

St. Hugh's School Has 315 Pupils This Year

St. Hugh's Catholic School opened its 1951-52 school year on Thursday, September 6, with an enrollment of 315 pupils. This is St. Hugh's third scholastic year, having opened in September 1949 for the first four grades. Classes were held in the Greenbelt theater until the school building was ready for occupancy in October of the same year. Last year a fifth grade was added and this year the school has expanded to cover the sixth grade. The faculty is staffed by the Sisters of the Holy Cross with Sister Rita Cassia as principal.

Boys Club Activities

By Lee

Greenbelt's Midget Baseball team came through with flying colors to take the Prince Georges County Championship, by defeating Mt. Rainier at Greenbelt last Sunday afternoon by the convincing score of 15 to 0. Mt. Rainier got only three hits off Tony Baker. Leon Allen was the heavy gun for our club with two triples and a single driving in six of our runs. This winds up the season for this Midget team, and only three of them will be back next year, so there will be plenty of room for new boys on the Midgets next season. This team played a total of 54 games this season, winning 51 and losing only 3—quite an enviable record. We hope they will continue their winning ways as Juniors next season. They will be presented with individual trophies and awards at the annual Baseball-Track Banquet to be held (tentatively) the last week in September. Watch this column for details on this banquet.

Our Oriole Junior team has two wins and no defeats in the county playoff. They will play their final game Saturday, September 15 at Braden Field at 1 p.m. They defeated Edmonston in the first playoff game, 5 to 0, and defeated Capitol Heights last Saturday at Prince Georges Stadium, 10 to 2. Monday evening Capitol Heights defeated Edmonston at Magruder Park, earning a game with Greenbelt this Saturday. Capitol Heights would have to defeat Greenbelt twice to win the County Championship, while Greenbelt (having already defeated them once) only has to win once to clinch the Championship. Come on down to the field Saturday at 1 p.m. and watch the Juniors win the County Championship. Many of these boys won't be back with the Juniors next season as they will be beyond the age limit. We would like to have a nice crowd.

Notice

Boys' Club football practice will start Saturday, September 15 (this Saturday) at 10 p.m. All boys who are interested in playing football should report to the following coaches: 90 lb. team to Mr. Gordon and Mr. Speziak by the tennis courts; 105 lb. team to Pudgy Wilson and Mr. Lewis by the Softball field; 150 lb. team to Don Wolfe. If enough boys are available for other weights, teams may be formed later if possible.

All boys who have any club equipment are asked to return it Saturday at 10 a.m. to Mr. Frady at the center school. (This is with the exception of the Oriole Junior Baseball team.) The Junior basketball team of last season and some of the Junior football players still have equipment (uniforms); please turn them in so we can get them reissued and get started. See you next week.

Council Election Tues., Sept. 18th Polls Open At Fire House All Day

All over the country, in small cities everywhere, people are voting in their local elections. Perhaps they too have registered in trickles instead of droves; perhaps they too have a more abbreviated choice in candidates than they ever had before. Perhaps they too have lost contact with their communities, so that they no longer care what happens to their public health program, their schools, their children, their property.

But as the record stands today, September 13, it seems safe to assume that Greenbelt's election record for 1951 will be the unchallenged lemon of the lot.

On August 30, eleven days after the close of registration, councilman Robert Bonham found it necessary to withdraw from candidacy for the City Council. Only 5 candidates remained, the four incumbents, and a new candidate Ben Goldfaden. The Cooperator, which goes to every home in the city, publicized the fact that candidates must receive a majority of the votes in order to be elected. Again and again (for 3 weeks running) voters were reminded that even a run-off election might fail because the charter (which can be changed only by the state legislature) requires that 2 candidates must participate in the run-off for every vacant seat.

Of ten citizens approached before August 30 to run as write-in candidates, not one accepted.

Editorials and news stories continued to emphasize the general apathy of the public and the almost incredible election stalemate.

On September 6 a letter to the Cooperator from several citizens formally proposed W. Earl Thomas of 60 Crescent as a write-in candidate.

On September 10 Hans Jorgensen, 19 Hillside, expressed his willingness to be considered a write-in candidate.

It will be September 13 when you read this story. Election day is Tuesday, September 18. The polls, at the firehouse, will be open from 7 to 7.

Greenbelt has less than a week to reassert the community spirit which made other elections at least partially a reflection of the public will.

Any voter may write in the name of any citizen he wishes to elect to the Council. He may write in as many as 5 names. An X in the box next to the names of his choice, printed or written in will constitute his vote.

Voting in the local election does not in any way affect a citizen's legal residence or right to vote in any other city or state in the country. Greenbelt elections are non-partisan.

Citizens who expect to be away on September 18 may apply in writing no less than 3 days before election day at the office of City Clerk Winifred McCamy. Absentee ballots may be filed up to 7 p.m., closing time, at the polls.

These are the tools available to the voter. Each individual must of course use them as he sees fit; the sin in a democratic community is not to use them at all.

Nursery Mothers Have First Meeting

The mothers of the Greenbelt Cooperative Nursery School met for the first time this year on Tuesday night at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. L. Newman, 18-D Ridge. Committees were manned and a membership campaign mapped out.

At this moment there are a few vacancies in the morning session for 3-year-olds. This session meets from 9 to 11:30 a.m. There is an active waiting list for the 4-year-old afternoon group which meets from 1 to 3:30 p.m. The monthly fee for this accredited nursery school with a highly qualified teacher, Mrs. Irene Castle, and its modern play equipment, is only $8.50, possibly the lowest nursery school rate in the United States.

The required preliminary medical examination for each child will be given free of charge by one of the parents, who is a pediatrician. Parents who are interested in placing their child may call Mrs. Newman at 2716.

Boy's Club Midgets Win County Championship

The Boy's Club Midgets won the Prince Georges County Championship by defeating Mt. Rainier last Sunday at Braden Field 15 to 0.

Polls open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Vote Tuesday, September 18

Waltonians Planning Father and Son Trip

The large turnout for last week's fishing trip has prompted the scheduling of another trip for Sunday, September 30. This, and the Father and Son trip set for October 12, 13 and 14, should close the Waltonian outdoor calendar for the year, unless requests for additional trips are received and weather permits.

This year's Father and Son affair should be the most successful of these annual affairs, if increased interest is any criterion.

Those wishing to go on either one of these trips should call Greenbelt 8746.

Modern Dance Group To Resume Oct. 4

The class in modern dance sponsored by the North End School PTA will begin its third season on Thursday, October 4. Miss Evelyn Davis of Washington, who has been with the group since its inception, will be the director.

Registration is now open. Children may be enrolled by calling the secretary, Mrs. Julius Pines, 8077, or the chairman, Mrs. Vladimir Chavrid, 7532.

Mrs. C. Shaw will be the teacher and will have her own pianist with her. Future plans for the group will depend upon the registrations.

More Delay Reported By Housing Board

The board of directors of the Greenbelt Veterans Housing Association, at its meeting last Monday night, agreed that it will be two or three months before a comprehensive report can be presented to its members.

Despite continued negotiations with PHA the board has not yet been able to complete a breakdown of costs. According to Chairman Mike Salzman, however, it is probable that the sale of Greenbelt will be consummated within 6 to 8 months.

Present at the meeting were Dave Krooth, counsel for GMHA, and Abe Chasanow, local legal advisor.

DOLLARS & SENSE

by Morris J. Solomon

In the next few weeks this column will do a series on the recent Congressional Hearings On Chemicals In Food. The American press is one of the best in the world. However, its coverage of events of interest to consumers leaves much to be desired. How many Americans know about the Congressional Hearing On Chemicals In Food? Where were the television cameras when the heads of certain large food and chemical corporations were squirming uncomfortably in their seats when questioned about the chemicals in their food products?

Would You Use a Food Which May Harm You?

It is a cinch to answer that one. But there is little that you can do about it. As an individual consumer you have no way to protect yourself from harmful chemicals in food. The Pure Food and Drug Administration can't protect you against Poisonous chemicals in food either. Let us see why this is so.

Drug Sold in Interstate Commerce Must Be Okayed by Pure Food and Drug Administration

Before a drug preparation can be sold over the counter the Pure Food and Drug Administration has to approve it. In addition the label must give adequate warning to the user about the misuse of the drug. The burden of proof of the safety of product as prescribed for use is on the manufacturer. The Pure Food and Drug Administration has to be convinced that it is a safe product.

Food Safeguards Relatively Poor

With food the burden of proof is on the government. Except for a few foods, a food manufacturer can introduce a new chemical into his product without notice to anybody. If the government finds out that the chemical is being used, and if it can prove that it is harmful, it can force the company to stop using it. In the meantime the product has been used and has done its damage.

At times it is the death or sickness of a substantial number of people that gives the Pure Food and Drug Administration first notice that a certain chemical is being used. This is only one danger to the food supply.

There is a more insidious danger. There is the danger of what the physiologist calls chronic poisoning. This is the poisoning that takes place slowly over many years. Cancer, liver trouble, kidney trouble, all are possible results from such poisoning. To establish

Greenbelt Is Host To Co-op Conference

Thirty general managers and educational directors from several northwestern and eastern states as well as local representatives from the Potomac Federation held a 3-day conference in Greenbelt this week to exchange ideas information, and techniques.

The conference, an outgrowth of the Cooperative Congress held last year in Chicago, and the first of its kind, dealt with problems of financing, membership, multiple-management, advertising, and competition, with special emphasis on larger urban co-ops.

The Cooperative League of USA, sponsor of the conference, was represented by its executive secretary Jerry Voorhis, as well as Breen Melvin, secretary of the Cooperative Union of Canada. On Sunday and Monday nights the 30 guests were housed in the basement of the Community Church, where churchwomen also served breakfasts and dinners.

Among Greenbelt leaders of panel discussions was Bob Volckhausen, who conducted the meeting on radio advertising, and Sam Ashelman and Bob Morrow, who took charge of financial questions.

that a chemical doesn't have such effects requires extensive experiments over a period of at least 2 years with several species of animals. If a food manufacturer chooses to use the chemical before it is proven safe, there is little that the Pure Food and Drug Administration can do. If later experiments indicate that the chemical is harmful, then the Pure Food and Drug Administration can force the manufacturer to stop using the chemical. In the meantime the food has been used for years. This is another way of saying that food manufacturers under present law can gamble with our health. At the time of the Congressional Hearings On Chemicals In Food about 10 months ago, certain emulsifiers were being used widely in bread, cake mixes and ice cream despite lack of conclusive evidence of their safety.

Wanted—More Foolproof Protection of Food

"I don't want to have my gut filled with a lot of stuff that 25 years from now may cause a degeneration of some part of my system. . . ." Thus spoke Mr. Frank E. Keefe, Representative from Wisconsin at the recent Congressional Hearing. This statement was made after experts testified to the effect that certain chemicals now used in food or used in the recent past might cause cancer, kidney trouble, liver trouble, and other ills, over a long period of time.

The nub of the matter was expressed by Dr. Roy C. Newton of the Swift Company, "It is my conviction that any food processor bears a moral obligation not to change the food supply by addition of chemicals or by chemical processing until he has provided adequate proof in the form of scientific studies by competent scientists' proving the nonpoisonous character of a proposed process or addition. It would appear to be in the public interest to require food processors to avoid such chemical additions or chemical processing until sufficient evidence had been acquired to prove that such additions or process is harmless."

THANKS

Fellow Citizens,
 I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of you for the support which has been given to me in my campaign for a seat on our City Council and to express my personal regret that I have been forced to withdraw from the race. Last week's Cooperator stated the basis for my withdrawal as a candidate which, in short, was due to a finding by the head of the Federal Agency where I am employed that the position of City Councilman would tend to create a conflict of interest with my position as an attorney in that Agency. I particularly wish to thank the more than fifty citizens who were kind enough to sign my nominating petition.

My withdrawal means that only five names will be printed on the ballot. However, as the Cooperator indicates, every voter has the right to vote for other candidates by WRITING-IN their names and placing an X in the appropriate box. I urge everyone to exercise this right by writing in the name of Mr. EARL THOMAS. He is a sincere and very capable person with fourteen years' experience in the affairs of our City. Mr. THOMAS will serve all of us well.

My short term on the City Council will end next week, but before I leave the Council, I wish to add my hearty commendation to that of others for our Mayor, MR. FRANK LASTNER and Councilmen, MR. TOM CANNING and MR. JIM WOLFE for their highly successful part in preventing the abortive rent increase that PHA attempted to impose upon us. Their work on this task and on all of the problems that have faced the City deserve your support at the polls this September 18.

To the Editor

Congress has failed us again! The consumer gets it in the neck, and more important at the present time—in the pocketbook! For a long time Congress has been enacting legislation to help large groups of our population—farmers, small businessmen, corporations, children, the aged, the poor, and many other more or less sizable groups of people in this country and throughout the world. It has provided flood relief, Belgian relief, Russian relief, relief for the Hot-tentots, Aid to the Greeks, the Turks, wheat to India, and any number of other types of aid and relief to the nations of the world. And now I am heartily in favor of continuing such relief and assistance wherever it may be necessary to an even greater extent than we are doing today. BUT—how about the largest of all these groups??? A group which is composed of every living individual in this country and in all the other nations of the world—the consumer! Very little has been or is being done to help this largest of all the groups. During World War II the Price Control Act kept prices at reasonable levels within the reach of most, if not all, consumers. The Defense Production Act had, as one of its original purposes, a similar control, although not as strong. But Congress, in its infinite wisdom, has, in the Defense Production Act Amendments of 1951, in effect removed such controls.

Among the groups which were most instrumental in bringing this about were the meat producers and packers. Meat, particularly beef, is now again practically beyond the reach of many of us. Since Congress will not help the consumer, and no help is to be expected from any other source, it is up to the consumer to take the bull (beef) by the horns and protect himself. Let's hit back where it hurts the most! Hit the beef producers and packers in the pocket!

If each family were to agree to serve one less meat meal each week than it does now, the effect would be a severe enough blow to make

Capt. Hornblower

Surging from the pages of the celebrated C. S. Forester novel, "Captain Horatio Hornblower" turns to the screen in Warner Bros. Technicolor sea saga, beginning its local engagement at the Greenbelt Theatre this weekend.

And not as fictional as it might seem is the story of the fabulous Captain, for it has often been bruited about that author Forester had in mind the life and derring-do of the intrepid English hero, Horatio, Lord Nelson, when he wrote this best-seller novel.

All the color of the times, the English, Spanish and French men-of-war, the battles of their respective fleets, the intrigues and power diplomacy of the nations during the Napoleonic era in this screen drama.

Not least of all is the great love story—the romance which takes place between Captain Hornblower and Lady Barbara, sister of the Duke of Wellington, which in real life—now history—found its counterpart in the Lord Nelson-Lady Hamilton Idyll.

the packers howl! They would then be ready to listen to reason and give the consumer a break. Let's all start now and show that the consumer also has a voice—and a strong one.

Finding an actor to portray the coveted title role was no easy task, though many leading performers vied for the part. However, after a close study of the applicants, the studio selected ruggedly handsome Gregory Peck, who not only answers the physical description of Hornblower, but characterizes the leader among men, as witnessed in "Only The Valiant."

Virginia Mayo was chosen as Gregory's lovely leading lady. Miss Mayo, who besides flavoring the screen with her beauty, is one of Hollywood's most versatile actresses, ranging from the highly dramatic to the highly musical in film roles.

Among some of the most exciting of Hornblower's heroic exploits seen are a raid on the stronghold of a Spanish pirate, the blockade and storming of Napoleon's navy, a daring escape under the shadow of the guillotine and the commandeering of a prison ship by a handful of men.

scribbled a note: "I might have been happy if I had been ugly".

Evidently, it takes more than physical beauty to insure happiness. The beauty which endures and radiates happiness year after year as life wears on is more than skin-deep; it is heart-deep.

The true beauty of Christian womanhood is faith, love, joy, modesty, virtue, simplicity. The Bible, speaking of ornaments which are becoming to a Christian woman, recommends "the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price".

The thirty-first chapter of the Book of Proverbs gives us the picture of a truly beautiful woman in God's sight—and then asks: "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is above rubies!"

The Christian virtues of modesty, purity, humility, and buoyant cheerfulness—they are beauty in the sight of God.

Be content with your outward appearance. Seek that beauty which is heart-deep. God give America a Christian womanhood, adorned with that inner beauty of soul and spirit which makes possible a life of daily beauty—in obedience to His will.

Little League Goes Big League
The four teams of the Little League will be the guests of Clark Griffith at Griffith Stadium this Saturday. A chartered bus carrying 80 boys will leave Greenbelt at 12:30 p.m. It will be the first time most of the boys watch their future team-mates in action. Washington plays Cleveland and it should be a very good game for the boys to see. They will be introduced to both the Washington and Cleveland teams. This should be a big day for this "Little League."

Men's Gym

All men interested in playing both volleyball and badminton should report to the gym in the Center School Thursday, September 20 at 8 p.m. A tournament will then be set up to run for the rest of September and October. The first Thursday in November will be the start of basketball, which will be played on both Thursday and Friday. Any organization wishing to put a team of 7 men in the Men's Gym Nite league, should get in touch with the Recreation Department (Gr. 2726). Two games will be played each night with the winning team receiving a trophy at the end of the league. The reason for 7 men only is to give every one a chance to play. Any organization may put more than one team in. The more teams, the better the league will be. More data will be in this column so watch for it.

Our congratulations to Mr. Baker for winning the Midget Play-off and bringing Greenbelt another championship. The 17-year-and-under football team will report to Donald Wolfe at Braden Field, Sunday, September 16 at 2:30 p.m. This will open practice for this season.

What Every Young Man Should Know

Each director must realize his responsibilities in accepting office. These can be summed up, but not too briefly:

1. What do the members want me to do? - Read the articles of incorporation and the by-laws. These are the ground rules the co-op has established for itself.

Next, listen to the membership. Mostly in meeting, but even out. Check on adequacy of insurance, of bonding, on regularity of financial reports, on a proper annual audit, and on the soundness of the business practices.

2. Responsibility for inventory - Keep an eye on the inventories, since these are often the largest item in current assets. Supervise taking of the physical inventory, especially when the auditor cannot do it.

3. Help with annual and other membership meetings. - See that notices go out in accordance with by-laws. As a host, the board member has the duty to make the meeting more interesting as well as informative.

4. Help with public relations. - At all times be ready to inform members freely and accurately. See that the manager is acquainted with the principles and practices of cooperatives—and carries them out. If the society is large enough, see that an educational director is hired to do a proper job.

5. Become familiar with all approved policies, practices, and previous commitments. - All previous actions of former boards are binding unless revoked, and contracts are not subject to revocation except on legal grounds.

The directors and the manager are the management team. Directors choose the manager, counsel with him, and must require a strict accounting from him for operations.

6. Responsibility cannot be delegated. - Directors may delegate authority. However, they are responsible for directing and supervising the business. They must, therefore, in addition to making policy, follow up to see that it is carried out.

Directors should be neither bull-headed opponents nor spineless yes-men with the manager. With other board members, he should speak freely and honestly. He should vote according to his best judgment. If the vote goes against him, he should then follow the majority, unless a legal or moral issue is involved, which can be settled by resorting to proper authority. Board meetings should be often enough to keep members abreast of developments. They are not intended as social gatherings, however.

7. Additional Duties. - The board member is also responsible to creditors of the co-op to see that obligations assumed are discharged strictly. He must see that provision is made to pay state and Federal taxes and fees, and that the society complies with all binding legislation. He must be a good liaison man with the community by boosting his organization, and knowing all the facts about it. In addition, he must do his civic and community jobs with a view to building up respect for his co-op.

TO MY FELLOW RESIDENTS OF GREENBELT

I am running for the City Council because I have a sincere desire to promote the welfare of this community. I know this community well, and have been conversant with its problems for thirteen years.

I came to Greenbelt in 1938, as assistant director of the Recreation Department. I became director of that department in 1942, and except for military service, remained in the position until 1947, when I took a teaching position in the County.

I have always worked for a good recreation program for Greenbelt, to serve both children and adults. As director of a city department I learned the mechanics of our local government, and through close contacts with the other departments, became familiar with their functions.

My community activities have been many and varied in the past thirteen years. To mention a few, I was active in establishing the Child Care Center and the Drop Inn; I conceived the idea of Baby Playgrounds, and have been Merit Badge Counselor for the Boy Scouts.

As a teacher and parent I have consistently been interested in good public health services, and an advocate of fostering good relations with the county, in an effort to coordinate all our services with those of our neighboring communities.

At the present time I am treasurer of the Greenbelt Veterans' Housing Corporation, treasurer of the Greenbelt Rent Protest Committee, Counselor for the Greenbelt Boys Club, and Commissioner of Softball for the District of Columbia.

I ask for your votes, and pledge myself to work vigorously for the best interests of the City of Greenbelt.

Sincerely Yours,
BEN GOLDFADEN

Little League Standings

Team	W	L	Pct	GB*
I. W. League	11	4	.733	—
Bowlers	9	6	.600	2
Co-op	7	9	.437	4½
American Legion	4	12	.250	7½

*Games Behind
Schedule for this week-end: Saturday, September 15 - No Games; Sunday, September 16 - Doubleheader beginning at 1:30 p.m., Co-op vs I. W. League.

After losing the first three games the I. W. League has come a long way and is now leading the league by two games with three more games to be played.

Butchie Brown, David (I like my brother's pitching) McDonald, Billy (hit them where they ain't) Andruzik, and Bob (Ozark Ike) McGlotkin provide the power at the plate for the I. W. League.

Gary (Smokeball) Brown and Bob (Curveball) McGlotkin handles most of the pitching chores of the team.

This column reported last week that Mr. Taylor took over the American Legion team due to an unfortunate situation. This situation was caused by a death in Mr. Nuzzo's family.

Cooperator Sponsors Canasta-Bridge Contest

Because of the terrific demand the Cooperator is modifying its Canasta Contest (only slightly) to include all the Bridge fiends in town. Yes, the paper will sponsor a joint Canasta-Bridge Contest. The rules are simple. Each couple entering the contest must register and submit an entrance fee of one dollar, designating which division they wish to enter, canasta or bridge. Registration and fee should be mailed to the Cooperator, Contest Editor, Greenbelt, Mr.

The Cooperator will publish the schedule of games to be played each week, together with the relative standings of all the contestants. The contestants will be responsible for getting together to play their scheduled games and to report the results of those games to the Cooperator each week.

The entrance fees will be used to buy prizes for the winning couple in each division. So come on, all you fiends, may the best team win.
