

Let us remember, as an example, that great artists, many years after they have apparently mastered their scales, continue to practice them very conscientiously throughout their careers.

They practice to increase their skill or at least to retain it. Experience has shown that the artist or student who does not continue to perfect fundamentals will fall behind. There is no growth in music without continued study, no matter whether it be little Johnny or the great Toscanini.

Eat Your Fresh Corn Off-The-Cob Style

When the man of the house comes home with more fresh corn that the family can possibly eat at one sitting, remember there are good ways to use the left-overs. Mix corn-off-the-cob with your favorite stuffing for green peppers or broiled tomatoes. Or stuff green peppers with a mixture of corn-off-the-cob and mushroom soup as it comes from the can.

Perhaps corn fritters will be in order. Or try this corn and tomato scallop made of white sauce, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 cups sweet corn, 1 cup tomatoes. Season mixture to taste. Sprinkle with ¼ cup buttered bread crumbs — and grated cheese, if it's handy — and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Yield, 4-6 servings.

Kagawa Will Speak Here October 24

Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, famous spiritual leader, author, lecturer and artist, will appear in Washington at two public meetings on Tuesday, October 24, under the sponsorship of the Washington Federation of Churches and the Potomac Cooperative Federation. After speaking at a noon-day devotional service, Dr. Kagawa will address a meeting at the Calvary Baptist Church in the evening. Arrangements for the evening meetings are being planned by a committee of church and cooperative representatives, and further details will be announced later.

Tempo Club Starts Classes Sept. 18

Mrs. William Baxter, president of the Tempo Club, sponsor of the Tempo School of Dance, announced this week that plans for the coming year have been completed. Classes in the arts and crafts room at the Center school are scheduled to begin Monday, September 18.

Nellie McIntosh will again be the teacher, assisted by Ronda Bibler. Mrs. McIntosh is a member of Dance Masters of America. During the summer she studied with several well known masters including Anolyn Arden, trainer for the famous Roxyettes at the Roxy Theater in New York; Berenice Holmes, premier danseuse with the Adolph Bohn Ballet; Mariana Svetlova, prima ballerina of the Metropolitan Opera Association; Jack Stanley, a popular New York teacher of tap and trainer for Broadway musicals; John Plaza, acrobatic and adagio artist; and others.

Ronda Bibler accompanied Mrs. McIntosh to take normal school training in addition to convention study, to further her career as a teacher of the dance. When she has completed 280 hours of normal training and successfully passed examinations in three or more types of dancing, she will be a fully accredited dancing teacher. Miss Bibler also studied baton with Jack DuVenney, who holds national honors for twirling and drum major work.

Further plans include appearances by the children on numerous programs and entertainments during the year, to be climaxed by a gala recital in May.

Girl Scout Leaders Need More Helpers

The Girl Scout District Organization held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Edgar Weber last Friday evening.

The desperate need for adult leadership was discussed at great length. Unless a sufficient number of women volunteer as leaders and assistant leaders, approximately 150 girls, ranging from seven through thirteen years of age, will be unable to participate in scouting activities.

Any person who is interested in helping, whether she feels qualified or not, should contact one of the following for further particulars: Mrs. Weber, 2981; Mrs. Charlotte Clinedinst, 6533; or Mrs. Shirley R. Levine, 8956.

The Girl Scout Office of Prince Georges County will sponsor day and evening training courses, beginning September 19. Those who volunteer their services will be eligible to take these courses, if they desire.

The local Girl Scout headquarters has been transferred from the basement of 14 Parkway Road to the social room of the Center school.

Women's Club Plans Bake Sale Saturday

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt will hold a bake sale Saturday, September 16 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in front of the Greenbelt theater.

Proceeds of this sale will go into the Club's nursing scholarship fund, which helps defray the expenses of a local girl entering nursing training who has been recommended by her minister and her school.

The Club announced this week that Miss Emma Jo Pack of Greenbelt, the present holder of this scholarship, is entering her second year of training at the University of Maryland nursing school in Baltimore.

Ann Dances Off With TV Prizes

Greenbelt aquabeauty Ann Walker, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Walker, 21-L Ridge, won first place last Saturday night on an amateur contest on television station WMAR in Baltimore. Ann performed an acrobatic dance to carry off the winnings, which included a loving cup and a hundred-dollar bond. Also among her booty were two hundred gallons of fuel oil, which she donated to the Greenbelt Community Church.

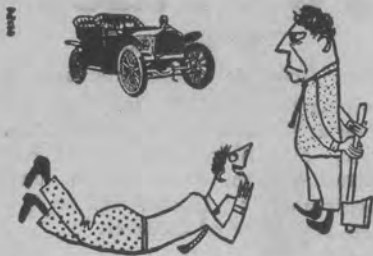

In addition, she won: a year's supply of shampoo; a year's supply of floor wax; a hairbrush; a record album; a ham; a five-pound box of candy; a tennis racket; a pair of bowling shoes; a leather weekend case; two tickets to the opening game of the Redskins football team; two tickets to the Club Charles in Baltimore; and two tickets to wrestling matches in Baltimore.

Ann will go back on Saturday, September 23, to compete in the grand finals, winner of which will get a Dumont television set and a deep-freeze.

Ann was the candidate of the Prince Georges Bank in the beauty pageant at the Water Festival, in which she also appeared in an acrobatic dance.
