

Boys Club Plans 1951 Fund Drive, Set Goal Of 2000 Local Members

At this time each year the Boys Club calls on its friends and neighbors, the citizens of Greenbelt, for funds to continue the operation of the club for another year of athletic and sports activities. The wonderful response in the past has enabled the directors to enlarge the activities and handle many more boys. The goal this year is to sign up two thousand citizens to honorary membership in Greenbelt's Boys' Club.

During the past year the Boys' Club has provided sports activity for 75 boys in football, 60 boys in basketball, 18 boys in boxing, 10 boys in track and field and 60 boys in baseball. This means providing them with uniforms and equipment; it takes between five and six hundred dollars to equip one football team with the required football gear, in addition to funds to replace worn-out equipment and provide new where necessary. This year it is planned to add tennis to the list. Each Greenbelter can help by becoming an Honorary Member for the year.

The drive will commence Friday, September 21, and will continue through October 7. A father-and-son team will call at each house for a contribution and answer any questions about the work of the Boys Club.

The Board of Directors and all coaches give freely, without compensation, of their time and work, not to mention considerable expenditures for transportation and incidentals.

"We feel that it is considerably wiser to build the boy than it is to try and mend the man," officers of the Club told the Cooperator.

The Greenbelt Boys Club has a good reputation all over the Metropolitan Area. Greenbelt teams won county championships in football, basketball, and baseball during the past year, and the boxing team won two championships in the Washington Junior Golden Gloves tournament last winter.

Sitters Pool Gives "Us" A Typewriter

This week the Greenbelt Cooperative Sitters Pool turned over to the Cooperator the remainder of the fifty dollars pledged from its dues last year.

A grateful Cooperator staff is enjoying (and doing better copy with) the typewriter this gift permitted.

For the last five years the Sitters Pool, which began as a ten-family inspiration, has been devoting its monthly dues of fifty cents per family to worthwhile enterprises. While most of the checks have gone to national funds, relief agencies and the like, at least one helped to buy hearing-aid equipment for a school for deaf children, and this year the entire expected annual income was divided between the Cooperator and local nursery schools.

At one time the pool had over thirty-five member-families, each of whom took turns being 'book-keeper' for a month. Members sit for each other on a strictly business basis, but the accounts in the Sitters pool are hours, not dollars.

There are several vacancies at this writing. Interested families may contact Helen Salzman, 5047, for information.

GCS Board Hears Mgr. On New Store Prices

Asked at last Friday night's board of directors meeting of Greenbelt Consumer Services, "How do prices between the Greenbelt co-op and the Takoma Park co-op compare?" Sam Ashelman, general manager, replied that "managers are supposed to keep basic prices the same in both stores and keep our advertised prices in both stores the same."

The new store's labor costs were reported high at the beginning, while labor needs were not gauged yet. Ashelman said that emphasis in the Takoma Park store is being put on building sales volume by keeping margins low. The general manager expects that both co-ops will average the same amount of earnings each week.

Morris Solomon, chairman of the price-checking committee, presented an analysis of 159 items checked at both co-op stores and several large chain stores. This is the eighth of a series of price checks reported to the board by the committee.

Several directors took exception to the committee's findings, noting that the checking took place on different days as well as different dates. Solomon was urged to conduct a similar survey on the same day in all stores being checked. He was praised for the amount of work his committee had performed and his unflagging enthusiasm in the face of discouragement. The board voted to refer further study of the price-checking committee to the executive committee, which consists of Walter Bierwagen, Eleanor Ritchie and Bob Mitchell.

The education committee and membership committee under the chairmanship of Martin Bickford and Henry Walter are planning an information meeting for new members in the Takoma Park area for September 27. Bob Volckhausen of the Potomac Federation, Bickford, and Ashelman will speak at this meeting. A similar affair is planned for new members of Greenbelt at a later date.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD LEADER TRAINING

Greenbelt's Girl Scout District Number One held its first fall meeting Tuesday, September 11, to make plans and organize troops for the 1951-52 season. A number of troops are now holding their first fall meeting, and all Scouts will be informed within the next week as to the time and place of their first meeting.

Anyone interested in Girl Scout work is invited to participate, according to Mrs. Ruth Bowman, district chairman. No previous experience is necessary. A basic training course for leaders will begin Thursday, September 20, for the Greenbelt, Laurel and Beltsville areas. Anyone interested in taking the course may contact Mrs. Bowman at Greenbelt 6468. The course will be given every Thursday night for six weeks.

636 Voters Elect 5 On Ballot; Lastner Leads, Thomas Strong 6th

By I. J. Parker and B. Solet

Six hundred and thirty-six voters went to the polls in Greenbelt on Tuesday and elected every candidate whose name was printed on the ballot to the city council. With the six major candidates each polling more than the required majority of 319, the run-off which public leaders had expected will not be required.

Those elected were: Frank J. Lastner, 488; James D. Wolfe, 467; Thomas J. Canning, 466; Steve L. Comings, 433; Ben Goldfaden, 425.

W. Earl Thomas, most successful of the write-in candidates, who conducted a vigorous campaign to bring the voters down to the polls, received 387 votes, a showing experts say is excellent. Despite his late entry in the race and 22 votes disqualified because of failure to put an X next to his name, Thomas ran less than fifty votes behind newcomer councilman, Goldfaden.

Hans Jorgensen, who had announced his willingness to run last week, polled 43 votes; George Eshbaugh, 15; Postmaster Tom Freeman, 8; Mrs. Margaret Carmody, 7; and 23 other write-in candidates polled one or two votes apiece. Three absentee ballots were filed.

Lastner Overwhelmed

All the candidates except Lastner, who was at his regular Tuesday night bowling game, remained at the polls throughout the counting which was completed at about 10:30 p.m. Some time before midnight Lastner, contacted by phone, told the Cooperator that he was "overwhelmed at the news. I appreciate the support given to me by the citizens of Greenbelt and I will endeavor to do my best to live up to their expectations."

A small crowd of some 20 on-lookers waited outside the firehouse to hear the count being called by J. Strode Beckham, and the Cooperator office averaged a call a minute asking for returns.

Goldfaden Grateful

Reached at his home immediately after the election, new councilman Goldfaden emphasized his gratitude to the people who had voted for him. "All I can say is thanks. I'll do the best I can with any issue that comes up. Again, I certainly thank everyone who voted for me."

Despite a publicized lull in pre-election interest, Thomas' weekend efforts to wake up the voters with a telephone campaign and Cooperator publicity, as well as a last minute round-up with the sound truck by the other candidates, brought over half of the city's potential 1150 voters to the polls. City Clerk Winfield McCamy, however, reported that only 58 new registrants were added this year, while in 1947 she received better than 200 at the North End alone.

The first meeting of the new City Council will be held Monday, September 24 at 8 p.m. at the City office.

Ladies Of Charity Make Collections For Needy

The Ladies of Charity of Greenbelt are again requesting donations of good used clothing for men, women and children, as well as household items and small pieces of furniture. The articles are needed for distribution to needy families in Greenbelt, as well as for people needing help throughout the county. Articles distributed outside of Greenbelt are given through the Thrift Shop in Hyattsville.

Anyone having articles to donate may have them picked up by calling Mrs. Thomas Green, 8592, or Mrs. Thomas Callanan, 4878.

City Council

The city council election proved to be more interesting than it promised. Although there were only six major candidates, the race for the fifth seat was full of suspense and drama. It proved that a candidate's chances for election are enhanced by his name being on the ballot. It also proved that a vigorous campaign by any one candidate can upset the applecart.

Earl Thomas conducted such a campaign and the results were amazing for a write-in candidate, even though not successful. His supporters and he deserved much credit for coming as close as he did.

There is little doubt that the new council will follow precedent and elect Frank Lastner to the position of mayor. The precedent is based on the accumulation of the greatest amount of votes. Lastner is our former mayor, has a history of service to Greenbelt matched by few residents, and has the ability to lead the council in harmony and dignity.

Where James Wolfe derives his popularity to come so close a second choice in the balloting is no mystery. His reticence at council meetings and shy friendly manner may indicate that still water runs deep; on major issues his importance as a council member becomes quite evident.

Thomas Canning and Steve Comings are the shrewd analysts of the council and their keen awareness of municipal matters will again be helpful in the next two years. They are courageous, forthright, and sincere.

Ben Goldfaden, whose presence at previous council meetings has often precipitated discussions of major issues in Greenbelt, will now have the opportunity to resolve many of his theories into action. The recreation department will probably be his chief interest; he was head of the recreation department at one time and is now associated with the county recreation program.

An interesting aspect of the election, in regard to Goldfaden's election, is his failure to win the vacant seat previously left by Mrs. Harrington. He received one vote, the other three going to Bob Bonham. Bonham withdrew from the race after pressure from the federal agency where he is employed, and threw his support to Earl Thomas. Thomas was defeated by a close margin.

During the election day, all of the candidates were gathered before the tobacco store in friendly conversation. It was apparent to all that this election was free from bitter partisanship, acrimony and mud-slinging. They were six respectable residents, ready and willing, if chosen, to render service and labor to their community. To those that were elected we join with the citizens of Greenbelt in wishing them luck, wisdom and patience in the task before them.

JCC Invites Residents To Welcome New Rabbi

The Jewish Community Center of Greenbelt will hold a reception in honor of the new resident rabbi of the JCC, Rabbi Seymour Zahn, in the social room of the Center School on Sunday, September 23, at 8:30 p.m. All Greenbelters are invited to attend.

Among those invited to the reception to welcome Rabbi Zahn to Greenbelt are Mayor Frank Lastner, City Manager MacDonald, PHA Manager Alec Johnson, Reverend Braund of the Community Church; Father Dowgiallo of St. Hugh's Catholic Church; Reverend Birner of the Greenbelt Lutheran Church; Reverend Strausburg of the Mowatt Memorial Church; Rabbi Morris A. Sandhaus, former rabbi of the JCC, and many other prominent personalities of Greenbelt.

Squad Plans First Aid Course

Sponsored by the Greenbelt Rescue Squad, a free first-aid course is now being formed. Classes will be the standard American Red Cross courses, conducted by a qualified instructor; will begin October 8 from 8 to 10 p.m., and will last 9 weeks. Anyone may register by calling 8686.

New Season Starting In Adult Education

The annual adult education program sponsored by the Board of Education is about to begin its new season, according to Mary Jane Kinzer, project supervisor.

A variety of courses will include shorthand and typing, woodworking, fine arts, sewing, nutrition and ceramics. A minimum of fifteen members is required to keep a class going, and any adult Greenbelt resident is eligible.

In a recent interview with a Cooperator reporter, Mrs. Kinzer emphasized the value of these classes in broadening interests and increasing contacts with fellow residents. More than one mother in recent years has "forgotten all about diapers and formulas" during the two hours in class. Although these courses are non-credit and strictly extra-curricular, their significance in the community, Mrs. Kinzer indicated, cannot be overrated.

Interested residents may call Mrs. Kinzer at 2031 between 8 and 4:30 every Monday through Friday. Further and more specific information will appear in the Cooperator at a later date.

'Angels' on Devil's Night

Once in a blue moon a chance comes along to 'have our cake and eat it, too.' The Cooperator is proud to present to the community a plan whereby the traditional revelry of Hallowe'en Eve may be pursued intact and at the same time be turned to the advantage of an institution whose needs are great and whose services are innumerable.

Children's Hospital has been raising funds for several months for its new building. In a city like ours so filled with children it seems to us most proper that tricks and treats be turned into gifts and pennies for Children's Hospital.

All through the Washington area small groups have been donating their talents to this fund. We look forward to our entire community using every resource to make the campaign successful. There is almost no end to the equipment the hospital is lacking, much of it within our collective means. Toys and books are everlastingly welcome.

We invite aid, comment, and interest from everyone. The pennies we spend on treats will turn into dollars for a bedside chest or an incubator crib.

And the masqueraders will still have their tricks.

Drop In Data

By Bobbie DiVecchia

During the past two weeks, boys and girls have been putting in their spare time repairing, cleaning, and painting the Drop-Inn. Tables and chairs have been repaired, new curtains have been made, and the inside of the building has been painted.

The library is now an office. This office was made only for the boys and girls of the Drop Inn to use for all their meetings and for the printing of their newspaper.

An opening tea will be held in October for everyone to see what the young people have accomplished. The building will be ready to open next weekend.

All the credit for the wonderful work done on the Drop Inn goes to those young people who gave their time and hard work.

The boys and girls would like to thank everyone who helped to make the Tennis Ball a success. The money was spent for this redecorating of the Drop Inn.

CANASTA from page 1 prizes, and everyone has an equal chance to win.

Come on, all you bridge and canasta fans - register in this exciting contest today! Renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

Local DAR To Sponsor History Pantomime

The Greenbelt Chapter of the D.A.R., now being organized, will sponsor a pantomime on Saturday, September 22, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Calvert Home in Riverdale, Maryland. Costumes, music and a history of the mansion will be included in the pantomime, and there will be a conducted tour of the home. Miss Janice Anzulovic, a pupil of Lydalu Palmer's will be a soloist on the program. The pantomime, based on personal research, was written by Mrs. Thompson E. Woodward.

The 150-year-old-mansion, built as a wedding gift to the wife of the fifth Lord Baltimore, is now the headquarters of the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission. Parties may be shown through the mansion, however, by special arrangement. A member of the same Calvert family donated the first acreage for an Agricultural College which was the nucleus of the present University of Maryland.

Personals

For the third week in a row the Tuesday night jackpot has gone begging for want of a winner in the house. Mrs. Florence Krug of Berwyn missed out on her fifty dollars last Tuesday, and the next lucky name drawn will net a cool $75. Birthday celebrators this week were Mary Root, Joan Solet, Henry Trattler, and Janice Strickler.

This Sunday and Monday the theatre will feature "Nature's Half-Acre," the third in an Academy award-winning True Life Adventure featurettes. The magnifying lenses of 15 naturalist cameramen re-create a miniature world in technicolor of insects in the grass-root jungles underfoot and birds overhead.

"Seal Island" and "Beaver Valley", the two preceding featurettes, won nationwide acclaim.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Haslinger, 14-V-2 Ridge Road, proudly announce the birth of their ninth child, Mary Margaret, born Monday, September 17, at Bethesda Naval Hospital. The Haslingers now have five boys and four girls and are entitled to two three-bedroom homes (they wish).

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Piercy, 14-Z-1 Hillside Road, announce the arrival of a daughter, Marjory Gay, weighing 7 pounds 12 ounces, at Washington Sanatorium and Hospital, on September 10.

Mrs. Joseph Kosisky of 2-E Laurel Hill Road wishes to thank her neighbors for their kind gestures during her recent bereavement.

LETTER FROM KOREA

Dear Editor:

I wish to take this means of greeting all my friends in Greenbelt. Having been a resident of Greenbelt since 1943 (my home is still at 10-M Southway) and having taught mathematics at Greenbelt High School the past two years, I sure do miss the town and the people, especially all my little school kids.

I am at present stationed at Seoul, Korea, and am a communications security and intelligence officer. Life is pretty rugged here, but we are still better off than the poor people of this country. It is a sad sight to see this once lovely city, which had a population of over a million people before this war began. There is hardly a building still standing in the whole city, and the people live in any sort of shelter that they can find. Conditions being what they are, the whole city just plain "stinks". However, your nose becomes not quite so delicate after you are here awhile. Being a school teacher at heart, I am particularly interested in the children. They are the ones who really suffer. There are, of course, no school buildings, but classes are still held in any sort of structure that the teachers can find. Books are practically nonexistent, so learning is sort of on the old Greek method of learning by heart what the teachers impart. Our boys and girls have no idea just how fortunate they are (despite all their moans and groans about going to school).

I wonder if it would be possible to put me on your mailing list for the Cooperator. I am starved for news about my old home town. I have seen a lot of this old world, and nothing I have seen anywhere compares to our Greenbelt. I expect to be back there next summer, in time to start teaching again next year (hope that does not scare some of my former pupils). My thoughts are with you all back there. I sure would like to hear from some of my friends there at home. You have no idea what mail means to us over here. It is about all we have to look forward to. Will drop you a line again sometime in the near future and let you know how things go over here.

Boys Club Activities

By Lee

Greenbelt's Oriole Juniors came through with another County Championship by defeating the Capitol Heights Juniors last Saturday at Greenbelt by the score of 6 to 1. Jim Stripling pitched a three-hitter while Bing Miller was the big stick man with three for three. Mike Cockill contributed a triple, driving in two of the runs.

The boys now have two county championships, since the Midgets won their league title. The Orioles played 32 games, winning 27 and losing five. They wound up their season with a game against the St. Mary's County champs at Tall Timbers, Maryland, last Sunday, and defeated the St. Mary's boys, seven to one. That finishes up the baseball news until next season.

Football practice got off to a good start with the 90 pound, 105 pound and 150 pound teams being organized and starting practice. We look forward to some very good football games in the near future, with a possibility there will be a 135 pound team organized to take care of additional boys.

Notice

The Boys' Club annual Parents-and-Son Baseball-Track Banquet will be held Wednesday, September 26 at the Community Church at 6:30 p.m. Certificates and awards due the boys will be given out at the banquet. Prominent members of the Major Leagues will be present to visit with the boys and it will be a gala time for them. Every parent of the boys engaged in baseball or track and field should be there with his son, and we urge you to attend. This is what the boys have been working for all season, and they would like to have their Dads and Mothers present. A very good low-priced dinner will be prepared and served by the Ladies Guild of the Church, an assurance that it will be good. Tickets will be issued to the boys for themselves and their parents by the coaches, and all unused tickets and money must be in to the coaches of the various teams by Sunday, September 22. Since we must know in advance how many to prepare for, no tickets will be sold at the door; so get yours from your boy and have him give the money to his coach. See you next week.

Women Voters Meet

The Greenbelt unit of the League of Women Voters will hold its first fall meeting Wednesday, September 26 at 8:15 p.m., at the home of Lydalu Palmer, 1-D Eastway. Mrs. Mathew Fusillo, chairman of the Local Government Committee, will conduct a discussion on the local government—who the officers are, what are the requirements for the offices, what are the salaries, what are the sources of county funds, what are the various boards and their relation to the government, how the members are appointed, etc.

The League of Women Voters is an organization which promotes and encourages good citizenship and good government. Organized in Chicago in February 1920, it has wielded an influence in government and legislation out of all proportion to its size. All women of Greenbelt who are interested in being a part of this notable group are invited to attend the initial fall meeting.

All boys interested in senior or Co-op basketball will please come to practice Friday, September 21, at 3:30 p.m., at the Center school gym. There will also be a practice Sunday, September 23, at the North End playground at 3 p.m. For further information call Harold Rensiere, 6676.

NCJW BAKE SALE

A Bake Sale to be held on Friday morning, September 21 in front of the theatre, was announced by Mrs. Harold Fisher, President of the Greenbelt Section, National Council of Jewish Women at the membership meeting on Sept. 12.

The meeting was highlighted by reports of the Section's activities during the summer, particularly the project of transporting cerebral palsy cases to classes at the Crippled Children's Society in Washington, and to the treatment clinic at the County Service Building in Washington. This project ran for six weeks with fourteen women participating.

Starting in November regular monthly meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of each month. On October 17, the Section will hold a tea to which all Jewish women are invited.

Drop-Inn Bowling League

Under the direction of Mrs. Andrusic the Jr. Bowlers got underway last Saturday. Juniors and Seniors bowl on alternate Saturdays. This week the Seniors open up their league with one team two girls short. Any girl of Senior age wishing to bowl should report to Mr. Frady, Senior Advisor, Saturday, Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. Thanks to both Mrs. Andrusic and Mr. Frady for the time that they are devoting to the Drop-Inn.

The Little League went to see their future team mates in action last Saturday. It was a big day for 80 Little Leaguers as they got to see the top contenders for the American League pennant. Congratulations to Mr. Preston and his Izaak Walton League champs. It was a long season for the little League and a lot of fun for both the players and the managers. We hope next year to have more teams in the league and also to have grass at McDonald Field. An All-Star team of the Little League will meet the Falls Church Little League All-Stars this Friday, September 21 at 8 p.m. under the lights at Braden Field. Come down and get a glimpse of the future big-league stars in action.

Congrats also go to Bill Moore and his Junior team for bringing to Greenbelt another championship team.

Football got under way this past week with three different teams practicing at Braden Field. The football goal posts will be up and the outside basketball court will be finished next week. A regulation court (hard surface) with metal backboards is now being put on the last tennis court at Braden Field.

Men's Gym

Men's Gym will get under way tonight with badminton and volley ball on the program. These two activities will be played until basketball starts. All men who would like to play either of the above should come down to men's gym on any Thursday night for a little work-out and recreation at the same time.

The same program is arranged for the women, who will report to Mary Lou Wolfe on Wednesday, October 3 at 8 p.m.

Drop-Inn

The Drop-Inn will open its doors again this Monday from 4:30 till 5:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Andrusic. Each afternoon is devoted to relaxation after a hard day at school. All teen-agers are invited at this time each afternoon. Thanks again to Mrs. Andrusic for devoting her time so that the children may have the Drop-Inn open.

The defense must not rest!

Today, we are still a nation on guard. We are gathering all our strength and resources to meet any threat to our security.

In these critical times, the telephone business faces a great responsibility. It must meet the demands of government and industry in production for defense. It must maintain a high level of telephone service for civilian needs. It must provide essential communications for Civil Defense.

Your telephone company is better prepared for this grave responsibility because it began a huge expansion and improvement program immediately after World War II. Here in Maryland, we have spent more than $116,000,000 for buildings, plant and equipment. Since 1945, we have added more than 260,000 telephones. And we have done this despite heavily increased telephone costs.

Telephone progress must be continued to meet even greater demands for service that may lie ahead. That's why a financially strong telephone company is so vitally important today.
